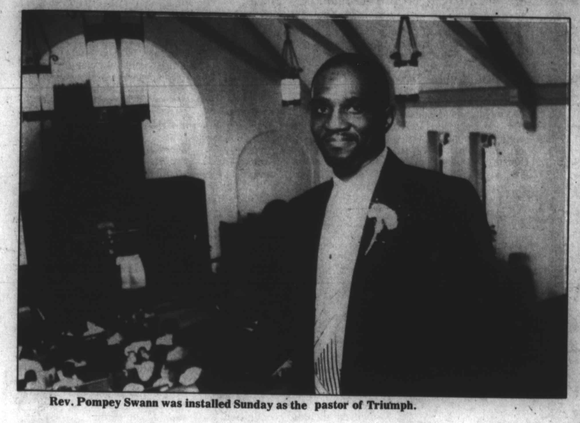
The Living Church



Rev. Pompey Swann was installed Sunday as the pastor of Triumph.

Triumph installs pastor

More than 200 were present at Triumph Missionary Baptist Church, 2200 E. Oliver St. on Sunday, Feb. 21 as the new pastor was installed.

Rev. Pompey H. Swann a native of East Baltimore came to the church in June of 1987 at the recommendation of his pastor at the Cathedral of the Living Word, 1214 N. Broadway.

The guest speaker for the ocassion was Bishop Harold I. Williams, Chief Executive of the Mt. Calvary Holy Churches of America, Inc.

Deacon Tommy Roberts, soloist from Gillis Memorial C.C. Church and the Living Word Choir supplied the music.

Also enhancing the worshipful experience, Bishop Robert Evans, of Baltimore sang "Where I Am Today" leaving the members of the audience with ters of joy.

"The entire service was spirited," said Swann. "It was not at all like a traditional installation service...nothing was done by the book," he added.

Prior to coming to Triumph, Swann was an associate minister at the Cathedral of Living Word, where Rev. Eugene Glover is the pastor.

According to Swann, his pastor recommended that he go to Triumph to help revitalize the church whose membership had dwindled to two and was at that time a store front at 1606 Greenmount Ave.

Swann reported the church currently has 22 members on roll. Twelve will be baptized next week.

Swann served as junior pastor at the Mt. Calvary Holy Temple, 1911 Bloomingdale Rd. for 13 years.

Swann said he had been preaching the gospel for 20 years.

He was a student at the Community College of Baltimore; the Bethel Bible Institute, Boston, Mass.; AEW Bible College; the Maryland School of Religion; and Morgan State University.

He was the host of "The Inspirational Hour" on WJRO Radio 1590 AM.

He also made three appearances on the Cable Television program, on the Crosslet Variety Show in 1986.

Swann envisions the church having outreach programs to serve the community. "I'm excited about the experience of being able to lead a people," he said.

Swann said he is especially happy his mother who is confined to a wheelchair was able to attend the Sunday service.

He attributes his success in ministry today to his mother, Eliza Swann of Bensalem, PA.

"It was her prayers, steadfastness, and love that really pushed me to go on," he said.

"She could see something I didn't see. I love her and I'm proud of her," he concluded.

Pastor Phillips returns from Tulsa

By Maxine L. Wallace

A local black female pastor recently returned from Tulsa Oklahoma where she co-hosted the Richard Roberts Live show for six tapings.

Pastor Sandra Phillips, pastor of the more than 600 member Faith Christian Worship Center, 125 N. Hilton St. appeared on the show February 15 through the 19th at the personal invitation of TV evangelist Richard Roberts.

The evangelistic telecast is seen on Channel 20 Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. until 10 a.m.

Phillips said a variety of topics were discussed during the course of the week.

A focal discussion ensued on the upcoming college week-end planned at Oral Roberts University.

On April 1 through the 3rd, young people from all over the country are expected to attend the scheduled events at no cost accept for cost of transportation to and from the school.

Phillips said the school currently has a ratio status of one black for every 10 whites.

"Oral Roberts said they desire to see more blacks," she said.

Phillips said at least 50 children enrolled at the Mark of Excellence Christian Academy, 125 N. Hilton will attend the college week-end.

Mark of Excellence is a Christian School which provides sound education to children grades pre-K through 12.

Phillips said some other local students will attend as well.

In addition to receiving information regarding the academic program of general studies at ORU, the intendant students will also sit under the ministry of Oral Roberts who is the founder and president of the school, Larry Lea, author of "Could You Not Tarry for One Hour," and also Richard Roberts, oral Roberts' son.

The Power Team, a Christian group of Young men will also be featured that week-end.

Phillips said ORU offers academic study in all areas, but everything done at the university has Christ at its center.

"They're training the students to be able to go into every man's world," she said.

"They will not only be able to administer medicine, but also salvation."

Another topic of discussion on the national TV. show was discipleship. "God has called each and every one of us to become fishers of men," said Phillips.

"It's our responsibility to tell the unsaved that 2000 years ago, God forgave them of their sins and all they have to do is confess with their mouth and believe in their heart that God has raised Christ from the dead and receive Him as their Lord and Saviour."

Also appearing on the show last week was Evangelist Phil Cameron, from Atlanta, GA. He discussed household salvation.

"God has promised in His Word to save our household," said Phillips.

A WORD OF HOPE

Maxine L. Wallace
Church News Editor

"Confess your faults one to another, pray for one another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much," James 5:16.

Beloved, let us pray for one another, for there is power in prayer.

More than ever, there is a need for the people of God to pray; for the Bible says watch and pray that ye enter not into temptation.

And we are so easily tempted. Husbands are tempted to be unfaithful to wives . . . Children are tempted to be disobedient TO parents . . . Students are tempted to cheat on exams . . . When someone does something to offend us, we are tempted to get them told. We're tempted to lie . . . We're tempted to be judgemental . . . We're tempted to criticize . . . Yes . . We are so easily tempted.

A song writer said, "Prone to wander, Lord, I feel it; prone to leave the God I love.

But there is a word of hope. The Bible says, "There hath no temptation taken you but such is a common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it."

So let us consider God's way of escape. If you want to escape temptation, you have to pray. Well . . . you have to pray to the Lord God Almighty who can do all things but fail.

Beloved come to Jesus as you are. God knows all things. He knows the intents and the desires of your heart. he knows when you are truly sorry for the sin you have committed and that you really don't want to do it any more.

God knows, and He really cares. But I'm so glad for the body of Christ. For when my sister or brother hurts . . . I hurt . . . when my sister or brother falls . . . it also grieves my heart. When my brother is blessed, I am blessed. For we are part of one another.

And the Bible says we are to bear one another's burden. Therefore, beloved, Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another.

You are never alone when you are a part of the body of Christ. Not only will God never leave you nor forsake you, but He will also bring other believers your way whom can confide in and share what you are going through, that together you may touch and agree to bring healing and deliverance to your life.

For sometimes our burdens become too much for us to bear . . . Yes, we've prayed . . . Yes, we've fasted . . . Yet there seems to be no relief . . . the habits I was bound by in 1987 have creeped into the new year. The thoughts I had five years ago still surface in occasion.

But let us be willing to listen to one another with the compassion of Christ . . . Let us be mindful to prayer for one another and not talk about and condemn one another.

For there is wonder working power in prayer. You know all of us should have someone praying for us besides ourself. For sometimes all of us get a little weak and we need someone to go to God on our behalf. Someone who knows how to get a prayer through . . . Not someone who will tell your faults to the world, but someone who will pray for you . . . Someone who will feel your anguish and despair and count it as their own . . . who will pray for you with all the earnestness as though He was praying for himself . . . And in fact we are a part of one another.

Pray that one another be healed . . . Pray that God will deliver that sister from a lying tongue . . . Pray that God will deliver that brother from drugs and alcohol . Pray that God may heal that brother from sexual promiscuity . . . Pray that God will set free.

God is able to do it. And the Bible says the effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. Your prayers can bring deliverance and healing . . . Your prayers can set the captives free: Beloved, let us pray for one another.

Baltimore artists to perform

By Maxine L. Wallace
AFRO Staff Writer

Two Baltimore gospel artists will perform at the Terrace Theater of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, DC on Saturday, Feb. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

Samuel Shufford of Pennsylvania Avenue AME Zion Church, 1128 Pennsylvania Ave. and Ronald Huff of First Charity Baptist, 611 N. Alsquith St. will appear in "Solo Gospel Music: Its Diversity and Style" at the request of Dr. Archie Buffkins, director of the office of Cultural Diversity Affairs at the Kennedy Center.

A total of four soloists will perform, each singing six gospel songs.

The other two artists are Elizabeth Hogue of Philadelphia, PA., and Elaine Love of East Point, Georgia.

According to Buffkins the purpose of the event is to give professional visibility (outside of a religious institution) to some of the most talented solo artists, with diversity of style, in gospel music today, with the hope that exposure will improve and enhance their individual careers in the gospel music performing arts arena.

Buffkins said the artists were chosen because of talent, style, and devotion to gospel music.

Samuel Shufford is a member, musician, and director of five choirs at Pennsylvania Avenue AME Zion church, where he made his public singing debut at age eight.

The Baltimore native is a senior at Coppin State College where he studies voice with Dr. Maurice Murphy.

Samuel Shufford, soloist

He has received various scholarships including one recently from The Peabody Conservatory.

He was inducted into Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society.

He has performed at numerous universities, the Orson Welles Dinner Theatre in Boston, the Unitarian Musical Festival in Westport, Conn., and is involved with many ensembles. Shufford was named most outstanding gospel male soloist in Baltimore in 1972-73, and won best overall performance and shared best soloist title at the 1984 Harborlights Gospel Competition.

He won best male soloist at the 1987 Kentucky Chicken Gospel Competition.

He has been received by audiences in various cities throughout the United States, Nova Scotia, St. Croix, V.I., and Bermuda.

"I get satisfaction out of lifting the name of Jesus and being able to reach people through the ministry of song," said Shufford.

Shufford said he recalls his mother sitting him on a stool by a radio in the kitchen when he was five years old.

"I would listen until the gospel show went off," he said.

"The neighbors would come and look through the door to see me sitting there listening to the gospel music."

"I love to sing more than I love to eat . . . and I love to eat," he said.

Ronald Lee Huff was born and raised in Baltimore, Maryland. He attended the Baltimore City Schools and obtained degrees from the Community College of Baltimore and Morgan State University.
