THE CRISIS AT HAND.

The Court of Inquiry created to investigate the disaster to the warship, Maine, has concluded its labors and probably before this issue of THE TIMES reaches all its readers the country will know the result. That the decision will be the explosion came from the outside there is scarcely the shadow of a doubt. Enough has leaked out to indicate this, hence the prompt appropriation of $50,000,000 by Congress for aggressive action. War is inevitable unless Spain yields to the demands of Uncle Sam, which will surely be made. President McKinley is receiving the support of all parties at this juncture. The ill-informed Spaniards thought we were nothing but a set of apathetic "pigs," to use an epithet much used in Spain and by the Spaniards in Cuba.

There is but one sentiment prevailing in this broad land and that is, Spain must atone as far as she can for the fiendish treachery concocted and carried out in Havana harbor, the memory of which will never be effaced.

Before another issue of this paper matters will have come to an acute stage and if hostilities have not commenced it will be because Spain is willing to retire before our towering strength and invincible determination. Should it occur that by some accident we failed in the first onslaught it will only be the signal for renewed effort and no let up until the insolent Don be made to repent his folly, cruelty and want of circumspection.

SPAIN'S LATEST MAKESHIFT.

Spanish gall can go no further, now that Spain has made the charge that the presence of a fleet of U. S. war vessels at Key West, and the active preparations for war which are being made by this government, are responsible for the failure of autonomy in Cuba. It is well understood in Washington that the only object Spain had in charging this country with causing the failure of autonomy, which was declared to be a failure by Senor de Lome as long ago as last January, was to attempt to make some of the European governments believe that the U. S. had schemed to make autonomy a failure in order to have an excuse for driving Spain out of Cuba. That it is a lie makes no difference to Spain, for the heathen Chinaman is a novice in lying, trickery, and general cussedness compared with the Spanish statesman who boasts of his pride. Our fleet will remain at Key West until it moves on Cuba, and our war preparations will go right ahead, regardless of Spain's charge, or its effect upon any European government, or governments.

Ex-Gov. Colcord, of Nevada, is in Washington trying to persuade the Republican leaders that unless they abandon the single gold standard the party will be overthrown. He said on the subject: "I am a Republican, but I do not believe that the party can continue in power by advocacy of the single gold standard. During the last few months I have traveled extensively, and everwhere I find a most bitter opposition to that policy. The Democrats will press this view for all it is worth, and by so doing will sweep the country, unless there is a great change from existing conditions. The American people really want bimetallism—gold and silver—and if silver is restored to its former place as money, will be content to let Congress establish the ratio.

The people of this country are practically unanimously in favor of driving Spain out of Cuba, regardless of whether it meets the demands made by the administration on account of the blowing up of the Maine. We hope that Mr. McKinley intends to carry out a policy in accordance with this sentiment, and if he doesn't do so of his own will, Congress should compel him to do so.

In having a report of the Maine explosion made to order for the especial purpose of antagonizing the report of our Naval Court of Inquiry, for the purpose of trying to stave off the inevitable, Spain has followed its usual custom of ignoring such troublesome things as truth and honor.

Sam Jones says he is a Democrat. Sam has evidently tacked about. Some time ago he said the reason that he was a Prohibitionist was, "the Republican party was hell in the church and the Democratic party hell out of the Church!"

The fact that English capitalists have been investing heavily of late in Cuban railways and tobacco plantations is significant. A boom is likely on the island as soon as its independence is established.

Kaiser Billy may get off a little spectacular talk about what he would do in case of a war between Spain and the U. S., but everybody knows exactly what he would do—nothing.

Ben Harrison seems to find all the occupation he desires in his wife and baby and an occasional Supreme Court case, without meddling with politics.

If Fitz Lee had adopted the Spanish "accident" theory of the destruction of the Maine his recall would never have been hinted at.

If Spain wishes to avoid war, she would take a long step in the right direction by recognizing the independence of Cuba.

Senator Chandler is one of the men who talks silver quite vigorously, but neglects opportunities to vote silver.

FROM ANNAPOLIS.

Correspondence of THE TIMES.

ANNAPOLIS, March 17, 1898.

One of the sensations of the session occurred on Wednesday, when a resolution assailing United States Senator Wellington and ending with a request for his resignation, was offered by Delegate Jacobi, Republican. It referred to the many mistakes he had made, and the disrespect and disrepute he had brought on the Republican party by his utterances through the press. This resolution took the House by surprise, and created a stir amongst the Republicans. Over an hour was consumed in useless and disagreeable debate. The Democratic minority in the House looked upon the case as one of the grievances of the Republicans which ought to be settled in caucus. Republicans declared it a tirade against the Senator for being disloyal to his party, and that it was ill-advised, unfair, and discourteous. The Democrats entirely disapproved of the resolution, and declared it ought not to be allowed to interfere with the legislation of the House. Mr. Wilkinson said that an effort had been made to turn out the Mayor of Baltimore, then the Police Commissioners, now the United States Senator, and this would probably be followed by a similar move against the Governor. So great was the opposition developed against the bill that Delegate Jacobi endeavored to withdraw it, and it was finally laid on the table.

The inability of the Republicans to come to a conclusion on the Police Reconstruction bill has made some farcical scenes in the House of Delegates and at intervals of a few days, Mr. Lenderking of Baltimore City, one of the faithful eleven, offers messages to the Senate, proposing to go into an election for Police Commissioner. The Malster Republicans and Democrats voted for the messages and it is assented to. The Senate on receiving it, promptly non-concurs, and returns the messages. On each occasion the hopeless division of the Republicans is paraded to the State, and the helpless inability of the Republican organization speakers to cope with the Democratic orators in debate, is made more and more manifest. Wilkinson, smiling and alert, digs his pitfalls right before Republican eyes, and they flounder into them. Wirt, calm and logical, argues with unanswerable reason; Miles, fiery and eloquent, hammers the opposition with sarcasm and ridicule. Indeed there has not been a debate this session in the House, when the Democrats did not have it their own way.

The Anne Arundel contest showed on its face a unanimous vote, but it wouldn't have been so if the organization leaders could have helped it. They wanted four more votes to help in Police Reconstruction, and thence their efforts to throw the Anne Arundel men out. But they met with opposition within their own ranks that balked them.

Conscientious Rouzer, of Frederick, honest Stansbury, of Carroll, fearless Anderson, of Montgomery, and others of their ilk, made it known that they would not be driven into this conscienceless party measure, and to prevent it being said that it was an organization defeat, the organization turned in and made the best of a bad situation by catching step with the march of the regiment.

The pooling and racing law is being overhauled by the present Legislature, and the indications are, that with the exception of Cecil county which has had a law passed this session prohibiting the business entirely in that county, that when the legislative tinkerings are all over, the law will be in as pernicious a state on that issue as it is at present.

The Howard county delegation, Messrs. Selby and Hanson, made an unfavorable report Wednesday on Senator Day's bill to bond the county for $300,000, with which to improve the roads of the county. Mr. Gould, of Montgomery, the third member of the committee, submitted a minority report.

On Monday night, the Senate bill to sanction the bequest of Mrs. Emily J. Stewart, to St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church of Howard county, passed the House.

Tuesday morning, the bill to amend the charter of the American Land, Loan, and Building Association of Ellicott City, was favorably reported in the Senate, read a second time, and then ordered engrossed.

Wednesday morning, Senator Day introduced a bill to prevent deception in the sale of red clover-seed; referred to Committee on Agriculture and Labor.

The bill to incorporate the Howard county Agricultural and Fair Association, was reported favorably in the Senate, and read a second time. At the night session, the House bill, refunding a sum of money to Calvin F. Cross, late collector of taxes in the Second district, Howard county, passed third reading.

Delegate Hanson, of Howard county, introduced in the House on Thursday of last week; by request, a bill to appropriate $25,000 with which to erect a monument to General John Sykes on the Gettysburg battlefield.

Also a bill authorizing the Howard county commissioners to accept as a public road Lawyers' Hill road, in the First district of Howard county. The bill has since been favorably reported.

A bill was introduced by Senator Day on Friday to prohibit the slaughtering of diseased animals for food. It provides that the Live Stock Sanitary Board shall have general supervision of the inspection of all cattle, sheep, etc., intended for slaughter for food in Baltimore, and within five miles thereof. The measure proposes to make it unlawful to slaughter cattle, etc., before inspection, or to sell the meat unless it has been previously inspected. The Inspection Bureau shall receive from the owners of the animals for inspection of cattle, five cents each; calves, hogs, sheep, one cent each. There shall be no charge for inspection of meats. The penalty for violations shall be from $20 to $50, and $100 for the second offense.

SOME MONETARY HISTORY.

Great Britain adopted the gold standard in 1816. So far as research has been able to ascertain the entire indebtedness of the world at that time was $3,400,000,000. Gold and silver were then both moneys of redemption, and the supply was inefficient.

During the next thirty years—that is until 1846—the production of the precious metals increased 120 per cent, while the debt increased in something like the same proportion. During the next five years the production of gold quadrupled, whilst that of silver fell off 40 per cent, but the world's debt did not increase in proportion to the increase of gold and silver.

Then it was proposed to demonetize gold, there being nearly four times as much gold produced as there was of silver. This effort failed to a great extent because the United States refused to consider the proposal.

The world's indebtedness was increasing, but so was the production of gold and silver. Then a systematic attempt was made to demonetize silver, and was continued until in 1873 it was accomplished. At that time the production of gold per year was $125,000,000, and of silver $85,000,000. The debts of the world were $30,000,000,000, and it would have required nearly six years' production of the gold and silver of the world to pay 4 per cent interest on the debt.

One of the latest estimates of the world's indebtedness places it at $34,000,000,000 for national debts, and about $33,000,000,000 for municipal, with about the same amount for corporate debts, a grand total of about $100,000,000,000 The gold product of the world is about $250,000,000. It would take sixteen years' product of the gold to pay the interest on the debt.

In 1816 the debt was sixty times the annual product of the money metals In 1873 the debt had grown to be one hundred and forty times the product of the money metals, and now, with gold only as money, the debt is four hundred times the value of the product of money.

All this vast indebtedness is evidenced by some form of paper certificates. Ninety per cent. of it is in the hands of less than three million people. Ten great banking houses in Europe handle and control over half of it.

CORNERED BY A DEMOCRAT AND A POPULIST.

A lively breeze was recently raised in the House of Representatives. Mr. Shattuck, Republican, of Cincinnati, took occasion on an amendment to the Sundry civil bill to attack Mr. Fox, Democrat, of Mississippi, for saying some days before in a contested election case, that the railway managers and corporations of the North coerced or influenced their employes to vote the Republican ticket, and claimed the cotton planters of the South had the same privilege. Mr. Shattuck denied any such coercion in very rude language and thus went off to attack what he called "the calamity howlers" who he said came from "the extreme ends of civilization"—Texas and the Northwest. He attacked this civilization and Mr. Green, Populist, rose to reply. Mr. Shattuck stated that he had been thirty years a railroad manager and knew many of the managers and employes and had never known "a calamity howler" among them.

Mr. Green turned this statement upon Shattuck, showing that the railroad managers made calamity howlers by robbing everybody and grew rich on the work of other men. Mr. Fox also replied and between the Democrat and the Populist Mr. Shattuck was badly used up, for both these gentlemen made strong points on him, and Shattuck's only answer to them was "it is a false statement," when in fact every statement made can be proven.

A Tribute to the National Educational Association.

The March Number "Book of the Royal Blue," issued by the Passenger Department of the B. & O. R. R. is dedicated to the Teachers of the United States, account of their annual meeting to be held at Washington next July. This issue contains twenty-five superb half-tones from recent photographs of the National Capital, with valuable suggestions to visitors intending to go to Washington. There is also a special illustrated article on the Congressional Library. This edition is made doubly interesting as it contains a descriptive article on the U. S. S. Maine, furnished by the Navy Department and illustrated with official photographs of the ill-fated vessel before she went to Havana, and also the morning after the explosion The latter photograph was brought by Lieut. Hood, of the Maine, the day after the disaster, and it was sent by Admiral Sicard to Secretary Long.

This book should be in every teacher's hands and it will be cheerfully furnished free of cost, to Principals or Superintendents of schools who will leave the number required with any Agent of the Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Individual requests will be promptly answered upon receipt of six (6) cents in postage stamps to the Advertising Department, Baltimore & Ohio R. R., Baltimore, Md. 12

THE NEW OBSERVATION CARS.

Between Baltimore and Pittsburg on The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The new Observation Cars "Undine" and "Blanca" on Trains Nos. 5 and 6, the New York and Chicago Limited Trains on the Baltimore and Ohio R. R., are the latest cars of this pattern from the Pullman Shops. They are magnificently furnished with splendidly equipped buffet, parlor, state room and observation end. The observation platform is a special feature. It is six feet deep, with extended roof, the sides being protected by large plate glass windows. Passengers can enjoy the magnificent scenery on all sides in perfect comfort. The buffet is ever ready to supply light refreshments, and dining cars en route serve full meals. The cars are the handsomest ever built by the Pullman Company, and will be run daily between Baltimore and Pittsburg on the trains mentioned. 13

PUBLICATIONS.

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE FOR APRIL.—The April McClure's will contain a series of heroic stories of the Gordon Highlanders, whose gallant assault at Dargai last autumn sent their fame ringing round the earth. Their behavior at Dargai, notwithstanding the praise it has justly brought them, was no new feat for the Gordons—they have been doing just that sort of thing for a hundred years; and the article in McClure's will tell the story of a number of their thrilling achievements. It will be fully illustrated.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

Week of March 21—"In Gay New York"—600th Performance.

One of the leading New York successes is booked at the Academy of Music in Baltimore for the week beginning Monday, March 21st, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Baltimore City gave its frank indorsement to "In Gay New York" when that lively entertainment was shown at the Academy a year ago. That indorsement was concurred in by the theatre goers of every city visited by the piece last season. Its return to the Academy for the week beginning March 21st may be relied upon to furnish the same scenes of enthusiastic appreciation that marked the previous engagement there. It may be said that "In Gay New York" is a characteristic Casino show piece, and it is generally understood that the Casino cult runs largely to jingling music, bright lines, pretty girls, diaphonous garments and liberally displayed lingerie. "In Gay New York" is no exception to the rule, but fortunately it has points more pertinent. It is an enjoyable burlesque with rather more pointed wit than is looked for usually in such productions. Its music has the pleasing swing that catches the popular ear and the people presenting the piece give evidence of intelligence and ability.

On Monday, the opening night, when the 600th performance of "In Gay New York" will take place, the management will distribute handsome souvenirs to the ladies, in the shape of embroidered work-baskets. The intrinsic value of the souvenirs is more than the price of the Orchestra Chairs and will be well worth having.
