Mae Townsend Matthews

Funeral Services for Mrs. Mae Townsend Matthews were held Friday February 3 at the March Funeral Chapel-west.

Mrs.Matthews was for many years secretary at the Carver Vocational High School in Baltimore as well as a journalist and administrator.

Mrs. Matthews died after a lengthy illness. At the time she was 89 years old.

The daughter of Peter and Mary Townsend, Mrs.Matthews was born in Winton, North Carolina, but in infancy came to Newport, Rhode Island where her parents opened a restaurant which became popular for its New England cuisine.

After graduation from Newport's Rodgers High School she came to Baltimore where her first residence was the Druid Hill Avenue home of the Marshalls, parents of Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall.

Her first job was as society writer for the AFRO-AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS in 1923. In 1925 she began to work as a stenographer for the law firm of Hawkins and McMechen.

After two years there she served until 1928 as secretary to Dr. Francis M. Wood, first black assistant superintendent of public schools. His title under Baltimore's then segregated school system was director of colored schools.

For a year Mrs. Matthews served as secretary to the Director of the Baltimore Urban League.

In 1929 she began her career as secretary-office administrator of what began as Colored Vocational High No. 454 at Lafayette and Carrollton Avenues and evolved into the George Washington Carver Senior High School.

Her marriage to Ralph Matthews, Sr., the AFRO-AMERICAN editor and columnist ended in divorce.

For three years in addition to her evening duties Mrs. Matthews taught commercial courses in the Douglass Evening High School. She preferred administration to teaching however and worked in the Carver office until her retirement in 1967.

In the early sixties she worked with an administrative task force that revised operational procedures for the city's school secretaries and other office personnel. For this and other contributions she received a commendation from then Mayor Theodore C. McKeldin in a City Hall ceremony.

She belonged to a women's social club the LLL's whose members included many pioneering professional women. She was member of St. Katherine's of Alexandria Episcopal Church for four decades and held posts as treasurer of various church guilds and committees.

Everyone is invited to enjoy this gospel music feast. Carter Robinson is the director of the Voices of Simmons and Laura Pye is the president. Dr. William King is the pastor of Simmons Memorial.

A Gospel Evening

An evening with gospel singing legend Katie Jackson and the James Cleveland Gospel Music Workshop of America Choir, Maryland Chapter, will benefit Mt. Washington Pediatric Hospital on Sunday, February 12, at the Jones Tabernacle Baptist Church, 2100 W. Baltimore St.

Jackson, a national recording artist, has performed with the major gospel groups in the country, including the late Clara Ward and the late Mahalia Jackson.

The benefit will begin at 4 p.m. For more information, call Marvin Moore at 523-3475.

New Hope Christian Church

There was a change in the tradition at New Hope Christian Church located on the outskirts of Edmondson Village, where Molester Hunter is Bishop.

Bishop Hunter said, "we thought we would try something different this year. It had been our tradition to have 12 straight nightly services beginning New Year's each night representing a month.

It was suggested this year to start out with a workshop in Effective Church Administration. I contacted Isaiah D. Hill, Head of the International Bishops Conference to request his assistance.

He covered everything from the motivators, manipulators and facilitators to the talkers, squawkers and the balkers."

The workshop was designed mainly for leaders in the church. Bishop Hill says the part that moved him mostly was when he asked the question, "how many people are familiar with parliamentary procedure to the point they could conduct a meeting. Only two hands out of the 35 went up.

This showed their interest by them coming out in the cold and yes the snow to learn how to not to have chaos in a meeting because the chair doesn't know and doesn't know they don't know or think they know and the result is everybody will know that they don't know."

Thirty-five people received certificates of completion. As usual, the breaking up was joviality mingled with tears because we wanted to go on further.

Bishop Hill said he is very excited about conducting these workshops in effective church administration because "my philosophy is, if you spend more time in the classroom and the prayer, you spend less time in the Courtroom.

If you would like a down-to-earth, no nonsense—informative workshop at your Church, contact Bishop Isaiah D. Hill—687-3040.

in America.

Would they by worshipping as freely on Sunday as they were talking and laughing on Saturday? In most cases, No.

As I stopped and asked for directions, the white man responded, gave me what I asked for, and more. He proceeded to tell me a story, the moral of which was this:

There is only one heaven and one hell, something I already knew of course. The point, however, is this:

People everywhere, from all walks of life are more conscious of the fact that to exclude folk from worship because of the color of their skin, whether they be black or white, is not in accord with any biblical principal taught in the Bible.

It is simply wrong, and there is no excuse for it!

When the first black Baptist Church in America was organized, it was mainly due to the efforts of two men, one white, the other black, Jesse Peter was black and Abraham Marshall was white. The year was 1773, the place, Silver Bluff, Ga.

When the first A.M.E. Church in this country organized, it was because of racial discrimination that existed in the largely white St. George's Methodist Church in Philadelphia.

It was because Richard Allen and other were tired of discrimination. I don't believe their intentions were to create separate orders of worship, but to be able to worship in an environment free of division.

If we're not careful, we may end up doing exactly what those great men intended to put to rest.
