Fullwoods share with Community

MR. AND MRS. HARLOW FULLWOOD (R) savor a pleasant moment with Graham Vinzant during the First Annual Breakfast with the theme "Sharing With Our Community" hosted by the Fullwoods at the Forum, Primrose Ave. Saturday, Jan. 21 at 9 a.m.

BALTIMORE STATE'S ATTORNEY STUART SIMMS exchanges greetings with City Councilwoman Agnes Welch.

DEACON FLEMING SANDERS chats with Mrs. Evelyn McCullum.

Philanthropy is defined by Webster as "goodwill to fellow men" and an "active effort to promote human welfare." Using these definitions, Harlow, Jr. and Elnora Fullwood, proprietors of Fullwood Foods, Inc. have to be designated as Baltimore's newest philanthropists.

At their first annual breakfast held Saturday, January 21 at the Forum, Primrose Ave., with the theme "Sharing With Our Community" the Fullwoods generously gave more than $300,000 to charitable organizations and clubs which engage in charitable endeavors, to colleges, the NAACP and numerous others.

The program of sharing and caring began with moments of fellowship from 9 until 9:25 a.m. when the nearly 300 folks in attendance sipped from the juice bar and socialized animatedly.

Presiding was Paquita Fullwood-Stokes (the Fullwood's daughter) who is the restaurant manager of one of the Fullwood's business sites.

Deacon J. Martin Capehart, President, National Deacon's Conference, offered the invocation, and the Welcome was extended by Harlow Fullwood, III, president, Student Council, Johnnycake Middle School and son of the Fullwoods.'

Acknowledgments of guests were done by Harlow Fullwood, Jr., with grace and remarks given by Evangelist Pat Kelly, Executive Director, Life Line Ministries.

Attendees savored a truly delicious breakfast buffet (gratis, thanks to the Fullwoods) of scrambled eggs, sausage, ham, homestyle grits, gravy, breakfast potatoes, French toast triangles with syrup and sugar, fried apples with cinnamon, biscuits, muffins, butter, jelly, hot coffee, tea, sanka and assorted Danish coffee strips.

The Occasion was given by Elnora B. Fullwood, vice president, Fullwood Foods, Inc. The reason the Fullwoods are so generously endowing others is that, according to them, life has been good to them. They have worked hard to make their three Kentucky Fried Chicken franchises a success, and their hard work has caused them to be among the monied of our city. The great part about it is that now that they have achieved so greatly, they wish to give back to the community some of what they have gained. And they intend to do it annually.

They are also mindful of and thoughtful of those who have been helpful to and supportive of them as they climbed the ladder of success. This was evidenced by their presentation of Bucket Awards, (nifty tokens in a Kentucky Fried Chicken bucket) which were awarded to:

Marguerite Campbell, retired community activist; Sallye B. Carter, retired educator; James David, City of Baltimore employee; Winston Highsmith, Concord Baptist Church; Pattie Hodges-Berry, Lifestyle editor, Baltimore AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers; Laura M. Knight, Baltimore City Public Schools; Bernice Lewis, poetess; Ronald J. Mullen, Baltimore Police Department; Osborne A. Payne, Broadway-Payne, Inc.; Ida Peters, formerly of the AFRO; Catherine Pugh, Baltimore Sunpapers; Geneva Thomas, KFC Franchisee and Agnes Welch, Baltimore City Council.

A befitting solo, "If I Can Help Somebody' was soulfully rendered by Elizabeth Norman, a MSU music major.

Then came the good part—the presentation of the 1988-89 Fullwood Foods, Inc. Grants, made by both Elnora and Harlow Fullwood.

On the receiving end of their generosity were the African-American Heritage Tour of Black Landmarks, African-American Empowerment Project, Arena Players, Inc., Associated Black Charities, ($5,000) Inc. Baltimore City Police Youth Clubs, Boy Scouts of America—Baltimore Area Council, Community College of Baltimore Foundation, ($5,000) Inc.; Concord Baptist Church Family Outreach Radio Ministry, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.'s Delta House ($5,000 given in Elnora's name since she is a Delta); Elite Giants Boys Club, Inc., Fuel Fund of Central Maryland, George W. Watkins Alumni and Scholastic Association, Girl Scouts of Central Maryland, Great Blacks in Wax Museum, Inc., Harford Park Little League, Life Line Ministries, Inc. Maryland Special Olympics, Morgan State University's Phi Eta Sigma Honor Society, NAACP Golden Heritage Membership; NAACP Regular Membership, NAACP Jubilee Day, National Aquarium in Baltimore, Patterson Park Emergency Food Center, Inc. (Rotary Foundation of Rotary InternationL ($5,000); Sojourner-Douglass College, Walters Art Gallery Foundation, Inc. ($5,000) and the Druid Hill Branch of the YMCA ($5,000) and the Baltimore Symphony ($6,000).

Coppin State College (where Elnora received both her undergraduate and graduate degrees) will get $10,000, as will Harlow's alma mater Virginia Union University, in the form of endowments, with the interest to be used for scholarships. Both funds will be added to each year for an endowment of $5,000. Concord Baptist Church (the Fullwood's church home) will receive $25,000.

Charitable donations to the NAACP include the Fullwood's Heritage memberships of $1,000, plus $25,000 to the local branch, and a pledge that all three managers of Fullwood Foods, Inc. will become NAACP members.

An additional pledge was made to Bea Gaddy who feeds thousands of the city's hungry each year that her Outreach Center will be supported by the Fullwoods. During his remarks, as a show of good faith, Harlow asked everyone to hold up a dollar. When he had it collected he presented it to Ms. Gaddy for her program.

It was truly an inspirational morning, one which gave all gathered a warm feeling—the feeling that, though you may receive, it is also not only worthwhile to give, it is rewarding and noble.

Harlow and Elnora are the owners of three Baltimore based Kentucky Fried Chicken (KFC) restaurants that are rated among the highest franchise operations in the nation.

They have been married for 25 years and are highly regarded as persons who care about people and their community. They are active members of the Concord Baptist Church.

Elnora, a native of New Kent, VA, is currently a Department Head in Special Education in the Baltimore City Public Schools. For the last 10 years, she has been an instructor for the National Congress of Christian Education. She is also president of the Maryland Women's Committee of the United Negro College Fund and an active member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Baltimore Chapter; Continental Societies, Inc. and the Coppin State College Foundation Board, Inc.

Harlow, a native of Asheville, NC, and a graduate of Virginia Union University, served on the Baltimore Police Department for 23 years. During his tenure, he was one of the most decorated police officers in the state of Maryland in terms of community service. According to former Police Commissioner Bishop L. Robinson, "Harlow was credited with recruiting

AKA FOUNDERS' DAY SPEAKER

Epsilon Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority will welcome to Baltimore from Atlanta, GA, a lady who has coordinated, participated in and was decorated for a variety of pursuits which served all mankind. She is a musician, educator, writer, committee woman and humanitarian who has won numerous awards, citations and keys to cities in the United States for her competence, diligence and sincerity.

Mrs. Mary Shy-Scott will be the Founders' Day speaker for the Epsilon Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. on Feb. 18 at 12 noon at the Forum, Primrose Ave.

She received her early education in the Atlanta Public Schools, after which she attended Spelman College, New York University and Georgia State University.

Mrs. Shy-Scott has qualifications that many do not have. She has been Mother of the Year, co-author of several books on the history of the AKA Sorority, collaborator on the curriculum projects for Georgia schools, consultant for various local and national workshops, director of an array of choirs and choruses.

Her biography is published in several volumes of note, such as 'Who's Who Among Black Americans' and The International Directory of Distinguished Leadership.

All of the accomplishments listed were attained by Mrs. Mary Shy-Scott while she was raising a family of two sons and a daughter. She is truly a master of women's liberation, a woman for the 21st century.

In addition to such a prominent guest speaker, as the Supreme Anti-Basileus of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., Epsilon Omega Sorors will present awards to community leaders and volunteers who demonstrate humanitarian characteristics.

The celebration will mark the 81st year of the sorority which believes in service to all mankind.

Marian Wright Edelman

Civil rights leader Dr. Dorothy I. Height and Marian Wright Edelman, chief executive officer of the Children's Defense Fund, will be featured panelists during a "Heritage and Futurism Colloquium," to be sponsored by Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. on Saturday, January 30 at 9 a.m. at the Grand Hyatt Hotel in Chicago, Il.

The colloquium is one of several events sponsored during Delta's gala Diamond Jubilee weekend. The public service sorority, with more than 125,000 college-educated black women as members, celebrates its 75th anniversary this year. The Jubilee weekend is the official opening of a Delta year of celebration.

"The purpose of the colloquium is to study the past, present and future implications of Delta's historic existence for women, especially black women, as they forge ahead in the nation's political and social arenas," said Dr. Thelma T. Daley, of Baltimore. Dr. Daley, a former Delta national president, is co-chair of the Jubilee weekend. Dr. Margurite Mazique, of Washington, D.C. is the other co-chair.

Both Dr. Height and Mrs. Edelman are Deltas, the latter an honorary member.

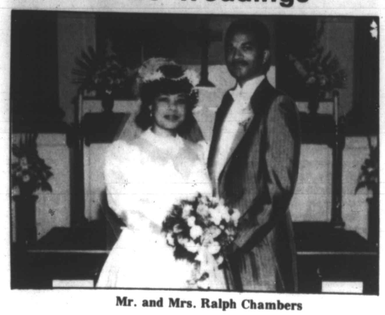
AFRO Weddings



Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chambers

ADAIR-CHAMBERS

The marriage of Miss Lori Jeanene Adair, daughter of Dr. & Mrs. Carl M. Adair, to Ralph L. Chambers, Jr., son of Mrs. Pauline Brown, took place on Saturday, October 8, 1988 at 12:30 p.m. at Douglas Memorial Community Church, Baltimore, Maryland.

The Rev. Dr. Marion C. Bascom, Sr. of Douglas Memorial Community Church officiated the double-ring ceremony.

James S. Hammond was musical programs organist, Mrs. Joyce Bowyer sang "A Wedding Prayer" and the "Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore a white antique satin gown, trimmed in ale con lace. Her neckline was of lace embellished with sequins, irredescent beads and pearls. The mutton-like sleeves with full bouffant tops were tight down to the wrists. The skirt was gathered with lace all around the bottom and extended into the train which was a hundred inches in length.

Her headpiece was a silk flower and Venise lace wreath that was adorned with pearls and crystal enhancements. A small pouf was accented by a narrow fingertip illusion. She carried a cascading bouquet of tiger lillies, purple and white roses.

Mrs. Cheryl Griffin-Threatt, longtime friend and college roommate of the bride, served as Matron-of-Honor. Sherri and Carla Adair, sisters of the bride, served as Maids-of-Honors. They wore shades of purple, satin gowns which flared below the knee and fell into an abbreviated train at the back. The back of the dresses also had a deep "V" which accented the bottom swing of the dresses. They carried bouquets of purple flowers which matched the color of the gowns. Each was enhanced with a purple bow and streamers. Their headpieces were cascading silk purple roses and pearls just over the left ear.

The bridesmaids were Misses Rita Johnson and Lola Carter, Sorors of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Misses Stephanie Smith, Adrienne Birt and Angela Taylor, all friends of the bride; and Mrs. Natalie Bailey, sister of the groom.

Their gowns were identical to the honor attendants except the color was deep purple. They also wore headpieces identical to those of the honor attendants.

The flower girl was Miss Monet Guthrie. She wore a satin dress with a princess seamed bodice and scoop neckline, with eccompassed all three purple shades and flowed to the floor. She wore a halo of purple roses, and carried a white basket with a purple ribbon that was filled with white and purple rose petals.

The groom wore a grey pinstripe tuxedo with tails and matching ivory cummerbund and bow tie. His boutonniere consisted of a white rose.

Morris Brown served as his brother's best man. He wore a grey pinstripe tuxedo with tails and light purple accessories. His boutonniere consisted of a purple carnation.

Groom's attendants were Cameron Brown, nephew of the groom, Eddie Adair, Jr., cousin of the bride; David Dixon, Ronald Owens, Jr., Alexander Schmoke, Jr., Jay Threatt, Lowell Sherrod and Bobby Burns, all friends of the groom. They wore grey pinstripe tuxedos with varying shades of purple accessories to match the bride's attendants' gowns. Their boutonnieres were purple carnations.

Master Ralph Birt, III served as the ringbearer. He wore a grey pinstripe tuxedo with tails, an ivory cummerbund and bow tie. He carried a white satin pillow adorned with purple and white roses and a purple ribbon.

The bride's mother wore a formal length gown of mauve with a pale lilac slip. The gown was accented with dangling crystal beads and pearls on the shoulders and crystal appliques all over. Her accessories were pale lilac and she wore a purple and white orchid corsage.

The groom's mother wore a formal length gown of lilac with a lace top and a flowing chiffon skirt. Her accessories were silver and she wore a purple and white orchid.

Junior hostesses serving at the wedding were Misses Gaye and Monique Brown, nieces of the groom; Misses Almaz, Monisha and Tonia Adair, cousins of the bride. Miss Lynda Brown, friend of the bride, coordinated the junior hostesses and also served as guest-book attendant. The junior hostesses wore grey satin dresses, with a dropped waists and flared skirts with purple bows at the side. Miss Toni Adair and Miss Gaye Brown pulled the runner.

The dinner reception immediately followed the ceremony at the beautifully decorated Forum. The bridal party was introduced by the Wedding Directress, Mrs. Cardrienne P. Griffin.

The couple was toasted by the Best Man, Morris Brown; Matron of Honor, Mrs. Cheryl Griffin - Threatt and Maid-of-Honor, Miss Sherri Adair. Expressions of love and thanksgiving to the guests were given by Dr. and Mrs. Adair. This was followed with a special blessing by Dr. Marion C. Bascom, Sr.

Also very special during the afternoon was the singing of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority National Hymn. The bride and the bride's mother are members of this sorority. Very special too was the presence in the circle of Mrs. Myrtle Tyler Faithful, one of the Sorority's founders.

The bride is a graduate of Walbrook Senior High School and of Virginia State University with a B.S. Degree. She is employed as a Media Teacher at Walbrook Senior High School.

The groom is a graudate of Community College of Baltimore and is employed as a State Correctional Officer.

Since returning from a honeymoon in Florida, the new Mr. and Mrs. Chambers are at home on Torlina Ct. in Woodlawn.

Serving at the reception were senior hostesses Mrs. Helen Birt, Mrs. Marion Patterson, Mrs. Lois Owens, Mrs. Janice Smith, Miss Minnie Johnson, Mrs. Pauline Pope, Mrs. Minnie Wilson, Mrs. Geraldine Desbordes and Mrs. Coby Walker. The senior hostesses seated the guests, served the wedding cake and attended the gift table.

Prenuptial events included an Engagement Reception given by the bride's parents; a Lingerie Shower given by Miss Cheryl Raigns, Miss Stephanie Smith and Mrs. Cheryl Griffin-Threatt and a bachelorette party given by the bride's attendants.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's mother and hosted by Mrs. Eddie Adair, Sr., Mrs. Verdell Adair, Mrs. Alvis Adair, Miss Joyce Adair and Mrs. Morris Tucker, (all aunts of the bride), at Douglas Memorial Community Church.

The bride's parents hosted a reception upon the return of the couple from their honeymoon in Florida, wedding guests were invited to view the wedding gifts and to toast the newlyweds.

JARRETT-SINKLER

Dr. and Mrs. George Sinkler, of Baltimore, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Dr. Georgette Alberta Sinkler, to Dr. Jon Jarrett of Muscatine, IA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jarrett. The ceremony was performed recently at the Andrew D. White House on the campus of Cornell University, in Ithaca, NY.

The bride, a graduate of Western High School and Princeton and Cornell Universities, is professor of Philosophy at Washington University, St. Louis, MO.

Come September she will occupy the same position at Syracuse University. A graduate of Iowa State University and the University of Chicago, the bridegroom is currently a Professor of Philosophy at Cornell University.
