THE NEW MORMON COMPLICATION.

Brigham Young has just been inaugurated as Governor of the new State of Deseret, and Mr. Ashley's bill for the punishment of polygamy has passed the House of Representatives. Here is a conflict at our doors at once. The Mormons have organized their State government with polygamy as "the corner-stone" of their system, just as slavery is the corner-stone of the Confederates, intending to demand immediate admission into the Union, while Congress declares their fundamental system a crime which morals and justice alike forbid.

That the Mormons are in earnest in their new State movement is abundantly proved by the recent public speeches of their leaders. Brigham Young, Heber C. Kimball, and other "apostolic" dignitaries in Utah, who mould the deluded followers of the Mormon heresy at their will, boldly avow their purpose to make a direct issue with the Government. In effect, they say that they have suffered unjust persecution until forbearance is no longer a virtue, and that they now insist upon a full recognition of their rights, on an equal footing with the States. Young himself expressed the sentiments of the Mormon priesthood in a violent philippic, which we find reported in the Deseret News, his official organ. Here is a single passage:

"We are not going to be satisfied with a mere pre-emption right on the soil in this territory.—Should the Government grant to every head of a family six hundred and forty acres of land, and to each wife and child their portion, as was done in Oregon territory, that would give to me and to my sons and daughters quite a scope of country, and the whole people would swallow up all the land in this territory. But shall we be satisfied with that? No, I am going to have a larger pre-emption than the territory of Utah. In a few years this territory will not contain my own posterity. In twenty years from now this spacious hall will not hold them, and in twenty years more they will more than fill this territory. I cannot put up with this small possession."

Brigham's wants, like his wives, are many, and, according to this speech, so are his ambitious plans. The News, echoing his language, puts the case still more plainly:

"The people have spoken loudly, and in language not to be mistaken, have declared their aversion to colonial servitude tyranny and oppression, and that they wish to supersede the territorial form of Government to which they have submitted for nearly twelve years, by a State Government of their own formation, in accordance with the principles of the Constitution of their common country, to which they are so much attached. They have for a long time been deprived of their political rights, and they now feel like asserting them, and relieving the Federal Government from the expense accruing from the unconstitutional arrangement instituted by Congress for governing territories, so far as relates to the rule of Utah."

Here is the beginning of a new trouble. The Government will probably soon be compelled to choose between the admission of Mormons to the full privileges of citizens, or the forcible suppression of something which will resemble rebellion.—Unscrupulous, scheming and crafty, the Mormon leaders will leave no means untried to compass their ends. They lead a great population of fanatics in the blindest, most abject and unreasoning subjection, and possess resources which have been literally wrested from the desert by dint of hard labor and unwearying energy. Once they succumbed to a timely show of the strength of the Federal power, but it now seems that they are ready to re-enter the lists and stand by the doctrine of "State rights."

THE TAX BILL—THE HOTEL D'AFRIQUE.

Correspondence of the New York Express.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Notwithstanding the urgent necessity for the passage of a tax bill, it really seems as if both branches of Congress were more disposed to quibble and quarrel over unconstitutional measures before them, than heed the clamor of the nation's voice for help, in the shape of some measure promising relief to her exhausted and depleted treasury. This question of taxes, with a tariff bill to be considered, will have a decided effect in lengthening the session. No two minds hardly seem to agree on the rate of taxation. This has been evident since the formation of the bill; and instead of the opposition of certain interests to the method of taxing its peculiar manufacture giving way, it seems as if it were being strengthened. The lobbyites have not vanished with the passage of the House bill, but are still on hand; and as to some of the items included, a larger and new set of advocates are on hand.

The ancient row of large edifices located in the rear of the Capitol—a rare old place—and heretofore familiarly known as the "Hotel d'Afrique," the Government having taken possession of them for quartering the hordes of "contrabands" daily flocking hither in quest of a larger degree of freedom. The "contrabands" invest the neighboring city of Alexandria in great numbers from Maryland, which in its active here, cannot claim a legal right to the classical appellation, but must, however, to their disgust, be classed among the horde of common "runaway niggers."

FROM EUROPE.

From the New York Tribune, April 30.

The steamship Bremen, from Southampton on the 16th, arrived here yesterday morning. The news by the Bremen is anticipated by the North American, published in our last issue. We find, however, in the journals received by the Bremen, some interesting intelligence not included in the telegraphic summary. The most important item is that which we find in the London Times of the 15th inst., relative to the distress in Lancashire. Deep is the distress, according to that journal, and small the means to alleviate it. The town of Blackburn contains 63,000 people, nearly one-fourth of whom are suffering privation from the scarcity of food, clothing, bedding and fuel. When the mills are in full operation, 20,352 persons are employed; but, at the present time, upward of one-third, or nearly 7,000, are wholly unemployed, at a loss to the workers alone of about £6,000 a week in wages.

A NEW TOURNIQUET.—Among the death-dealing inventions of the day, we are apt to lose sight of life-saving discoveries. Here is one which demands the gratitude of the soldier and his friends. It is a small, compact tourniquet, on elastic principles, which may be carried in the pocket in its small tin case, not much larger than a tobacco box, and yet is approved by our most eminent surgeons as fully adequate to all the appliances of such an instrument. In the course of war thousands die on the battle-field from mere loss of blood, which this instrument will instantly arrest. Dr. McClellan, father of the General, remarks in his Principles and Practice of Surgery, that "more lives are lost from it (hemorrhage), either directly or indirectly, than from all other circumstances combined." The field tourniquet, so called, is simply a handkerchief, or cord, and a stick. The process is to tie the handkerchief on the arm or leg above the wound, and twist it with the stick till the flow of blood is stopped in the artery. This numbs the whole limb, as, indeed, do most tourniquets. Various substitutes have been invented, devised usually to sustain pads immediately over the artery, and produce strong compression at that point. The elastic tourniquet, the invention of Dr. Lambert, is the final discovery, and supersedes all others. By a simple adjustment of two plates with an elastic band, the compression on the artery is made and gently increased, stopping the flow of blood, and yet leaving open the other parts of the arm for a sufficient supply through the minor vessels to sustain life and prevent painful numbness, and not unfrequent mortification. When it is considered that a large majority of wounds are found to be in the extremities, and not on the body, the importance of such an invention as this cannot be overestimated.—New York Journal of Commerce.

CURIOUS NAVAL RELIC.—The Progress, of Lyons, states that an engineer has just discovered a Celtic bark sunk in the mud in the Upper Rhone, which is supposed to have remained there, in a bed of sand and gravel, for several centuries. This bark is a single piece of timber, hollowed out like an Indian canoe. It measures 27 feet in length and 8 in breadth. The wood of which it is composed is completely petrified. This curious vestige of the navigation of the Allobroges is to be placed in the Museum of Lyons, where it will be conveyed on one of the rafts which descend the Rhone from Savoy.

DEATH PENALTY FOR MURDERING SOLDIERS.—Gen. Fremont has approved the death sentence passed by a court martial upon Henry Kuhl and Hamilton W. Wondon, citizens of Western Virginia, for the murder of one of our soldiers in cold blood.—These men are to be hung at Suttonsville, Va., on the 9th of May. A third man, Canad Kuhl, has been sentenced to hard labor at Camp Chase, for participation in the same crime.

The object of the Japanese Embassy to England and France is to induce those Powers to consent to a revocation of their recent treaties with Japan, as far as trade and commerce is concerned, or at least to obtain a very prolonged extension of the period within which Japan is bound to open certain ports to foreigners. In making this diplomatic move the Japanese Government yields to the express wish of the people.

The Bunker Hill Aurora learns that the navy yard at Charlestown is to be enlarged by the purchase of the wharf adjoining, the negotiation having been completed. The wharf is the one near the main entrance to the yard on Water street, and has been used for some months past for the landing of ship timber, and gunboats have also had a berth there.

The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Press states that the Rev. Dr. Hawks, late rector of Calvary Church, in that city, has hired the dwelling-house formerly occupied by Rev. John Parkman, at Elliottsville, Staten Island, and will take up his residence there for the season.

The successor of the late Governor Harvey, of Wisconsin, is Edward Solomon, Esq., of Milwaukee, who, says the Milwaukee News, is the first German citizen that has ever filled the gubernatorial chair of any State in the Union. In politics, he is a Democrat.

RELIABLE NEWS.

BALTIMORE, March 29, 1862.

Mr. Geo. Pearson—Dear Sir: Being troubled with a severe SORE THROAT and Cold (which settled on my lungs), I tried your MEDICATED TAR DROPS, and can speak very flatteringly of their having relieved me in a few hours, and curing me in three or four days. I cheerfully recommend your justly celebrated Tar Drops to all similarly affected, who will find them pleasant, simple, very efficacious, and the cheapest remedy I ever used. Yours, very truly,
