SUN DIAL.—M. Spencer, Esq., of the Easton Academy, has erected on the South side of the Easton Hotel, in this town, a Sun Dial which will be a great convenience to our citizens. The Dial is four feet in diameter, faced with lead, with raised letters and lines. The gnomon is of iron, and 18 inches long. The Dial-face is divided into hours, halves and quarters, from six in the morning to six in the evening. Accompanying it is a table of the equation of time, showing the difference between the solar and chronometer time for every day in the year; enabling every one to take his choice in the meridian time and the true time for regulating his clock or watch. The public may be assured that this Dial is calculated to the exact latitude of the place: 38° 46' 10". The whole work was done by Mr. Spencer, with the exception of the painting, which was done by A. W. Fountain, Esq. Mr. S. put it in possession of the Town Commissioners, and makes no charge of its manufacture, further than to pay for the material.

WE publish in another column of to-day's paper, the announcement of the change of proprietorship of the Easton Hotel, in this place. We feel sure that in the new proprietor will be an affable, accommodating and courteous host; and all his accommodations "for man and beast," of the best kind. To the travelling public this is a great consideration. Whilst even to the people of our town, to have a Hotel conducted upon the principles and in the manner we are sure Mr. Haddaway will conduct his, is a matter of no small moment.—The Hotel we learn, will in the Spring be greatly improved in the main building and stables, and numerous other comforts added to it. Mr. Haddaway is a citizen of our county and we wish all possible success may attend him in his new enterprise.

THE NEW YEAR.—We are again getting fairly under way on another year. Things of the past year are dying away as sounds in the distance, and we are again about to cast our barks upon the boisterous ocean of time. The new year bursts upon us with the loveliness and grandeur, overhead, of Spring-time, causing many faces to smile, as New Years is the regular moving day in our State. The weather still continues mild, and it is the general remark, "such weather for the time of year." We are in hopes the weather will continue mild, and the Spring set in with unusual spirit and briskness in trade of every description.

A NEW COUNTERFEIT DETECTOR.—Messrs. T. B. Peterson & Brothers have just commencee the publication of "PETERSON'S PHILADELPHIA COUNTERFEIT DETECTOR AND BANK NOTE LIST"—a monthly quarto publication which contains all the information that can be obtained in regard to all Counterfeits, Broken Banks, and the rates of disconnt on all the Bank Notes of the country. The price is but ONE DOLLAR a year. To Clubs, four copies for $3; ten copies $7; twenty-five copies $15. Address all orders to T. B. Peterson & Brothers, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

BY telegraph from St. Louis later intelligence from Kansas has been received, which, it is to be hoped, will be contradicted by more reliable advices. According to this despatch, the United States dragoons had summoned General Lane, who was encamped at Sugar Mount, to surrender, and on his refusal, had attacked his position.—The dragoons were repulsed, with the loss of three men, and had sent to Gov. Denver for reinforcements. The Free State men were turning out to assist Lane, and a severe and bloody engagement was anticipated. Gen. Calhoun, the President of the Lecompton Convention, had fled from the Territory.

THE LEGISLATURE commenced i's session on Wednesday last. As the session is compelled to be short, and there is a great deal of business to be done, it will keep its members pretty busy to get through in time. We shall endeavor to keep our readers posted on the doings of that body during its session.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—We have a number of articles on file, and will appear in due course of time. We are glad to see a disposition evinced by so many to make public their thoughts and imaginations.

RELEASE OF EX-SHERIFF POOLE.—John J. R. Poole, late Sheriff of Cecil county, was released from jail, on Saturday, by Esquire Owens, having given the necessary security, ($4,000.)

SAD AFFAIR.—On Tuesday night last, between 9 and 10 o'clock, a window was heard to be hoisted in the third story of the Union Hotel of this town, by persons in the street, and soon followed by a noise as though a person or something very heavy was falling therefrom, striking a shed over the porch in its descent. On repairing to the spot it was found to be Edward Martin who had either jumped or fallen from his bed-room window. He struck on his head, badly mashing one side of it, which caused his death almost immediately. An inquest was held over the body by Justice Wheeler and a verdict rendered that "he came to his death by falling from the third story window of the Union Hotel."

CONGRESS re assembled on Monday last. In the Senate Mr. Pugh, of Ohio, introduced a bill to provide for the admission of Kansas into the Union as a State under the Constitution adopted at Lecompton, Nov. 7, 1857, with the boundaries defined in the pacification bill of the last Congress, and upon two fundamental conditions. The first condition is, that the seventh articte of the constitution, relative to slavery, shall be submitted to a separate and direct vote, "yes" or "no," of the qualified electors, on the 7th of April, 1858, at which time the State officers, the Legislature, and Congressmen shall be chosen. The returns of this election are to be made to the Governor of the Territory, instead of the President of the Convention, and the election conducted in obedience to the laws in force on the 7th of November last.

The second fundamental condition is that the constitution shall not be so construed as to limit or impair the right of the people, through their Legislature, at any time, to call a convention for the purpose of altering, amending, or abolishing their form of government, subject only to the Constitution of the United States. The President is to be required to admit the State by proclamation as soon as the election of April 7th shall have transpired. The ordinance of the Lecompton convention, relative to the grants of public lands, is rejected, and, in its stead, the usual articles of compact, are offered to the first Legislature of Kansas for acceptance or rejection, as in the case of other new States. The bill was read twice, and referred to the Committee on Territories, and the Senate soon after adjourned.

In the House the subject of the seizure of Gen. Walker was brought up by a resolution reported by Mr. Clingham, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, calling upon the President for information upon the subject. The course of Com. Paulding was characterized by Mr. Clingman as an act of war." The resolution was amended and adopted. A resolution was also adopted enquiring of the President whether Nicaragua had made complaint of the action of Com. Paulding.

Tuesday.—Mr Fessenden introduced a French spoliation bill, and moved its reference to a select committee of seven.

Mr. Slidell introduced a bill amendatory of the coinage act relative to half dollars and smaller silver coins.

Mr. Gwin submitted a resolution, which lies over, instructing the committee on foreign relations to inquire into the expediency of providing by law for the appointment of a minister plenipotentiary to the Empire of Japan.

After some further proceedings of less interest the Senate went into executive session.

The House went into committee of the whole on the State of the Union on the President's annual message.

Mr. J. Glancy Jones submitted a series of resolutions, referring the various branches of the message to the appropriate standing committees, and expressed a hope that they would be adopted forthwith, as the message had been before the country nearly a month.

Mr. Quitman said their so-called neutrality acts should be swept from the statute books. There was no constitutional power to enforce them. He emphatically denied that the law of nations requires independent States to restrain their citizens from hostile aggressions on another power. He expressed the hope that the sympathy now manifested in behalf of Central American affairs would not be restrained by force. Our citizens, he said, were as good judges of their own morality as Congress was for them He looked upon the recommendation of the President as one to make the neautrality laws more stringent, with means to carry them into execution.

Mr. Glancy Jones said if he understood the most distinguished characteristic of our government, it was a government of national, constitutional and common law. Therefore, in framing his resolutions, he proposed to send this subject to the committee on the judiciary. He could not say how far he was prepared to go in the modification of the neautrality law, but he understood the President simply to mean—"If you mean me to carry out and execute the laws as now existing, you must clothe me with more power."

Mr. Keitt strongly condemned the conduct of Com. Paulding. If the President has a right to seize a man in a foreign land, he has the prerogative of a despot.

Mr. Stephens likewise condemned the illegality of the act. He took occasion to say that a great outrage had been committed without law or the semblance of law. Walker and his men ought to be sent back in a national ship, and restitution be made for all damages.

Mr Bocock said, as at present, advised he considered the act of Com. Paulding illegal; but he desired that the neutrality law should be inquired into. The great sea is neutral ground, on which our vessels may capture fugitives and bring them back for trial.

Mr. Grow said he was glad to see such jealousy manifested on the other side with regard to the employment of military force, and he took occasion to remark that for two years the Executive had employed to perpetuate an outrage on the rights of the people of Kansas.

Mr. Lovejoy protested against Walker being magnified into a hero and martyr, when he was simply a rascal. [Laughter.]

Other gentlemen followed in the debate, but without coming to a conclusion upon the question the House adjourned.

MORE RUNAWAYS FROM DORCHESTER.—On Thursday night week, seven negroes absconded from near Cambridge, Dorchester county. The necessary steps were taken on the next morning to find their whereabouts, and on last Saturday a Mr. Williams, of Caroline county, safely lodged them in Cambridge jail.

SMALL POX.—This much feared disease has made its appearance in several sections of our county. We have heard of several cases being in Trappe and the lower part of the county, and we have also one case in Easton. We apprehend no danger of its spreading, however, if the necessary precautions are taken.

NEW STORE.—It will be seen by reference to an advertisement in another column, that Messrs. Dodd & Son, have opened a store on the corner of Dover and Harrison streets where they keep such as groceries and other necessaries of a family.—Give them a call.

HOTEL CHANGE.—It will be seen by a card in another column, that Mr. Wm. J. Hardesty has sold his interest in the Easton Hotel to J. Q. A. Haddaway.

For the Easton Gazette.

SMALL-POX CONTAGION AND PREVENTION.

The occurrence of genuine Small Pox in our community, and the consequent disturbed state of the public mind, render a few simple propositions on the subject not inappropriate; which, while designed to correct false views and thereby allay unnecessary alarm, are equally intended to inculcate suitable measures of prevention

1. The contagion of sporadic cases of small pox, or those occurring independently of epidemic influence, is diffused through the atmosphere to a very limited extent.—This was the opinion of the celebrated Dr. Haygarth, who adopted various modes of observation by which to establish the fact. In the open air and in moderate cases he supposes that the infection does not exceed half a yar, and hence he says, it is probable that even when the distemper is malignant, the infectious influence extends but a few yards from the source of the poison. Hence persons residing in the vicinity of the diseased subject, or having business therein, need feel no serious apprehension of contracting the malady.

2. The contagious principle becomes innocuous by dilution with atmospheric air. Thus the clothes and bedding of a small pox patient, if closely wrapped up, will retain and give out the disease to others at a great distance of time: while medical men who visit small-pox patients and subsequently go into the open air, seldom if ever communicate the disorder. Dr. Haygarth is of opinion that they never do, and this view is confirmed by the most reliable modern authority.

3. Among the best regulations for arresting the progress of disease already existing, is the separation, so far as consistent with humanity, of the sick from the healthy—cleanliness and free ventilation of the apartment—the immediate immersion in hot water and subsequent washing of all clothes removed from the person: the avoiding on the part of the attendants of needless and long-continued proximity to the sick, inhaling their breath, and standing in the current of air which passes over them: and the supporting of the general health of the nurses by nutritious diet and the rest which nature requires.

4. In large cities, especially in winter and during the prevalence of small pox, public carriages,* hacks and omnibusses, as well as promiscuously crowded assemblies, are all occasional foci of contagion.

5. The importance of RE-VACCINATION cannot be too strongly insisted upon.—Without pausing to discuss the permanence of the vaccine impression, or the necessity of its renewal at stated periods, it is sufficient to remark that no appearance of the scar resulting from previous vaccination is of the least importance in forming an opinion as to the safety of the party. The British and foreign Medical Review (Jan. 1839) furnishes very valuable statistics of re-vaccination on a large scale by Dr. Heim of Wurtemburg confirming the necessity of the measure. The same paper establishes fully that the existence of a cicatrix (scar) or mark of the primary vaccination in the arm is no test whatever of the immunity of the individual from small pox—it having been found in Wurtemberg and Hanover (Heim and Muhry) that those with, and those without the mark, were equally susceptible of Cow-pox on the second trial.—Thus of 14,331 re-vaccinations among the military of Wurtemberg, 8,845, or more than half, showed what are usually considered good marks of previous vaccination; and of this number the success of re-vaccination was complete in 31 per cent; whilst of those of imperfect marks, the re-vaccination was complete in 28 per cent.; modified in 26 per cent.; and total failure occurred in 46 per cent.

Easton, Jan. 7, 1858.

*The use of a public hack from the wharf, at Baltimore, furnishes the most probable solution of the origin of the case now existing in Easton.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—Peterson for February has arrived in all of its beauty and usefulness. It is the first we have received for February.

MR. WM. H. GRACE has been appointed by the Sheriff elect of Dorchester county, as his deputy.

BRUTAL MURDER IN WORCESTER COUNTY.—The Snow Hill (Md.) Shield of Saturday says:

A negro man, named Peter Smith, was arrested on Sunday morning last, and committed to the jail of this county, charged with the murder of another negro named Ned Palmer. It appears by the testimony, that on Saturday night these negroes, with others, met at the house of a negro woman named Hetty Adkinson, residing at Nassawongo Furnace, about five miles from Snow Hill, and after drinking freely, Palmer started for home, when Smith followed him out of the door, remarking that "this thing must be settled before you leave," but as none of the inmates of the house were aware of any misunderstanding, no one followed them. A few moments after they left, a heavy blow was heard, which alarmed those in the house, and on running out found Palmer lying on his face on a pile of wood but a few feet from the door. He was taken up senseless, and carried into the house, and lived about six hours.

THE steamship Niagara arrived at Halifax on Saturday morning. Financial affairs were improving. Bullion was increasing in the Bank of England, and the Bank of France had reduced its rate of discount to six per cent. The commercial troubles were however not entirely over. Several additional and heavy failures in England are announced, and in the north of Europe the crisis was still severely felt. At Hamburg some improvement in the condition of affairs is reported. The general news is unimportant. The attempt to launch the Leviathan had been abandoned for the present. The Emperor of France had imposed a duty upon the importation of foreign brandies. The American submarine companies have abandoned the attempt to raise the vessels sunk in the harbor of Sebastopol.

DEATH OF MISS LESLIE, THE AUTHORESS.—Miss Eliza Leslie, a lady who was probably as widely known by her writings as any one that has ever lived in the United States, died on the 1st inst. at Gloucester, N. J., where she has been confined to her room for some months from an injury received there last summer. Miss Leslie was a native of Philadelphia, and was sixty-nine years of age. Her family, on the father's side, were of Scotch descent, her great grand-father having come from Scotland and settled in Cecil county, Maryland, in 1745. His wife was of Swedish descent.

A MILLIONAIRE PRINTER.—A correspondent of the "Rural Southerner," writing from St. John, New Brunswick, says:—"Two miles above the suspension bridge is the village of Indian town, from which place the up river steamboats depart. At this village I made the acquaintance of Mr Hathaway, the proprietor of the Fredericton line of boats, who informed me that he was born in Virginia, and at one time worked as a compositor on the Baltimore Patriot. He is now worth near half a million of dollars."

FROM KANSAS.—A Westport correspondent of the St. Louis Republican says:

A few more items of election news: The vote at Wyandottee, stood 86 "Constitution with Slavery," and 100 "Constitution without Slavery," a majority of fourteen against slavery A number of Northern persons from Quindaro, thoroughly disgusted with abolitionism, voted for slavery.

At Davis, K. T., the vote was thirty-five for and twe against the Stavery clause.

AYER'S AMERICAN ALMANAC is now ready for delivery at Dawson & Bro., who is supplied with it by the publisher for distribution gratis to all who call for it. It contains about the richest collection of astronomical matter we know of—a collection accurately calculated for this meridian and found reliable, besides an amount of valuable medical information which should be in the possession of every family. This little annual has become a welcome visitor to the fireside of the American people,—and not to them alone, for its numbers are freely circulated in almost every civilized country under the sun. It is published in the English, French, Spanish and German languages, with calenders adapted to every meridian of the Northern Hemisphere. Over twenty-seven hundred thousand copies were issued last year, which is doubtless the largest edition of any one book in the world. Our readers are respectfully invited to call and get a copy, and when got, keep it.

COMMUNICATION.—All persons indebted to the late firm of Goldsborough and Dawson are earnestly requested to settle their accounts without delay.

As the closing of the affairs of the firm has devolved upon me, parties may rest assured that it will be out of my power to give indulgence after the 1st day of January next. I hope, however, that I shall be spared the unpleasant duty of placing any accounts in the hands of an officer.

Deaths.

DAWSON—In Bay Hundred, on the 23d ult., Capt. James Dawson, in the 49th year of his age. He lived and died a Christian.

COX.—On the 27th ult., at the residence of her uncle, near Easton, Mary Sophia Cox, in the 21st year of her age.

Yes, dear Mary, thou art gone. Yet the painful truth I can scarcely realize. What! shall I see thee no more! Is thy voice forever hushed in death? Oh relentless monster, why hast thou rudely invaded the happy home of my friends and taken from their fireside the one around whom their hearts' best affections were entwined? Dost thou not regard their cry? But hark! what voice is that saluting my ear? "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, even so saith the spirit, for they rest from their labours, and their works do follow them." O blessed consolation! what joy and hope dost thou infuse into our hearts, telling us that though the rude monster, death, may come to us here, he may go with us no farther than the tomb; and tho' thy form may there be shut out from our gaze, and thy presence no more greet us in the flesh; yet thy happy spirit hath winged its flight to those pure and blissful regions where sorrow is unknown and where death cannot enter.

And whilst we bow with humble resignation to the Divine Decree which has summoned thee away; yet thy departure has caused sadness and gloom to rest upon our spirits, and filled our hearts with grief.

Whilst sojourning with us here many sorrows were thine, for the hand of affliction was laid heavily upon thee. But like gold tried in the fire thou dist come forth purified, and by the humility and patience didst manifest to all, that the God in whom thou dist trust in health was able to sustain thee in affliction.

Yes, thou art gone, and hast fully accomplished thy mission here; leaving as a legacy to thy friends thy many virtues, and pointing them by thy example to the only refuge for safety—the Rock Christ Jesus. And thou didst fully attest by thy triumphant death that the Religion of Jesus Christ was able to sustain thee in the hour of desolution, and cause thee to rejoice in the bright assurance of everlasting life.

Farewell, dear Mary, but not forever, for I look forward with joyful anticipations to the time when we shall meet on the peaceful shores of fair Canaan where there is no more parting, but where we shall be permitted to range those fields of rapturous delight and make heaven's high dome resound with songs of everlasting deliverance.

Together with a splendid assorment of GROCERIES, CONFECTIONARIES, and FRUITS.

TOBACCO & CIGARS, &c.

They offer great inducements to buyers, as they have determined to sell low for CASH only.—They would feel thankful if their friends and the public generally would give them a call, for they are sure they cannot fail to please.

They also intend carrying on the

Cart and Wheel-writing AND BLACKSMITHING,

in all its branches, on very accommodating terms. Persons wanting work of this kind, would do well to give them a call.

NOTICE.

The subscriber having given his son an interest in his business would remind all persons indebted to him to call and close up their old accounts by note or otherwise, at their earliest convenience.
