FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1862.

LETTER OF EX-PRESIDENT PIERCE TO SECRETARY SEWARD.

The following letter from Ex-President Pierce to Mr. Seward was left out of the correspondence which was called for by the Senate the other day. The letter explains itself. It is a manly rebuke of the curt official missive which demanded of Ex-President Pierce that he should clear his skirts of all suspicion of complicity with the alleged conspiracy, and drew from Mr. Seward an apology:

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 7, 1862.

Dear sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the reception of your letter of the 30th ult.

It could hardly have surprised you to learn that I failed to discover, in your official note, a desire to render me a service. You will excuse me if I regard even the suggestion, from a source so eminent, that I am "a member of a secret league, the object of which is to overthrow this Government," as rather too grave to have been sent off with as little consideration as a note of rebuke might have been addressed to a delinquent clerk of one of the Departments.

The writer of the anonymous letter, it seems, "was detected, and subsequently avowed the authorship," and yet I am not advised whether he disavows reference to me, or whether there was an attempt to inculpate me in the disclosure. These were the only facts connected with him, his treason, or his confession, at all material for me to know. I suppose I am left to infer the latter; because, although my name does not appear in the "extract," to which my attention was particularly called, you still state that an aspersion upon my "fair fame and loyalty" came into your hands.

I think you will, upon reflection, arrive at the conclusion that the whole ground upon which the allegation is repeated should, as a simple act of justice, have been placed before me.

It was not the manner of your official note, as you seem to suppose, nor any form of address which awakened on my part a deep sense of wrong. These, whatever they may have been, were not worthy of serious notice. The substance was what I intended, as courteously as I could, but very distinctly, to repel.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

FRANKLIN PIERCE.

Hon. W. H. Seward, Secretary of State, Washing, D. C.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION FOR THE STATE OF ILLINOIS.

That the reader may see how groundless are the objections raised to the result of the labors of the Illinois State Constitutional Convention which closed its session at Springfield this present week, we propose to set forth as briefly as possible a few of the prominent improvements made upon the present Constitution of that State. Having been an officer of that Convention, the writer hereof knows that the following provisions are embodied in the new instrument which will be submitted to the people of Illinois for their adoption or rejection on the 17th of June next. Members of the General Assembly have been in the habit of voting themselves perquisites in the shape of postage stamps, knives, pencils, newspapers, &c., to three times the amount of their salary; but this great abuse is entirely cut off by the new Constitution. Special legislation by the General Assembly in future is positively prohibited; and this one clause alone, it is estimated, will save more money to the State than all the necessary current expenses of the State Government from year to year.

The judiciary system has been remodeled in such a way that, while it will be more efficient than the present one, there will be an actual saving of about one-half the expenses to the people of the State.—The property of corporations is made to come under the same rules of law as private property; thus preventing these soulless bodies from defrauding the poor laborer out of his honest dues. Municipal corporations are prohibited from subscribing stock or loaning their credit to chartered companies. The new Constitution does away with the two-mill tax, which that people have had to pay for the past fourteen years. Provisions are made for securing to each family a homestead free from sale on process of law except for taxes or debts due for improvements thereon, and to secure more fully the rights of married women. Commissioners are already appointed to canvass the votes of the 60,000 Illinois soldiers in the field for or against the adoption of the new Constitution. It submits to a separate vote the provisions that the negro shall not come into or settle, vote or hold office in the State; that bank bills shall not be circulated in the State after the year 1866; and the districting of the State into fourteen Congressional districts, giving to each party seven members of Congress.—South Bend Forum.

FROM THE COAST OF GEORGIA.

CAPTURE OF THE SKIDDAWAY ISLAND BATTERIES.

The following extracts from a letter received in Philadelphia, give some interesting particulars of the capture of the Confederate batteries on Skiddaway Island:

UNITED STATES STEAMER SEMINOLE, WARSAW SOUND, Georgia, March 25, 1862.

To-day, at half-past twelve M., signal was made by the senior Captain (John P. Gillis, of the Seminole) for the squadron in Warsaw Inlet to get under way and follow the Seminole. We proceeded in line-of-battle up Wilmington river very slowly, not knowing the channel well, Captain Gillis being on board the Norwich, which drew the least water, until we arrived within a mile of the battery, when the Norwich fired a rifled shell in among a party of horsemen near it. The sound seemed to stagger them, for the horsemen curvetted about in confusion and fled.

Proceeding up a little further, the Norwich let the Confederates have another shell in an encampment that was near the battery, when the whole party fled, leaving the battery and the whole place deserted. Giving them several more doses right in the earthworks, we cleared them out entirely, and then manned the boats, went on shore and took formal possession. Captain Gillis planted the old flag upon the highest rampart himself, and Acting Master Steel ran up with a pocket guard of eight or ten men, and planted the old gridiron, the glorious Stars and Stripes, on the Confederate headquarters, amid salvos of musketry, at the same time carrying away the miserable worn-out secession dishcloth that was flying there.

They left behind them nothing worth having but their dinners, which were still cooking over a wood fire. Captain Gillis then ordered that the whole work should be destroyed, as we did not wish to hold it, having no soldiers with us. The batteries were then fired in the interior, and soon burst into a fine blaze, carrying everything before it. Skiddaway Fort is now among the things that were. The Confederate houses and private property, were humanely spared, but were afterwards destroyed by the Confederate soldiery.

REMOVAL OF AN OVARIAN TUMOR.—An important surgical operation was recently performed in Providence, by Dr. Walter Burnham, of Lowell. It was the removal of an ovarian tumor of four or five years standing. The patient was Mrs. Charles E. Willis, a lady twenty-six years of age. The tumor filled the whole abdominal cavity, and was attached to the uterus and both broad ligaments, and to the left ovary. It weighed about thirty-five pounds. The operation last d about an hour and a half, and during that time an ounce and a half of chloroform was administered to the patient. She is now in a very comfortable condition.—Boston Courier.

DEATH OF A FEMALE SLAVE TRADER.—Mrs. Watson, nee Lackey, an American woman noted for being in the slave trade, has recently died at Cadiz, Spain. There were three indictments against her in New York, for fitting out slavers, and she fled to Spain last summer. She fitted out several slavers at Cadiz, but the United States consul at that port being advised of her movements, withdrew the registers of the vessels and they could not sail. It is said that the female slaver then resolved to drink and die. She was a native of New York.

The savings banks in the State of New York, according to a report made to the Legislature, have now an aggregate deposit of $64,000,000, about $4,000,000 only less than was reported at the same time last year. There are in all about 300,000 depositors, showing a falling off, within the year, of less than 200.

The amount of bulk meat confiscated and seized by the Government, on the Cumberland river, mostly at Nashville, Tenn., was very large, amounting to 3,000,000 pounds, but a large portion of it is said to have soured.

On the 1st inst., by Rev. Dr. Schwartz, Prof. WILLIAM H. DAIGER to Miss MARY A. ROBINSON, all of this city.

Her relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend her funeral, from her late residence, on Saturday afternoon, the 5th instant, at four o'clock.
