"serious investigations." Democrats have led the charge for ethics legislation and campaign finance reform. Time after time, we proposed reform legislation and time after time, the Republicans fought it. We fought for ethics and reform and they sought to protect themselves," Brown said.

DNC Black Caucus Chair C. DeLores Tucker said, "While we had very clear indications during the 1988 presidential campaign of just how vicious national politics can become, the escalating attacks on Democratic leadership and character assassination now being forced against William Gray is a chilling reminder that desperation remains the center piece of Republican political strategy."

"The Justice Department's deliberate leaks to the media about the alleged investigation into an alleged no-show House Budget Committee employee last year is a malicious attempt to prevent Congressman Bill Gray from becoming the third-ranking political power in the Democratic House of Representatives," Tucker said.

"Willie Horton exemplified the lengths to which the Republicans would go, but Bill was and remains, the front runner for the Democratic Whip," Dr. Tucker said.

Rep. Bill Gray, in a hastily called press conference denied that he is the target of an investigation and called the timing of the leaks "questionable." Attorney General Thornburgh, under pressure from Brown and others, ordered an internal investigation at the Justice Department to determine whether indictments or disciplinary actions were warranted against those in violation of Justice Department procedures.
