No. VII. Th[illegible]

MAR[illegible]

COPENHAGEN

HE communicatio[illegible] Helsingfors has b[illegible] sixty travellers, w[illegible] ed for several day[illegible] ceived permission [illegible] journey. The tra[illegible] ave been able to maintain, both [illegible] of the kingdom, has now [illegible] overnment to relax those rigoro[illegible] hey had at first adopted. They [illegible] d in respect to the extent of their [illegible] orrespondence which conspirato[illegible] hold with the provinces.—All wh[illegible] he plot have been seized, and co[illegible] ated every day. Their confession [illegible] ept secret; but it is confidently s[illegible] rincipal accomplices of captain [illegible] ong counts de Ribbing and de [illegible] oncerted the death of Gustavus [illegible] degradation of the nobility, a[illegible] hich should inflict the mortal [illegible] nsurrection. The two others, ho[illegible] nd the attempt. Horn gave th[illegible] king on the shoulder, and say[illegible] ; and while the king turne[illegible] om immediately fired.

VIENNA, [illegible]

Yesterday a cabinet council w[illegible] veral hours, at the end of whi[illegible] 42,000 men were ordered to [illegible] t, and that the same evening ord[illegible] the several regiments.

BERLIN, [illegible]

Since the return of M. de Bl[illegible] ng is in motion. Such preparat[illegible] , as plainly indicate that part[illegible] be on the march. All the fo[illegible] all people employed on fort[illegible] ht and day. The order was [illegible] ich prohibits the admission o[illegible] e been in the French service [illegible] ers to make the strictest inquiri[illegible] ple from mixing with our tr[illegible] ted to the French general Ha[illegible] 00 dollars.

BRUSSELS,

Orders have been conveyed to [illegible] y of Louvain, to prepare for th[illegible] ops, who are immediately to c[illegible] An invasion, on the part of th[illegible] every day. The general off[illegible] the frontiers, have received th[illegible] case of an attack on the ga[illegible] ich cannot make a long resistan[illegible] vous is appointed for them, a[illegible] e end dispute every inch of gr[illegible] Namur have orders to defe[illegible] extremity; the other places [illegible] n as the enemy shall make the[illegible] ces.

Among the other precautions th[illegible] to employ the severest peoplis[illegible] ll take up arms for the purpose [illegible] —Notwithstanding, however [illegible] inhabitants are more than e[illegible] ir independence; and the m[illegible] ed to suppress the spirit of [illegible] more its progress.

The preparations for war conti[illegible] ue; every day detachments [illegible] ters, with numerous convoys [illegible] ns.

The government are in the gre[illegible] to the present state of affai[illegible] ve of the consequences o[illegible] ch at the present moment, [illegible] he height. The number of [illegible] cient to make any effectual [illegible] rnal and foreign enemies. [illegible] ncils with general Bender, a[illegible] of the greatest assist[illegible]

LEYDEN,

[illegible] dare not be very communica[illegible] n is watched with a scrupul[illegible] der's friends are much displea[illegible] ts. To be left in a moment[illegible] ry not yet of age, and who [illegible] luences of the science of ind[illegible] l alarming circumstance. I[illegible] ces to avoid giving there a[illegible] the part he means to take, [illegible] ll urgent. It is known the[illegible] ministers ready drawn—that they [illegible] t their correspondence with [illegible] avowed; and yet with the [illegible] s taken against them. The