ed, the ſubjects who had fought
d into the moſt friendly interitain, and gave her the moſt rade. In the preſent war be-Europe and patriots of France,

America has not permitted herſelf to expreſs even a ſentiment againſt thoſe principles ſhe deteſts, or in favour of thoſe which ſhe admires; we have ſacrificed to impartial juſtice, to the love of peace, to political prudence, all generous ſympathy and gratitude to our great ally, and ſuppreſſed within our ſtruggling boſoms the warm affection we feel for her principles, admiration of her greatneſs, and ardent wiſh for her ſucceſs. This conduct would have received from common juſtice a reciprocal return; but we learn, with the greateſt pain, that the king of Great-Britain, unmoved by our generous example, deſtitute of every ſentiment which renders a crown reſpectable, governed by an ambitious, revengeful and intereſted policy, taking advantage of our peaceful ſyſtem, which has been deſigned for the comfort, and not prepared for the deſtruction, of our fellow men, has denied the rights, attacked the intereſts, interrupted the purſuits, and inſulted the dignity, of the United States. He has refuſed to deliver up the weſtern poſts according to treaty, thereby unjuſtly and cruelly depriving us of our barrier againſt the barbarous inroads of ſavages. He has let looſe the barbarians of Africa, who plunder and enſlave our fellow-citizens. He has arrogantly attempted to preſcribe boundaries to the American commerce. His ſervants have been permitted to inſult, impriſon, and impreſs into their deteſted ſervice, the citizens of the United States. He has authoriſed the detention, ſeizure and condemnation, of the veſſels and property of our fellow-citizens. He has met our peaceable remonſtrances with inſult.

Under theſe impreſſions, though we have ſome hope from the juſtice of the Britiſh nation, we have no confidence in that of their executive. Believing, therefore, firmly, that the Britiſh court has formed the weak and wicked deſign of ruining our country, we conſider it the duty of every citizen in America to prepare for war. And we hereby inform and inſtruct you, to make uſe of every honourable endeavour to preſerve peace with all the world; at the ſame time that you concur in the moſt active and vigorous preparations for defence. And if the wiſdom and juſtice of the United States ſhould declare war, we hereby ſolemnly pledge ourſelves to each other, and to our country, that with our lives and fortunes we will ſupport the freedom, dignity and independence of America; that no ruin or calamity ſhall ever reduce us to ſubmit to any nation upon earth; that we will tranſmit to poſterity our freedom and independence as pure as we now hold it. We will reſume all thoſe habits which ſhall tend to render us independent of all the world. Our hearts are prepared—we will endeavour to conform our habits to the comfort and protection of our friends, and ruin of our enemies. We are perſuaded we ſpeak the ſentiments of all our countrymen. We truſt America is informed by one ſoul. We believe that every hand would offer juſtice and peace to all mankind; but ſhould the ſword of war be raiſed, it will fall on our enemies with all the powers of the American arm.

We, fellow-citizen, entirely approve the principles upon which you have acted in congreſs; and we feel ourſelves happy that we have a repreſentative attentive to his duty, and reſpectful to his conſtituents.

On behalf of the citizens of Charles county,
M. J. STONE, Chairman.
JOHN CAMPBELL, Secretary.

"On the 16th inſtant, departed this life, after a tedious and painful indiſpoſition, Mrs. ELIZA WILLIAMS, the wife of JAMES WILLIAMS, Eſquire, of this city. That religious fervour which animated her conduct, that benevolence of heart which held forth the lenient hand of compaſſion to mitigate the diſtreſſes of indigence, rendered her worthy of imitation, and a valuable member of ſociety. She was always regular in the performance of thoſe duties which are impoſed by the religion ſhe profeſſed; and ever attentive to the cultivation of thoſe obligations which ariſe from our ſocial capacity. She has left few relations to lament her diſſolution; but the community of which ſhe was a member, when they reflect on her many exemplary virtues, will inſtinctively ſoften and grow proud to feel."

Fifteen Pounds Reward.

MY waiting man, negro DICK, ran away from me laſt Saturday; he croſſed the bay from Annapolis to Kent Iſland on Sunday about nine o'clock, and ſtole and took with him my gray mare. He wore a green cloth coatee and jacket, leather breeches, and boots, a round hat, and blue ſurtout, but took with him a variety of other cloaths. He is a very likely lad, well made, wears a queue, ſome little plaits in his wool, and dreſſes very faſhionably; he is about twenty-five years of age, well ſized, black colour, reads a little, and is a complete waiting man; he took the Philadelphia road.

I will give the above reward to any perſon who will apprehend and ſecure the ſaid negro lad and mare, or TEN POUNDS for Dick, and FIVE POUNDS for the mare, and pay all reaſonable charges.

WILLIAM PACA.

Baltimore-town, April 9, 1794. 1

ECLIPSE,

Stands this ſeaſon at NEWINGTON ROPE-WALK, and will cover mares at thirty-five ſhillings each, and three ſhillings to the groom.

ECLIPSE was got by Charles Wallace, Eſquire's, Northern Eclipſe, which he imported, his dam by Sweeper, his grand-dam by Driver, out of a good mare. The money will be expected with the mares, if credit, ſeven dollars in lieu thereof, to be paid in Auguſt next.
