Give your reasons for your opinion
Ans. I dont think the real estate is susceptible of division among the heirs at law or parties in interest without loss and injury: and I think it would be for the interest and advantage of all the parties interested to have the land sold and the proceeds divided amongst them, my reasons are that if the land were cut up and divided, some would get land who dont want it. The reasons are obvious, it could not be done.
In the General Interrogatory -
No. I dont know that I do. except that my father and his direct ancestors have owned and occupied the farm of 94½ acres. described in the will of Frances Fathers as the Home farm every since 1813.
