10th. Int: Was anything said to you by Maesche that Sefton was to pay for the horse by hauling? And, if yea, what did Maesche say?
Ans: I couldn't say. I don't mind anymore - there might have been.
11th. Int: What was the Character of the hauling, of the wood spoken of by you, from the Mountain?
Ans: Mr. Flegel and Maesche hauled most of the wood that was handiest to the public road - I hauled the balance of it off - Some of it was was hard, and some of it was not - I didn't consider it bad hauling for mountain hauling - The other men hauled one cord at a load and we hauled two - They ought to have made three trips a day and we only made two.

To Cross Interrogatories filed with the Commissioner by the Complainants and herewith returned, the said Joseph Wolfe, deposes and says, to the 1st. C. Int: Did you ever go by yourself when you were hauling for Maesche?
Ans: I don't mind. I often went up there by myself in hauling, but whether for Maesche Bro. & Co., I don't recollect. I don't think that I ever went to the wood lot alone. I think there was always some one with me. I always went alone for lime. For sand somebody always went along. Mr. Maesche always sent a hand along for sand, and sometimes two, and when Maesche sent a hand along for sand, Sefton didn't - In hauling stone a hand always went along, but whether employed by Maesche or Sefton, I couldn't say.
2d. C. Int: In hauling wood from the mountain lot of Ronzio, how many trips did you usually make in a day?
Ans: Two mostly, unless we hauled something else. I don't know of ever making three.
3d. C. Int: How many trips a day did Mr. Flegle make, when hauling from the same place?
Ans: That more than I can tell you.
4th. C. Int: When you hauled wood for Maesche, Bro. & Co., did Mr. Sefton, when he was along with you, help you to load up the wood?
Ans: Yes, when he was along, he did.
5th. C. Int: Did he do as much of the loading up as you did?
Ans: Well, sometimes he'd hand it up.
6th. C. Int: Did he come along down with you to Mechanicstown and help to unload?
Ans: No sir, he did not. Sometimes he would stay up there and make roads for me to drive over, but I wouldn't drive over them, because I didn't consider him a judge of such matters.
7th. C. Int: Did you then have to fix roads for yourself?
Ans: Well, sometimes I did, and sometimes I didn't.
8th. C. Int: What kind of roads did Wm. Sefton make for you and how did he want you to do?
Ans: Well, he thought he had made pretty good roads, but they didn't please me and didn't use them, and then I would cut a road through
