NEWS ITEMS.

Pittsburg is in a stew of excitement over the celebration of the Fourth of July. The German population, who constitute a very large minority of the whole, have determined to have their procession and their oratorial and their pyrotechnical fireworks upon the Fourth of July, which is Sunday. The city has a very stringent Sunday law, and the religious population at once rose up horrified, and imploring the Mayor and municipal officials to strictly enforce the law and so prevent the processional, beer drinking and other frolicky features of the celebration programme of the Germans. Religious meetings are being held, religious associations are passing resolutions and ministers are preaching sermons in the city of smoke, all with the purpose of defeating the Germans. The Mayor is reported to lean towards the Sabbatarians, but meanwhile another disturbing element has entered into the contest and it has now become triangular. The Sunday law has never been so strictly enforced but that the back doors of drinking saloons have stood conveniently ajar, the city cars have been run, livery stables have opened their doors to customers and work has gone on in the newspaper offices, although under a strict interpretation of the law all would be required to cease work on the Sabbath. The brewers and tavern keepers, fearing that the sharp contest now going on will lead to a rigorous enforcement of the law, have inaugurated a movement to demand that every provision of the statute shall be carried out without being abated a jot or title. They have undoubtedly the law on their side, and as the prohibition will include newspapers, the editors are rather puzzled to know how they shall issue their Monday editions.

A Richmond despatch says the Democratic State Central Committee of Virginia has determined not to allow Gen. Canby's opinion as to the eligibility of candidates for office, under the laws of Congress, to influence the course of that party, and all the present candidates of that party will be kept in the field. The Committee say that the "iron-clad oath" will never be presented in a practicable form. The despatch making this announcement represents that Chief Justice Chase (who left Richmond yesterday from the Virginia White Sulphur Springs,) expressed the opinion that there was no authority in the laws of Congress to exact the test-oath of members of the Legislature. General Canby has written a letter, in which he argues in support of his position requiring members of the Legislature to take the iron-clad oath. He contends that the Reconstruction acts require it, and that he is acting in conformity with all precedents in enforcing it.

Governor Bullock, of Georgia, it is stated, will shortly convene a special session of the Legislature, with a view to ascertain the purposes of that body in regard to the eligibility of colored men to office, now that the Supreme Court of the State has decided upon the question.—He evidently wishes both Houses to recall and reseat the colored members who were expelled last year. Those best informed upon the subject, however, hardly think that the General Assembly will be prepared to take this course, which would necessitate a new election of State Senators. The Legislature will probably acknowledge the Supreme Court decision as binding in the future only.

The latest returns from the vote on Lay Delegation in the Methodist Episcopal Church develop a more serious opposition to the movement than has heretofore been exhibited. The returns now show thirty-one thousand for Lay Delegation to twelve thousand against it.

A Louisville despatch of Friday's date says that nothing has yet been heard from the detachment of mounted soldiers sent out to disperse the bands of marauders in Lincoln and the adjoining counties. Recently a number of mounted men, under the command of a desperado named Henderson Hooth, entered a farm house belonging to a man named Green, formerly a Union soldier, who was then absent. They seized his wife, whipped her with switches, and finally burned down the house. Mrs. Green recognized most of the villains, and their names are now in the hands of the United States authorities. It is said that gangs of outlaws are made up of both Union and Confederate soldiers, and that their principal object is plunder.

In one of the courts of Florida, last week, the Hon. Henry S. Harmon, a colored man, was admitted to the practice of law. This is the first admission of a black man to the privileges of the legal profession in Florida, and one of the first in the South. The East Florida Banner says Mr. Harmon is a talented, educated gentleman and a good citizen. He is certainly the foremost man of his race in this State.

RESIGNATION OF SECRETARY BORIE.—Last Friday, Hon. A. E. Borie, Secretary of the Navy, tendered his resignation which was accepted by the President, who appointed Hon. Geo. M. Robeson, of New Jersey, as his successor. Continued ill health and the demands of private business are assigned by Mr. Borie as his reason for resigning.

The new Secretary graduated at Princeton in 1844, and is a lawyer of considerable eminence, and filled the office of Attorney General for some time, when petition he resigned to accept a seat in the Cabinet. He is an outspoken Republican, and said by those who know to possess the requisite qualifications.

LOCALS.

☞ THURSDAY, the first morning in the fiscal year, is note-worthy in almost every branch of business, but in none more so than in the Postal Affairs of our own great and ever expanding country.

It is the period for opening new accounts in the 28,000 postoffices. Various other important changes in the subordinate offices are made, to take effect with the commencement of the new quarter.

Postmaster General Creswell has, with characteristic energy, introduced an entire new system of surveillance, which on Thursday morning went into operation over every State by divisions and districts, embracing every postoffice and every mail route in the land, and so connected that in a short space of time the efforts and energies of two or three divisions can be combined in the suppression of wrong doing or promoting the interests of the Department under any emergency.

On the 12th of July the number of money order-offices will be increased some three hundred, making an aggregate of about 1,800.

ICE.—As our citizens will remember, last winter was a very mild one and a very poor season for the ice crop in this section of the country. This was considered quite a disaster, but it has been remedied in a great measure by the energy and perseverance of Mr. Joshua Duncan. For several years Mr. Duncan has been supplying the people of Easton abundantly from his own houses, but his ice falling short last winter, he has been compelled to go to the city to make up the deficiency, and he now goes his regular round every morning, to the satisfaction of all, this warm weather. Mr. Duncan's present mode of supplying his customers pays him very poorly and his energy and enterprise should be very highly appreciated.

GOOD HEALTH.—We have received a work, bearing the above title, from the American News Company, New York, containing 96 pages of reading matter, at $2 per annum. The magazine will be devoted to articles, original and selected, by eminent writers, on all subjects of a Hygenic and Sanitary nature. Any one would find this book a valuable companion. If you do not wish to subscribe before seeing it, send on 20 cents and get a single copy for perusal.

☞ NEARLY all the farmers in this section have passed through their wheat harvest and have it secured against the weather. The harvest this year was a very hurried one, all the wheat getting ripe nearly at the same time, but by perseverance and the aid of reapers, the golden fields were soon made bare, and the farmer's heart rejoices at the prospect of a heavy yield. The weather has been delightful for the growing crops as well as for harvesting purposes.

EXCURSION.—We see by public notice, that the M. P. Sabbath School, of Oxford, will give an excursion to Cambridge on Friday next, on board the steamer Highland Light. This will be a delightful trip, not only for persons from Oxford, but also for those of Easton, who may wish to take a day's recreation.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.—Let all make their arrangements so that they can attend the Sabbath School Convention in this place on the 14th inst. It promises to be an occasion of much interest, not only to teachers, but to the members of the church and larger scholars.

☞ WE invite the attention of farmers and others to the card of Messrs. Gilmore, Swift & Co., Commission Merchants, which may be found in another column. They give their entire attention to the sale of grain, poultry, fruit produce of all sorts.

HUCKLEBERRIES.—Huckleberries made their appearance in our market on Saturday last, and were held at the very moderate price of fifteen cents per quart. It is said that there are great quantities of them, however, and it may be expected that they will very soon take a sudden fall.

☞ THERE is to be a Camp Meeting at Concord, Caroline county, to commence on the 10th inst.

From the Lawrence (Kansas) Journal, June 24.

The Wheat Crop of the West.

Having just returned from Washington, passing through the States of Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, we can speak with some confidence as to the prospects of the coming harvest. The wheat crop will be simply immense. There was a much larger breadth of surface sown last fall in the States above named than usual, and it never promised such an abundant harvest. In Missouri a very considerable proportion is already in the shock. From Washington to Lawrence there is almost one continuous wheat field along the lines of the Pennsylvania Central, Pan Handle, Little Miami, Ohio and Mississippi and Missouri Pacific Roads. In portions of Ohio the wheat has been injured to some extent by rust, but no considerable damage has been reported. The wheat product of the Western and Central States will, this harvest, amount to fully one third more than any previous year. The prospects for cheap breadstuffs were never more flattering than at the present writing.

ADVENTURES OF A BALTIMORE BOY.—The Omaha Republican reports the arrival in that city, one day last week, of "Stub," a boy of 14 years, who has been wandering over the United States since 1864. His name is John Edwards, and he formerly lived in Baltimore, but ran away from home when nine years old on account of ill-treatment. The Republican says of him:—"He has "wacked bulls" in Wyoming, 'skinned mules' in Colorado, panned gold dust in Montana, carried water in Utah, been captured by Indians in New Mexico, ranched with greasers in Arizona, slept with Chinamen in California, and like the immortal J. N., has been dead-headed over different railroads, East, West North and South."

A SCENE IN COURT.—The Pollard-Moore Case.—It will be remembered that on the 26th of January, 1868, Mrs. Martha N. Pollard, wife of E. A. Pollard, was arrested in the city on the charge of shooting with intent to kill Dr. Geo. A. Moore, a fashionable down town business man of Baltimore and Hay streets. After vacillating at jail for some days, she was discharged on her own recognizance to appear when wanted. In the meantime the grand jury found an indictment against the lady for common assault. The case had been postponed from term to term, and the community seemed to have lost sight of it entirely, but it having been set for trial yesterday, Mrs. Pollard, who, has been sojourning in Washington, was notified of the fact, and on the opening of the Criminal Court yesterday morning, she made her appearance, accompanied by a male friend.

The lady was neatly habited in a thin dress of dark material, cut very low at the neck, so as to exhibit to the best advantage an unusually well developed bust, but her face was so thickly veiled that very few knew her in the densely crowded court-room, even after she had taken a seat in the witness box, although many curious eyes were turned towards the spot in which she sat. When, however, the case of Moore vs. Pollard was called, Mrs. Pollard accompanied by John Willis, Esq., left the witness box and took a seat among the lawyers, and she at once became the great object of attention, as much on account of the previous notoriety of her case as for the present style of dress assumed by her on this occasion. As the lady was without counsel, Mr. Willis so informed the court, and Judge Gilmor directed him to conduct the defence.

The case was put upon trial before the court, a jury being waived. Dr. Geo. A. Moore and his two assistants then gave their evidence.—The physicians who attended Dr. Moore followed and testified as to the extent of the wound inflicted by the pistol ball, which passed through Dr. Moore's wrist, doing injury to the muscles that will last through life.

Mr. Willis cross-questioned the witnesses, and then, by permission of the court, took the stand and detailed his former professional connection with Mrs. Pollard, giving it as his deliberate judgment that at the time of the commission of the alleged assault the accused was not of sound mind.

The counsel for the prisoner the asked Judge Gilmor if he would listen to the statement from the accused, which request the judge said he would grant only provided Mr. Knott, the State's attorney, and Mr. Milton Whitney, counsel for Dr. Moore, did not object. These gentlemen having signified their willingness, Mrs. Pollard was led to the witness stand by Mr. Willis, and after removing the thick green veil that developed her face, she proceeded to detail to the court the history of the wrongs she claimed to have received at the hands of E. A. Pollard, led on and encouraged, as she alleged, by Dr. Moore. She concluded a rather lengthy story by stating that inch by inch she had been deprived by these men of all she possessed except her honor, and that could only be taken with her life. She also stated that she bore no relationship whatever to Mr. Pollard, his treatment of her having been of such a character as to compel her to apply for a divorce, which was now pending. She did not deny the assault charged, but claimed that Dr. Moore had denied having had any knowledge of the whereabouts of Pollard, that he had told her he had not seen him for months, although she had seen him enter and depart from Moore's house only the night previous, and his constant interference between her husband and herself had driven her to frenzy. Judge Gilmor then reviewed the case, and finally concluded by declaring the witness guilty of common assault as charged in the indictment, and sentenced her to be confined in jail for thirty days.

Upon this announcement a scene followed not often witnessed in a court of justice. Mrs. Pollard rose with outstretched hands, and in a frenzied manner cried out, "Oh! Judge, do not send me to prison;" she then fell on her knees and again appealed to the Judge, saying, "For the sake of my more than orphaned children do not deprive them of the protection of a mother."—She then sank with her head on the knees of Mr. Willis, her counsel, uttering hysterical sobs, until Messrs. Irvin and Carter, deputy wardens of the jail, appeared, and as delicately as possible removed her to the office of the clerk of the court. Judge Gilmor was evidently much moved, but preserved his equanimity and the business of the court proceeded. In the meantime Mrs. Pollard went on with her excited outcries in the clerk's office, and succeeded in attracting a considerable crowd. When the court adjourned, deputy Warden Irvin removed the prisoner, amid her continued excitement, to a hack standing on Lexington street, and, accompanied by the gentleman who came with her from Washington, she was conveyed to jail, where she now remains.—Baltimore Sun of Tuesday.

What is the Natural Food for Man?

When God created man, he gave him for meat "every herb bearing seed which is upon the face of the earth, and every tree in which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed;" and when, afterwards, he blessed Noah for his faithfulness, he gave him, in addition to his bill of fare, "every beast of the earth and every fowl of the air," and all the "fishes of the sea," and told him that "every moving thing that liveth shall be meat for him, even as the green herb."

This would enable him to fulfill his destiny, and have dominion over all other creatures, and to live with the polar bear almost at the north pole, or with the monkey at the equator, having in each of these extremes of temperature food adapted to his wants. Wherever he chooses to live, in a cold, or hot, or temperate climate, he finds prepared at his hand the kind of food best adapted to his wants, and has a relish for just the article best fitted to supply his wants. If he lives in Greenland, he desires and has the heat-producing fat of whales and seals, the very thought of which would disgust him in Africa; and if in Africa, he desires and has the cooling fruits and vegetables which would freeze him to death in Greenland; and in the climate where cold and heat alternate, he has all the variety best adapted to his changing circumstances.

Revolt at Sing Sing.

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 30.—A serious revolt occurred at Sing Sing Prison about nine o'clock this morning. Seven convicts boarded the sloop Martha and Elizabeth, which was lying at the dock, and, driving the crew ashore, cut the lines and shoved the vessel off. An alarm was instantly given, but the vessel had got off some distance and the convicts were hoisting sail.

A shower of bullets was sent after them, when a convict named Drake, fell to the deck badly wounded in the breast. The rest of them surrendered to the guards, when the gates came down with a rush. A small battle ensued with officers then put off to the vessel, and all the convicts were captured. Drake was taken to the hospital and been probably died. The res. were placed in irons.

A DUEL NEAR BALTIMORE.—An affair of honor occurred yesterday, about 7½ o'clock P. M., on the York road, between two young men, and formerly officers in the Confederate army, backed by seconds—all the parties being young unmarried men of Baltimore. The meeting was conducted according to the latest requirements of the "code," and came from a dispute about the behavior of certain Confederate troops during the war, one party asserting that the troops in question behaved badly, and the be pacted between them. The weapons used were Derringer pistols, distance ten paces. Two shots were exchanged, and on the second fire, both parties were grazed, but neither wounded. Both principals desired another shot, but the seconds interfered and prevented it, and so the matter ended.—Baltimore Sun of Thursday.

THE STORM OF MONDAY.—Newark suffered as much as any other place in New Jersey.—Railroad avenue, and Kearny, Washington, and the vicinity of Sussex streets were, in less than ten minutes, afloat, and in Washington street several business stores were flooded. In Elizabeth, N. J., the storm was the severest known there for years. The bridge being erected over the creek at Grand street was swept away by the torrent, and some other damage done. The New-York Tribune says:

A schooner, name not ascertained, sailing down the East river, Sunday afternoon, when near College Point, was struck by lightning and almost immediately sunk with all her sails set.—The lightning appeared to have torn off her side planking near the water line. She had four men on board; two were rescued by a steam tug. The other men are supposed to have been carried down with the vessel.

The schooner John Wright, while sailing in the Sound off the Suffolk county shore, was sunk by a squall. The mate was drowned. The rest of the crew were rescued by the steamboat N. J. Thompson.

COMMERCIAL PAPER DUE ON THE FOURTH OF JULY.—A question has been raised as to when bank-notes made payable on the 4th of July are to be collected. The Bankers' Manual lays down the following rules in reply to questions on that point:

"Commercial paper having days of grace and falling due on Sunday, July 4, 1869, will be payable on Tuesday, the 6th of July.

"Commercial paper without days of grace, due Sunday, July 4th, 1869, will be payable on Tuesday, July 6th.

"Commercial paper having days of grace, and falling due on Monday, July 5, 1869, will be payable on Saturday, the 3d of July.

"Commercial paper without days of grace, falling due on Monday, July 5, 1869, will be payable on Tuesday, the 6th of July."

BARS TO BE CLOSED ON ELECTION DAY IN VIRGINIA.—The following extract from the general order issued by Gen. Canby is published in the Virginia papers:

"All bar-rooms, saloons, and other places for the sale of intoxicating liquors will be closed from six o'clock of the evening of July 5th until six o'clock of the morning of July 7th, and during that time the sale of all intoxicating liquors at or near any polling place is prohibited. The police officers of the cities and towns, and the sheriffs and other peace officers of the counties will be held responsible for the strict enforcement of this prohibition, and will promptly arrest and hold for trial all persons who may transgress it."

A WOMAN FALLS IN A WELL—Horrible Death.—A most distressing and horrible accident happened at the residance of Mr. Jesse H. Simpers, near Union Meeting House, Cecil county, on last Saturday morning. Miss Susan McDowell went to the well to draw a bucket of water, and while engaged in drawing the same fell into the well, and in the fall her head struck the stones, lacerating the scalp for three inches in a most shocking manner. Mrs. Simpers hearing an unusual noise at the well ran out and on finding her in the well, endeavored to encourage her to hold on to the chain, which she did for some time, Mrs. Simpers meanwhile trying to raise her by the windlass, but being in very feeble health, soon became exhausted; and before the men could get to the house, attracted by the cries for help, life was extinct. Deceased had lived in the family for more than thirteen years.

MARYLAND STEAMBOAT COMPANY.—By request we publish the following notice: To prevent loss or confusion, and to protect all interested, no buckets, boxes, barrels or packages of berries, peaches or other fruits, will be received for transportation on boats of this line, unless plainly marked with the name of the owner or consignee. Owners and consignees of freight shipped by boats of this line, are also notified that the company will not permit the delivery of any freight until it has been landed on the wharf, and examined by the freight agent or his assistant. All persons plundering fruit-boxes, &c., on the boats or wharves of this company, will be prosecuted and punished as provided by law. —Cambridge Herald.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Brandreth's Pills

They remove all bad accumulations from the bowels, and purify and invigorate the system. All Whose health is not perfect owe it to themselves to take a few doses of Brandreth's Pills, be cause the seeds of decay are constantly eradicated by their use, and the principle of life confirmed, thus giving a vigor of the body and mind to a period when we have been used to see the faltering step and the enfeebled intellect.

General Paez, the distinguished liberator of Venezuela, says he has used them as his only medicine for thirty years, with the most satisfactory results.

For Costiveness, Dyspepsia, and as a family medicine they are unrivalled.

Daniel L Tenney, Esq., Astor House, New York, cured by Brandreth's Pills of Dyspepsia and Costiveness, when all other means used had failed.

A gentleman, whose father died of consumption at 36 years, was also attcked, when about 21, by the disease. He had cough, tight sweats, and general debility. Doctors recommended cod liver oil, but he wasted away. At last he determined to use Brandreth's Pills. In two months they made him a sound man. july 3-1m

MR. JACOB SCHEETZ—Sir: I suffered for over two years from Dyspepsia, with a sense of suffocation and severe pain after eating, and although I tried various remedies, and took medical advice, yet I found no relief until I tried your "Celebrated Bitter Cordial," which acted like magic upon my system, and before I had used one Bottle, I found myself entirely cured, and have not had any return of the complaint since. I can therefore recommend it as an invaluable remedy to those afflicted in the same way.
