GENERAL SUMMARY.

MONDAY.

Augustus Schultz, who died in Westchester county, N. Y., last week, left in his will a clause which reads: "I desire that after my life has been declared extinct a post-mortem examination be instituted, in which the operating physician will make it his especial duty to examine my heart, my left lung and my stomach, the seat, I believe, of my endless suffering. Before closing the examination the physician will also please make a few incisions in my heart. I desire this post-mortem examination not only for my own satisfaction's sake that life is really extinct, but that the doctors' or physicians' report may be the means of guarding my children against similar diseases. I beg my executors as well as my wife to waive any repulsive feeling which a post-mortem examination may cause them. It is my positive wish, and as such I have repeatedly expressed it to my wife during our married life."

By Schultz's will none of his bequests are conditional, but he asks of his sons that in accepting their honest share of his large estate they should respect his wish that each should qualify himself for some useful occupation. He suggests, but does not command, the business between the trades and professions, such as civil and mining engineering, architecture and chemicals. But above all he urges that "they should have a thorough knowledge of their native tongue, the English language."

W. P. Greenlaw, one of the wealthiest citizens of Sherman, Texas, committed suicide Friday night by taking morphine. The cause is said to be criminal intimacy between his wife and Rev. Conrad Haney, a noted minister. The community is said to be much excited, and threats have been made against the minister.

Two young men and two boys were together in a room in Bristol, N. H., yesterday, when Orville Haynes, 19 years old, pointed a cocked revolver at the others. He was told to stop, as the revolver was loaded. Laughingly he pointed it at his own head, when the revolver was discharged, killing him instantly.

Mrs. Emily Smalley, of Lowell, Ohio, widow of a soldier, drew $1,500 pension money last week and purchased a revolver for fear of being robbed. Her ten-year-old son picked up the weapon, accidentally discharged it and the bullet went through his mother's heart, killing her instantly.

The sale of Eastern-bred trotters and coach horses belonging to Wesley P. Balch, of Boston, Mass., took place in New York Saturday. Gray Eagle, gray gelding, 8 years old, with a trotting record of 2.35, sold for $1 100. Abdallah, bay gelding, record of 2 25, went for $1,425. The prices of other horses ranged from $120 to $725.

A Rochester (N. Y.) dispatch says the donors of the Hanlan-Courtney prize have forwarded the certificate for $6,000 to Blaikie, according to the articles of agreement between Hanlan and Courtney. Courtney's $500 forfeit money will be sent to day. He goes to Washington early in the week.

TUESDAY.

In Town Point, Dorchestester county, there stood for years a haunted house—a spacious brick building built in colonial times. It was said that many dark deeds were enacted beneath its roof. One room showed on the floor blood stains but would not rub out. Rumor said that a pedler had been seen to approach the house, but never to leave, and the inference was that he was murdered in this room. About twenty years ago the house was burned, and the stories connected with it had about died out until last week Samuel Thomas, in cleaning out a ditch near where the house stood, came to a back of shells, and in them he found a human skeleton in a good state of preservation.—Centreville (Md.) Citizen.

Connecticut will be in the way of specially losing its reputation as the land of steady habits if its people keep on getting themselves divorced at the rapid rate they are doing at present. At the present term of the Superior Court at Hartford, fifteen divorces have been granted. As it is presumable that those divorces were granted up on only the most substantial grounds, they point to a good deal of unsteadiness in the matter of habits on the part of a considerable portion of the population of Connecticut.

WEDNESDAY.

The committee to organize a national agricultural society have issued from New York an address stating that the aim of the society is the advancement of agriculture in the United States by practical methods, such as periodical exhibitions of soil products in the principal cities of the country, the encouragement of emigration, the discussion of questions of agriculture and of commerce in its products, and the collection and dissemination of thought and experience thereon. A convention, to which all persons interested in the subject are invited, will be held at the Metropolitan Hotel, in New York, December 10.

A large number of republican State Senators and Representatives, supposed to have been elected in the recent Maine election, applied to the executive council at Augusta yesterday to look at the returns. The application was taken under consideration. The impression is gaining that a majority of the council will prevent the republicans from seeing the returns until at least a part of the twenty days' limit has passed.

Judge Baxter, of the United States Circuit Court at Cincinnati, has accepted the resignation of Ambrose, clerk of the court, alleged to have been guilty of embezzlements. The judge stated that Ambrose will be equally amenable after as well as before the acceptance of his resignation, and that there were others involved who ought to be exposed.

The New York board of canvassers have been enjoined from counting the vote for J. C. Jaugbein, for civil justice, on the ground that he held a State office at the time of election. The case will be heard in the Supreme Court to-day.

The French minister of the interior is after the priests who refuse to pray for the republic.

The Russians propose to increase their volunteer navy in view of the present state of affairs.

THURSDAY.

Gen. and Mrs. Grant left Chicago yesterday morning for Galena, via the Illinois Central railroad. There was a considerable crowd at the depot, who cheered heartily as the General entered the cars. He merely bowed his acknowledgment and the train moved off. A Chicago paper figures up a handsome profit to the city on Gen. Grant's reception. The number of outside visitors is placed by reasonable estimate at 75,000, each of whom is supposed to have spent $5 per day for three days, making a total of $1,125,000. Four leading hotels alone estimate their increased receipts at $30,000. The cost to the city, chiefly expended in decorations, is estimated at $50,000, which generally went into the pockets of citizens.

The heaviest fall of snow in Georgia for years occurred at Augusta yesterday, the snow falling for over three hours steadily. The storm seemed to be general in that section. A heavy rain, with some snow, fell in Charleston, S. C., yesterday. There are reports of snow in the interior of South Carolina, and sudden changes of the weather.

Rev. Dr. Edson Allen died at Newport, Ky., Tuesday, aged eighty-four. He was born at Braintree, Mass., and was one of the oldest Episcopal ministers in the United States. He was officially known as the historiographer of Maryland, and was the author of several theological works.

FRIDAY.

Louis G. Bernard, county clerk of Hamilton county, Ohio, has brought suit against the Cincinnati Gazette for $50,000 damages for libel. After Bernard's defeat at the recent election the Gazette charged him with having increased the fee bills, and characterizes the action as swindling.

A dispatch from Milwaukee states that the arrest of Chas. G. Bosse, bookkeeper of the Wisconsin Fire Insurance Company, is the sensation there, and that the amount embezzled by him cannot fall short of $100,000.

Dennis Kearney was arrested in San Francisco last night for attempting to break up a meeting.
