I am requested by a fair Lady, who promises herself the most agreeable Interruption of her Slumbers, by the Errantry of these very facetious and sprightly Knights of the Moon, to propose that they be signified by the Title of the Drum-Club, which will well and properly describe their Character, in Opposition to the Spectators from Drum-Club, and, if it be not too presuming, I would suggest the following Inscription from Lucertius.

TYMPANA TENTANTONENT, palmis et cymbala circum
Cencava, raucifonogae mingerat cornua cantu, Et Phrygia sinuata numero corda libidinis.

who was himself a bon vivant, and President of an Epicurean Club, to be flourished in Letters of Gold on the Canopy of the Chair, with the typical Wrecks of Punch-bowls, Bottles, Glasses, Tobacco-pipes, Dice-boxes, and discoloured Cards, strewed around it in artificial Confusion. And it might be a very strong additional Incentive, for every Member to be obliged to take his Seat at the Table, with his Father's Picture, or, for Want of a Father, that of his nearest Relation who has his Prosperity tenderly at Heart, hanging at his Back, and buckling into Tears of Joy, at the happy Moment which his Ambition to vanquish in the Contests incidental to this Midnight Scene would afford.

I shall conclude with recommending to the particular Consideration of this unfledged Brotherhood, at the Request of the same fair Lady, the Fourth Rule of the Two-penny Club.

PHILOMOUNOUS.
P. S. The Gentleman who is in Possession of the Whipping Negre, would contribute very highly to the Entertainment of the Town, by permitting that wonderful Bar-piercing Musician to fill up the imperfect Choir of the above Drum-stick Club, as they have already come to a Resolution to purchase a portable grinding Organ, it being impossible to make use of the Church Organ, but in the Place where it stands, to which their only Objection is, that it would not answer ALL their Purposes.
