MOTHER TELLS HOW VINOL

Made Her Delicate Boy Strong

New York City.—"My little boy was in a very weak, delicate condition as a result of gastritis and the measles and there seemed no hope of saving his life. The doctor prescribed cod liver oil, but he could not take it. I decided to try Vinol—and with splendid results. It seemed to agree with him so that now he is a strong healthy boy."—Mrs. THOMAS FITZGERALD, 1090 Park Ave., N. Y. City.

We guarantee Vinol, which contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron, and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates, for run-down conditions.

SLEMMER & COMPANY

ARE NOW PREPARED

To Instal Regulators On All Kinds and Styles of Heating Plants

These regulators are so constructed that they positively control the dampers on the furnace, closing the draughts when rooms are warm enough, and opening up the draughts when more heat is necessary. They are great savers of fuel, using just enough and no more. But the best feature of all is you can set these regulators like an alarm clock, so that they will start up the furnace any hour in the morning you wish. You can set the regulator to keep the rooms at any desired temperature.

HUPMOBILE PROVES ITS DEPENDABILITY

STOCK CAR RUNS 20,000 MILES IN TOUR OF COUNTRY—WHAT IT DID.

"No better example can be found of of the efficiency of the modern motor car or of its ability to serve the needs of any American—no matter what or where his business—than the performance of the four-cylinder Hupmobile which was sent around the United States on its twenty-thousand mile journey by J. Walter Drake," says Lee Anderson, vice-president of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation.

"This car had to negotiate every sort of road condition through every kind of climatic condition," he continued. "There is no condition which an owner of a automobile would have to meet that has not been faced and overcome by the members of the Hupmobile capital-to-capital party on its journey around the nation. The good roads of the far east and the far west, the partly improved roads of the central west, the gumbo of the northwest, the snow covered passes of the Rockies, the mountain roads which called for travel at all altitudes, the deserts of the southwest and the rain-soaked roads of the south, proved all alike for this sturdy little car. It plugged along on its steady grind day after day for four months without any chance for rest, and motors require rest the same as human beings.

This car travelled farther in four months that the average owner drives his car in four years. It demonstated more than was ever demonstrated in any of the automobile contests, whether they have been held on race track or road, just what an owner would have to overcome in driving a car in these United States.

Like A Stock Car.

"The Hupmobile was sent away from Washington without any more preparation than any other car receives coming out of the Hupmobile factory. The travelers were given no set itinerary, except to visit the capital of each state in the Union. They were instructed to tour the country, make reports of what they saw and take the necessary road pictures.

It was not a contest, but a demonstration. No supplies were shipped ahead, no special supplies of oil and gasoline preceded them. They bought everything as they went along, taking bad with the good. One of the features of this demonstration was the proof that an owner can travel anywhere in the country and obtain supplies. Although many times the distance between stations was great, there was never a time when they could not carry enough to meet their needs.

"This car carried all the baggage necessary for the party, each member having a suit-case for his personal belongings. A large amount of extras in the way of a camera outfit also was carried by the car—far more than an owner would require or undertake to carry. In fact, when fully loaded with the equipment necessary for its mission, this good roads car had an excess of more than 1400 pounds. The handicap of this extra weight can be better understood when I state that the regular weight of the car when ready for the road was 2,750 pounds.

Heavy Load of Mud.

"At times, through the gumbo regions, the car would pick up as much as 300 pounds of heavy mud. This added, of course, to its difficulties and certainly made the strain much greater.

"While this trip demonstrated that American roads need much in the way of improvement and that some states are far behind in the improvement of their highways, it also proved that, as a whole, the nation is pretty well equipped with good roads. The pictures taken by the party show that much work is being done throughout the nation, each state having its own method of doing the work.

"It also demonstrated that, on an average, there are pretty good hotel accomodations throughout the nation. They are not always the best, but were good enough, so that nowhere would it have been necessary for the party to have camped out if it had not cared to.

"With all its long journey ahead, this four cylinder gave practical demonstrations of its ability along the line. Before starting from Washington it was checked by the representative of the American Automobile Association as a stock car.

"When the car reached New York City, the famous Ft. George hill was negotiated on high gear under A. A. A. supervision. Then from Albany to Buffalo an economy run was held over bad roads and a drizzling rain. On this run, the A. A. A. representative had entire charge of the car. For the run of 301 miles the car averaged 18.96 miles per gallon. The official report showed that the car with load and passengers, weighed 3,845 pounds."

WIFE GOT WISE.

A funny thing was a recent mishap to a man whose wife pays their store bill. He had been in the habit of having his cigars charged as potatoes, but when his wife took her pencil and began to reckon, she finally found that they had eaten more than ten carloads of potatoes.

She didn't believe the account was right and now the grocer and the smoker are between the upper and nether millstones of a woman's temper. It will be hard to tell who will be pulverized the finest at the close.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Wisdom is the name some men apply to their self-control.

Some women are not as fresh as they are painted and some men are more so.

Many things may be preserved in alcohol, but law and order are not on the list.

A dime in your hand is better than a dollar in the pocket of the man who owes you.

No man with a full beard has to worry because of the neckties his good wife buys for him.

Figures may not lie of their own accord, but a skillful mathematician may juggle them to suit his own purpose.

Nowadays the muscles of a man's heart aren't strong enough to hold any one object for more than a few weeks at a time.

"Love's Old Sweet Song"—At twenty, a girl fancies she can pick it out with one finger; at thirty, she plays it skillfully with both hands; at forty, she hums it softly to the measure of a lullaby.

A confirmed bachelor is so sure of his ability to dodge that he is willing to amuse every pretty girl he meets by handing her a rope and daring her to catch him.

A man ceases to believe in love when he can no longer feel it, a woman when she can no longer inspire it.

Men are like the park squirrels—if you fling your charms or favors at them they will never come up and eat out of your hand.

A man's heart may be fickle; but his methods of lovemaking, alas! are as changeless as the stars.

A man will stick to a woman who crucifies him, but never to one who bores him.

A woman may eventually succeed in curing all a man's egotism except his feeling of superiority to her own sex.

To a man the end of love is an episode; to a woman it is an epitaph.

Court in haste and repent in harness.

IS HIGHLY COMMENDED

Bishops Praise Cousin Of Local Episcopal Rector.

Rev. J. Dirickson Cummins, rector of St. Paul's P. E. Church, has received from the Smyrna Times the following complimentary notice of his cousin, Rev. Dr. Alexander Griswold Cummins, who for some years has been rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In regard to his recent activities in Christian work there, the article says:

Rev. Dr. Alexander G. Cummins, rector of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a former Smyrnian, has been coming in for many complimentary remarks recently from pulpit and press for the good work he is doing in his parish. Recently he held a notable three days service commemorating the 150th anniversary of Christ Church. Bishop Greer, Bishop Horner and a number of prominent speakers participated in the event and all referred to the work Dr. Cummins was doing. During the three days $2,500 was contributed to remove the last of the mortgage indebtedness of the parish.

12 COMMANDMENTS.

Frank R. Chambers Gives Rules For Success In Business.

Here are the twelve commandments for business success as laid down by Frank R. Chambers:

1. Don't think success means making money.
2. Don't play office politics.
3. Always have a sense of humor.
4. Don't fear criticism.
5. Have faith in higher things and come up to them.
6. Don't be jealous.
7. Don't be mastered by dislikes.
8. Don't do the easiest thing because it is easiest.
9. Don't like anyone too well.
10. Keep physically alert.
11. Always do more than you are paid for.
12. Criticise yourself.

USE THE BANK.

The money in the banks does not belong to the banks. It is the people's money. It is put in the banks for convenience and safety. The banks use it and the business men borrow it. The great share of business of the country is done with borrowed money.

If the people withdraw their money the banks can't make loans, and the business men, unable to borrow, go by the board, and this condition continued any great length of time produces a panic, and then those who have drawn the money out of the banks, and in reality produced the panic, will find they are the first to suffer.

If you have any money you are not using, put it in the bank.

LIKE UNTO UTOPIA.

Have you ever wondered what the result would be if the people of this town thought and said nothing but good of each other for thirty or sixty days? Think? It would work a revolution in both mind and body. People who are constantly nagging would have lost the habit.

The best that is in each one would have unconsciously forced its way to the fore, and nobility of character would have made rapid strides toward supplanting the ignoble and vicious in mankind and womankind.

Our town might not be a Garden of Eden, but it would come nearer to it than any other spot on earth. And it wouldn't cost us a penny.
