To the Ladies.

MRS. WAITE informs the Ladies of the city of Baltimore and its vicinity, that she has for a number of years practised the art of MIDWIFERY, to the satisfaction of all those who have honored her with a call on that occasion.
The particular good success which she has been blessed with in her occupation, not having one patient die or even bed ridden, more than what is customary, prompts her to make known her occupation and place of residence, as she is lately from the country.—Those ladies who would wish to make trial of her skill and knowledge, will please to call at No. 56 1-2, Cumberland Row, where due attendance will be paid. She also ensures to cure scalled heads, even of the most stubborn nature.

VENEREAL COMPLAINTS.

AS Dr. WARNER's practice has been very extensive both in public and private, daily experience convinces him of the propriety of his method of removing the venereal disease, in preference to any medicine vended or known in Baltimore. He has removed the most desperate cases with care and dispatch, after the failure of some of the ablest physicians both in Europe and America. Complaints of the urinary passages and debility thereof, from various causes and accidents, removed in the shortest possible space of time.——As there are persons from various causes cannot personably apply, it may be necessary to inform them, they may be releived from a description of their complaint.
Dr. W. warrants a cure in all cases. Masters of vessels and travellers may have their medicines so prepared, that a safe, effectual and expeditious cure may be effected, without the least restriction in drink or diet.
N. B. Dr. Warner has removed to the corner of Calvert and Bank streets.

Legislature of Maryland.

In the proceedings of the house of delegates of this state, on Monday, the 11th instant, we find it stated, that

"The house having qualified for that purpose, proceeded to the choice of a governor, and upon examining the ballots it appeared, that Robert Bowie, Esq. had a majority of votes; whereupon Robert Bowie, Esq. was declared governor of the state of Maryland."

"The clerk read to the house a letter received by him from Archibald Van Horn, Esq. resigning the office of speaker."

"The house proceeded to ballot for a speaker, and upon examing the ballots it appeared, that the honorable Tobias E. Stansbury was elected."

"A message was received from the senate, agreeing to proceed immediately to the election of a council to the governor, appointing Mr. Hayward and Mr. Houston to join in examining the ballots."

"The house, having qualified for that purpose, proceeded to the choice of a council to the governor, and upon examining the ballots it appeared, that Allen B. Duckett, Reverdy Ghiselin, Richard T. Earle, Francis Digges and Philip Reed, had a majority of votes. Whereupon it was resolved, that Allen B. Duckett, Reverdy Ghiselin, Richard T. Earle, Francis Digges and Philip Reed, be and are declared to be, the council to the governor."

In the proceedings of the 13th instant—"A letter from the secretary of state, with sundry enclosures respecting the more effectual preservation of the peace in the ports and harbors of the United States, was read and referred."

"The following resolution being propounded to the house was read."

"Resolved, that so much of the executive communication as relates to the appointment of Joseph H. Nicholson, Esq. and the compensation allowed him by the governor and council, and also so much of the said communication as authorises the said agent to deduct the amount of the expences in selling the stock, and investing the amount in the funds of the United States, shall not be considered as confidential.

"A letter from the governor of Kentucky, with a resolution of that state therein, proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States, was read and referred; and also a resolution of said state disapproving the amendment to the constitution of the United States proposed by the state of Massachusetts, which was read."

LONDON, Sept. 18.

Last night Mr. Courvoireur arrived at the Sect. of State's Office with dispatches fr. St. Petersburgh. Dispatches were at the same time received from Vienna. The contents of both are known to be important. The Earl of Westmoreland was waiting to receive them, and on their arrival Lord Mulgrave set off for Waymouth, to wait upon the king.

The precise nature of the dispatches has not transpired, but the report at Yarmouth where the packets landed the Messengers, was, that Austria has actually published a manifesto, stating the grounds on which she finds herself necessitated to appeal to arms, as the only means left to her for maintaining her just rights, and the integrity of her dominions, endangered and threatened by the lawless usurpations of the head of the French government. A copy of this important state paper makes a part, it is said, of the dispatches that have been received.

High court of Admiralty, Doctors Commons—Tuesday the Right Hon. Sir W. Scott proceeded to the adjudication of the following detained ship and cargo:

Eagle, Terry master.—This was an American ship, laden with a cargo of cargo of coffee and Sugar. Ship and part of the cargo restored, as claimed; the other part (which was taken in at the Island of Guadaloupe) was condemned on the ground of its being an exportation from the colony of the enemy to the mother country.

September 19.

Private letters received by the mails yesterday detail some interesting particulars that were but slightly mentioned in the printed journals.

The note transmitted by Bonaparte to the Emperor of Germany, concerning the military preparations in Austria, is reported to have been conceived in terms so amicable and respectful as to excite considerable surprize. There is, however, nothing surprizing in this line of conduct. The object of the pretended attempt at a pacific negociation, is merely to put the adversery in the wrong; for neither party can have the least hope of being able to accommodate their differences.

On the 22d ult. there was a grand conference of state at Vienna, at which the emperor presided in person. It lasted from four o'clock in the afternoon till very late at night. The following is a statement of the force of the Austrian armies, with their respective situations: In Styria, 30 battalions of infantry and 20 squadrons of cavalry; in Carinthia, 20 battalions of infantry and 20 squadrons of cavalry; in Italy, 60 battalions of infantry and two regiments of cavalry: at Venice, 25 battalions of infantry; in Carniola, 20 battalions of infantry; in the Tyrol, 50 battalions of infantry, a corps of Tyrolean sharp-shooters, and 1 regiment of cavalry; near Wells, 60 battalions of infantry, and seven regiments of cavalry; near Minterndorff, 16 battalions of infantry and 5 regiments of cavalry.

The Russian army, at the date of the last official return, amounted to 508,250 men, exclusive of the invalids. The whole of the French army at present amounts to 593,528 men, exclusive of the Gens d'armes, the National Guards, and the newly organised armies of the kingdom of Italy.

There will be, in the next campaign, the unexampled circumstance of three Emperors at the head of their armies. Bonaparte of course. But Francis II. heads his troops, it is said, on the German side; the Emperor Alexander will follow his troops to the aid of his brother of Austria. Thus eagle meets eagle in a conflict, than which the world never witnessed a more important, nor on the result of which greater events depended.

Fellow-Citizens of the Sixth Ward,

YOU are again called upon by proclamation of the Mayor, to elect, on this day, one member of the first branch of the city council. By your last election, a member was returned, but on the investigation of the council, he was not eligible, as to being assessed to amount required by the act of incorporation, as construed by the electors of Mayor and Second Branch, and as adopted, on mature consideration, by the first branch, by 13 to 2 votes, a writer in Saturday morning's American, to the contrary notwithstanding. But by that writer, you are informed, that he now has made himself eligible by transfer of property. Let me ask you, what has your old and faithful representative done to forfeit your suffrages. I have enquired and can hear of nothing; but that he like an honest and conscientious man would not give his vote to open North-street, at the expence of the city, an unprecedented thing. * * * * * * * * Has he not solemnly declared his belief in the christian religion in that council? Has he not sworn to act impartially as a member of the city council? Is he not as sufficient in all things as his opponent? Let me inform, and some yet live can testify to you, that he was one of the first in this state to take up arms in defence of American freedom. Was he not in the ranks at Boston in the year '75 in the rifle corps from this state, the companion of Gen. O. Williams? When that service was expired, did he not again serve, to his honor, in that celebrated German regiment in '76, '77, and 78? has he not, since the peace, lived amongst you? and has he not been foremost and ready to aid and did he not serve you, leaving his family and friends when that Hydra raised his head in the western country? and has he not sustained an honest and fair character? Have you forgot those who fought and bled for your independence? I hope not—therefore arouse! and assemble at the poles This Day and support your old representative and patriotic American.

AN INVALID.

TURNPIKES.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman travelling through the United States, to his friend in Baltimore.

"The more I travel through your country, the more I am struck with its great natural superiority over those of the Old World. Arriving at the Susquehannah, I felt my mind much exalted in viewing the majestic flow of that noble river I took the map, examined its course through those fertile and extensive plains which it laves,—traced its tributary streams, which, like arms, collect the rich burthens from far and near,—and gave scope to my mind in a perspective view of its future very lucrative trade. —While thus occupied, I saw, in a very strong light, the great advantages, the Baltimoreans are daily losing. The Philadelphians have long since seen a source of wealth in the commerce of the Susquehannah, and by their immense capital and unwearied assiduity, they hope to divert it to their city. For this purpose they have made an excellent turnpike from Columbia, where they have placed agents to intercept the produce on its way down. But it appears to me, their design might be easily frustrated. By an examination of the map, you will find the great and only important impediment to the descent of the river, is about two miles below the line. A turnpike might branch off from the York road, at about the distance of ten or fifteen miles from your city, to strike the river above the rocks, and within the state of Maryland.

"The distance from the York road to such a landing on the river, would not be more than 28 miles; and as the York road is incorporated to be turnpiked, you would only have to make an extra turnpike of twenty-eight miles. The distance from Baltimore to such landing being then 38 or 40 miles, that from Philadelphia to Columbia, being 76 or 80 miles, would give a decided preference and secure to you the trade exclusively. Should you not however seize the present opportunity, while the commerce is yet unconfined and ready to receive that di
