Barry won't run

By Frances Murphy
Washington AFRO Publisher

In an exclusive interview with the Black press on Wednesday, six hours before his taped interview was released on WHMM / Channel 32, Mayor Marion Barry announced that he will not seek a fourth term, will not plea bargain at this time, will not support either Rep. Walter Fauntroy or Sharon Pratt Dixon and will serve out his present term as mayor of the District of Columbia.

Marion Barry

At the meeting, held in the eighth floor conference room of the Reeves Center, the mayor met with Frances Murphy, publisher of the Washington AFRO-AMERICAN; Denise Rolark Barnes, the Washington Informer; Bill Reed, the Capital Spotlight; Randy Williams the New Observer; LaVerne Gill, Metro Chronicle; and Jean-Keith Fagon, publisher, of the Hill Rag and Northeast Star.

This was the second exclusive interview the mayor has held with the Black press.

The mayor looked very relaxed with Lurma Rackley his press secretary at his side. Here are excerpts from the interview taped by the AFRO:

Police arrest boyfriend:

Trapped with mom's body

By Helen Glover Cook
AFRO Staff Writer

Deborah Denise Bullock always taught her daughter, Tracie Latrice, to be articulate. The mother stressed the use of the correct word for body parts and objects. Tracie was not allowed to use slang.

The 2 1/2 year old child's ability to speak clearly and well to her rescuers played a pivotal role in saving her life Sunday night— but not that of her mother.

Twenty-nine year old Deborah Bullock had already been dead two days when police officers responded to the call of a neighbor inquiring about the source of a constantly crying baby.

Police pried open the front door to the house in the 1500 block of Register St. and found Tracie beside the lifeless body of her mother, Deborah.

While police searched for family members, little Tracie was placed in the temporary care of social workers whom she told that she had not had anything to eat but cookies in the entire two day period her mother lay dead.

The officers discovered the child in the second floor middle bedroom of the house. Her mother, Deborah Bullock had been fatally struck in the head with a blunt object.

Evidence found by police indicated the killer had used a second floor bathroom window to enter the house.

At the time the body was discovered police had neither suspect or motive for the slaying. Later, on Tuesday, Police arrested and charged Melvin Ealy with first degree murder for the homicide of Deborah Bullock. Thirty-four year old Ealy was the boyfriend of Ms. Bullock.

Deborah's mother, Mrs. Barbara Fitzgerald responded to the news that Melvin Ealy was a suspect in her daughter's murder by saying, "Melvin was quiet and reserved. He didn't like or feel comfortable around crowds.

We always tried to make him feel comfortable when he visited our house. The pictures taken from those occasions like most photographs can't tell the entire story. You never know what lies beneath the surface."

"After graduating from Forest Park Senior High School, Deborah took several secretarial courses but found more enjoyment working as a nurse's aide, said Mrs. Fitzgerald. The night she died she was due to be at work. She was employed by Scott's Nursing Agency."

In happier times-Tracie and her mother clown for the camera.

The funeral of Deborah Denise Bullock will take place at the Good Sheppard Baptist Church, 3459 Park Heights

MD's son found riddled by shots

By Helen Glover Cook
AFRO Staff Writer

Police officers responding to a call in Northwest Washington, D.C. early Monday morning found the body of twenty-seven year old William "Billy" Tyson. His body had been riddled with gunshots.

The wounded Tyson was taken to Howard University Hospital where he was pronounced dead at 9:14 a.m.. A hospital spokesman said, "He had been shot once in the right buttock and had suffered multiple gunshot wounds to the abdominal area."

According to residents of the 300 block of V St. where he was found, Billy Tyson was wearing all black and carried a large sum of money the night he was murdered. The residents said that he had been sighted in the neighborhood several times.

The victim attended private High School in Howard Coun-

Leaders look to next century

By Joy M. Tyler
AFRO Staff Reporter

The community leaders of Baltimore met this past Saturday at a two-day session at the new CCB to put their own stake in the local communities future for the 21st century

Citing the governments persistent refusal to assume its responsibility to foster a climate of fairness and accessibility to the business community, and its residents, this conference was held to directly go to the source, getting Baltimore to supply itself with answers and ways to foster a sense of stability and independence.

The leadership and development program provided over 400 participants in the community, an opportunity to examine itself through leadership development, and to identify community economic needs, increase knowledge of available economic and financial resources, and help begin to set goals and equip them with the skills to succeed.

Presentations by Mr. Michael Gaines provided a discussion on strategies on economics.

The group discussed ways of receiving possible funding for sources through the Director of Community and Neighborhood Relations and private sources, such as the Greater Baltimore Committee, Chamber of Commerce, and private foundations.

Health was a second issue covered by the leadership conference, with panel discussions with the Commissioner of Health, Dr. Maxie Collier M.D. and representatives for teenage pregnancy, minority health, and the health ministry.

This panel dealt with the problems facing minorities, specifically on AIDS, drug

Young honors 100 Black men

By Helen Glover Cook
AFRO Staff Writer

Senator Larry Young and the Legislative team of the 39th district honored 100 Black men for their achievements and outstanding contributions to the community at a Tuesday evening awards ceremony.

The ceremony took place at the Total Health Care/Constant Care center on Division St. and opened with a Invocational prayer given by Rev. Harold Carter.

Members of the 39th Delegation, Delegates Elijah Cummings, and John Jefferies offered congratulations on behalf of the 39th District and members of the State Central Committee.

After giving brief highlights of the careers of each of the 100 honorees, Senator Young asked several of the honorees to speak to the audience.

Honoree Raymond Haysbert, CEO of Parks Sausage told the group "It is not how you start but how you end that matters."

Observing the brain trust gathered in the ceremonial room Dell Edwards, WWIN News director said, "Eagles don't fly with pigeons."

Among the 100 Black men receiving awards were, Mayor Kurt L. Schmoke, Police Commissioner, Edward V. Woods , Commissioner Maxie Collier, Mr. Irvin Conway, Mr. John Oliver, Jr., Dr. Uthman ray, Attorney Dwight Pettit, Mr. Edward Butler, Mr. Aaron Stansbury, Mr. R. B. Minister Louis Farrahkan, spiritual leader of the Nation of Islam, spoke to an estimated audience of over 9,000 at the Baltimore Arena Thursday evening, admonishing them to "Stop the Killing"- a reference to the high incidence of Black on Black crime now rampaging through the inner cities of America.

"This generation is the coldest generation that has ever been produced—but do not blame them. They are the fruit products of the trees from which they came", Farrahkan said.

Blaming the high incidence of crime, disregard for human life and the breakdown of the family on escalating abortion rates, Minister Farrahkan said, "In biblical times Mary would not have been able to give a rational explanation as to how she became pregnant, as a result she could have been stoned to death and the fruit of her womb killed (i.e. Jesus Christ)."Don't kill yours!"

The Minister's explanation drew even more shouts of preach!, right on! and applause when he said," Our children are cold because they need to bond with their mothers. They need to feel the warmth of another living creature. TAKE YOUR HUSBANDS OFF OF YOUR BREASTS AND PUT YOUR BABY UPON YOUR BREAST WHERE IT BELONGS.

"You give your child the

With the caveat "Politics is a dirty business" Minister Louis Farrakhan introduced Baltimoreans Thursday evening, to the three Nation of Islam candidates who will vie for offices within Maryland's political arena in upcoming elections.

Minister Farrakhan mounted the stage and stood flanked by loyal Fruit of Islam officers. Brother William Muhammad from N.Y.'s Mosque was positioned to his left.to the audience's right stood Mustapha Farrakhan, FOI captain and son of the Minister.An entire row of FOI was seated on the Arena floor, across the stage length.

As Farrakhan acknowledged the candidates he began to sing a few words of the Anita Baker hit 'Giving You the Best that I've Got' to the audience, starting a two our speech that would be the most relaxed and colloquial of any of the Minister's Baltimore appearances.

The candidates included, Dr. Alim Muhammad, a surgeon, Minister of Mosque #4, in D. C. and the National spokesman for the Nation of Islam is opposing 5th District Congressman Steny Hoyer for the Democratic party's nomination.

Attorney George X Cure is a congressional candidate for the seat vacated by Rep.Walter Fauntroy, a contender for the Washington D.C. Mayoral seat. Shawn X Brackeen is running for the D.C. schoolboard.

Presenting a unified front, many political and religious leaders joined the Minister on stage representing the political solidarity between their secular or religious group and the aims of the Nation.

Newly ordained, Bishop George A. Stallings Jr., of the African American Catholic Congregation. Former New York rape trial defendant, Tawana Brawley, now a Howard University undergraduate known as Muslim sister Maryam Muhammad was introduced by Farrakhan who said,"The grand jury that said that she was not a rape victim is guilty of racist thinking that says Black women can not be raped.

"The White young woman
