Rawlings joins task force

The Honorable Howard "Pete" Rawlings, a member of the Maryland House of Delegates, has been selected to serve on the National Task Force for Minority Achievement in Higher Education. The task force is part of the Education Commission of the States' (ECS) bipartisan, nationwide effort to increase the number of minority students entering colleges and universities and completing their degrees.

Chaired by New Mexico Governor Garrey Carruthers and Ohio Governor Richard Celeste, the task force held its first meeting last week. During the 18-month project — entitled "Minority Achievement — Counting On You" — the task force will help states develop policies and programs to significantly improve minority achievement in higher education.

Howard "Pete" Rawlings has represented Maryland's 40th legislative district for three terms as a member of the House of Delegates. He is vice chairman of the Appropriations Committee and is chairman of the Subcommittee on Health and the Environment. He also serves on numerous boards of directors and is an advisor to the Maryland Alliance for the Poor.

Census reports on ethnics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Census Bureau, in a mid-decade report on ethnic populations, said Tuesday that in 1985 16 states had black populations of more than 1 million and four states and more than 1 million Hispanic residents.

The new report said that the black population in 1985 was 28.9 million people, up from 26.7 million in 1980, while the Hispanic population was 17.5 million, up from 14.3 million, and the "other races" category — Asians and Pacific Islanders, American Indians, Eskimos and Aleuts — totaled 7.3 million, 1.9 million increase.

The new report said two states had more than 2 million blacks — New York, with 2.7 million, and California, with 2.1 million. In 1980, only 12 states had populations with more than 1 million blacks.

California had the largest numerical increase in its black population, growing by 243,000 people between 1980 and 1985, followed by New York, which grew by 219,000 blacks, Florida, up 215,000, and Texas, which had 201,000 more blacks in 1985 than 1980.

But Florida had the highest growth rate, as 16 percent, followed by California, whose black population increased by 13 percent. The black populations of Maryland and Texas each grew by 12 percent. Of the 16 states with more than 1 million blacks, Michigan had the lowest growth rate, 4 percent.

The Census Bureau said 10 metropolitan areas had a black population of more than 500,000 in 1985 and four of these areas — New York, Chicago, Los Angles and Philadelphia - had black population of more than 1 million.

It also found that blacks constituted more than one-third of the population in 11 metropolitan areas, all in the South.

This Week in Black America

'Satin and mahogany'

Dr. Louis Sullivan, secretary of Health and Human Services, speaking at the swearing in ceremony for Kay C. James, assistant secretary for public affairs said, "Kay James is satin and mahogany—which is why she is a perfect fit in her challenging new position.

"Her credentials are exemplary, but it is her character, her carriage and her cooperative spirit that will count so significantly in the days ahead. I know for certain one thing: For Kay, communicating is as natural as breathing."

Morris Brown trial

Eight Morris Brown students will face criminal trespass charges on Sept. 19 for refusing to leave the campus administration building when the college denied them permission to hold a concert featuring the rap group, Public Enemy.

According to the Final Call, the students contend that they were not protesting but were only meeting to discuss alternatives for holding the concert.

Dr. Love seeks new job

Dr. Ruth Love, former superintendent of schools in Oakland, Ca. and now president of Ruth Love Enterprises LTD, has told the Tulsa, Oklahoma school board that her firm can help them find a new superintendent, the Oklahoma Eagle reported.

Love's proposal was one of eight received by the board from search firms which made bids ranging from $17,500 to $45,000. Dr. Love submitted a bid for $20,000.

Not forced from bench

Judge Juanita Stout, who turned 70 on March 6, has denied she was forced off the Pennsylvania Supreme Court Bench as reported in Jet Magazine.

Judge Stout told the Oklahoma Eagle that she knew about the mandatory retirement age of 70 when she took the job in 1986.

Sues Hughes for $5m

Hughes Aircraft has been sued for $5 million by a black former employee who charged he was repeatedly harassed and intimidated by white co-workers, the Los Angeles Sentinel reported.

Erich Hicks, 37, charged in his suit filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles that the aircraft company had violated the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Chancellor installed

The Los Angeles Community College district got its first black chancellor when Dr. Donald G. Phelps was installed recently.

Phelps was the former chancellor of the Seattle Community College district and president of Seattle Central Community College.

Reparations bill

The Detroit City Council has unanimously approved a resolution to give reparations to African Americans who are descendants of slaves by establishing a $40 billion education fund.

The resolution will provide college grants to students of all ages and the federal government would be responsible for financing the grants, the Buffalo Challenger reported.
