BISHOP WHITTINGHAM'S PRAYER---CHRIST CHURCH IN GEORGETOWN.

Editors Maryland News Sheet:

Permit me to use the columns of your valuable paper for the following statement, for, in these times of great political and ecclesiastical excitement, when ex-parte statements of information, gathered from the many social detectives now in our midst, are given forth to the world, with the real purpose of inviting the aid of the Government to suppress whatever may not accord with the opinions of the rabid and interested ultraists of the day, it does not behove us to permit, in all cases, such statements to remain uncorrected.

A Washington city journal, the usual channel of all such statements, in yesterday's issue devotes a space to the description of "a scene" enacted in Christ Church, Georgetown, last Sabbath, on the occasion of the reading of the prayer of, thanksgiving for recent victories, and with a singular and rather suggestive exclusion, omits all descriptions of similar "scenes" known to have been enacted in other churches; as if the writer, in the kindness of his heart, wished to screen them from the effects of such highly disloyal conduct, and subject the poor, unfortunate worshippers of Christ Church, who have so long been objects of political and more especially ecclesiastical suspicion, to all the punitive measures of an offended Bishop, and an insulted Government. Why could not the correspondent (for such we believe to have been the author of the article in question, although published under the "local") have made a statement in all respects truthful, and not have attributed to one church "scenes" transpiring in another? There was no "crashing through the pews and aisles to reach the outer doors," as stated; and no such terrible excitement as depicted in the usual penny-a-line style, but a determined, candid, and visible protest (free from all hypocrisy) against the use of prayers purely political, and calculated, in this section, more to injure the cause of religion and to break up all ecclesiastical organizations, than to be productive of good.

The Bishop of Maryland should know his prerogative better than we do, but if he can find in the Canon "authorizing forms of prayer or thanksgiving for extraordinary occasions" any warrant for his late action, he must interpret its meaning differently from others. The language of that part of the Canon, applicable to the case in point, is in substance as follows: "The Bishop of each Diocese may compose forms of prayer or thanksgiving, as the case may require, for extraordinary occasions, and transmit them to each clergyman within his Diocese, whose duty it shall be to use such forms in his church on such occasions." The statement has been made repeatedly, and not denied, that the prayer was sent only to the Parishes of the District of Columbia; and we consequently presume such to be a fact. Why should the remainder of the Diocese, all of "loyal" Maryland, be denied the great privilege of publicly returning thanks for victories so gratifying to their feelings? If the Bishop can, by the thought that any possible good would overtonate to his Diocese from its use, justify its issue to this portion of his charge, then we give him the benefit of that thought for his self-justification, for we have yet to hear one of his friends or enemies commend his conduct; and all conformity to his request in the premises, we have every reason to believe, was, with few exceptions, prompted by an obedience to and respect for the discipline and good of the Church.

We hope that he will not, "as some ungracious pastors do," descend from his high estate "to tread the primrose paths of dalliance" in the courts of foreign countries, for political purposes, and in so doing neglect his duty in guiding the objects of his pastoral care over "the steep and thorny way to heaven;" and we earnestly commend to his attention the remarks of President Bates, in his annual address to the ministers and delegates of the Maryland Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church lately in session at Chestertown—"But if we, as a Church, during our present session, and our labors during the coming year, act with prudence, i. e. confine ourselves exclusively to the work of advancing Christ's Kingdom, we will no doubt secure the approval of all honest men, of whatever class of opinion, and obtain such signal favor from God, as will give us a year of unprecedented prosperity." As to the statement of the causes which induced the Rev. Dr. Norwood, of Christ Church, to leave his parochial charge during the intense excitement of last summer, we do not deem them worthy of comment, except to remark that the "very positive assertions of some, who, by a system of espionage—social espionage—we cannot determine which—rendered his further sojourn among us to be at the risk of arrest and imprisonment.

GEORGETOWN, D. C., March 21st, 1862. X

THE COMMITTEE ON THE CONDUCT OF THE WAR.

We take the following from the Boston Daily Advertiser:

A good deal has been said by some of the press, as to the important services of the Committee of Congress on the Conduct of the War—we mean the committee that hunts for ex parte evidence against obnoxious officers, and that rushed out to Manassas Junction the other day, to the amusement of the country, to look for "Quaker guns," and obtain information as to the enemy's retreat. The committee are all very respectable gentlemen, we believe; but when they are referred to as competent judges of military movements and critics of a campaign, it seems to us quite sufficient in reply to print their names, which are as follows:—Wade, of Ohio, Chandler, of Michigan, and Johnson, of Tennessee, Senators; Gooch, of Massachusetts, Covode, of Pennsylvania, Julian, of Indiana, and Odell, of New York, Representatives.

Andrew Johnson, we believe, is no longer a member of the committee, and has never taken a very active part in it.

To which the Courier adds the following:

It is enough to say of all these men, except Mr. Johnson, that they are either outright abolitionists, or, what is next door to it, among the most radical of radical Republicans. Wade is the Tribune's special pet, whom it wanted to take command of the army, if it could have got McClellan removed; Chandler tried unsuccessfully, if we remember rightly, to get himself appointed to the "Peace Conference" a year ago, as the representative of the celebrated Fee-faw-fum, who was, in his day, so resolved to have blood; of Mr. Gooch we know less than of either of the others; but as to Covode, Julian and Odell, it is now said to be "quite sufficient to print their names." And yet they have managed, in concert with others, to effect a great deal of disturbance during the winter. Why should such men, avowedly such as they are, and so incompetent, have been made a "Committee on the Conduct of the War," and, clothed with such authority, have been permitted to exercise such important and dangerous powers? It is not enough, after all they have done and attempted to do, and the much injustice, we fear to meritorious individuals and to the public cause, to tell us it is quite sufficient to print their names. There is responsibility, or ought to be, somewhere, for all this.

COMPLIMENTARY TO BEAUREGARD.

Correspondence of the New York Times.

MANASSAS, March 18.—Beauregard seems to have been a great favorite with the Confederate soldiery. There are certain men around whom romance delights to wreathe itself, and of these is Beauregard. There is a music in his name. It is one upon which the lips of Southern maidens delight to mellifluously linger. His youth and his undoubted bravery bring the prestige of the hero around him. I am told, too, that he has that dash in his demeanor which people regard as stamping the soldier, while he also has the gentleness and unassuming modesty of address characteristic of the gentleman. Many anecdotes are told of his kindness to the men under his command, distributing comforts among them from his own private stores, and caring for the sick as though they were his brothers. "Joe Johnston," on the contrary, succeeded eminently in acquiring the hearty hatred and detestation of the whole army. Caricatures of him abound in the fly-leaves of books found by us in camp; his name, coupled with opprobrious epithets, is written over the walls of the huts. This sentence, "Gen. Joe Johnston is no gentleman, and incapable of appreciating the feelings of one," is written on the blank side of an army order, and signed by several members of an Alabama regiment. As to the feeling with which Gen. Gustavus W. Smith was regarded I can find no traces. But it is evident that he kept the huts and streets of Manassas in quite as disreputable a condition as he did the streets of New York.

THE WAR IN NEW MEXICO.—The lines of Jeff. Davis' rebellion extend over a vast region of territory. The westernmost of his bloody outposts is among the far-distant, wild mountains of New Mexico, on the upper waters of the Rio Grande.—Of the fierce battle that was fought there on the 21st ult., at the hamlet of Valverde, we have already given the particulars. The Confederates and savages undoubtedly repulsed our forces on that occasion; but it was after an exhibition of individual heroism which has given us one of the most glorious names of the war—that of the gallant North Carolinian soldier, Capt. Alexander McRae—a name worthy to take rank with the undying names of Lyon, Baker and Lander. Our troops, however, still continue to hold Fort Craig, which is situated on the opposite side of the river from Valverde.—The Confederates, after their success, pushed northward and seized the town of Albuquerque, and, at latest advices, were marching upon Santa Fe, the capital of New Mexico, and Fort Union, the strongest fort in the Territory. In the meantime, the regiment of Union volunteers which were raised last summer in Colorado Territory, have left their quarters near Denver, and marched southward to reinforce Fort Union, and give battle to the Texan Confederates. The march is a terrible one, through the mountainous, uninhabited savage deserts of Northern New Mexico; but the regiment is composed of men who know no such word as difficulty. News may be now looked for any day of a battle at Santa Fe or Fort Union, which will be decisive of the fate of New Mexico and Arizona.—New York Times, March 22.

STEAM RAMS AND IRON CLAD VESSELS BUILDING IN NEW YORK.—If the Confederate iron-clad vessels keep away from New York for another three weeks, we can bid them defiance ever after. The Government, the corporation and the merchants, are apparently running a race in furnishing defences for our harbor. The corporation appropriation of $500,000 will be passed early next week—four vessels similar to the Monitor are about being put on the stocks, and some of our largest and fleetest steamers are already in process of conversion into steam rams. The Vanderbilt is now on the dock, and the Ocean Queen about to be put on, to be changed into formidable war vessels. The steam sloop-of-war Adirondack is also to be clad in armor.

We may not give particulars, but our citizens may rest assured that before the month of May the metropolis will be out of all possible danger. It is not to be concealed that there is still in high quarters much apprehension of the Merrimac. If a correspondent of the Charleston Mercury is to be believed, she is taking on stores and ammunition for a long voyage. She may be waiting for a foggy night to run the blockade and put to sea. That this vessel has been thoroughly repaired is certain, and she lingers in Norfolk harbor for some reason known only to the Confederate leaders. Should she escape, the temptation to come to New York would be very great, and while there is a possibility of this occurrence there should be no slackening of our preparations to receive her.—N. Y. World.

A GODLESS STATE.—Kansas was founded upon the principles proclaimed by Beecher, that "one rifle was worth a dozen Bibles" in the scheme of colonization. The result is before the world. It has a murderer for a Senator, a swindler for Governor, robbers and thieves roam unpunished through its borders, and debt, taxation, and a rotten currency the only fruits of administration. Such passages as the following are to be found daily in the columns of its press:

"Governor Robinson has pocketed and killed some of the last measures of the Kansas Legislature; among them appropriations for a State prison; an act incorporating agricultural societies; an act to reduce fees; an act appointing a State Agent to receive moneys due the State from the Interior Department for the sale of State bonds."

The Leavenworth Conservative says:

"Is it not time for us to begin to echo the popular cry—the cry which proposes a speedy and hempen conclusion to the life of our scoundrel Governor?"—Albany Argus.

FISHER BROTHER & Co.,
FRENCH DYERS AND SCOURERS.
Office (old stand), No. 159 West Fayette street, between Park and Howard, and No. 25 Baltimore street, south side, three doors east of Gay.

We take the liberty to inform our customers and public generally, that we have combined with our FRENCH SCOURING & FANCY DYEING ESTABLISHMENT, and will be able to execute any work entrusted to our care, in the new branch of our business, to the entire satisfaction of our patrons.

To our old customers we tender our thanks for their patronage so liberally bestowed upon us for many years, and respectfully solicit a continuance of the same. For our new establishment we request a trial. Having fitted up the same with the latest French Dyeing apparatus at a considerable expense, we have obtained the services of a gentleman, whom we have given an interest in the business, who has had considerable experience in the largest and most celebrated dyeing establishments in France and in this country. Possessing a thorough chemical knowledge in the art of fancy dyeing, we are confident that we will be able to please all who may favor us with their custom.

N. B.—We ask the particular attention to the fact, that we are alone in possession of the French scouring process, which has given universal satisfaction.

By this process we are enabled to cleanse ladies, children and gentlemen's clothes of velvet, silk, wool or mixed goods, without taking the garment apart, and will effectually remove all grease spots without shrinking or emitting the slightest odor or injuring the garment in any manner.
