cause by both Dr. Watkins and by Wendy Moore, Assistant Area Development Director, UNCF, who recognized everyone who in any way assisted with the telethon.

Other key people who helped the 1989 UNCF telethon to go over big were Vivian Gardner, chairperson of volunteers, Marion Patterson and Mildred Williams, who did a great job of raising up front money at a card party, and a Bernice S. Hunley, who was an advisor for the contestants for the Miss UNCF crown. They too, helped to raise a lot of money.

Winner of the crown was Donna Marie Owens, a Hampton University graduate. (You will hear more about her in the next edition). Trena Lewis came in second place, Mariska Johnson, third, and Kimberly Hill, fourth. Mary Jane Hollis was chair for the Miss UNCF Committee.

The additional monies which were a windfall for the telethon were the result of the hard work and dedication of the people of the surrounding counties.

A first for the telethon, the county participation was spearheaded, organized and coordinated by Flossie Johnson. Under her direction 18 counties surrounding Baltimore raised more than $35,000, and according to Mrs. Johnson, money and pledges are still coming in.

Counties involved in the superlative effort included Howard, Dr. C. Vernon Gray, chair; Pinnie L. Ross, co-chair; Baltimore, Joan Powell, chair, Shirley Hill and Gloria Marrow, co-chairs; Calvert, Michael Moore, chair, Sara Carter and Glossie Leake, co-chairs; Harford, Aleitha Starks, chair; Dorchester, Barbara Lake, chair, Benito Lake (hubby) co-chair; Anne Arundel, Constance Y. Brown, chair, Nancy Flythe and Eliza Smith, co-chairs; Talbot, Carrie Henson, chair, Bertha Wilson, co-chair; St. Marys, Commissioner John G. Lancaster, chair; Charles Edith Patterson, chair, Mary Wade, co-chair; Somerset, Dr. Diane Showell, chair, Lois E. Smith, co-chair; Wicomico, Jessie Smiley, chair; Queen Anne. Willie Pauls, chair, Walter Pauls (hubby) co-chair; Kent, the Rev. Clarence Hawkins, chair; Caroline, Twila Waters, chair, Ernestine O'Connelly, co-chair; Worchester, Betty Brown, chair, Earl Brown (hubby) co-chair; Allegheny, Carolyn Princess, chair; Carroll, Shirley Tucker, chair, Lu Ann Bowins, co-chair, and Frederick, Earl H. Robbins, Jr., chair, Olivia Robbins (wife) co-chair.

The Social Security Administration's Office of Public Inquiry, Module #3, assisted the AFRO-AMERICAN Mrs. Santa Campaign this year by adopting a family, Mrs. Santa's helpers included: Aurelia Whelchel-Manager, Pauline Luke, Charlotte V. Lyles, Linda Wolfe, Ruby Ellerbe, Mary Boyd, Jim Kunert, Laura Dyson, Narriman Alif, Mae Harris, Doretha Barnes, Barbara Grable, Carolyn Hunter, Linda Kisling, Lula Moore, Ed Worden, Melvin Sandler, and John Herritt.

Cylburn Arboretum Association, Inc.

Now is the time to make selections for spring and summer flowers for your garden. The Cylburn Arboretum Association is just the place to get up-to-date information about new annual flowers. The All-America Display Committee will conduct the winter symposium with a slide presentation of the 8 new All-America flower introductions for 1989. The program will also include the discussion of favorite varieties as determined by ballot from the public last summer. Flowers especially suitable for cutting and arranging will conclude the presentation. This symposium will be held Thursday, January 19th, at 4915 Greenspring Avenue, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon with snow date of January 26th.

pables were available.

Her more than 25 guests enjoyed, in addition to the vast array of mouth-watering food, games of cards and Pokeno. Excitement could not have run higher if folks had been at a Casino in Atlantic City, though the stakes for fun were penny ante. The festivities, which began around 7 p.m., lasted until the wee hours. You must know we had a super time.

NEW YEAR'S OPEN HOUSE

On New Year's Day Atty. Bill Dorsey and his charming wife Betty hosted a gala open house at their well-appointed home on Winterbourne Rd. 60 of their friends came out, in spite of inclement weather, for an array of "yum-yum" foods in the traditional soul food menu — fried chicken, ham, potato salad, collard greens, rolls, chips, dips and other munchies, and of course the good 'ol "good luck" black-eyed peas.

Everybody went ape over a luscious chocolate layer cake (forget the calories) and sumptuous sweet potato pies. Egg nog and cocktails of every variety were the sippables.

Guests, entertained largely in the living room which contained a seven-foot Christmas tree festively decorated in blue and white, also had the run of the clubroom downstairs where reigned another Christmas tree, artfully done in red and white.

Folks must have had a ball. Guests, who came at three p.m. lingered and lingered for the fun, with the last one departing at 5 a.m. What a blast!

SICK BULLETIN UP-DATE

Send a cheery get well card to Otis Hooper, SSA retiree who is still recuperating at home from a recent hospital visit. He resides at 1016 Alexander Ave. in Baltimore. Always thinking of others, he wants to wish all his friends a happy, prosperous and healthy New Year.

Members of the Les Tams Social Club surprised sick club member Irene Terry last week when they arrived at her home with all it takes to make an afternoon of card playing fun. Its nice to have friends who care.

DOUBLE RETIREMENT

Richard Brown and Richard Byrd, Division Director and Deputy Division Director respectively of the Division of Certification and Coverage, SSA, were the honorees at a retirement "send-off" held in the Walt Statham room located in the SSA Metro West building last week.

The Division Management staff also entertained the retirees at "Danny's" on Charles St.

Houses and horses will claim the future attention of these two sportsmen. "Dick" Byrd will enjoy some quiet moments fishing in between his real estate dealings, while "Dick" Brown, a skilled horseman, will spend his time raising horses.

IT'S A GIRL!!!

Congratulations to Eddie and Janet Hailes on the birth of their first child, a bouncing baby girl named Audrey Elaine. Hailes is an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Woodson Senior wins $50 with 'Holy Ghost'

Lucretia Brevard, a senior at H.G. Woodson High School, won a $50 savings bond in the Youth on the Beat contest for her third place article featured below:

Say Hello to the Holy Ghost
By Lucretia Brevard

She was the first in line. Her hands were trembling, and bulky, salty teardrops rolled from her eyes and rose in an endless fury. When she saw the hand of healing approaching her, she spoke in a deep, drone voice, "Don't come near me, let me alone!" She threw me a glance without intention, and what I visualized was unbelievable.

My mouth fell open, and my heart stuttered at this horrible sight. Her bloody eyes sent fear racing through my startled body.

By the time all of this had occurred, she was finally touched by the pure hand. Suddenly, he let out a screech like a primitive bird. My eyes bugled my heart was beating like an uncontrollable drum. Her intimidating yell seemed like it would last forever, but finally, ceased in approximately five long minutes.

Silence fell upon the congregation. Although her body was still trembling and her hands were lifted to the ceiling, it seemed as if she had released and received "something" all at the same time.

In a normal voice, she screamed, "Thank you, Jesus. Thank you!" The congregation clapped and praised the Lord for her redemption. I was still in shock with confusing thoughts about what had occurred, but I eventually recovered.

This was only one of the many experiences that I've encountered at a Holiness Church. Now Holiness is my chosen religion and I am very proud of it, because I know that my soul is cleansed and pure.

Children of Today Don't Live Past Tomorrow

By R. Pharr

Little boy
Only 11 years old
Walks around with a beeper
And a neck full of gold.

Thinking he's hip,
But still in elementary school.
Making lots of money —
Just another dopeman's fool.

Little hustler's mother
Doesn't even seem to care.
It's OK for him to hustle
As long as she gets her share.

Hustling for the dopeman
Is now every young boy's dream.
Little fellow doesn't go out to play,
Watch TV, or eat ice cream.

Just a busy little fellow
Who's out for that fast buck.
Not going to school, staying out all night,
Headed for a life of bad luck.

At the age of sixteen
Old enough to get some wheels.
Stops dealing for the big man.
Starts making his own deals.

At the age of eighteen
He really thinks he's "phly."
Starts using the drugs he sells
Then his life becomes a lie.

Drugs will surely kill you.
It happens each and every day.
Every minute of every hour
A young life is taken away.

Parents, we must get on top of this,
And we must all be willing
To stop our children in their tracks
Because the undertaker is making a killing.

Wake up all you parents,
Because it seems we've fallen asleep.
Your child's making twice your salary!
You're riding the bus, while he's driving a jeep!

When its getting late
Parents make sure your child is home in bed,
Before some police officer knocks at your door
To tell you that your child is dead.

The dopeman doesn't care.
All he wants is his bread.
If your child messes up his money,
He's sure to get a bullet in his head.

Our children are carrying guns now.
They're even bringing them to school —
Getting high off loveboat and crack;
Not learning a thing, breaking every rule.

How can a teacher teach a child
Who walks around with a gun?
He's not at school to learn,
Just out for some dangerous fun.

Babies are having babies
And it's a doggone shame.
Just a moment of pleasure she thinks,
But doesn't know the father from which the baby came.

She's now got a baby
And a habit just as well.
Strung out on that cocaine pipe
Now she's really catching hell.

Little baby's hungry,
Has no food to eat.
Mama's out getting high
Somewhere in the street.

Not concerned about her baby,
Just thinking of getting high.
Baby's at home wet and hungry,
And soon the baby will die.

This poem is for real parents,
Because every word of it is true.
If by chance you think its a joke,
It just might happen to you.

This could be your child
That I am talking about.
You have to set an example for your children
And check yourself on out .

Life can be very beautiful
But sad when its filled with sorrow.
Because our "Children of Today
Don't Live Past Tomorrow."

HERE IS THE ANSWER KEY:

Have you ever wondered....

Where "goose bumps" come from?

Tiny erector muscles that are attached to hair follicles contract in response to temperature and other stimuli, such as fear and excitement. When they do, they erect the follicle and hair, thereby making hair stand on end and creating "goose bumps." (Healthplus Update)
