CAPITULATION.

of the Commandant of the escort of the heavy baggage of the Austrian army.

This day being the 27th Vendemiaire, 14th year, (October 18,) the Brigadier General Fauconnet, one of the commandants of the Legion of Honeur, and commandant of the Chaussours of the 13th and 14th regiments of the 6th division of the grand French army—And M. Locatelli, Major of Hohenlohe's regiment of dragoons, have concluded the subjoined capitulation, in consequence of a summons sent by M. the General Fauconnet, to the said M. Locatelli, to cause the corps of cavalry appointed under his command, to escort the heavy baggage of the Austrian army, to lay down their arms;

Article I. All the hussars and light horse, which compose the detachment escorting the artillery and baggage of the Austrian army, are prisoners of war, and shall be conducted into France. They shall therefore lay down their arms, and deliver up their horses to the regiments under the orders of M. the General Fauconnet—Agreed to.

II. Messieurs the officers shall retain the horses on which they were mounted at the time the corps was taken. Each of them shall also have the privilege of retaining a valet in his service, and their equipage shall be preserved. The soldiers shall retain their effects.—One valet shall be allowed for the Major, and for each of the Messieurs the Captains, and one for every two Lieutenants or Sub-Lieutenants.

III. All the petty detachments of infantry and artillery, turned in flank by the French troops, and closely pressed by the cavalry under M. the general Fauconnet, are also prisoners of war, and shall surrender their cannon, waggons, caissoirs, and arms; and Messieurs, the officers shall enjoy the same advantages as those granted to the officers of the cavalry.—Agreed to.

IV. Messieurs the officers of cavalry, artillery, and infantry, made prisoners, and comprised in the present capitulation, shall be at liberty to return home, on giving a written parole of honour, not to serve against the armies of his Majesty the Emperor and King, or those of his allies, until they shall have been exchanged, or until the conclusion of a peace, should an exchange not take place. His Royal Highness Prince Murat is requested to grant this condition, which is submitted to his approbation.

Done at Head-Quarters, Bopfingen.

BULLETIN OF THE ITALIAN ARMY.

October 19th, 14th Year.—At four o'clock in the morning the General in Chief caused the bridge of the old castle of Verona to be attacked. The wall which barricaded its middle, was thrown down by means of a petard. The two coupeures which the Austrians had made, were rendered practicable by the aid of planks and boards; and twenty four companies of Voltigeurs sprung from the other side of the river, from whence they were followed by the first division.

The enemy warmly defended the passage; they were driven back, and chased from all their positions, after a battle which lasted till six o'clock in the evening. They lost seven pieces of cannon, and eighteen covered waggons.

We took 14 or 1500 prisoners, and killed or wounded nearly an equal number; but a few combatants fell on our side.

We had about 300 slightly wounded.

A bridge-head was immediately constructed at the bridge of the Old Castle. We shall make known the results of this happy day.

HAYDEN, Surgeon Dentist, having necessarily been absent a few weeks, respectfully informs the citizens of Baltimore (and those in particular who have called during his absence) that he has returned, and will be happy to meet the application of those who wish his assistance, at No. 46, Chatham-street.

To this monument the gentlemen of the navy, from their scanty means, generously gave about 2500 dollars.

This elegant monument is expected to arrive in a few days to be placed on an eminence in the navy yard in the city of Washington.

THE EDITOR of the American will oblige many of his subscribers, by stating in this paper, that Dorothy Ridgely, a female PREACHER now in this city, neither is nor ever has been a member of the SOCIETY of FRIENDS. This is not intended to affect her religious usefulness. It is simply wished that in the minds of our citizens, the society of Friends may not participate in either her merit, or demerit.

IT appears by the confession of Benj. Holland, in the Telegraph of this day—that he when driver of stage No. 71, extorted unusual fare from another person on the same evening, which he says was an unusual hour. The hour alluded to in the American, was only 20 minutes past 6, an hour to take the person to all lodgings who called the stage, but an acquaintance of Mr. Z's. home.

Education.

Baltimore Academy,
Tammany-street.

THE parents of the youth, at this institution, & the public are respectfully informed that on Monday and Tuesday, the 23d & 24th inst. will be held an examination of the different departments in the Seminary. The classical school will be examined on Monday; and the English and mathematical on Tuesday.

On the evening of each day, commencing at 6 o'clock, the youth will deliver a variety of exercises in elocution. The parents will receive tickets of admission previous to the exhibition.

The principal of the Academy takes this occasion of informing the public, that the different departments have lately been filled with the ablest tutors that liberal salaries could procure; and who are ready to be responsible for their respective charges, not only to their employer, but the public.

The Mathematical School is under the tuition of Mr. John Dickson Craig, a gentleman highly recommended for capasity and experience, especially in the higher mathematics & natural philosophy.

The primary or introductory school is taught by Mr. John Craig, A. M who lately graduated at the university of Glasgow, and produces the most respectable credentials of those qualifications, moral and literary, which should characterise the instructor of youth.

Besides these, there are two junior ushers; and a French tutor, of respectable character and qualifications, is constantly engaged in instructing such as wish to acquire that language.

It is presumed that, to those who may take the trouble to make impartial enquiry, it will appear, that there is no Seminary in this city, or the state, where more highly sanctioned means can be afforded for acquiring a liberal & comprehensive course of literary instruction.

The principal has expended two thousand five hundred dollars on accommodations and apparatus. Exclusive of his own labours, the acquisition of the most respectable talents, together with contingent expences, amount to upwards of two thousand dollars per annum and consequently must require respectable support; but it is resolved that the number of pupils, at no one time, shall exceed twenty five for each instructor. Parents, who can without prejudice, make allowance for diversity of genius or capacity in youth, and have patience to wait the effects of system and discipline, steadily and zealously pursued, shall not be disappointed.

The liberal and enlightened citizens of Baltimore whose munificence hath already blessed so many very distant Seminaries, it is hoped, cannot fail to encourage the exertions of an individual, in behalf of their own youth, more especially when it is considered, that the terms are regulated by that principle, without which, no public Seminary can be entitled to public countenance in a free country, i.e. NOT PLACED BEYOND THE REACH OF THE GREAT BODY OF THE COMMUNITY.
