I was from the subscriber on the 11th inst., near Lyon's creek, Calvert county, a sera Mary Pais, who has with her a young child, supposed to have gone to some part of Hervey or the river side, as he professes some knowledge in can cart and plow. The said Francey is well and shouldered, about five feet two inches high, between a sandy and lightish brown, gray eyes, aged, and remarkable for squaring in his head on when he went away a light colored ers and buckles, and a felt hat. He

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan 1.

THE treasures of the famous Ali Bey are brought here from Egypt, and deposited in the castle of the seven towers. They are valued at three millions of piastres. The grand signor has likewise acquired a considerable treasure by the death of Moldavangi Panaha, formerly grand visir, who, since his deposition, was encamped in the environs of the Dardanelles, and died Kodosto of a fit of apoplexy.

A Tartar who arrived here the 18th ult. b advised that a Russian detachment, posted in of the Danube, near Silistria, had been destroyed by our troops, after sustaining considerable loss, leaving four pieces of cannon behind them, and that all our posts in as well as those at Bazardjik plied with troops, amounting army of the grand visir in borough of Siocnula.

gow have subscribed 1000, for the support of the negro.
Feb. 26. This morning the right hon. the lord mayor received a letter from John Roberts, Esq. intimating that he should give his lordship no further trouble with respect to the late election for a member for the city of London.

Mr. Alderman Harley presented a petition from the bookellers of London, &c. setting forth that many of them shall be ruined by the late decision in the house of lords; unless some relief was given them.
Mr. Sawbridge seconded the motion, saying, by a decision in the year 1769, in favour of copy right, many of the bookellers had laid out their whole fortunes in that article, which right had been taken from them by the determination of the upper house, and if some redress was not given them, many families would be totally ruined.

We hear from good authority that an express arrived last night with an account of the death of the king of France. The above monarch was 63 years old, he reigned to the throne in the year 1715; in the fifth year of his age. The confirmation of the above intelligence is hourly expected; and it is generally thought the death of this great personage will considerably affect the pacific system of Europe.

QUEEN'S PALACE, St. James's Park, Feb. 28. Yesterday her majesty was delivered of a prince, at six o'clock in the evening.

Feb. 1. Yesterday, in the house of commons, Mr.
Piercy general moved for leave to present a petition of major-general Simon Frazer, praying that he might be restored to the several estates and inheritances left by his late father Simon lord Lovat; in paying reasonable crown rent. Lord North recommended it to the house, so far as his majesty's interest is concerned in it. The motion was seconded by Mr. T. Townshend, and spoke to by Sir William Meredith, who alluded greatly on the merits and deserts of the petitioner. A bill was ordered to be brought in by Mr.
Piercy general, in pursuance of the prayer of the said

Bedford party now run the ministry so hard at work, that lord North is obliged to call in the gham jockeys as a buttress to his tottering politics. In consequence of that, Mr. Cornwall is Mr. Fox's place in the treasury, and Sir W.
Mr. D'Jou.

It is expected that lord North will yield to the power of the Bedfords.
should happen, lord Sandwich must strike the flag, which will be rehoisted by the duke of Yesterday arrived a mail from New York, by the Harriot packet-boat, Capt. Lee, in 20 days.

Orders of foot are ordered to be in readiness to embark for Ireland, on a short notice, in order to assist the army who are going to America.
At a quarter past two the order of the house of commons, when lord Camden rose learnedly for near two hours against respondents, and in defence of the statute, which he said took away any right for an author's exclusively multiplying his right existed. The lord chancellor quarrelled of an hour to the same effect.
Lyttleton rose next, and made a short speech in favour of literary property of Carlisle and lord Emsingham said it, and the question being put by Mr. Fox, whether it was their lordships' pleasure should be reversed, it was carried without a vote.

judges of the court of chancery, on the cause of literary property. For the cause of authors, the justices Nares, Willes and Aston, and lord chief justice. Against the common law right Question of the important question referred to the public sale, and which was of property, is now reduced to nothing.

London and Westminster, many of the houses and houses to purchase copyright, and those who after thought they had acquired a compensation for their families, now find themselves obliged to devise to their successors.
