AREA OBITUARIES

Alice Spriggs

Mrs. Alice Spriggs, 55, teacher, social worker, pianist and poet, died May 1, in a fatal traffic accident. Funeral services were held May 6, at the Stewart Funeral Home. Rev. H. Beecher Hicks, officiating.

Mrs. Spriggs was a native of Washington, D.C., born to Howard and Vivian Spriggs in 1934. She received her primary education from the public schools in the area. She later, attended Howard University where she received a Bachelors of Arts in 1956, and a M.S.W in 1959.

Mrs. Spriggs continued her studies at the Universidad de Las Americas in Pueblo, Mexico, and the University of Arizona before receiving her M.A. from Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana in 1982.

She was an associate instructor of Pima Community College in Tucson, AZ. from 1974-1975. Later, she took a position as an instructor at Cuyahoga Community College in Cleveland, Ohio in 1978.

Also in 1978, she served the Baltimore City government in the Department of Social Services.

She taught in public schools in Washington, D.C. and Cleveland, Ohio. Her friends and family said she was, "A woman of many talents." She was an accomplished pianist and poet. In her life she published many works, including "Blood of Africa" in 1975 and "The Barbed Wire Tree" in 1982.

She is survived by two sons, Brian and Wayne; her parents; and a brother and sisters.

Interment, was arranged by Stewart Funeral Home, in Harmony Memorial Park.

Charlie Brown

The "Masquerade Is Over" for CHARLIE BROWN, but the love lives on.

Family and friends gathered at the Nutter Funeral Home Wednesday evening to say "so long" to "everybody's man." Interment was at Arbutus Memorial Park, Thursday morning. The Rev. Curtis C. Ringgold, officiated.

He was christened CHARLES CALVIN WOODSON, but since his days as road manager for the Coasters singing group, everybody knew him as the "Charlie Brown" they sang of, on their hit recording.

The only child of the late Vernon and Viola Woodson, he was born in Baltimore on April 15, 1930.

He played his final role of Pagliacci on Saturday, July 1, 1989, at the Good Samaritan Hospital, where he had been confined for the past month.

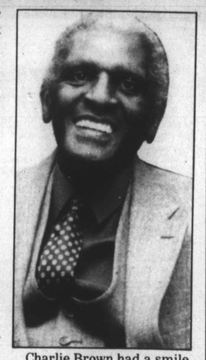
Some close friends remember the last time he publicly sang his favorite song "I'm Afraid The Masquerade Is Over." There were no dry eyes in the Sphinx Club as he sang the bridge in clear, resonant tones

"...I guess I'll have to play Pagliacci and get myself a clown's disguise; and learn how to laugh like Pagliacci with tears in my eyes..."

Shortly thereafter, Charlie entered the hospital in what would be the final round in his valiant fight to overcome a serious illness.

Charlie was educated in the Baltimore Public Schools. He held various jobs, but was mostly self-employed. In addition to the Coasters, he was also the road manager for the late entertainer, Jackie Wilson; and was Production Chief of numerous shows and festivals produced by Elzie Street.

He was told of his illness, last October, and bravely announced to all, that he had no intention of throwing in the towel in the greatest battle of his colorful life.



Charlie Brown had a smile that touched the hearts of all. He could be as tough as nails; or as gentle as morning dew.

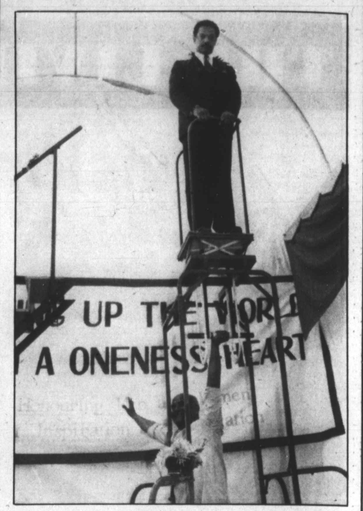
Consider yourselves fortunate if you were counted among his friends, for there was hardly anything he wouldn't do for those he loved.

His song sadly predicts, "...I'm afraid the masquerade is over — and so is love..."

No Charlie, our love for you can never be over!

Cherishing his memory are: two sons, Charles, Jr. and Corey James Woodson; daughter-in-law, Beverly Woodson; granddaughter, Christal; devoted friend, Barbara; and a host of relatives friends.

One East, one West
One North, one South
One Heaven, one Hell
One Charlie Brown!
So long, Ole Brown Eyes.



UP! UP! WITH JESSE IN NEW YORK — In an historic meeting, peace philosopher Sri Chinmoy lifts Reverend Jesse Jackson with one arm. (249 lbs.) The two men were brought together by Addwitiya Robert Flack, meditation student Sri Chinmoy . Sri Chinmoy's lifting demonstrates that inner peace leads to outer strength and he has been known to lift his own bodyweight 100 successive times singlehandedly as well as lifting over 7,000 pounds with either arm. Reverend Jackson was the 1142nd person lifted by Sri Chinmoy.

Smile orchids

Smile orchids to Mrs. Margaret Nickerson, who has a very pleasant manner. We shared a seat on a recent airline flight to Dayton, Ohio. She is a former Baltimore city teacher, (Harlem Park Elementary), who retired recently after 23 years teaching in the Ohio city.

Cuff note: Mrs. Nickerson's Baltimore kin include son, Police Sgt. Edward Dunlap, his wife, Barbara, the nurse; and grandchildren, Edward and Kimberly Dunlap. Also residing here in Baltimore, a sister, Mrs. Evelyn Ward, a city health department nurse, and her hubby, Anthony Ward, the retired postal worker.

* * *

Plenty of sunshine in the voices of these two Waters AME Church members — Mrs. Doretha Skinner, the retired nurse who is treasurer of the lay organization; and Mrs. Estelle Marshall, president of the lay group and retired school cafeteria manager.

* * *

Pleasing smile is the mark of Danny Smith, the Heritage Church member who heads maintenance staff at Somerset Homes, Baltimore City Housing Authority.

Orchids to Mrs. Gertrude (Trudy) Edwards-Mitchell. She's the good neighbor who had her dream come true July 1st when she opened the Deer Park Children Center out Randallstown way. The center can accommodate 40 children — ages 2 1/2-6, will put emphasis on tutoring and reading.

More smile orchids to Mrs. Lyndra Sparrow. She's the Social Security employee and wife of Rev. Clifton E. Sparrow, pastor of Mt. Pleasant AME Church on Tollgate Rd., in Owings Mills.

Editor's note: Did someone's smile impress you, make your day? Tell this column. Let us salute them. Write, Smiles, If You Ask Me, Baltimore AFRO-AMERICAN, P.O. Box 1857, Baltimore, Md., 21203, and smile, please.

On the move

Hometown youth making good: Congrats to Wayne T. Lockey. He's the 33-year-old Baltimore native who was recently promoted to Lt. Commander in the U.S. Navy and was accepted in the U.S. Army and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., last week.

Lt. Commander Lockley is a 1973 graduate of Baltimore's Polytechnic High School and a 1976 grad of Parks College, Ill. He enlisted in the Navy that same year. Since then he has seen extensive service aboard aircrafts, with flight squadrons at naval air stations in the U.S. and abroad.

His service has included flying electronic warfare planes and training new enlisted personnel in aircraft at Key West, Fla., and flying A6 attack bombers at a Va. naval air station.

Lt. Commander Wayne T. Lockley

Proud kin: His wife, Vanessa Tharps Lockley, and their 4-year-old, April, are with him at his new post in Kansas.

Baltimore kin: His parents, Robert and Alease Lockley he's the retired P.O. supervisor; she's the Social Service Day care super.

Other Md. area kin — brother, Robert Lockley, Jr., the insurance claims examiner; and sister Deborah Lockley, a bank account analyst.

Reunion

Members of the Desbordes family held their first reunion in Baltimore over the weekend. Some 65 descendants of the late George and Alice Desbordes of New Orleans came from N.J., Calif., New Orleans, and D.C., to share their love and memories at a variety of activities arranged by Dr. Lionel Desbordes and his wife, Gerri, and his brother, Dr. Fabian Desbordes, and his wife, Phyllis.

Activities included reception at Holiday Inn, Belmont, where kin were headquartered, a picnic at the Desbordes' homes, a pool party church worship and dinner dance.

It was at the latter that a video highlighted achievements of the family, saluted the parents who reared 10 children on a postman's salary and praised offspring for their achievements. Note was also taken of the presence of 20 grandchildren, 8 great grands.

City Council members Iris Reeves and Vera Hall were present to present certificates. Catholic Archdiocese's urban bishop, John Ricard offered prayer.

All nine of the ten living Desbordes children and families were here. All are devout Catholics. All have trained at Dillard University in their native Louisiana. All are in meaningful careers.

In addition to the Baltimore brothers, the Drs. Desbordes, other sisters and brothers here with their families were: Lorraine and Bernardine Desbordes, New Orleans; Anita D. Clax and Alice Barnes, N.J., Geraldine Echols, and Clarence Desbordes, D.C., Agnes McKay, Calif. and Lorraine G. Desbordes, D.C., widow of brother, George.
