CITY ITEMS.

A portion of the Western railroad machine works were suspended yesterday forenoon, in consequence of an accident to the pumping apparatus attached to the stationary engine.

Mr A. M. Bradley, one of Sheriff Bush's deputies, formerly of Russell, has been appointed messenger at the court house, in place of Calvin Stebbins, lately deceased.

The City Guard had their first street drill of the season last evening, and everything passed off so pleasantly that they will probably have another next week. Perhaps they are getting ready to take the "champion colors" from the Zouaves.

Dr William B. Miller of this city has an interesting and instructive lecture on "Palestine," which he has delivered in the neighboring villages with much success to himself and satisfaction to his hearers. It was delivered before the Ludlow Methodist Sabbath school last Sunday.

A delegation of star performers from the New York Academy of Music are making a tour through the New England States, and will be in this city next week. Their entertainments are operatic, of an Italian style, and will be successful wherever they are given. M'lle Zimmerman, Carl Asehurz, Sig. Morino, and other popular favorites are among them.

J. C. Campbell, formerly porter at the Massasoit House in this city, and F. C. Remington, for many years clerk of the United States Hotel in Boston, have associated themselves together and opened a first class hotel in New York and christened it the "Hampden House." It is located directly opposite the New Haven and Harlem depots, and will be easily found and generously patronized by visitors from this vicinity.

The arrangements for the novel Fourth of July entertainment in this city are nearly completed. Professor Wise of world-wide celebrity has been engaged for balloonist, and in addition to the final ascension by himself, he will give a series of topical ascensions during the day, carrying up passengers. The professor will use his new balloon "Venus," with which he made a grand ascension from New York last week.

Edward Nolan of Holyoke, who was convicted of larceny at the late term of the superior court, has been transferred from his old quarters on State street and sent to Charlestown, to complete his sentence of four years hard labor and four days solitary confinement. While at the depot he remarked that he was a tough one and able to stand it. He was arrested in Holyoke about a year ago for breaking into a jewelry store, but by an affecting plea and an ingenious trick of the law he escaped punishment.

The Wide Awakes will meet at the police court room this evening to complete arrangements for their trip to Westfield, Friday evening. After the business is transacted, Captain Lombard will drill the club in the basement of the building, and it is necessary that every member who expects to go to Westfield should be in attendance. The capes and caps can be found at Lee's hat store, and the torches will be delivered Friday evening at the Wide Awake headquarters. The club from Chicopee Falls will join the Springfield club at the depot, and the Springfield brass band will escort them.

Tuesday and Wednesday of this week have been the two warmest days of the season, the thermometer averaging as high as 90 and 95 in the shade, over 85 on the 5th ult. Tuesday morning there was a slight frost, only visible to early risers, but before nine o'clock linen coats and wide awake hats were seen in every direction. Notwithstanding the severe drouth in early May, vegetation was never more luxuriant than now. Contrary to general expectations a month ago, the grass crop is doing admirably, and Court square and the armory grounds have been relieved of their first harvest. All about the city, and in every direction from it, gardens, orchards and fields are promising, and every fruit tree, twig, shrub and stump that is blessed with life indicates a bountiful yield of everything. On Hampden park, along the banks of the river, the trees are clothed with that verdure which never goes out of fashion, as they are also on the retired streets in the eastern section of the city.

A lady named Mrs Brown, in company with a son of 14 or 15 years, left Lowell for this city on Tuesday, and while in the cars her pocket was cut and robbed of a purse containing $46, all the money she had. As soon as her loss was discovered and made known, a gentleman on the train gave her $3 and three ladies contributed the sum of $1 each. What renders the circumstances more sad and her case more worthy of assistance is the fact that she is physically unfortunate and was coming to Springfield to receive medical assistance, and was obliged to sell a portion of her furniture to raise funds to defray traveling expenses, &c. She has a husband and son in California, but has heard nothing from either of them since the Frazer river excitement, and a daughter at work in the Middlesex mills, in Lowell, whose life is has been limited to six months by the doctors, and also a crippled son in Providence, R. I. This unfortunate woman is now stopping at the Pynchon House, and there is a grand chance for those who have liberal hearts and well filled pockets to show their generosity. She has acquaintances in this city who can vouch for her character, and also a statement from a passenger on board the train, who is well known in this vicinity, which corroborates her account of her loss.

NEW ENGLAND NEWS ITEMS.

His pictures are numerous, but his greatest efforts and those that have made him popular are, "The first Thanksgiving," "The signing of the compact on board the Mayflower," "The Huguenot's evening service at sea" and "Washington resigning his commission." The last was painted for the state of Maryland, and occupied four years in painting, for which Mr White received $5000.

EASTERN MASSACHUSETTS.

A gentleman who had a $700 check on one of the Boston banks presented the same to the teller for payment, on Monday, but the teller refused to pay it, not knowing the party. The gentleman replied that he was born and brought up in the city, which was not considered satisfactory, and he then said that if they would send their messenger to another bank, he had a relative there who would identify him, but they declined to do it. He then asked if they had an ante-room where he could retire to satisfy them, which they replied they had, reaching which he began to undress, and pulling out his shirt, he exhibited his autograph upon the corner, which convinced the teller, so that he was informed he need go no farther, that the check would be paid.

The supreme court at Boston has granted a divorce to Mary L. Amistead, from John P. Amistead, for desertion, under quite singular circumstances. The parties are colored and were married in 1844. The husband was a fugitive slave, and fearing that he would be reclaimed by his master, fled to Canada, but his wife raised $500, purchased his freedom and brought him back to her. Soon after he went to Australia and deserted the vessel, and his wife has heard nothing from him since.

President Phelps of the Senate has imported a Lincoln rail from Illinois for the republican club of his district in Boston.

The boating season opens at Boston with unusual promise. The Union club of the city propose to enter a new English shell, four oars, for the Beacon cup race, and the Harvard boys give it up in advance, seeing that the new boat weighs but sixty pounds, is of unequalled model, and being but four oars will take odds of thirty seconds from the collegians. The Charlestown regatta on the 18th is of lap-streak boats, and the Harvard men have a new one built by Coyle of New Brunswick. The old university will be represented at the college regatta by a new Mackay shell, and the crew will be even heavier men than heretofore. For the college regatta the Brown men at Providence have also a Mackay shell, and the Columbia college students give indications of coming in.

The second centennial anniversary of the settlement of Marlboro was celebrated on Wednesday in a most spirited manner, and the town was thronged with visitors and gay with decorations. An address was delivered by Charles Hudson, giving an elaborate history of the settlement of the town, which will probably be issued in pamphlet form. A dinner was had in a tent erected for the purpose, and in the evening a grand combination concert was given by Gilmore's band, the Marlboro band, and Hall's Boston brass band.

RHODE ISLAND.

The Providence city council have invited the Japanese embassy to visit their city, but it is now feared they will not extend their journey farther north than New York.

In connection with the Quaker yearly meeting at Newport, the alumni of their boarding school at Providence held their annual festival on Monday. An alarming degree of "conformity to the world" was manifest in the attire of the young Quakeresses, and the address by Prof Hase, of the Quaker college in Pennsylvania, treated of "the beautiful as a religious element"—an idea not entirely harmonious with ancient Quakerism. A poem by Whittier was read, which was full of wit and wisdom, in which he made the following appeal for old-fashioned Quakerism:—

Meanwhile shall we learn, in our ease, to forget
To the the martyrs of truth and of freedom our debt?
Hide the words out of sight, like the garb that they wore,
And for Barclay's apology, offer no more?
Shall we fawn round the priestcraft that glutted the shears,
And festooned the stocks with our grandfather's ears?—
Talk of Woolman's unsoundness?—Count Penn heterodox?—
And take Cotton Mather in place of George Fox?—
Make our preachers war-chaplains?—quote Scripture to take
The hunted slave back, for One-imus' sake?—
Go to burning church candles, and chanting in choir,
And on the old meeting house stick up a spire?
No! the old paths we'll keep until better are shown,
Credit good where we find it, abroad or our own;
And while "Lo here" and "Lo there" the multitude call,
Be true to ourselves, and do justice to all.
The good round about us we need not refuse,
Nor talk of our Zion as if we were Jews;
But why shirk the badge which our fathers have worn,
Or beg the world's pardon for having been born?
Enough and too much of the sect and the name;
What matters our label, so truth be our aim?
The creed may be wrong, but the life may be true,
And hearts beat the same under drab coats or blue.

The festival of Class Day, or Presentation Day, as it is called in New Haven, was celebrated at Yale College on Wednesday. The senior class, numbering 100 members, was formally presented to the faculty as candidates for the graduating degree, had their oration and poem from J. L. Daniels of East Medway, Mass., and Charles A. Boies of Keene, N. H., respectively, sang an original poetry ode by C. A. Richards of Meriden, N. H.; ate the corporation dinner in Alumni Hall, sat down on the college turf and smoked the parting pipes; laughed, talked, cried, sang and shouted; and separated. The wooden spoon exhibition occurred Tuesday evening and produced the usual amount of merriment, Stanford Newell of Minn. receiving the spoon. The freshman class also had their frolic at becoming sophomores, making merry with grotesque costumes, transparences, speeches &c.

The negroes who attacked a Virginia sheriff at Blairsville, Pa., the other day, were not the escaped slaves of whom he was in search, but some free negroes who vented their "sacred animosity" against slave-hunting by knocking down the Virginian and beating him within an inch of his life. He was looking for six slaves from Hampshire county, Va., who had borrowed their master's guns and clothing before running off, after the example of the Jews in Egypt. The sheriff went back without the negroes.

The "relics of barbarism" fall, one after another. The Spanish House of Peers has passed an act abolishing bull fights, and it is thought it will be carried in the House of Deputies, although there is much popular opposition to the reform, the people being loth to give up their most exciting amusement. In Portugal, the ends of the bull's horns are carefully padded, which divests the "sport" of a great deal of the barbarity inseparable from it in Spain.

Shears, the enterprising newsman who runs the New York papers to Albany before breakfast, pays $150 a day for his train of one car, having the right, however, to take such passengers as he can accommodate at his own price. THE LATEST NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE REPUBLICAN.

(By American Telegraph Company's Lines — Office Western Railroad Buildings.)

CONGRESS.

Washington, Wednesday, June 13.

SENATE.

Mr Sumner of Mass. presented a memorial asking the discharge of Thaddeus Hyatt, and moved to refer it to the Harper's Ferry committee.

Mr Fitch of Ind. objected, and said the senator presented a petition the other day from negroes, which was referred to the committee without their knowledge.

Mr Fessenden of Me. asked if the negroes had no right to petition to Congress.

Mr Fitch had no objection.

Mr Hunter of Va. reported the Morrill tariff bill, from the House, and moved to postpone it till the second Monday in December. Laid over till to-morrow.

Mr Hunter also reported in favor of extending the time for funding the national debt of $20,000,000 to five years, stating that the House amendment to the tariff bill funded the debt in two years, but that the finance committee thought the time should be extended.

Mr Bigler of Pa. objected. The Senate should consider the House bill on the tariff, where this amendment properly belongs.

Mr Simmons of R. I. characterized the movement as an attempt to cover up the extravagance of this administration.

Mr Toombs of Ga. defended the administration, the extravagant appropriations being chargeable to the republicans.

Mr Fessenden replied that the minority are not responsible, as the appropriations were recommended by a democratic administration, reported by democratic committees, and carried by democratic votes.

Mr Toombs blamed the republicans and some democrats for joining them to carry extravagant appropriations, and charged that the increase in expenditures was in order to make protection necessary.

Mr Bigler stated that over six millions had already been appropriated by the Senate over the estimates of the departments, and the secretary of the treasury had stated in his report that these extraordinary expenses could not be met without an additional revenue. He himself favored protecting home industry and providing against foreign competition; otherwise the expenses will continue to exceed the revenue and there will not be a dollar to pay the public debt.

Mr Hunter denied that it was necessary to increase the revenue, maintaining that a low revenue prevented extravagance.

The Senate took a recess until 6 o'clock.

Mr Wilson of Mass. defended the republicans, stating that the House, controlled by republicans, had reduced the estimates $1,800,000, but that the democratic Senate had added over $6,000,000 to the House bills. He proceeded to show the necessity for an increase of the tariff for revenue to meet the public debt.

After further debate the $20,000,000 loan was agreed to 29 to 19.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The resolutions of censure upon the president and secretary of the navy, reported from the committee on expenditures of the navy department, were considered.

Mr Bocock of Va. denied the right of the House to pass judgment on the highest executive officer and a member of the cabinet on exparte testimony taken by the committee of a past Congress. He would not be surprised to see the resolutions followed by a warrant for the arrest of the president and secretary of the navy to be brought before the House and censured. The president is independent of Congress, and Congress independent of the president. It would be pertinent to the program next to censure the supreme court for the Dred Scott decision.

Mr Sherman of Ohio said he reported similar resolutions in the last Congress, and he asked why the House, being then democratic, did not act upon them and refute them if their conclusions were unrue. He advocated the resolutions.

Mr Hatton of Tenn. who, as chairman of the committee had introduced these resolutions now, advocated their adoption, saying the protest of the secretary and his friends would not deter him in the conscious performance of his duty.

The House refused to table the resolutions, 65 against 120, and then proceeded to act upon them.

The first resolution, condemnatory both of the president and secretary of the navy, was adopted without a count. The second, that the contract made by the secretary of the navy, in September, 1858, with W. C. N. Swift of New Bedford, for "live oak" timber, was in violation of law, improper and injurious to the public service—was adopted, yeas 119, nays 60. The third, that the distribution of the patronage of navy yards among members of Congress was highly injurious to the service, was adopted by 123 to 61, Mr Reagan of Texas attempting to move as an amendment that the votes of members for Defrees, for printer, under a bargain to distribute the spoils, was also corrupt. The fourth and last, that the conduct of the president and secretary of the navy, by receiving and considering the party relations of bidders for contracts, and by awarding contracts while elections were pending, was dangerous to the public safety and deserving of reproach, was adopted by 106 to 61.

A recess was taken till 7 o'clock.

Another resolution was adopted by 90 to 37, which censures the secretary of the treasury for appointing Daniel B. Martin as a member of the board of engineers to report on proposals for machinery. He being principally interested.

The Senate bill amending the California private land claim bill was passed.

The House authorized the printing of three hundred thousand copies of the agricultural part of the patent office report.

From Washington.

There is considerable political discussion in the capital. Much importance is attached to the late speech of Dr Loring at Salem. He will be present at Baltimore, and his position on the Tennessee platform will, it is thought, be that of the northern democrats.

Among the appointments officially announced are:—Ira Darrow, collector at Edgartown, Mass., vice Marston; and Ephraim Williams, Jr., collector at Stonington, Ct., vice Slater.

The conference committee on the homestead bill met, Wednesday morning, but was unable to agree, and will meet again this (Thursday) morning for a final effort.

The board of navy officers to examine those midshipmen who are candidates for warrants as passed midshipmen, will meet at Annapolis on the 15th.

The affirmative vote of sixty-five to lay the resolutions of censure on the table, in the House, was composed exclusively of democrats; while all the south Americans voted in the negative.

It is rumored that Gen Johnston will succeed Gen Jessup.

A number of Richmond delegates arrived in Washington on Wednesday.

Re-election of Senator Clark.

The New Hampshire legislature on Wednesday re-elected Daniel Clark, republican, U. S. Senator, for six years from the 4th of March next. The vote in the House was 184, to 108 for John S. Wells, dem., 12 for Amos Tuck, repub., and 1 for ex-Gov Colby; the vote in the Senate was 8 to 2.

The Blair-Barrett Case at St Louis.

The republicans of St Louis held a meeting, Wednesday evening, ratifying and rejoicing over the admission of Mr Blair to his seat in the House. The democrats also met and were gloomy, denouncing the act as unjust and tyrannical towards Mr Barrett and his constituents.

ANDREW LANERGAN, Pyrotechnist to Boston, in 1859. Did not supply the City in 1857, when the fatal accident occurred on Boston Common. Mr Andrew Lanergan did not withdraw his Agency from us, as stated in the circular and advertisement styled Lanergan & Co. and Jas. G. Hovey & Co. Lanergan & Co. never gave a display of fireworks on Boston Common. We never held any agency of Lanergan & Co. Mr Jas. G. Hovey, the Pyrotechnist, died some four years ago. Mr Andrew Lanergan, the celebrated Pyrotechnist, was killed in March, 1849. We have ALWAYS held the Agency of Sanderson & Lanergan and of Andrew Lanergan since they first commenced business in 1849, Mr Lanergan wishing us to continue as his wholesale agents at the time of the accident which caused his death.

Last September, 1859, Mr Lanergan purchased all the old buildings of the so-styled firm of Jas G. Hovey & Co., and that Andrew Lanergan withdrew his Agency from us,—which last statement is entirely false. Facts speak for themselves. We leave our many customers and the public generally to judge the motives of the parties who have issued the circular and advertisement above referred to, and would say that we have always on hand a full supply of the best Fireworks, at the lowest possible prices.
