Vacation Bible School Sets pace

By Maxine L. Wallace
AFRO Staff Writer

Morning Star Baptist Church, 1063 W. Fayette St. continues to shape the lives of youth spiritually and educationally as it, for the 17th year, offered Vacation Bible School.

Classes began June 27 and will expire on Friday, July 30 with a special program at the church.

This year's program included some 125 students who ranged from the ages of two to 16.

For these students, some members at Morning Star, and others, children from the community and its surrounding areas, the day began at 8:30.

Included on the agenda was free play from 8:30 until 9 a.m. Following, the students and staff came together and sang grace and partook of the breakfast which was provided by the city.

A devotional period was next. At that time, students were taught Christian principles as well as moral values.

Betty Gordon, the school's principal of 14 years, said Vacation Bible School serves several purposes. "The main purpose is to teach our children some Christian principles," she said.

Morning Star's program is not singular in scope. In addition to learning the books of the Bible and lessons on acceptable Christian behavior, the children are also exposed to a variety of other activities.

These activities include arts and craft, music, recreation, and going on supervised trips.

Some enjoyable exercises in arts and crafts were making pet rocks and also making terrariums out of plastic bottles.

Frances Woods School, located at Fayette and Calhoun Streets was the site of recreation. There, the children went swimming twice a week.

Trips have included the Washington Zoo, the Baltimore City Zoo and Shake and Skate in the city. "Vacation Bible School gives the children an opportunity to be involved in wholesome activity...," said Gordon.

Also, active in the Vacation Bible School program have been several workers from Blue Chip and Workers Program. Their participation has been in the area of assisting teachers at the school in tutoring reading as well as helping the children to learn how to fill out an application.

Morning Star also employed three of the church's youth as teachers and assistant teachers. Receiving an honorarium for their services were LaShaun Fowler, 14 and Anthony Hines, both assistants for the Kindergarten class, and Jonathan Ray, 21, musician.

Several professionals addressed the students, enlightening them in their area of expertise. These persons were Marlene Vaughn, a nurse at Bon Secours Hospital; Gregory Evans, an architect with Gzesh Shanta Cruz Shchointuch Company; Vickie Ballou-Watts, a lawyer at the law office of Gerald

A WORD OF HOPE

By Maxine L. Wallace
Church News Editor

"Then touched He their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you." Matthew 9:29

Faith is essential in our Christian walk. In fact, faith was one of the key components in our salvation. For the Bible says, By grace are you saved, through faith . . .

But what is faith? Faith is believing God. Faith is standing on the promises of God . . . It is taking God at His Word.

We are living in trying times. All around us is poverty and despair. Newspapers reveal the sickness of society as we read stories about a father molesting his three-year-old daughter . . . or a nine-year-old girl being murdered on her way home from the library.

Televisions and radios unveil the madness at hand as they give testimony of the ill-treatment of blacks in South Africa . . . the dark deeds done at night on our inner city streets, as well as in the homes of rich suburbia.

Yet in the midst of the pain and sorrow . . . in the midst of the turmoil and strife . . . in the midst of seeming hopelessness and despair, there is a word of hope.

There is a word of hope because God is God.

God is able to bring light in the midst of darkness . . . He's able to give you peace at the midnight hour . . . He's able to calm the raging seas in your life . . . He is able to bring joy in the midst of sorrow . . . God is able to take the crooked places in our life and make them straight. God is able.

Yet in our focal verse, Jesus says according to your faith be it unto you.

Faith is active and powerful. While many may think of faith as being passive, faith is in fact, active.

It takes power to be able to believe in God inspite of what your mind tells you and inspite of what the situations and circumstances at hand dictate to you.

It takes power to have faith when you can't see the end of the road . . . when your only reality reveals that the cancer in your body is going to culminate in your death . . .

It takes power to stand on the Word of God when it looks like society's way is the best way.

Yet God is calling us to be a people of faith. God is calling us to be a people who are totally sold out and committed to Him . . . Not just talking faith, but walking faith . . . living faith. Faith turns God on.

Job and faith when he said Though He slay me, yet will I serve Him . . . The three Hebrew boys had faith when they were locked in a fiery furnace . . . The woman who had an issue of blood had faith when she said, Oh if I could but touch the hem of His garment, I know that I shall be made whole . . . Paul and Silas had faith when at the midnight hour they began to pray and sing praises unto God.

Well, you had faith when you trusted God to save your soul.

But God wants you to have more than just saving faith . . . He wants you to have the kind of faith that allows you to be a bold witness for the Lord . . . He wants you to have faith that allows you to trust Him with every aspect of your life.

Perhaps you are wondering how you can get this kind of faith. The Bible says faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the Word of God.

As you continue to read God's Word . . . as you continue to seek His face . . . as you continue to cultivate a love relationship with our Lord and Saviour, Jesus the Christ, may you come to know Him in the fullness of His power.

Agape to relocate

By Maxine L. Wallace
AFRO Staff Writer

Agape Fellowship AME Church, which currently holds services at the James D. Gross Recreation Center, 4600 Lanier Ave. will relocate on Sunday, August 7.

The new site for worship will be at the Palladium, 2900 Liberty Heights Ave.

Rev. Eleanor Bryant Graham, pastor and founder of the church said the move is to facilitate ministry needs. "This move is necessary to accommodate the operation of ministry of the church during the week," she said.

"Agape Fellowship is hopeful that its final move will be to a seven day a week facility located in the center of the Park Heights community."

Agape Fellowship began worship at its current location only four months ago and since then has accumulated a membership of 123.

The church has more than 10 ministries whose purpose is to minister with agape, the God kind of love, to the needs of the community.

At the wrap-up session of the recent Baltimore Annual Conference, Rev. Joan Patterson Taylor, a Baltimore City Public School teacher was assigned the Associate Minister and will be overseeing the church's comprehensive Discipleship Ministry, nursing Christians from infancy to maturity.

Oblates homecoming

The Oblate Sisters of Providence will host alumni and friends at the Annual Homecoming Celebration at Mount Providence, Gun and and Rolling Roads on Sunday, August 7. The day's events will begin with the Celebration of the Eucharistic Liturgy at 1 p.m. in the Motherhouse chapel.

Father Kenneth F. Gaddy, C.SS.R., an alumnus of St. Francis Xavier and St. Frances/Charles A. Hall schools and a native Baltimorean, will be celebrant and homilist.

Father Gaddy is currently stationed at St. Boniface parish in Philadelphia.

Dinners will be served in Sacred Heart Hall from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., with a choice of entrees on the menu. Tickets must be purchased that day. There will be numerous other attractions, fast foods, and Sweepstakes drawing before departures at 5 p.m.
