BUSINESS NOTICES.

Merchants and others advertising by the year will be charged extra for advertisements out of their regular line of business.

A MISERABLE PRACTICE.—During wet weather, this season of the year, the bird known as the "chimney bat" or "swallow," in large numbers, fly through the streets, close to the ground, in order to secure food, such as flies, gnats, &c. While these little harmless creatures are thus seeking the necessaries of life and food for their young, it is the practice of numerous boys, and frequently young men, to spend a good part of their time, with bush, broom or whip in hand, to knock them down as they fly past. We say it is a miserable practice and a scandal upon parents who suffer their children to do it.—By the destruction of one of these birds a number of young ones may be left to perish for want of food. We remember once, when a boy, to have engaged in this cruel sport, ourself, and secured a bird, when a kind lady, who has since passed from earth, witnessing the act, spoke of its cruelty, and thus ended such sport with us, to the present day. So we believe it the boys who engage in it now, were spoken to by some kind friend, and reminded of its cruelty, much less of it would be practiced.

EXCURSIONS.—It will be seen by advertisement in another column, that the Wilson Small, Capt. E. T. Leonard, will make an excursion from Easton Point, Cambridge, and her landings on the route, to Baltimore city, on the night of the 3d of July, and return on the night of the 4th. By this trip persons can visit the city and witness the celebration and enjoy the sceneries at Druid Hill Park, or enjoy themselves in any other way they may see fit.

The steamer Balloon will make an excursion from Miles River Ferry, St. Michaels, and her landings, to Annapolis, on the 4th of July, and give excursionists an opportunity to visit the Navy Yard, the Capital and other places of interest in the ancient city.

The steamer Champion will also make an excursion, on the 4th, from Denton to Cambridge, touching at Dover Bridge, and intermediate landings.

We learn that the Methodist Protestant Sabbath School contemplates giving an excursion about the middle of July.

THE Star of Tuesday, attempts to throw around Capt. Jno. Cowgill, a dark cloud, because he is carrying out a law made by the Star's own party. If it was intended that none but white citizens were to be enlisted in the militia service, the law should have so stated. We see by the Baltimore American that companies of colored militia are also being raised in Baltimore, so we think the appeals to Governor Swann to put a stop to such proceedings on the Eastern Shore will be of little avail, when companies of the same kind are organizing almost under his nose. The Star's immagination sores aloft once in a while, and viewe things below in a horrible light. Wonderful visions are seen and horrible spectres make their appearance, but after all, it's nothing but a "nigger's" ghost haunting it.

☞ IT is now almost reduced to a certainty that there will be a quorum of both Houses of Congress at Washington the first week in July. Speaker Colfax, who is ever ready to perform his duties, either as a private citizen or a public officer, will be upon the spot promptly. Other members of the Senate and the House have reached the Capital, and still others will be there by Monday and Tuesday of next week. This is encouraging to the country; and it will expect Congress on assembling to proceed earnestly to work, that the interests now suffering from the baleful effect of Mr. Stanberry's opinion may derive hope and and find support in the decisions and countenance of our national legislators.

ANOTHER MURDER.—The murder mania appears to prevail at present. On Monday, a man named Fornshill, the keeper of a tavern of bad repute on Baltimore street, near Holiday, was shot by Francis Hart. Hart had previously boarded in the house, and was accused by Fornshill of disrespectful language toward his wife. Hart was knocked down by Fornshill, and then shot, the wound proving fatal in a few minutes. Hart was arrested and committed. Men will learn after a while, who are not their wives, and who are the wives of others.

☞ The President has issued an order to the Military Commanders enforcing the Attorney General's "opinion" upon that portion of the Reconstruction laws having reference to registration. It will doubtless be followed by another embodying the late "opinion" with regard to the power of the Military Commanders.

☞ Gen. Grant was to accompany President Johnson and Secretary Seward on their Boston tour, but declined "on account of press of business." His experience on the Chicago trip no doubt satisfied him as to the President's popularity with the people.

REV. DR. MURRAY, President of the Maryland Annual Conference, visited Easton, on Thursday last, and preached in the Methodist Protestant Church yesterday (Friday) evening, to a large congregation—delivering a very impressive discourse.

☞ DR. B. BROWN WILLIAMS, of 23 Pleasant street, Baltimore, will be in Easton, Maryland, on Wednesday, July 3d, and may be consulted free of charge at the Brick Hotel, from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M. He treats all long standing diseases of every description of both sexes, with wonderful success, and cures cancers and tumors on any part of the body by a new process without the knife.

Call early, as he can remain but one day from his practice in Baltimore.

HARVEST.—The wet weather, during the past week, has materially interfered with the wheat harvest, and it was at one time feared that much damage had been done the crop. Farmers are now gathering up all available force to secure their wheat while the weather is clear.

GEN. SHERIDAN'S LETTER ENDORSED.—NEW ORLEANS, June 25.—The Republican Executive Committee last night passed a resolution endorsing Gen. Sheridan's letter to Gen. Grant, and favoring a constitutional amendment forbidding distinction on account of race or color.

NEW DRESS.—We see our neighbor, the Journal, has donned a new dress. In a few weeks we learn the proprietors expect a new press, when they intend to enlarge their paper—putting one more column on each page.

☞ It will be seen by order in another column, that Capt. Jno. Cowgill has dispensed with his drills until after the harvest is over.

COLT BRAKING.—Mr. George Gale advertises this morning, to brake colts. Those having them will do well to employ him.

DELAWARE AND MARYLAND PEACH CROP.—A letter from Lincoln, Sussex county, Delaware, says: "The peach yield this season, according to present indications, will be almost without precedent. Peach growers are more concerned lest there should be an excess of production and a glutted market than they are on any other account. The failure of the peach in New Jersey serves to direct attention now more than ever before to Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland as the favorite regions for peach orchards, and the number of trees set out recently can be reckoned only by tens of thousands. In this neighborhood there are two new orchards, each comprising between six thousand and eight thousand trees, and smaller ones of two thousand or four thousand are found wherever the soil is most favorable."

GEN. SICKLES' LETTER OF RESIGNATION.—The following is the letter of General Sickles, in which he asks to be relieved of the command of the Second Military Distrct:

HEADQUARTERS SECOND MILITARY DISTRICT, CHARLESTON, S. C., June 19, 1867.

To the Adjutant General of the Army, War Department, Washington, D. C.

I have the honor to request that I may be relieved from command in this military district, and I respectfully demand a court of inquiry upon my official actions, that I may vindicate myself from the accusation of the Attorney General, it is presumed, with the approval of the President. Congress have declared these so called State Governments illegal, the declaration of the Attorney General that military authority has not superseded them prevents the execution of the Reconstruction acts, disarms me of the means to protect life, property, or the rights of citizens, and menaces all interests in these States with ruin. D. E SICKLES,

Major General Commanding.

Official. J. W. Clous, Captain and A. A. A. G.

SAVE YOUR DOCTOR'S BILLS.—When Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry will cure coughs, colds, bleeding at the lungs, and arrest the fell desstroyer, Consumption, it does more than most physicians can do. The use of a single bottle costing one dollar will satisfy the incredulous that they need look no further for the required aid.

OUTRAGE UNMITIGATED—WANTON ATTEMPT TO KILL.—One of those most malicious, unprovoked and utterly abominable outrages, which are often read of as occurring elsewhere, but never before did occur in this community, to our knowledge, was committed in a cowardly manner upon the premises of E. K. Wilson, Esq., in this town, at between 10 and 11 o'clock on Monday night last, by George P. Spence, in the firing of a pistol by said culprit from the public street at the upper window of Mr. Wilson's residence, with the design of shooting that gentleman. There was not the slightest provocation from Mr. Wilson, and the act, therefore, was entirely malicious and wanton.

While we have no language to express our indignation and horror at this proceeding, we are equally at a loss for words fully to convey the deep feeling of regret that any man so respectably connected on every side as Spence is should, from the effect, doubtless, of excessive and degrading indulgence, have his mind or temper, or both, so thoroughly impaired as to be led to attempt the commission of one of the gravest offences in all the catalogue of crime, by which one of the most useful lives in this community might have been suddenly sacrificed.

The circumstances are briefly these:—Spence had been hanging around Snow Hill for some days awaiting the receipt of the residue of an inheritance from the estate of a late distinguished relative, uncle, which Mr. Wilson had, in kindness, as Executor of the estate, proposed to pay over to him before the expiration of the time provided by law for final settlement, that he might not be troubled with those petty annoyances from Spence which he has latterly exhibited so much fondness in practicing with so many persons. Mr. Wilson had been awaiting the receipt or execution of a paper necessary to his justification in the matter, as we understand. But on the day of the occurrence of the murderous action towards him, Spence had been drinking hard, and was quite drunk when he attempted the murder, though he had in the afternoon of that day expressed to Mr. Wilson his thanks for, and appreciation of, the manner in which he had transacted the business of his uncle's estate. Afterwards, nevertheless, when yet more intoxicated, in the evening he declared his intention to several persons to shoot Mr. Willson that night, and at about half past 10 he went to the front door of Mr. Wilson's residence and sought admittance without success, Mr. W. having retired. He then repaired to the public street in front of the window looking out from Mr. Wilson's sleeping apartment, (a light showing from the same) and fired directly at it, the ball striking in nearly a direct line 5 or 6 feet above the window. Upon Mr. W. showing himself, Spence attempted to fire again, using threats at the same time of his intention to effect his death. Mr. Wilson then came out and approached him, armed only with a stick, when Spence retreated a short distance, but again advanced and continued his insults and threats.

The forbearance of Mr. Wilson in neither shooting, beating, or imprisoning Spence, is something beyond the power of what our endurance could have been, and is both commendable and fortunate. With a keen sense of the danger his life had been in, causing a feeling of indignation which was extreme, naturally enough, and with his utter contempt for the man and his villainous act, yet the danger having passed, it is creditable to Mr. W.'s self control that he did not strike and deprive the law of its fullest force. Spence shortly afterwards disappeared, and it is not publicly known here where he is at present.

Mr. Wilson is one of the oldest and most distinguished members of the Bar of this Judical Circuit, a highly esteemed, useful and popular citizen; and now unavoidable is the reflection here as to what would have been the universal feeling had that villainous shot, for no possible cause, laid the object of it suddenly low in death? Every man's own feelings can answer that it would have been sad indeed. That it was not done, by the will of Providence, makes the attempt not less intolerable.—Worcester Shield.

NEGRO SCHOOL.

It is a fundamental maxim among the most advanced philosophical thinkers of the age that legislative bodies never accomplish anything for the elevation of the communities to which they belong. A progress may, indeed, be traced in the laws of successive years, but it only corresponds to a change which had already taken in the community. In fact, Legislatures are not reformers, but dials upon which the advances of reformations are registered. And never has this truth been more clearly illustrated than by the course of that Rip Van Winkle assembly now gathered at Annapolis. Education is the natural and logical consequence of emancipation. It is indispensably necessary that all the freemen in the community should have a moderate amount of instruction. Whatever necessity there may have been for consigning the slaves to ignorance, there is none whatever for depriving the free blacks from knowledge. Education will make them more intelligent, sober, industrious and virtuous; in a word will make them better citizens in every respect. All these arguments are so familiar to the educated portion of this community, of whatsoever political persuasion, that they need no amplification. It was natural therefore, to expect that a convention composed of the most liberal and intelligent Rebels would make some provision for the education of the blacks; would take some step towards placing their schools under the control and superintendence of the State, and of conferring upon them the benefits of experience of the officers connected with the public schools. The subject was brought before that body, and, to the surprise of every reflecting man, was voted down by an overwhelming majority. Such an act demands something more than a passing notice from the public journals of the State. As long as there have been public schools in the State the property of the blacks has been taxed to support them, while they themselves have been deprived of the privilege of attending them. This may appear perfectly just in the eyes of those who hold that "negroes have no rights which white men are bound to respect," but to every one else it looks like a shameful piece of injustice, not to say of downright robbery. Either the blacks should be exempt from the school tax, or they should be allowed to enjoy the benefits of public schools. The Legislature of 1865, however, passed an act that was a little more favorable to them, but which still made an unjust discrimination between the various portions of the State. By this law the whole school fund is distributed among the counties and the city of Baltimore according to the number of children between the ages of five and twenty in each. Thus each received last year $1 98 for every child. Charles county has 6,466 children within its limits. It therefore received $10,863.47. It is, however, relieved from the duty of educating its 4,384 colored children, and therefore devotes the entire sum to the education of 2,082 white children, thus receiving $5 for each child. Allegany county, on the other hand, receives $18,201,21 for a population of 10,851 children, nearly all of whom have to be educated, there being only 461 colored children in the county, thus receiving only $1.91 for each child. Of course this irregularity was never contemplated by the framers of the law, and was only made manifest by its operation. It is one, however, that demands speedy redress, which it is not likely to obtain from the party that now controls the State. The great work of education for the colored people, however, is steadily progressing, in spite of the fossilized Democracy, and will sooner or later force itself upon the community, and come under the protection and assistance of the law. Only one year ago it was prosecuted amid persecution, and burning school-houses and flaming churches told of the bitter hostility of an ignorant narrow-minded slaveocracy. Teachers were stoned, insulted, mobbed, and in many instances driven from the State. All this has gradually passed away. The outrages that were ever the boast and pride of chivalry have ceased, and now none but rude and unmannerly boys break the windows of the school-houses, and even these seek the cover of darkness. Let any one turn back and examine the columns of The American, where these four deeds have been chronicled often, and he will find a steady decline in number and heinousness. From this consideration every philanthropic heart can take courage. The right, by its own innate force and majesty, is vindicating itself, and in spite of conservative stupidity, is demanding and receiving a recognition from the community. The very men who now reject it with such contempt at Annapolis will soon be earnest advocates for it. Two years ago they would have scorned the idea of negro testimony; but now it is manifest from the debates that its justice is admitted by the more intelligent portions of even that pro-slavery body. So will it be with education. In the meanwhile a new farce bids fair to step upon the stage, which will materially change the position of parties. It is now certain that Congress will assemble in July, and it it does we trust it will never adjourn till it has passed a law conferring the ballot upon every colored citizen in this country. The colored man then, instead of standing in the attitude of petitioners suing for their rights, will assume the position of freemen demanding and enforcing justice at the polls. Farewell, then, to Rebel domination. The enfranchisement of the blacks will be the death-knell of Rebel power in this State. The drama enacting at Annapolis will be turned into a broad farce, and the acts and speeches that now seem so portentious, will afford ample merriment for the curious. The State will be saved the cost of their publication, and the few fragments that survive will appear like the relics of the antediluvian world. A few years from now some antiquary will be wondering if some of the sentiments did not come from the mouth of Methusaleh.—Balt. American.

according to Milton, is rendered tenfold more terrible by its "Horrid Hair," and there are thousands of fiery human heads which might be rendered charming by simply changing their tint to a mellow brown, or a perfectly natural black with Cristadoro's Hair Dye. It is ridiculous to carry into society a grey, sandy or carrotty head, when five minutes would render it as attractive as Nature could have made it in her happy mood. Manufactured by J. Cristadoro, 6 Astor House New York. Sold by druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY.

From Andrew Archer, Esq., of Fairfield, Me.

"About eight years since my son, Henry A. Archer, now Postmaster at Fairfield, Somerset county, Me., was attacked with spitting of blood, cough, weakness of Lungs, and general debility, so much so that our family physician declared him to have a "Seated Consumption." He was under medical treatment for a number of months, but received no benefit from it.—At length, from the solicitation of himself and others I was induced to purchase one bottle of Wistar's Balsom of Wild Cherry, which benefited him so much I obtained another bottle, which in a short time restored him to his usual state of health. I think I can safely recommend this remedy to others in like condition, for it is, I think, all it purports to be—the Great Lung Remedy for the times." The above statement, gentlemen, is my voluntary offering to you in favor of your Balsom, and is at your disposal."

Prepared by Seth W. Fowle & Son, 18 Tremont St., Boston, and for sale by Druggists generally.

Yours with respect. JAMES BEAN.

DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the Proprietor of Pulmonary Consumption, where it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption, and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. Schenck makes professional visits to several of the large cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. Dr. Schenck's pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Letters for advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office No. 15 North 6th Street Philadelphia, Pa.

SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC.

This medicine, invented by Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, is intended to dissolve the food and make it into chyme, the first process of digestion.—By cleansing the stomach with Schenck's Mandrake Pills, the Tonic soon restores the appetite, and food that could not be eaten before using it will be easily digested.

Consumption cannot be cured by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup unless the stomach and liver is made healthy and the appetite restored, hence the Tonic and Pills are required in nearly every case of consumption. A half dozen bottles of the SEAWEED TONIC and three or four boxes of the MANDRAKE PILLS will cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia.

DR. SCHENCK makes professional visits in New York, Boston, and at his principal Office in Philadelphia every week. See daily papers of each place, or his pamphlet on consumption for his days for visitation.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor, one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health, are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. All letters for advice should be addressed to Dr. SCHENCK'S Principal Offic, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE BY DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINES.

To cure consumption, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. Schenck's Mandrake Pills cleanses the stomach of all bilious or mucous accumulations; and by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is nutricious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repell all diseases If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhœa they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the rich food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. [2nd w. ea. mo, 1 yr

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

This remedy has long been cherished by the community for its remarkable efficacy in releiving, healing and curing the most obstinate, painful and long-standing cases of Cough, Cold, Influenza, Sore Throat Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Inflammation of the Lungs; while even Consumption itself has yielded to its magic influence when all other means have failed. Its whole history proves that the past has produced no remedy of equal value, as a cure for the numerous and dangerous pulmonary affections which prevail all over the land.

DR. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS. A SUBSTITUTE FOR CALOMEL.

These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and effectually as blue pill or mercury, and without producing any of these disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In all billious disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and biliary ducts, which are the cause of bilious affections in general.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills cure sick headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torbid or obstructed condition.

In short, these Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medacine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other in his present health.
