The Teachings of History—Gen. Lander's Tribute to the Gallantry of Col. Baldwin—Col. Barre's Tribute to the Heroic Virtues of Gen. Montgomery—Bishop Whittingham's Prayer—The Episcopalians of the District of Columbia—An Extract from Tacitus.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—As singular illustrations of the manner in which History repeats itself, the following extracts from two well known works, will be found to have a direct bearing upon two well known incidents that have occurred recently. You published, yesterday, the noble tribute which was paid to the gallantry of Col. Baldwin, of Virginia, by the late General Lander, himself a brave man and admiring bravery in others.

The counterpart to this will be found in the 8th vol. of Bancroft, page 212, and relates to the death of Montgomery before the walls of Quebec.—Bancroft says:

"In the British Parliament, the great defenders of liberty vied with each other in his praise. Burke, his veteran soldier in the war, wept profusely as he expatiated on their fast friendship and participation of service in that season of enterprise and glory, and holding up the British Commanders in review, pronounced a glowing tribute to his superior merits. Edmund Burke contrasted the condition of the eight thousand men, starved, disgraced, and shut up within the single town of Boston, with the movements of the hero who in one campaign had conquered two-thirds of Canada. "I replied North cannot join in lamenting the death of Montgomery as a public loss. He was brave, he was able, he was humane, he was generous; but still he was only a brave, able, humane, and generous Rebel. Curse on his virtues, they've undone his country." The term of Rebel, retorted Fox, is no certain mark of degrees. All the great asserters of liberty, the saviors of their country, the benefactors of mankind in all ages have been called Rebels. We owe the Constitution which enables us to sit in this house to a Rebellion."

The second illustration is of a different kind, but is equally pertinent. Everybody knows that Bishop Whittingham has directed the clergy of his Diocese, in the District of Columbia, to read in their respective churches a prayer of thanksgiving for the recent successes of the Federal arms, and that the Rev. Mr. Syle and other clergymen of the District have refused to do so under the peculiar circumstances of the case, and especially because so many citizens of the District have relatives in the South whose families mourn the loss of husbands, fathers and brothers, in this fearful war. How was it possible for a clergyman to expect his congregation to join him in a prayer of thanksgiving for victories which had brought mourning into the households of their own kindred? Those who yielded elsewhere to the mandate of the Bishop must have felt that such a prayer mocked their sorrows.

In Murphy's Translation of Tacitus, we have the following account of a similar state of feeling which once existed in old Rome. The mode of offering thanksgiving was different from that in use in these Christian days; but the "stifling of every sentiment of the heart," by the enforced observance of the rite, was entirely the same. The extract reads as follows:

"While the city presented a scene of blood, and funerals darkened all the streets, the altars of the capitol smoked with victims slaughtered on the occasion. One had lost his son; another was deprived of his brother, his friend, or his near relation; and yet, stifling every sentiment of the heart, all concurred in offering thanks to the gods; they adorned the prince's house with laurel; they fell at his feet; they clasped his knees, and printed kisses on his hand."

From the Chicago Times, April 5.

INDICTMENT OF MILITARY OFFICERS IN CHICAGO.

On the 13th of September last the Lincoln regiment, Colonel Isaac G. Wilson, went into camp at Camp Lyon, Geneva, Kane county. The next day, due publication having been made for bids, Messrs. Lantz & Tinsley obtained the contract for supplying subsistence to the regiment, the price named being 13 8-10 cents per ration. The contract was reduced to writing and duly executed by Charles B. Wells, regimental Quartermaster, for the Government. It appears, however, that, from the statements made by witnesses, Mr. Wells concluded that this contract was illegal, and, in fact, as the Quartermaster's Department in this city he, on the 17th of September, just three days after the letting of the contract to Lantz & Tinsley, let a new contract to George E. Corwin, sutler of the regiment, no public announcement of any such intention having been made, which notice is indispensable according to the army regulations in every case. This time it was agreed to pay nineteen cents per ration. And, though Messrs. Lantz & Tinsley were at the camp daily, no indication was ever given them that any change had been made, and they continued to supply the soldiers with rations as specified in their contract. The parties to the second contract did not make any move under it, except to draw the pay through Quartermaster Wells at the rate of nineteen cents, paying, as they allege, to Lantz & Tinsley the price named in their contract of thirteen and eight-tenths cents, thereby making a net profit under the second contract of nearly forty dollars a day.

Lieutenant Christopher, the Government accounting officer in this city, about the 20th of November last, accidentally discovered the nineteen-cent contract, and, knowing it was altogether too high a figure, cancelled it, and relet the subsistence at fourteen cents. Having occasion to visit Camp Lyon several days after, he was spoken to in relation to the matter, and then for the first time ascertained exactly how the whole thing stood. He immediately proceeded to investigate the subject, and, having satisfied himself that there was evident swindling in the transaction, he caused the proper affidavits to be made, and on the 23d of November United States Commissioner Hoyne, acting under the order of Judge Drummond, issued writs for the arrest of Charles B. Wells and George E. Corwin.

The examination of these parties took place on the 26th of the same month, before Commissioner Hoyne—A. S. Herrington, Esq., appearing for the United States, and Mr. W. K. McAllister for the defendants. After a patient hearing, the Commissioner held Corwin in $2,000 to answer any indictment which might be found against him, and caused Wells to recognize for his appearance as witness.

Since that time other facts have transpired tending to implicate both Col. Wilson and Mr. Wells in the alleged swindle, and the cases of all three have now been before the Grand Jury, resulting in their indictment.

The punishment for the offence, upon conviction, is set forth in the act of Congress of March 22, 1832, sec. 1, 3d statutes, p. 771. It provides that fraud committed against the United States shall be deemed a felony, and, being duly convicted, the party shall be sentenced to be imprisoned and kept at hard labor for a period of not less than one nor more than ten years; or shall be imprisoned not exceeding five years, and fined not exceeding one thousand dollars.
