THE ABOLITIONISTS IN WASHINGTON.

From the Boston Courier, May 10.

The deep and dark game which has been going on at Washington, among a set of infamous politicians, must before long become fully developed.—When the details of the whole plot are thundered into the ears of the people, it will be impossible for the most stolid to fail of comprehending the design in its full enormity. Be it enough now to say, what has indeed been apparent to those who have observed the progress of events and have had the means of information, that the set and deliberate purpose has been pursued to prevent McClellan from gaining victories for the country, which would redound to his glory, as it would re-establish the fortunes of the Republic—as an essential part of the scheme which, in overthrowing the Constitution, would have established a despotism on the ruins of the Union.

And to what other motive can be imputed those notorious machinations against him, instead of honest aid rendered to an officer, of whom nothing can be said except that from the first moment of his entrance into the service, he has nobly, steadily and modestly discharged all his high and responsible duties—that he has made the army, before then, so far as service was concerned, a miscellaneous rabble, now a best fit for war—that he has arranged the plans in every part of the country by which our armies everywhere have won success—that before this moment, when he is, day by day, seizing victory with the skill and certainty of an incomparable master of the great game of war, he was the idol of the men he commanded, just as he now is, when he fulfils every hope in leading them to victory after victory—and that, therefore, he has been and is the "obstacle" between the country and the malignant purposes of reckless, selfish, fanatical, bad men.

And this it is, that those in Washington, who welcomed with unusual honors the man who "for nineteen years had endeavored to destroy the Union"—those high in place, in certain departments of the Government, in Congress and out of it—"aiders and abettors of the Confederates" and partakers in the unholy plot against the Union—have assailed McClellan in Washington, and have made flying journeys round the country, to deal out their poisonous insinuations against his capacity and his loyalty—and have been able, from their numbers and influence with the Government, to deprive him of the chief command which had been justly conferred on him—have changed his admirable plans for the campaign—and placed him where he would not have been but for them, yet where his genius has triumphed over all obstructions and over all his enemies, in front and rear—or shortly will do so—and conquering the Confederates before his army, will equally triumph over those who would rejoice if he and his army, our brothers and friends, had been defeated and destroyed, so that they, the plotters, would be free of the "obstacle;" and so they could seize upon the Government which they are now plundering without stint, and which they have hoped to make all their own. And thus, under pretext of making black men our equals, they would convert a Republic of freemen into a despotism over their fellow-citizens, whom they would make slaves. And this is the meaning of the phrase so common on the lips of the radical faction, during the Presidential campaign, that they meant "to take possession of the Government"—and it is now apparent that it was not anti-slavery sympathies, but sheer radicalism, which led them on—that it was not to take possession of the Government against the South—but against the people; and to make themselves the masters over the people by the overthrow of the Constitution and the establishment of a corrupt and tyrannous dynasty of their own.

Do men of sense and principle ask if these things are possible, and are not rather the illusions of a disturbed imagination? No one, who has kept the current of events in his mind, can fail to see that such is the inevitable conclusion from facts open to every man's observation, who is able and willing to see; and no one, who has had opportunity to learn something of the secrets of current political manœuvres, will hesitate, if he be a man, to feel that unless he and others who should act with him, with heart and hand, do all their duty, the country is yet in danger of being betrayed by those vile demagogues, and utterly and irretrievably lost.

has seen fit to crown with almost unparalleled victories. These miserable politicians will go to the wall, by one means or another. And yet, to save any harsh and forcible interposition with institutions designed to work out their own recovery from casual ills, through the intelligent patriotism of the united citizens,—it is for us, and all of us, to perform our duty to our country,—to expose and defeat the nefarious designs of its false, pretended friends, as well as the open violence of its armed foes, who, but for the others, need excite no alarm,—and by incessant efforts to rally the great body of the thoughtful, honest American people to the recovery and re-establishment of the "Constitution as it is and the Union as it was."

From the Philadelphia Inquirer, May 10.

THE LETTER OF MR. DAWES CONCERNING THE BALTIMORE RAILROAD COMPANY.

Cameron, in his recent after-dinner speech at Harrisburg, in order to break the force of the censure of the National House of Representatives, deemed it necessary to attack the integrity of Hon. H. L. Dawes, and to asperse the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company in the same connection. The object of this combined assault was to abuse the public ear with the idea that Mr. Dawes, being a Massachusetts man, and much of the stock of the Baltimore Company being held in Boston, that, therefore, Mr. Dawes was instigated to expose Cameron's doings by this Company. How thoroughly false all this is will be seen by the following letter from Mr. Dawes to Mr. Felton. The truth is that both Mr. Dawes and the Baltimore Company deserve the thanks of the country; the one for his efforts to restore honest dealing to the most important department of the Government service, and the other for the prompt, hearty and efficient co-operation it has extended to the Government in facilitating the transportation of troops and stores, from the memorable 19th of April, 1861, down to this hour. The following is the letter referred to:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8, 1862.—S. M. FELTON—DEAR SIR:—I am just in receipt of yours of yesterday, in relation to General Cameron's recent public statement in Harrisburg, of the motive which he supposed prompted me in the discharge of what I deemed my duty on a recent occasion in the House. I have only to say that I did not know, until he announced it, that one dollar of the stock of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad is, or ever was, owned in Massachusetts, and I only know it now from his statement. I have no occasion or desire to otherwise allude to his speech, and do this only in acknowledgment of your letter. Yours, truly,

H. L. DAWES.

BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD.—This great thoroughfare, and most direct route to all points East, is again opened, throughout its entire length, for freight and travel. It is, we presume, unnecessary to speak of the great advantages this road possesses over all the other Eastern routes, as they are well known to almost every reading man in the country. Suffice it to say that the Company have, with commendable and almost incredible enterprise, put the entire line of their road in complete repair, and are now as well prepared to accommodate the travelling and business community as before the commencement of the war. Persons shipping or receiving goods from the East will save time and money by availing themselves of the superior advantages of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. That all shipments entrusted to this road will be forwarded promptly and to the best advantage of the shipper, it is only necessary to state that W. Prescott Smith, Esq., is still connected with it as Master of Transportation. He is so well and favorably known as a high-toned gentleman and first class business man, that nothing further need be said in his favor.—Dayton (Ohio) Empire.

ARRIVAL OF BRITISH PRIZE VESSELS.—The prize schooner Belle (British, of Nassau, N. P.), Prize-Master Cooper, arrived at this port this morning, seven days from Port Royal. She was captured April 26th, off Charleston, while attempting to run the blockade, by the U. S. gunboat Santiago de Cuba. She was from Nassau, N. P., and her cargo consists of coffee, sugar, salt, etc. The prize schooner Mersey (British, of Nassau, N. P.), Acting-Master Coggswell, seven days from Port Royal, also arrived to-day. She was captured April 23d, off Cape Carnival, by the gunboat Santiago de Cuba, and, like the Belle, she was from Nassau, N. P., bound to Charleston with an assorted cargo.—N. Y. Express, May 10.

THE TWIN EVILS.—That Abolitionism is just as responsible as Secessionism for the evils now preying upon the country, is true. That we never should have had secession had it not been for abolition, is just as true. Said Joseph Holt, in one of his speeches last summer: "We make no apology for this wicked effort in the South to destroy the Government; we grant the necessity of suppressing it; but abolitionism, that produced it, must also be suppressed. Abolitionism and Secessionism must be buried in the same political grave." The conservative men of the country are called upon to suppress these twin evils.—Indiana State Sentinel.

ABSCONDING SLAVES.—We learn that about twenty slaves have absconded from this county and sought refuge in the District of Columbia, since the passage of the Emancipation bill. It is also reported that several gentlemen from this county, Messrs. Thos. Donaldson, Jas. Iglehart, Fayette Ball and Wm. Hackall, went to Washington to reclaim their slaves, and were told by a deputy Provost Marshal, that he did not think that the Fugitive Slave law had any application to the District of Columbia, but that that question would be decided on the return of the President, or words to that effect.—Annapolis Republican.

AFFAIRS IN SOMERSET COUNTY.—The Princess Anne (Md.) Herald mentions a rumor that the Government is about to complete the Eastern Shore railway to Cherrystone. The same paper says that James F. Adams, Esq., of Rehoboth, has been arrested and taken to Fort McHenry, on charges not made public. The fruit crop in Somerset county promises a large yield.

STILL ANOTHER TRIUMPH.

BALTIMORE, May 1st, 1862.

I have experienced so much benefit by using PEARSON'S MEDICATED TAR DROPS, that I believe it not only a duty but a pleasure, to make it known to others. I was afflicted with a Sore Throat and Dry Cough, which debilitated me so that I could get no rest. My friends told me that I had the consumption. I am now happy to inform you that your MEDICATED TAR DROPS have cured me.

I find that your MEDICATED TAR DROPS are counterfeited, and I caution the afflicted to be on their guard. This is really a shame that so efficacious a remedy should be injured by a principled imposition. I am glad, however, to see that your signature is now on each package, and I advise those who purchase to bear that in mind.

Yours, truly, HENRY FISHER,
No. 15 North Bond street.

PEARSON'S MEDICATED TAR DROPS are prepared and sold by GEO. PEARSON, No. 5 Liberty street, Baltimore. Sold also by the principal Druggists at 10 cents per package.
