(3) A daughter Annie R. Adelsberger not married, an adult living in Baltimore Md
(4) A son Edward L. Adelsberger not married an adult who resides in Balto. Md
(5) James D. Adelsberger (a son) an unmarried adult who resides in Balto. Md.
(6) A son, Robert B. Adelsberger: An unmarried ~~and an~~ adult residing in Balto. Md.
(7) John M. Adelsberger a son unmarried and an adult residing in Balto. Md
(8) A son. Ernest E. Adelsberger, an unmarried infant under 21 years of age residing in Balto. City.
(9) A son Francis A. Adelsberger (present witness) whose wife's name is Jennie M. Adelsberger, both of whom are adults residing in Emmitsburg Md.

I know the property described in Exhibits A. B. & C, The property described in Exhibit C. is a home and lot in Emmitsburg worth about $1500.= and that described in Exhibits A & B, is a home and lot on the public square in Emmitsburg worth in the neighborhood of $800.=
These properties are other and different properties from those which the Executrix was authorized by the will to sell.
These properties are not susceptible of division among the parties in interest without loss and injury: for the very obvious reason that they are town properties and are not susceptible of such division
I think it would be to the benefit and interest of all the parties to have the properties sold and the proceeds divided.
There is a Mortge on the property described in Exhibit C. on which there is a balance due of $688.= with interest from Nov. 13. 18[illegible]. said mortgage being held by Laura B. Dirren who is an adult residing in Emmitsburg Md.

Cross Examined by the Exdmnt.

Ans. That is about all I know.
