about two miles from the place of action, I fell in an ambuscade crossing a small swamp or branch, when an unfortunate young soldier (Mr. William Quartetman) received a mortal wound. After coming up with Way's party, being very late in the day, and not having any provisions, and having a dead man whom I wished to get into the settlements, I was induced to return. The number of the Indians supposed to be about twenty. If no assistance is given the back settlers more than heretofore, the settlement to the southward of me will be broke up in a few days. I am, dear colonel, with esteem, your's, &c.

" D. STEWART.

" Colonel James Maxwell."

BALTIMORE, October 28.

Extract of a letter from Cronstadt-Mole, (Russia) to a gentleman at Boston, dated July 31, 1788, received by the brig Good Hope, which arrived there, a few days ago, in a short passage from Russia.

" I find here nothing but war and preparations for war—the Swedes and Russians are earnestly engaged—there hath been one battle with their fleets, and another with their armies. The Russians brought in here a ship of 60 guns with the rear admiral of the Swedes—and the Swedes have taken a 74 from them—the report is that the Russians have lost four sail of the line. I expect soon to hear of another engagement, for I fell in, two days ago, with seven ships of the Swedes, and the port of their fleet is not above thirty-five leagues from this place, and it is said their fleet is superior to the Russians. Yesterday I passed through the Russian fleet, commanded by admiral Greig, consisting of seventeen sail of the line and four frigates; they were not above ten leagues apart, and if the rest of the Swedes come out, there must be a severe action. Which of the armies got the better, am not able to inform you, but by what I can learn, both were willing to retire."

3 SUSANNA TRUMAN HAWKINS.

October 20, 1788.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

THE subscriber, of Prince-George's county, in the month of October, 1787, had a tobacco-house, full of tobacco, consumed by fire in the night; and on the night of the 28th of August last, he had seven stacks of wheat and rye destroyed in the same manner, and an attempt at the same time was made to burn a new and valuable tobacco-house with three hogsheads of packed tobacco, a quantity of plantation utensils, and a variety of other valuable property, therein. On the night preceding the evening when the aforesaid tobacco-house was burnt, Notley Young, Esquire, for whom the subscriber is manager, lost a tobacco-house by fire. The subscriber is fully convinced that these misfortunes were not occasioned by accident, but that some depraved and hardened wretch has secretly and wilfully attempted his ruin by the commission of those enormities.
