

Death of Gen. Watkins.

We are sincerely pained to announce the death of General JOSEPH NELSON WATKINS who died in Baltimore city on Sunday morning last, at the ripe old age of 80 years. He was born in Anne Arundel county on the 24th of September, 1790, and for the greater portion of his life was a resident of Annapolis. He was for many years Secretary of the State Senate, and Adjutant General of the State, and filled many other public offices with credit. He was a graduate of St. John's College, of which he was one of the visitors and governors.

Gen. Watkins was an elegant gentleman, a man of highly cultivated mind, and a ripe scholar.

His remains were brought to this city for interment.—Gazette.

SALE OF THE ANNAPOLIS SASH FACTORY.

—We hear that Mr. Sprigle has sold this extensive and useful establishment to Mr. Pusey; but we hope there is no truth in the rumor that he intends to remove from our city. We can't spare such citizens.—Tarry yet awhile, friend! There are better days in store for us. There's life in the old town yet.

WILLIAMS, GEO. N. FOSTER, IRVIN STAMMOND, Mrs. Captain Tilton, Prof. H. Maurice, John J. Brewer, John Sewell, W. H. Percell, A. B. Haguer, J. T. K. Hyde, David S. Caldwell, James Brown, Dan'l Duvall, John M. Gantt, Edw'd A. Owens, James L. Ridout, Elijah Rockhold, Thomas I. Hall, Rob't L. Thomas, John A. Baldwin, Andrew Deaver, James H. Bullen, Joseph J. Whittington, T. W. Hall, Rev. Sam'l Ridout, Mrs. H. Chase, Knud Harman, Jos. H. Watkins, James Andrews, Edward Hall, Gen'l Frank Bond, M. N. Jones, J. Kalmer, W. Dadds, Jr., J. H. Owens, Thomas Deaver, N. Brewer.

Party Names.

The Washington Patriot, in an editorial on party names, says: "Abolitionism had an expansive elemental force which effected much. Not only did it get rid of slavery, but it has abolished many other things. It has so far as it lay, 'abolished' the Constitution. It 'abolished' the rights of the States. It 'abolished,' by its processes, the love of a common country which existed in the popular heart everywhere. It 'abolished' the specie currency of the country. It 'abolished' confidence in our public men. Offering no, it no substitute, and now, by a sort of inverted, suicidal process, it is about—happily as we think—to 'abolish' the Republican party, which, coming into power through its influence, had not the courage to assume its name."

$15,000 each. To this company mineral lands, mill privileges, and five town sites in St. Domingo I granted. They also have the mo banking, of building railroads, and using steamboats. They are auth the event of annexation, to a whole public domain of the Dept to have one-fifth of the same by compensation. This one-fifth th locate for themselves, in any port island selected. With such a fin in prospective, it is no wonder it is pushed upon the attention of t with such pertinacity. The divid be large, and hence the interest movement at the White House."

Postponed.

The consideration of Butler's bill has been postponed until the January. We opine that no tr the South would care one cent had been postponed indefinitely. A bill of pains and penalties—at the so-called rebels—and will do whatever we feel sentiments wh been checked during the discuss Billings' the animus of a majori from the ranks of the most bitter Don't take them rock on with th nation. We guess the South ca them.—Washington.