THE Wholesale Merchants of Baltimore doing business in Washington, will find it not only convenient, but highly satisfactory and advantageous to place samples of their goods in the popular and responsible commission house of Messrs. Wm. S. Teel & Co., situated at 935 Penn. Avenue. Their rooms are the most centrally located, and the best lighted in the city. Their references are among the largest and most reliable merchants of Baltimore.

THE Evening Bulletin of Baltimore, during the two and a quarter years of its existence, has justly earned for itself a reputation which may well be envied by much older newspapers. Always filled with the latest news, vigilant in the interest of the city, State and country, faithful to the truest principles of democracy, free from sensationalism but never dull, independent, catholic and fearless, it well merits the great success which we are glad to say it has achieved. We have no more welcome visitor on our exchange list and we wish it all prosperity.

WE have received a copy of the Youths' Herald, a monthly paper edited in Baltimore by Masters Arthur C. Neely and James R. Price, 41 N. Charles St. The original enigmas and charades they publish show the authors to be very clever young men, and deserving the patronage of all boys who are fond of interesting tales and fascinating puzzles. Far better would it be for the youths of our land, if in every city, village, and hamlet they would start a little paper of this kind instead of spending their time imbibing morbid, absurd and disgusting ideas from dime novels and other vile catchpenny literature with which the country is now flooded. This little paper is very cheap, besides a prize is offered to the successful solver of the puzzles it contains. The young editors have our best wishes for the success of their enterprise.

WE are very glad to see that many of our esteemed cotemporaries in the State are speaking in the most complimentary terms of the Hon. Wm. M. Merrick, and advocating his nomination for Attorney General. The Democratic Advocate of Westminster says that the Judge has many admirers in Carroll county who would give him a hearty support, and expresses the hope that his friends will take measures to make his nomination a success.

The St. Mary's Beacon says that it feels assured that the party can select for the position named no more acceptable standard bearer to the democracy of St. Mary's and Southern Maryland than Judge Merrick, who is known throughout the entire State as an able lawyer, a high toned gentleman, a true democrat and as a conscientious and pains taking public servant.

*OF the Republican Senators just chosen Mr. Matt Carpenter will probably add most strength to the minority in which he will begin his service. Mr. Conkling, fortunately or unfortunately, takes little interest in public affairs, his eloquence being restricted to those executive sessions in which his patronage is threatened. The Connecticut man is extensively unknown, although a correspondent of the Tribune, after taking a week to find out something about him, announces as the result of his researches that Mr. Platt is not really obscure, although everybody seems to think so. As for Logan, if Illinois can stand being represented by him there is little reason why anybody outside of Illinois should object, except that Logan disgraces the Senate as he disgraces his State almost as effectually as he could have done by common drunkenness or highway robbery, by the simple process of appearing in his own character as a densely ignorant and unprincipled demagogue. He was always sure to take the meanest and lowest view of any case of which the case admitted, and the pity of his re-election is that it appears to show that his constituents approve of this. Mr. Matt Carpenter is not by any means an ideal Senator. He is neither a very dignified nor a very judicial nor a very public-spirited man. But he is a bright, keen-witted lawyer, of high standing in his profession and his service in the Senate, where he prepared more than one important report showed that he could do official work in a workmanlike way. He will shine all the brighter by contrast with his colleague, Mr. Cameron, who has wisely confined his Senatorial exertions to voting, though he took his pen in his hand and made a mess of himself with it in an insane contribution which he not long ago sent to the North American Review. Those who consider the result of the Senatorial elections in Conecticut, New York and Illinois will agree with us that Wisconsin deserves to be congratulated.—N. Y. World.

Baltimore's Exports and Imports.

The following figures, taken from the Bureau of Statistics and covering the commercial operations of the last two or three years as relating to the four rival ports of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, contain a good deal of information that is interesting and instructive. Taking the value of the imports into these four cities from March 31st, 1876, to June 30th, 1878, we find that the value of Boston's imports during that time was $101,483,000; that of Philadelphia was $54,629,000; that of Baltimore $48,735,000 and that of New York $894,370,000. The value of the exports for the same period was for Boston $112,857,000 for Philadelphia $113,111,000 for Baltimore $103,758,000 and for New York $885,522,000.

These figures show that while the imports and exports of Boston and New York were nearly equal, the one to the other, the exports of Philadelphia and Baltimore for the time given are twice as great as their imports. From the beginning of this period, that is to say from the 31st of March, 76, down to June 30th, '78, Baltimore's import trade shows an almost unbroken decline—falling from $5,016,000 for the March quarter of '76 to $3,962,000 for the same quarter in '78. On the other hand, the export trade has increased, rising from $8,978,000 in the March quarter of '76 to $14,236,000 in the same quarter of '78. Much of our loss in imports is to be accounted for by the sugar troubles, and there can be little doubt that with the settlement of the sugar question will come a sensible revival in our import trade.

The New York Times affects to consider the "commercial growth of Philadelphia and Baltimore as one-sided—the fruit of a forcing which is able to affect materially the outward grain trade, but does not succeed in securing return trade." The trade of the entire country, over which New York, in common with other cities, has done so much boasting, is just now open to the same objection of being one-sided, and if New York had not of late lost a good deal of this export trade she would not affect to regard it with so much indifference. The attempt to depreciate the grain in exports which Baltimore's trade has shown of late, sounds very much like sour grape philosophy.—Evening Bulletin.

A Well-known Athlete Assaulted by Three Burly Ruffians on his Way to Washington.

The Ross Miller walking match which is to take place at the Academy of Music beginning to-morrow evening 8 P. M., is creating an unusual amount of interest not only in this city, but also in neighboring cities and Canada. Professor Ross, on Monday morning last started on a tramp for Washington, leaving this city at six A. M. and arriving in Washington at 6 P. M.

On his return yesterday he left Washington at 5:30 A. M., and arrived here at two o'clock in the afternoon. Ross walked from Washington to Elkridge Landing in seven hours. He reports the roads as being in a tolerable condition to that point, but from there to the city they are in a terrible condition; making it impossible for one to make any time whatever. Ross also states that while on his way to Washington, when about three miles from our city, he was approached by three tramps, one of them a negro.

The tramps first asked him for some tobacco; when told that he had none, they then insisted that he would give them money enough to purchase drinks for the crowd. Upon being refused the tramps then assaulted him, the negro, who carried a club, struck him across the shoulders. Ross struck at them, when the negro dealt him a second blow, this time striking him on the thigh of the right leg.

Ross seeing that he was no match for them, and suddenly recollecting that he had a revolver upon his person, immediately drew and presented it at the tramps. Seeing from the determined expression of the Professor's face that he meant business, the tramps fell flat on the ground and cried for mercy. Ross then walked on, leaving the men stretched upon the ground. His injuries were trivial.

Both he and Miller have practically finished their training, but will both take a couple of hours' walk to-day and to-Morrow, so as to keep themselves in trim.—Evening Bulletin.

Floating a Theater.

EVADING THE LAW AGAINST SUNDAY SHOWS—BOTHER AHEAD FOR OFFICIALS.

A large excursion barge lying in the Erie basin is being rebuilt in a manner that excites boatman's curiosity. The decks are being cut away, and what is left of the upper one is already shaped like the gallery of a theater. A sloping floor runs from the level of the lower deck into the hold, and the framework of a stage is in place.

The vessel is to be a floating theatre capable of seating 800 persons in its parquet and gallery, and with a completely furnished stage. It is to be called the New York Excursion Theatre. Edward Wanzer, of Philadelphia is to manage it. The plan is to give a variety of shows on the canal all during the hot months when the city theatres are uncomfortable.

The chief reliance of the floating theatre for profit will be in a safe evasion of the Sunday law. Performances are to be given every evening and possibly afternoons, but it is calculated that on Sundays, when the law forbids the opening of shows in the city, an especial remunerative business will be done.

The barge will take in on Sunday audiences from some convenient wharf and be towed beyond the city limits before the performances are begun, so that the law would not be infringed within the jurisdiction of the city authorities. As no landing would be made during the trips, it is not regarded as likely that the officials along the shore would take any action and the route could be changed at will. A bar and eating room is to be a feature.—N. Y. Sun, Jan 20.

THE NEXT SENATE.—In the Forty-sixth Congress the republican side of the Senate will be mentally and morally, as well as numerically, weaker than it has been for a score of years, while the democratic side will be stronger in the same proportion than it has been since the day when the democracy fell into the arms of secession. Thurman, Bayard, Wallace, Kernan, Pendleton, Voorhees, McDonald, Hampton, Hill, Gordon, Vance, will find only an Edmunds as the peer of any of them in the heavy artillery of debate, and Blaine about the only foeman fit to cope with them in the use of the lighter and keener weapons of parliamentary warfare.—Phila. Times.

Carver and Bogardus Matched

To Shoot at 20,000 Glass Balls For Stakes of $10,000

Dr. Carver and Captain Bogardus met at the Astor House yesterday morning to arrange a match. Captain Bogardus in his attempt last January to shoot 5,000 glass balls against time broke some of the hundreds in 5 minutes 25 seconds, loading his own guns. At Deerfoot Park Brooklyn, last summer, Dr. Carver broke 5,500 balls, at times breaking them at the rate of 14 in 15 seconds, his rifle being loaded for him. It was at first intended to shoot a match at 1,000 balls, half single and half double, but this was abandoned as being too easy a test to determine satisfactorily the questions of endurance, accuracy and speed. It was finally agreed that each man should attempt to break 20,000 glass balls in 6 days, or 144 hours. Captain Bogardus will use a shot gun and the balls will be thrown into the air from a pair of Bogardus traps set at a fifteen yard's rise. Dr. Carver can choose between shot gun and rifle. If he shoots with the rifle the balls are to be thrown into the air either by trap or hand, as he prefers.

The match is to be shot between the dates of September 1 and December 31, 1879. The stakes are to be not less than $10,000. They have agreed to throw the match open to all comers on the same conditions. The winner is to take all the gate money and the aggregate stakes and the balls used. Each one is to load his own gun. Captain Bogardus notwithstanding the fact that his hand is badly swollen and that he had a sprained ankle wished to have the match come off within a few days, but Dr. Carver has made arrangements for going to Europe Saturday. Mr. W. H. Huntley is Dr. Carver's "backer," while Bogardus is his own.

"Well," said Captain Bogardus when the arrangements were completed, "it's going to be a big job to stand up and break eight barrels of balls apiece in a week, and I'm ready to be set at $500 that no third man will enter."

Shere Ali at Home.

The following portrait of the Ameer at home appears in an Italian paper. It is taken from a lecture by an English missionary, Mr. Hughes, who speaks from his own experience. The Ameer can neither read nor write. "What is the use of reading or writing," he asks, "when one has hundreds of people to do it for one?" He is however, well up in history, the result of conversations with learned men, by whom he liked to be surrounded, as do most Indian Princes. In conversation with Mr. Hughes he told him he considered Napoleon the greatest general the world ever produced.

In public he is frugal and sober, but in private he is a drunkard. He is believe, and a thorough warrior: those who saw him at Umballa say he has all the qualities of a good general. His instincts are decidedly cruel; when he recovered his throne after the civil war he owed his success to three persons—his brother his nephew and his son Yakoob Khan. The first thing he did was to cause his brother to be strangled, to send his nephew to Lahore, where he died in captivity, and to confine his son in a prison at Cabul. "The Ameer," concluded the lecturer, "is not an interesting character in any way, and I, who know him personally, have no hesitation in calling him a savage."—London World.

AMERICAN PRODUCE ABROAD.—At the dairy shows in England, American factory cheese took such a prominent position, as to cause the London Times to say it was driving "English Cheddar's out of the market." Be it understood that English Cheddar cheese is of a similar grade to the American factory product, and is the main reliance of the English market. A prominent American gentleman writes from Vienna, that the prospects of this country as viewed from abroad, promise an era of great prosperity, because we are finding a market in other lands for so much of our produce: horses, cattle, dead meat, butter, cheese, grain, and manufactured goods. The larger proportion of animal products we can ship abroad the better, for that means that we are feeding grain, and thereby saving the fertility of our farms. For, they are more exhausted by selling grain, than by feeding it and selling meat, butter, cheese, etc., and by the latter course we get two prices for the grain; one in the product sold and one in the manure.—American Agriculturist for February.

Patapsco Dairy Association.—A meeting of the milk producers on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was held at Sykesville, lately, when an organization was effected under the name of the "Patapsco Dairy Association." Officers were elected to serve the ensuing year, as follows: President, John H. Herbert; vice president, Robert Sellman; corresponding secretary, T. J. Betts; recording secretary, J. Frank Shipley. The meeting represented an annual production of nearly 200,000 gallons of milk, all which is consumed in Baltimore. The association expects to accomplish much good for the producer, the legitimate dealer and the consumer.

Patapsco Institute.—It will be gratifying, we are sure, to many of our readers, to hear that this far famed institution, which has been closed since Mrs. Archer left it last summer, has been leased for a term of years to Miss Randolph, of "Edge Hill Seminary," Albemarle county, Va. The building will be repaired in the spring and thoroughly fitted up for reopening next fall.

New Cooper Shop Opened.—Messrs. Jackson Isaac and Solomon Hose began operations, this week, in their new cooper shop, situated at the quarry of the former, a few hundred yards down the railroad from the depot. This new enterprise will give employment to about fifteen hands.

Public Schools.—The report of Prof. M. A. Newell, State Superintendent of Public Schools, and Secretary of the State board of education, which has been submitted to Gov. Carroll for the year 1878 shows the total number of Public Schools in Baltimore city to be 127, and in the counties 1,862; total 1,989—an increase in 1878 of 33.

The number of pupils in the schools of Baltimore city 45,951 and in the counties 110,323; total 156,274, an increase in 1878 of 5,998. The amount paid for teachers salaries in Baltimore city was $191,103 80 and in the counties $631,309 09.

The amount paid for repairing and building these 127 school houses in the city was $102,073.79 and for the 1,862 houses in the counties $105,588.31. The amount received from county taxation in 1878 was $385,651 56 a decrease of $7,985.61 compared with 1877. The report shows the population of Maryland Schools according to the census in 1870 to be 705,497 whites, colored 170,391, Indians 4, Chinese 2.

Howard County received according to this report $8,250 04 as her proportion of the quarterly distribution of the State school tax for the year ending September 30th, 1878.

West Friendship Items.—Notwithstanding the cold and sleety weather that prevailed throughout the county last week, we had numerous festivities in this neighborhood to comfort our bodies and delight our souls. Among the enjoyable occasions, we may mention the dance at Dr. Hebb's one day in the early part of last week. The Dr. and Mrs. Hebb entertained their guests with their wonted hospitality; and the affair was indeed, one of enjoyment to all who participated. The music rendered by Prof. Shanon and Mr. Wm. Flanagan was excellent, and kept the company tripping the "light fantastic" until late at night. Prof. Shanon entertained the company after the dance with some of his comic songs and speeches, all of which were very highly appreciated by the young ladies and gentlemen.

The sleighing here was very fine and was much enjoyed despite the severe cold.

There have been some interesting and exciting magistrate cases recently tried at Cross' Store.

It has been so slippery that persons upon the highway have been running into each other; and when one person runs into another about here he either has to fight or have a law suit.

The Library Magazine.—The first number of which has just reached us, is unique in its form and typographical appearance. Even though its contents were dull it is so attractive to the eye that one must delight in turning its pages, which presents a varied array of choice selections from the best foreign magazines and reviews. Sir Erskine Perry, many years a resident of that country, discusses The Future of India; Rechard A Procter treats of Supposed Changes in the Moon: T. Adolphus Trollope writes of The Homes and Haunts of the Italian Poet, Guarini; there is a learned and entertaining articles there are: Theatrical Makeshift and Blunders; The Happy Valley—a picture of life in India; An Imperial Pardon, which gives a wonderful picture of peasant life in Russia; Some Gossip about Leicester Square; A Woman's Love—a Slavonian Story; Christmas in Morocco, etc.

To all who have been longing for the era of low-priced, first-class literature, not the least alttractive feature of The Library Magazine is its low price, $4.00 a year, or 10 cents a copy.

To see so much that is excellent offered for so little cost is sure to put a cheerful smile on the face of a person of literary taste, and a dime or dollar into the hands of the publishers, The American Book Exchange, 55 Beekman street New York.

Injunction.—Mr. Henry Winter, through his solicitor Harry Winter, Esq., has applied to the Circuit Court of this county for an injunction to restrain the Tax Collector from selling certain property which the officer had levied on for the payment of taxes overdue on some property in California belonging to Mr. Winter. Mr. Winter states in his bill that the property on which the taxes remain unpaid is California property and subject to taxation there, and he is improperly assessed with it in this State, and that he has paid all taxes due on his property in Maryland. There are several cases pending in the Court of Appeals in which this same question is involved, and the Circuit Court has granted a temporary injunction until the appellate tribunal shall have rendered a decision in the similar cases now before it.

Union Items.—The factory at this place, which since the first of January has been running on three quarters' time, resumed full operation on Thursday last.

There is some talk of shortly establishing a reading room here. This is something that is very much needed for our young men, and we sincerely hope the project will be carried through.

Justice Melior was drawn by Sheriff Worthington as one of the jury for the condemnation of property for a right of way of the Baltimore and Hanover Railroad.

Mr. Calvin B. Green of this place has been drawn as one of the jurors for the March term of the Circuit Court of Baltimore county.

Arrested.—Philip Jones, colored, was arrested several weeks ago by the Metropolitan police for the larceny of a cow from Mrs. Jane Erhard of the third district of this county, more than a year ago. Our sheriff Mr. Joseph Hunt, armed with a requisition from Governor Carroll, went to Washington on Saturday last and brought said Jones over and lodged him in jail to await the action of the March term of Court.

Coopering Establishment Sold.—At Catonsville on Monday last the large coopering establishment of D. J. McCauley of this city, situated nearly opposite the Patapsco mill, was sold to Mr. David Metz of the former place. The coopering business however, will be still carried on at the same shop by the present firm.

Confirmation.—At St. John's P. E. Church on Sunday last, the Rt. Rev Wm. Pinkney, assistant Bishop of Maryland, conferred the rite of confirmation upon a class of three. He was assisted in the ceremony by Rev. Douglass Forrest. The venerable Bishop seems to be enjoying excellent health.

Deaths from Croup.—Mr. Elisha Smith, living at Avalon, has lost two children this week from the croup.

Byron Literary Club.—The lecture on "How to get Ideas," that was to have been delivered before this club on Monday evening last, was postponed to a future time, owing to the sad announcement of the death of the lecturer's father, which he received that morning.

On Monday, February 3rd, the club will give an entertainment of an unusually interesting character. Further notice of it will be given in our next issue.

On Monday next the 27th inst., it is desired that every member of the club should be present, as business of very great interest and importance to the club will be considered.

Election of Officers.—At the election of officers of the Patapsco Socials last week, the following were selected to serve the ensuing three months: President, John Myers; Vice-President, John Stultz; Secretary, H. C. Johnston; Treasurer, Morgan Feathers; Committee of Arrangements, Wm. Murphy, F. Wilson and John Lemon; Standing Committee, Wm. Welsh, Wm. Pierpoint, Wm. Delosier and Holmes Hood. This association is composed of young men at Gray's factory, and has been organized for over a year; it has for its object the mutual pleasure of its members.

Mild Weather.—The past few days have been remarkably mild, and there are now scarcely any traces of the long sleet left. This weather is very conducive to colds and pneumonia, and persons should be very careful to guard against these unpleasant and dangerous diseases. We have heard of numerous cases of severe colds, and several cases of pneumonia. The physicians of our city are kept quite busy.

Poultry Exhibits.—Mr. T. B. Dorsey of this city, has some very fine Silver Gray Dorkings, game Bantams and Houdans, at the Poultry Exhibition in the city of Washington, and we have no doubt he will get his share of the prizes. Howard County has now three celebrated chicken fanciers and it can boast of its superior breed of poultry.

New Express Line.—Mr. James H. Gaither, an enterprising young man of our city, started on Monday last an express line between here and Baltimore. He will leave about 8 o'clock every morning, and carry all kinds of freight. Judging from his well filled wagon each day this week, he must be doing a thrifty business.

Don't Forget to go to the grand Concert and Readings by the Woodberry Musical Union to be held in the Court House on the evening of February 5th. Joe Thompson of Baltimore will read, and his name should insure a large attendance.

Accident.—On Saturday last, Henry Johnson, colored, employed at St. John's rectory, while riding a horse the animal fell, catching him between it and the ground, painfully mashing one foot and otherwise injuring himself.

Teachers' Association.—The teachers' association will meet at the Court House on the 3rd of February, and the interesting programme published in our last issue will doubtless insure a large attendance.

—We can safely assert that nothing equals Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for all cases of Sore Throat, Coughs, Colds, etc. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Died.

On January 22, 1879, at the residence of his parents, Clarksville, WILLIAM HERBERT, aged 16 months and 6 days, son of Jno. R. and Leanah Wall. May he rest in peace.

Chronic Ailments.

The proper treatment of chronic cases of disease requires a thorough knowledge of physiology and pathology. Such knowledge is not attained by study alone but by years of experience. We have in this city a physician who has, during the last four or five years made many remarkable cures, and those treated say that for all forms of chronic disease no doctor in Baltimore is more competent and uniformly successful than Dr. UNDERWOOD, of No. 166 West Fayette Street. He cures cancers without the use of the knife, and removes tumors by electriolysis. His electrical instruments are of the latest improvement, in fact one he has had manufactured with some improvements according to his own device. The doctor is a physician and a gentleman, and any one calling on him can depend on his judgment and skill.—From Saturday Standard.
