You Women Who Vote

—and you women who expect to vote soon—ought to know both sides of the prohibition question.

Closing the respectable beer saloon does not keep men from drinking. It drives the young men at least to the joints and dives which never close and where strong drinks abound.

Temperance means moderate drinking. Closing the beer saloons means doing away with beer and creating secret drinking places where the strongest, the worst drinks are sold.

Normal men who find beer the drink of temperance in beer saloons are not the dress exists of the nation. It is those men who are forced by prohibition to get their stimulants at the blind pig and speak easy that are the most made citizens and law breakers.

TAX COLLECTOR 74 YEARS OLD

Expected to Resign on Account of Feebleness — Gained Strength and Twenty-four Pounds by Taking Vinol.

Corinth, Miss. — I am a retired tax collector and seventy-four years of age. I was in a weak, run-down condition so that I became short of breath on very little exertion. My druggist recommended a bottle of Vinol, and I decided to try it. In a week I noticed considerable improvement. I continued its use and now I have gained twenty pounds in weight, and feel much stronger. I consider Vinol a fine tonic for strength for old people. — J. A. Faulks, Corinth, Miss.

As one grows old their organs act more slowly and less efficiently than in youth, circulation is poor, the blood gets thin, the appetite poor and digestion weak. Vinol, containing the tonic properties of the purest cod liver and iron tonics, is recommended for all such conditions. It contains no cod liver oil, no alcohol, no habit forming drugs. It is a delicious iron tonic, strengthening the blood, improving the appetite, aiding natural digestion, and thus giving vigor and vitality to the entire system.

Vinol is sold by druggists everywhere. If not at your druggist's, we will get it for you. We guarantee it to satisfy you or return your money.

Vinol is sold in Centreville, Md., by Chas. H. Dean.

INCOGNITO

By RUTH GRAHAM

Jack Merriweather was a bowling swell. Being rich he had nothing to do except amuse himself. But amusement with him must be taken out of doors. He was devoted to tennis and baseball—in fact, all athletic sports. When thus engaged he dressed accordingly, but as soon as he had finished a game he bathed in perfumed water and put on an affire quite elegant enough for a prince of the blood.

Mr. Merriweather was also fond of motor boating, having several in his garage and he kept them in the best of shape himself. He had plenty of boats and whenever anything in the motor line of one of his cars broke or a new device appeared he would dive into it and tinker at it the day he had been waiting for. Being a bachelor he lived in his bachelor quarters and having expanded his mind in athletics and having expanded his pocketbook in motoring he felt he was a man of the world and could talk on any subject he chose to bring up. He was considered a good fellow and was invited everywhere.

Jack [illegible] with his friends [illegible] he had given him what he had [illegible] a [illegible] watch.

"Here it is. I have carried it and I meant keep it in memory of the day he it was my happiest [illegible]."

"A good automobile mechanic should also be a good driver. Perhaps I may hire you for my chauffeur this afternoon?"

"Not for hire this time. One method to win such a [illegible] but I shall be happy to serve you all the same."

The two got into the car and sped away.

A lady who heard the story remarked: "Those two should make a match." And they did.
