LETTER FROM LONDON.

Correspondence of the New York Express.

MONZEY'S HOTEL, LONDON, April 22.—All Europe shudders at the reports of the horrible carnage this day received from America! Surely the figures must lie! It cannot be that fifty-five thousand men have been slaughtered in the two days' conflict at Corinth! The Genius of Humanity turns pale at the picture.

"When will this end, ye Powers of Good?
She weeping, cries forever
A voice replies from out the flood,
Forever and forever!!"—

And the people are only drunk with blood, not yet nauseated, not even sated!

Now, may I venture to ask a single question? It is this: If the people of the North had followed the counsels of Webster, Everett, Pierce, Cushing, Seymour; the New York Express, Journal of Commerce, Daily News, and Boston Post, instead of such leaders as Seward, Sumner, Giddings, Wilson, Beecher, and the New York Tribune, Post and other anti-slavery organs, would our "Glorious Union" have been disrupted; the people slaughtered by tens of thousands, and a debt of thousands of millions hung like a mammoth millstone upon the neck of the future? The answer to this plain question will come echoing back through all coming time in one thundering, claiming, indignant, No!

It strikes me, as an interested "outsider," that neither the people at large, nor the Committee of Ways and Means in Congress go to work aright in figuring up the pecuniary cost of the war. The problem is simply this: Find the aggregate value of property destroyed; then calculate the amount which the million of men engaged in the war would have produced in their ordinary industrial occupation; add these two sums together, and you have the total of the cost! Can Mr. Secretary Chase give us the appropriate figures? Compared with this stupendous and almost incalculable sum, the current expenses of three millions per diem, with all the endless appropriations for pensions and "repairs" sink into insignificance. And yet the game of the Kilkenny cat is to be played out to the "bitter end!"

But the widening wave of "the war's desolation" is beginning to murmur seriously upon the shores of Europe. England and France are both becoming alarmed. The cotton famine is producing a bread famine, and Paris and London are beginning to hear the heart-piercing cries of hunger from the manufacturing districts. "A Lancaster Lord" makes another sharp appeal in the columns of the Times, from which I quote the following extract:

"I cannot pass through a street but I see evidences of deep distress. I cannot sit at home half an hour without having one or more coming to ask for bread—to eat. But what comes casually before me is as nothing when compared with that deeper distress which can only be seen by those who seek it. Those who wish to know what distress in Lancashire really is, should look at our operatives when in their homes, and they would see there what would move their hearts with sympathy. Only to speak of what has been seen close to me, and to the truth of which I can swear, would be sufficient to soften the stonicst of hearts. There have been families who have been so reduced that the only food that they have had has been a porridge made of Indian meal. They could not afford oatmeal, and even of their Indian meal porridge they could only afford two meals a day. They have been so ashamed of their courser food that they have done all that was possible to hide their desperate state from those about them.

"It has been only by accident that it has been found out, and then they have been caught hurriedly putting away the dishes which contained their loathsome food. A woman, whose name I could give, and to whose house I could point, was said not only to be in deep distress, but to be also ill of fever. She was visited. On entering the lower room of the house the visitors saw that there was not a scrap of furniture; the woman, fever-stricken, sat on an orange box, below a low fire, and, to prevent the fire from going quite out, she was pulling her orange box seat to pieces bit by bit for fuel. The visitors looked up-stairs. There was no furniture there—only a bit of straw in the corner, which served as the bed of the woman's four children. In another case, a woman, who was said to be too weak to apply for relief, was visited. Her husband had been out of work for a long time, by reason of his illness; he was now, of a fashion, recovered, and had gone off to seek work. He left wound-rifled, his wife was very near her confinement, and had not tasted food for two or three days.

"I might go on telling equally sad stories, but I forbear. I cannot, however, help mentioning that there are in this town some hundreds of young single women who have been self-dependent, but who are now entirely without means. Most, nearly all of these, are good English girls, who have quietly fought their own life battle, but who have now hard work to withstand the attacks this grim poverty is making. I am told of a case in which one of these girls was forced to become one of that class of whom poor Hood sang in his Bridge of Sighs. She was an orphan, had no relations here, and was tossed about from place to place till she found her way to a brothel. Thank God, she has been rescued."

In another column of the same journal we read that "the voluntary subscriptions to the Prince Albert Memorial have reached the sum of £46,000." Would it not be a "memorial" of more lasting honor to a Christian people to invest this sum, for a time, in bread, and thereby save thousands of women and children from starvation?

"Alas, that bread should be so dear
And human life so cheap!"

Another writer from the same place gives a touching account of a poor little girl trying to sell her Hymn Book for something to eat!

In the manufacturing district of France, the distress among unemployed operatives is equally great; only the reports are not permitted to appear in the papers. Beggars in France are suppressed by the police. And all this derangement of the industry of nations comes from the war in America. It is not strange that the Emperor should say to Mr. Slidell the other day, "If this interneciene war continues six months longer, France and England will interfere."

THE NEGROES IN WASHINGTON.

From the Providence Post.

It is barely possible that our abolitionists at Washington will get their stomachs full of the "eternal negro." At present the accompaniments of this surfeit are perceptible only to parties interested; but even outsiders are allowed to guess that by and by literably reasonable men may get weary of contraband impudence on one side and starvation on the other. A letter to the Journal of Commerce says:

"The city is actually swarming with negroes, a ragged and homeless multitude. The poor house, supported by this city, is full to overwhelming, and scores of them are daily turned away from that temple of relief. The General Government, in particular in its tastes, and condescends to feed only what are called contrabands; and one hundred and fifty of this quality, (fine, superfine, or extra, I cannot tell which,) are now being fed and lodged by the Government in the Duff Green row of buildings. The prospect before all the parties concerned is gloomy enough."

And this is the District of Columbia, the paradise of the free negro. A houseless, homeless, starving multitude, fills the streets of the National Capital, and begs in vain at the poor-house for food. The emancipated slaves of the District are, of course, not cared for by the Government. It wasn't in the agreement. The President, however, is authorized to colonize them somewhere, and one hundred thousand dollars were appropriated in the emancipation bill for that purpose. A letter-writer states that he will open negotiations with some of the States of Central America on this subject. In the meantime, the negroes will come North to starve. The contrabands are cared for. These are runaway niggers. They are fed by the Government, and live in good style; showing a vast difference, in Uncle Sam's estimation, between a nigger that runs away and one that gets his liberty by honorable means. A despatch from Washington says:

"Soldiers complain here of the partiality shown contrabands, who are quartered in Duff Green Row, formerly the residence of Webster and Everett, while white men who come here to fight for the country are quartered in cheap and uncomfortable barracks".

Who wonders that the soldiers complain? They complain also at Fortress Monroe, and especially, at Port Royal. They are the hewers of wood and drawers of water for these contrabands. It is shameful.

FROM VANITY FAIR.

TURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY.—Coleridge, after promising that "the river Rhine doth wash the city of Cologne," asks with fervor, what power shall wash the unfortunate river. So, the people with equal fervor, after reading, day by day, this opening line of the Senate reports:

"Senator Sumner presented petitions for the abolition of slavery," begin to ask, "Ah, who will present petitions for the abolition of Senator Sumner?"

DITTO TO THAT.—The steamship North American brought the following item:

"A deputation from the British and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society waited on Mr. Adams, the American Minister, on the 16th, and presented an address, in which the hope is expressed that the restoration of the Union would be founded upon the abolition of the cause of strife."

Amen! with all our heart. Let the abolitionists be abolished. Crush out Southern rebellion, and then colonize Garrison, Phillips, Greeley & Co. with their sable brethren. Let us play St. George with the truculent monsters, and St. Patrick with the snakes in the grass.

"PHYSICIANS WERE IN VAIN."—The rumor that Greeley had taken a position with the army, as nurse, is unfounded. It arose from his strenuous and persistent efforts to nurse General Fremont's reputation.

The Hon. C. L. Vallandigham, and the Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton, of Ohio, are at present sojourning in New York.

STILL ANOTHER TRIUMPH.

BALTIMORE, May 1st, 1862.

I have experienced so much benefit by using PEARSON'S MEDICATED TAR DROPS, that I believe it not only a duty, but a pleasure, to make it known to others. I was afflicted with a Sore Throat and Dry Cough, which debilitated me so that I could get no rest. My friends told me that I had the consumption. I am now happy to inform you that your MEDICATED TAR DROPS have cured me.

I find that your MEDICATED TAR DROPS are counterfeited, and I caution the public to be on their guard. This is really such a case that no efficacious remedy should be injured by unprincipled men. I am glad, however, to see that your signature is now on each package, and I advise those who purchase to bear that in mind.

Yours, truly, HENRY FISHER,
No. 15 North Bond street.

PEARSON'S MEDICATED TAR DROPS are prepared and sold by GEO. PEARSON, No. 5 Liberty street, Baltimore. Sold also by the principal Druggists at 10 cents per package. m10-tf

VALUABLE CHARLES STREET AVENUE PROPERTY FOR SALE.
The undersigned, Trustees, will, by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Baltimore county, sitting as a Court of Equity, passed the 19th day of March, 1862, in a cause wherein Walter T. Ashton, et al., are complainants, and George M. Hiss and others are defendants, offer at Public Sale, on the premises, on TUESDAY, the 24 day of June next, at 6 o'clock, P. M., that beautiful and handsomely improved fee-simple ESTATE, on which George M. Hiss lately resided, consisting of the two following parcels, viz:
1. A LOT containing TEN ACRES, more or less, fronting on Melrose Avenue, and described as lot No. 4 in the division of Ann H. Price's real estate, and particularly described in a deed from Philip M. Price and Benjamin Rush Roberts, Executors of the last will and testament of Ann M. Price to George M. Hiss, bearing date the 20th day of April, 1857, and recorded among the land records of Baltimore county, in Liber H. M. K., No. 149, folio 228, &c.
This lot is improved by a large two-story FRAME DWELLING, containing on the first floor, besides a reception hall, two parlors, dining room, library, winter and summer kitchens, pantry, china closet, &c.—seven chambers in the second story, a mansard or attic, fine cellars, a good cellar. The house has been recently improved and enlarged, and is one of the most convenient and attractive country residences in the vicinity of Baltimore. The carriage house, stable, (which is capable of holding six horses,) poultry house, dairy, and other outbuildings, are in excellent order. Two cisterns supply the premises with good water. It also shades the said shrubbery, there are many choice and bearing apple, pear, cherry, and other fruit trees. There is a good garden, containing well set strawberry and asparagus beds, currants, raspberries, &c.
This property lies eastward of Charles street avenue, just beyond the new Episcopal Church, and adjoining the lands of Messrs. David M. Perine, Bond, and William Wilson. It is in full view of the avenue, and has the advantage of a good communication by the Powder Mill road with the York Turnpike at Govanstown, which is about half a mile off by the avenue. It is distant about three and a half miles from the city.
2. A LOT containing EIGHT ACRES, more or less, lying immediately west of the above, and known as lot No. 3 in the said division and part of Ann M. Price's estate, and also portion of the land described in the above mentioned deed from Philip M. Price and Benjamin Rush Roberts, executors, to George M. Hiss. This tract includes 342 perches on Charles street avenue, and lies on the south side of and by the intersection of said avenue and Melrose avenue. It is to be used as an ice house, or for other purposes.
The situation of these two properties is one of the most beautiful on the avenue and is of unsurpassed healthfulness. Possession will be given immediately.
The Terms of Sale, as prescribed by the decree, are—That one third of the purchase money is to be paid on the day of sale, and the balance in two equal instalments, payable respectively six and twelve months thereafter, the deferred payments to bear interest from the day of sale, and to be secured by the notes of the purchaser, with a surety or sureties to be approved by the Trustees.
