CITY INTELLIGENCE.

PARTING OF THE POLICE.—Yesterday evening, in the First Branch of the City Council, quite an animated and interesting discussion took place on the resolution requesting the Legislature to pass a bill authorizing the City Register to pay the police out of the fund in his hands to the credit of the Police Commissioners. Mr. Dukehart fed off in an able speech in opposition to the passage of the resolution. He reviewed the manner in which the Metropolitan bill passed—the struggle in the courts testing its constitutionality, and its final sanction by the highest tribunal of the State. He said that law was still on the statute books, and until it was repealed all action which looked to the paying of any police force by the city was folly. He then reviewed the course pursued by the present Legislature, as illustrative of a want of disposition on the part of that body. A committee of the members of the Council had visited Annapolis during the special session, and in consultation with the Baltimore delegation were assured that it was only necessary for the members of the committee to indicate the character of the bill which they desired to have passed, and it would be immediately enacted. The committee returned to this city with the intention of preparing a bill, and were at work on it when they were astounded by the announcement that a bill had been introduced in the House of Delegates, in complete variance with the views of the Union members of the City Council. The committee, which was the exponent of the views of the members, desired the enactment of a law creating two Police Commissioners, and leaving their appointment to the two Branches of the City Council in convention assembled. The bill created four Commissioners and named them. There was a disposition manifested by the members of the Legislature to deprive the citizens of Baltimore of the right to appoint the Commissioners. They had the city in their iron grasp, and intended to hold her there. There was every indication, also, that the Legislature would not repeal the Metropolitan police bill until it passed another; and until the bill is repealed, no money could be paid the police. He had read from the bill creating the Metropolitan force the section which makes it unlawful for the city authorities or any power or officer, either to levy taxes or pay monies for the support of a police force other than the force created under the bill itself. Until that clause was repealed, it would be unlawful to appropriate money for such a purpose. He had no confidence that the Legislature would act speedily, and it was perfectly useless to pass the resolution with the expectation that it would be an incentive for prompt action on the part of the Legislature. He sympathized, as sincerely as any person could, with the present force, but could not think of calling upon the entire community to assume a burden which he conscientiously believed was against the law. He continued his argument for some minutes, and was earnest in his opposition to the passage of the resolution.

Mr. Evans followed in support of the resolution. He considered that the substitute offered by Mr. Dukehart was an evasion of the issue raised by the original resolution. He would willingly vote for it if it was put to the Branch on its own merits. But he protested against it being clapped on his proposition as a rider. He was opposed to that system of legislation, notwithstanding a gentleman who formerly occupied his seat was noted for his devotion to that particular mode. He desired that everything introduced into the Branch should stand or fall upon its own worth. The present police force had to be paid, and the Marshal had informed him that he had no expectation of getting means from the National Government to pay them. Some recourse must be had, and it was the duty of the loyal element in this community to support the organization. In answer to the remark of Mr. Dukehart, that there was no power to create a police force, he contended that the power was granted in the Constitution of the State, and in sustaining his position quoted that clause which gives the city authority to create a special police force. He continued for some time to enforce his opinion in a strain of argument similar to that which he made when he introduced the resolution into the Branch.

Mr. Sauerwein took the ground that as the force was not under the control of the city government, but that of the General Government, it was the duty of the latter to pay them. He was willing and anxious to have a police force under the control of the city, and when such existed he would be willing to vote the means for its sustenance.—He said that the present force was a military organization, and its head was bound to obey military orders. Whether the laws of Maryland had been violated by the force he would not say. Arrests had been made and acts done at the command of military power, and if the laws of Maryland had suffered and been violated, he could not vote money to sustain those who had been the instruments in the hands of others. He had taken an obligation to support the laws of this State, and he intended to keep that obligation. The National Government created the force—it still controls it—and maybe will continue to control it. The Government organized the force with and for the same object for which it has concentrated 10,000 soldiers around the city—for its own protection. The Emperor of Russia might have placed a force here for the same object, but it would scarcely be plausible to call on the city for the payment of them. The National Government might as well ask the city to pay the troops encamped around us. He had confidence that the people of Baltimore could control their own affairs. He was tired of this waiting and looking for help, he wanted to see manly action. Mr. Streeter made a few pertinent and strong remarks in opposition to the resolution, while Messrs. Kirkwood and Barron spoke in favor of it. A motion to lay it on the table prevailed.

AN INTERESTING CASE FOR COURT.—It may not be generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact, that the passage of a law by the Legislature of Maryland, prohibiting the vending of lottery policies, has not had the effect of diminishing the sum total of this pernicious traffic in this city. On the contrary, it is conducted with greater zeal, and with even more disastrous results to the miserable wretches who spend their "all" in search of the fickle dame, Fortune, who seldom smiles upon the visitors to a lottery shop, even when the operation is countenanced by the law. Of the manner in which this business has always been conducted, as well as of the class of persons who are its supporters, it is unnecessary to speak here, for the tale has been so often told that it is as familiar as "household words." But to the case in point:—One day last week a Mrs. Reip, living at the corner of Eastern avenue and Bond street, was arrested, in company with two other persons, whose names could not be ascertained, upon the charge of vending lottery policies, in violation of the Act of Assembly. They were taken before Justice Davis, who heard the evidence in the case and then held the parties to bail to appear at a further examination. A man named Johnson and one John Slater were subsequently arrested by officers Boulden and Fleming, upon the charge of being "backers for a lottery policy book," and taken before the same Justice. The same disposition was made of their case as of the first-mentioned. Before the "further examination" came off an effort was made to quash the matter and prevent its being sent to Court; but the effort was unsuccessful and the case will come up before Judge Bond, when, it is thought, some interesting revelations will be made. It is proper to add that it was the desire of the parties concerned that the matter should at least be "kept quiet," in other words that those ubiquitous creatures—newspaper reporters—should not "get wind" of it; but alas for the frailty of all earthly hopes! the public must have the facts in relation to current domestic events, and it is the business of a reporter to get them "by hook or by crook."

ROBBERY AND ACCIDENT.—On Monday afternoon a man named Woods, who lives near Cockeysville, Baltimore county, came to the city, and after transacting some business, entered a drinking house in Old Town, where he took various drinks and made several acquaintances, whom he deemed good fellows, and was liberal in spending money for whiskey, lager and other palatable liquids, and the consequence was that by evening he was drunk. His new friends then relieved him of eighteen dollars in money, placed him in his buggy and started him on his way home. When within half a mile of the first toll-gate, he fell from his buggy, and the horse proceeded. On reaching the toll gate the animal was stopped, and a man started towards the city in search of the owner, whom he discovered lying on the road unable to get up from injuries sustained in the fall. He was taken to a house near by where he received medical attention.

CHESAPEAKE CHEWING-TOBACCO.—Sutro, the noted caterer in the tobacco line, No. 123 Baltimore street, has sent us a sample of what is called "Chesapeake" fine-cut, which for purity and taste is unexcelled by any article in the market, and most deservedly become very popular with the lovers of the weed. It is manufactured in our city by Messrs. G. W. Gail & Ax, which is another recommendation to the public for its use. Heretofore the dealers of this city depended almost entirely upon Northern cities for their supply of this particular style of chewing-tobacco, and its successful manufacture here is a matter of congratulation. Let those who use the article call and procure it of Sutro.

FROM FORT WARREN.—The following named gentlemen, formerly of the United States Navy, and who were arrested and sent to Fort Warren in consequence of their resigning their commissions, arrived in this city yesterday and stopped at Barnum's Hotel. They have been released from prison to be exchanged as prisoners of war, and will proceed to Old Point this afternoon en route for Norfolk:—Lieutenant D. A. Forrest, Virginia; Midshipman H. B. Claiborne, Louisiana; Midshipman E. A. Ruggles, Virginia. Midshipman A. B. Wharton, of Tennessee, is stopping at a private house. Lieutenant W. H. Ward, of Virginia, was released at the same time, and is expected to reach this city in a few days.

DEATH OF A CENTENARIAN.—Catharine Alvin, a widow, living at the corner of West and Charles streets, died yesterday morning at the age of one hundred and sixteen years. She lived to see five generations of her descendants. Her youngest daughter, aged seventy-eight years, is still living.

Amusements.

HOLLIDAY STREET THEATRE.—The new Irish drama of The Groves of Blarney, or the Peep-of-Day Boys and the nautical drama of Paul Jones will constitute the highly attractive programme announced for this evening—Mr. Eddy, whose popularity nightly increases, appearing as Connor O'Gorman and Long Tom Coffin. Mrs. Phillips, Mr. Tilton, and all the favorites of the company will appear, and the beautiful Olivia will diversify the entertainment with some of her most pleasing dances.

FRONT STREET THEATRE.—The pet of our public the charming comedienne Miss Maggie Mitchell, commences a short engagement at the Front Street Theatre this evening, in two of her favorite characters. All the plays in which Miss M. will appear are peculiar—no two of them being alike in plot or situation, and all of them well calculated to display to advantage the histrionic genius and versatile talent of the gentle actress. Seats for Miss Mitchell's nights may be secured at the box office three days in advance. During her engagement Miss Mitchell will appear in her new and charming play of Fanchon and the Cricket, a dramatization of George Sand's popular and refined romance of "La Petite Fadette," which has been viewed with delight wherever it has been performed.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.—The entertainment to be given by the Caroline street Methodist Church tonight this evening will doubtless attract a crowd to that church. The best talent of this city have kindly offered their services, and the proceeds are to be appropriated to charitable purposes, they will doubtless be liberally patronized by the lovers of good music.

CIRCUIT COURT FOR ANNE ARUNDEL COUNTY—JUDGE BREWER.

ANNAPOLIS, January 21.

The case of the State vs. Joseph Brayle, indicted for rioting in the city of Baltimore on the 19th of April last, upon the occasion of the passage of Massachusetts troops to the defence of the National Capital. In this case the evidence in regard to the origin and perpetration of the riot, and murder of both citizens of Maryland and soldiers from Massachusetts, was given to the jury in substance, as elicited in the fourteen cases heretofore tried in this and Baltimore County Court, where those riot cases had been removed from Baltimore city for trial. The identity of the accused, as a participator, was testified to by James A. Pearce, who saw him throw stones at the cars which conveyed the troops from President street depot to that of Camden station, while others testified to the presence of the accused, but that he did nothing. The case was argued at length before a jury, who had failed to agree upon a verdict up to the adjournment. Mr. Hagner for the defence.

The several cases pending in this Court, as removed from Baltimore city some eighteen months since, charging John Hinesley with kidnapping and selling certain negroes out of the State, contrary to the judgment of the Criminal Court for Baltimore, in which the negroes were convicted of larceny and ordered to be sold as slaves, to serve within the State for a certain period of time, was further postponed until the April term. The continuance was ordered by the Court upon the statement of the State's Attorney that an important witness for the State was at present ill and necessarily absent.

The case of the State vs. John Welsh and Charles Stevenson, charged with an assault with intent to outrage the person of Leno Foreman, all of Baltimore, was called for trial, and up to the adjournment the Sheriff had procured the sufficient number of talesmen, and a jury was selected to try the cause.

OTHER MATTERS.

Last night two cavalry men, belonging to one of the three regiments encamped near this city, met at the post-office, and a quarrel ensued which resulted in a severe sabre combat. One of them had his right eye pierced out, while the other received a frightful cut on the right side of his neck. They are now both in the hospital undergoing treatment for their wounds. After their recovery, should it transpire, they will be dealt with according to the penalties prescribed by army regulations.

The county roads, owing to the recent wet weather, are in a horrible condition, and the streets of Annapolis are almost impassable.

THE MORALS OF THE METROPOLIS.

From the special Washington despatches to the New York Herald we extract the following:

NEW YORK INVOLVED IN A COWHIDING AFFAIR.

On Saturday last Mr. Wm. H. Brandes, late captain's clerk in the United States Navy, met a man named Avery, a New York lawyer, in Weldon & Campbell's store, on Pennsylvania avenue, and approaching, asked Avery if he knew him. Avery replied—No, and extended his hand to Mr. Brandes, which the latter declined to take. Mr. B. then stated to Avery that he insulted his (Brandes') wife in December, 1860, when the latter was confined to his bed and too ill to resent the insult—Avery denied that he was the man. Mr. Brandes told Avery that he was a liar, and, opening his coat, took out a cowhide and gave Avery a severe lashing. Avery, it is said, attempted to feel for his pistol, but did not use it. A bystander seized Mr. Brandes, when the latter said, "Let me alone; this fellow insulted my wife; he is armed, and so am I." Thereupon Mr. B. was released, and several of the crowd cried out, "Kill him." Avery succeeded, however, in getting away, and ran towards Willard's Hotel. Mr. B. justifies himself for administering this punishment at this late day, from the fact that he was dangerously ill at the time the insult was offered to his wife, since which he has not seen Avery until Saturday.

A SERIOUS DOMESTIC DIFFICULTY.

Yesterday, an affair of crime occurred at the corner of Thirteenth and F streets, which occasioned considerable excitement. The wife of a Massachusetts officer, boarding in the neighborhood, had discovered an amatory correspondence between her husband and a married lady residing at the scene of the denouement, and yesterday watched him entering the house, into which she followed, but was ejected by her husband and the lady of the house. In her rage she assailed the house, completely smashing the windows with bricks and paving stones, and finally used a ladder which she found convenient as a battering-ram to beat in the door. Upon being remonstrated with by the bystanders, she exclaimed, "I am a Massachusetts woman, and will not submit to have my husband taken from me by a Louisiana prostitute." She was arrested, but immediately released, as no one appeared to make any charge against her. During the transaction, the husband of the lady occupant of the premises came home, but could not gain admission to his house.

The Terre Haute and Alton Railroad is advertised to be sold under foreclosure on the 5th of March, agreeably with the provisions of the reorganization plan of the company.

The Vicksburg Sun of the 3d instant announces that its suspension temporarily has become necessary, until such time as a supply of paper can be obtained.

The whole amount received from all sources at Charleston for the relief of the sufferers by the fire, we learn from late Southern papers, is $152,000.

The Abolition presses seem to be very much annoyed at the supposed influence that the Kentucky Union men have, apparently, over the President. They declare, "Kentucky rules the hour."

The whaling fleet of New London, Conn., has been reduced from thirty-seven vessels to twenty vessels.

The Canadian steamer Hibernia, from Liverpool on the 2d, via Londonderry on the 3d instant, has arrived at St. Johns, N. F., with troops.

TREGO'S

CEREAL AND PLANT FOOD

AND

RUST PREVENTIVE,

TESTED AND APPROVED BY

DAVID STEWART, M. D.

CHEMIST

MARYLAND STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

SOLD BY

P. MALCOM & CO., General Agents,

BALTIMORE.

This Compound contains all the SEVEN ELEMENTS that go to make CEREAL and PLANT FOOD. It hastens, by ten to twenty days, the maturity of the Plant and Grain, and peculiarly adapted to those regions where early and vigorous start to bring them to perfection. For use on cold (especially on low corn grounds) where the soil plant food has been rapidly removed by the previous crop, it SECURES THE WHEAT FROM RUST and insures a good yield of the best quality of Grain.

We subjoin the following results of the use of the "Plant Food":

MOUNT FANN, Md., Sept. 7, 1861.

Messrs. Trego & Son, Baltimore.—The "PLANT FOOD" spread this season both here and at the experimental farm in Howard county, answered most admirably, and I think, trebled the yield of the wheat, as compared by product of both grain and straw. There was no rust, and the crop stands up so straight and firm, that it will need no cradling. No green spots, the shadow of the grain, giving the appearance of rather the number of plants from the same number of seed; the earlier opening or maturity of the crop where the "PLANT FOOD" was applied; the toughness and height of the plant and the straw all lead to the same story, viz: that the Plants thus had room, of which they made full use. Where was deficient. No other reason could possibly be assigned, as the crop was well manured and harrowed in before this manure was spread as a top dressing.

Yours respectfully, DAVID STEWART,

Professor of Agricultural Chemistry.

NORTH EAST, Md., Sept. 4, 1861.

Messrs. Wm. Trego & Son, Baltimore:

I applied the "PLANT FOOD" at the rate of one to two hundred lbs per acre on Oats ground last spring, and the crop was very good, fully up to my expectations. I also applied it to Corn in the hill, putting in a very small quantity in each hill, the corn started and has kept far ahead of that in the rest of it, which was manured with ashes in the hill.

From the little experience I have had with it, I think it preferable to any other fertilizer I have used, and shall so recommend it.

Yours respectfully, ALEXANDER THOMAS.

The "PLANT FOOD" is put up in substantial bags of 125 lbs each. mh1-tf
