GIANT Discount DRUG

SAFETY & RELIABILITY

"A classic instance where the PROFILE system comes into play is when a customer has two physicians prescribing medication. We have a customer whose family doctor prescribed Entex®, a decongestant. The customer later visited another doctor who prescribed Elavil®, an anti-depressant. The PROFILE system warned us that a combination of these drugs can cause an increased heart rate. Our customer could have suffered adverse cardiovascular effects. After we advised both physicians of the impending danger to the customer, they agreed to change one of the medications."

Non-Violence Now: a beginning!

Rev. Doug Sands points to the Non-Violence Week sign at M. L. King, Jr. Memorial U.M. Church.

By Evan. Theresa Mercer
AFRO Church Writer

Everything must have its beginning. In the beginning GOD created the heaven and the earth. (Gen. 1-1).

A community fair was held at Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial United Methodist Church to mark the beginning of what the church deems to be a long and continuous fight for non-violence in Baltimore City.

Martin Luther King Church is pastored by the Rev. Douglass Sands and is located on the corner of Forest Park Ave. and Windsor Mill Rd.

Proclamations were sent from the Mayor's Office officially declaring with M.L.K. Church that family week, which began on May 8, was to be a week of non-violence in the city.

The Honorable Kurt L. Schmoke, City Council Woman Iris Reeves, and Rev. Henry Silva of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference were among those who came to give their personal support for Non-Violence Now.

Activities were held nightly to point out the trouble spots people experience which seem to bring about violence.

Registering voters at the community fair for non violence is Yvonne Holt-Stone, basileus and Brenda Johnson of Rho Xi Omega Chapter, Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority. Councilwoman Iris Reeves looks on.

No matter what the topic, solutions were never easy to find. The workshops addressed parents abuse, spousal abuse, drug abuse, alcohol abuse and peer pressure.

Also nightly, exciting psalmists and choirs gave of their time to support Non-Violence Now.

Monday, May 8, Mrs. Alice Fitts, wife of Rev. Leroy Fitts, pastor of First Baptist Church, 525 N. Caroline Street shared her anointed voice in solo.

Tuesday, the outstanding Gospel Choir of Maryland Baptist Church under the direction of Rev. Dorothy Finch administered in song.

Wednesday, First Baptist Choir under the direction of the able James Poney, lead the worship service. Thursday, Mrs. Vanessa Barnes Frazier administered in solo. Friday the noted Social Security Choir under the direction of John Pitts, sang to the Glory of God.

The beginning success of the Non-Violence Now program has encouraged M.L.K. Church and the Non-Violence Committee in their forward move.

Father's, our missing Link, is the focus for June. All who are concerned are invited to come out, unite, and have input in a job that must be done. The body of Christ is one.

Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial United Methodist Church is committed to the task. They realize that non-violence is the hope of many people. Many people are taking or have taken steps to help achieve this goal.

The Non-Violence Now task is a large undertaking. Everyone must take a certain amount of responsibility to do what he or she can.

All of those who believe a change can be brought should be in some way supporting each others' vision. Unity is going to make the difference.

"And if a house be divided against it self, that house cannot stand." (Mark 3:25)

When people unite and support one another, change comes.

The choir of the Social Security Administration, directed by John Pitts, was one of the featured groups during the week's celebration of Non-Violence.
