of her husband, from her's and to leave the residue to her in her own right, and she would not have executed said deed, if she had not been so advised, and induced to believe by the representations of her husband, and said justices and others, and respondent states that she believed such was the effect thereof
To the Eighth Intg He answers said Hannah did rely upon the statements & explanations of her husband & the justices as to the operation of said Conveyance, on her rights
To the Ninth Intg He answers said Hannah is a woman tolerably unacquainted with the form force and effect of deeds and other proceedings in law & unable without advice & assistance to know the operation of any deed or Conveyance, or other act upon her rights she deeds explicitly in matters of business, upon the information & advice of her husband & other friends & the legal opinions expressed to her by the said Justices, she especially Confided in.
To the Tenth Intg Deponent can only say - That in Conversations had with Hannah Young the wife she always insisted she was willing to sign away, her right of dower in her husbands proportion of the property - but that she insisted on retaining and not parting with her own proportion of her fathers Estate That in all Conversations, held by Hannah Young in deponents presence, she held the same language She always insisted on retaining her own part, and deponent is satisfied she would not have signed a deed, had she understood she was parting with any thing more than her right of dower in her husbands exclusive share of the property She meant to retain her own & signed the deed, under the impression and representation that the effect of the deed was so to retain her own - To the Eleventh Intg. He answers nothing further - George Bowles - Witness of lawful age, duly sworn, answers To the 1st Int herewith filed & returned That he knows the parties - Complainant & defendant & has known them for many years.
To 2d Intg. He answers he is acquainted with the Real Estate mentioned in this Intg & which is described in the Exhibits now shewn him / A B C D & E. / and states that he does not think that part remaining in the possession of Henry Young & wife - and not embraced in the deed, marked Exhibit E, is the fourth part of the whole of said Estate, regarding quantity & value & that it is the worst part, and has no improvements of the time. To the 3d. 4 5 6. 7 & 8 Interrogatories he answers. he has no information, or knowledge
To the 9th Int He answers That Hannah Young is not acquainted with business, nor with the effect of deeds & would not be competent to act without advice & assistance -
To the Tenth Intg. Deponent knows nothing except that she always (by Hannah Young) always claimed, and now claims one fourth of the property.
