NEW COMPLICATIONS THREATENED.

The Louisville Journal pronounces the address and resolutions put forth by the recent legislative caucus at Albany (known as the new party movement) the proclamation of a deadly hostility to slavery, and of a complete programme of action and of agitation for the avowed purpose of carrying such hostility into practical effect under the egise and shelter of the Constitution.

The effort to reorganize a party on such a basis is regarded with alarm. The Journal asks:

Will this attempt succeed? Shall the sectional minority take by artifice what they acknowledge they cannot get straight forwardly? Will the majority of the Northern voters; who are national in their views and sentiments; who comprehend that "hands off" and "mind your own business" are the two golden rules of our political system; who although disliking slavery and rejecting it on their own behalf are not willing, under whatever guise, to enter upon a systematic warfare or any other sort of warfare against the opposite disposition and determination of the people of the Southern States, who hold that the common Government should be administered in the spirit neither of hostility nor of favor to Southern institutions but of honest impartiality, and who believe that the preservation of the rights of the States in their whole constitutional integrity is the only sure way of preserving the rights or even the existence of the General Government—will, we say, the men who agree in these grand particulars, and who constitute the majority of the Northern voters, suffer themselves to be cheated out of victory, when victory to them is victory to the Constitution, victory to the Union, victory to the nation of which these glorious powers are the body and the soul? We hope not. We pray not.

If they do, they will postpone indefinitely the re-establishment of the Government; for the breach which secession has made in our system can never be healed under the auspices of counsels such as these enunciated in the Albany address. Never. Under such auspices, the South, though vanquished and disarmed, could not be brought back to her allegiance, but would lie in gloomy contumacy, gathering strength from the festering consciousness of insult and oppression, and yearning for the moment fatal to all, which if better counsels should not ultimately prevail amongst us, would come at last, when the assault of a foreign foe should point out her opportunity in our necessity. Is this the statesmanship of the popular leaders of the North? Is this their patriotism? Are the Northern people to be led by such leaders? We cannot believe it. We do not believe it.

One or two events is at any rate certain; and we state the alternatives not in the spirit of dictation or of menace, but of sad conviction. Either the people of the North must now voluntarily repudiate such leaders, or the nation under their leadership will ere long be plunged into new complications that will force our Northern brethren to throw them overboard at the point of public suffering and of public peril compared with which the present terrible calamities are but a fleeting visitation. Of this there can be no reasonable doubt. The fatal breakers are right ahead in full view; and these false-hearted Northern leaders, reckless of everything save the preservation of their party as an engine of ambition and of plunder, are driving right on. The result is inevitable. If the Northern people do not transfer the helm to wiser and purer hands now, they must, after the ship of state shall be dashed upon the rocks, if it be not instantly wrecked. The only question in this respect is, whether the transfer shall be made before the catastrophe and in season to prevent it, or afterwards. But the question is a momentous one. A question of more gigantic moment has seldom come up for the decision of any people. It is the real question now reserved for the decision of the people of the North.

Let the question be stripped of all disguises, and the decision will thrill the hearts of patriots with joy and gratitude.

From the St. Mary's Beacon, May 15.

DEPARTURE OF THE SOLDIERS.

Whatever of truth or falsehood there may be in the reported Confederate reverses that have latterly reached us, we may congratulate our readers in this county, that they are once again a free people. After six months' subjection to Federal dominion, we may rejoice that there no longer rests upon the soil of St. Mary's a Federal bayonet. The last of our jailors left us on Saturday last, and we confess that we do not regard their departure with any expostulations—deprived themselves well-nigh of all, but it is not against such a people accustomed to freedom to be reduced to even a paler stage of subjection.

Despotism is never preferable to liberty, nor can tyranny be more strongly manifested than when visited on the people of a strict military espionage. What occasioned the hasty withdrawal of our guardians, or at what point they have halted, we have not been informed. Some say they have gone to Washington, whilst others surmise that they have been ordered to reinforce Hooker, who, it is hinted, has had quite a thinning out in his command during the late Federal victories (?) in Dixie. At all events, they have gone from us, and we are, for the present, alone in our glory. How long we shall remain so, or whether other and perhaps worse rulers are reserved for us, is a question open for conjecture. It worse, and they come in sufficient force to subdue us, it will be our misfortune to suffer renewed indignities and degradation; if better, we shall still be the gainers.

With the exception of a very few instances, however, it becomes our duty to speak well of the soldiers lately amongst us; and both the official and individual deportment of the commanding officer (Major Chapman) deserves our warmest commendation. Lieut. Moffit is likewise entitled to a friendly and favorable notice, and it affords us pleasure to state that he has left no enemy behind him. The mass of the soldiery were uniformly civil and polite to our citizens, and have left a favorable, if not kind, impression upon them.

EXTRACT FROM GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S INAUGURAL MESSAGE.—The stern determination of the masses everywhere, so conspicuously displayed, to stand by the Government until they restore its powers, is a certain guarantee of the national success.—There is but one apprehension that can at present cause us to doubt it. It is not so much the fear of any assistance that secession is likely to receive from abroad, or the aid and comfort which treason at home may convey to it, as the possibility of a treason far more potent for mischief, and which, if not suppressed, is calculated to inflict upon the cause of the Union the severest blow it has yet encountered.

I refer, of course, to that emancipation policy thrust so unexpectedly on public attention. * * It will be impossible to convince conservative men that the proposed emancipation of the slaves in the seceded States, by force of the Federal arms, has any other aim than to make the success of these arms subservient to the purposes of abolition; and, so considered, if suffered to any extent to control the operations of the army, it will be equally impossible to avoid its blighting effects upon the hopeful prospects at present before us. * * * Nor is the movement, I believe, to be considered as expressing to any great extent the sentiments of the Republican party; but to my mind it seems rather a sort of dying struggle of a desperate minority—the last spasm of an expiring faction premonitory to its dissolution.

FROM EASTERN KENTUCKY—ROVING BANDS OF CONFEDERATES.

Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial

MOUNT STERLING, KY., MAY 8.—On Monday last, about 1 o'clock, a company of thirty-nine Confederates passed through this place, from Owen county mostly. We had no knowledge of their being near till they entered the town and passed through in a hurry. Many of the citizens were at their dinners.

News reached here last night that about four hundred Confederates were encamped at McCormick's, twenty-two miles east of this place. I presume these are the different companies passing our. What their object is we cannot divine. Last Monday we sent to Col. Warner, at Lexington, for troops. He said he had no horses, and no way for him to come but march; this he said in reply to the request of the State Military Board; our request he has treated with silent contempt. It is said that he has four hundred troops of the United States at Lexington. The Home Guards who were organized here last fall have dissolved, and the guns were loaned to other Home Guards in the mountain counties beyond us. In a few days, however, we expect more guns from the Military Board.

The steamship Great Eastern, which was to have left Milford Haven, England, on the 6th inst., is now due at New York. Her news will be two days later than the advices of the Niagara.

STILL ANOTHER TRIUMPH.

BALTIMORE, May 1st, 1862.

I have experienced so much benefit by using PEARSON'S MEDICATED TAR DROPS that I believe it not only a duty but a pleasure to make it known to others. I was afflicted with a Sore Throat and Dry Cough, which debilitated me so that I could get no rest. My friends told me that I had the consumption. I am now happy to inform you that your MEDICATED TAR DROPS have cured me.

I feel that your MEDICATED TAR DROPS are counterfeited, and I caution the afflicted to be on their guard. This is really a balm that so efficacious a remedy should be injured by unprincipled men. I am glad, however, to see that your signature is on each package, and I advise those who purchase to bear that in mind.

Yours, truly, HENRY FISHER,
No. 15 North Bond street.

PEARSON'S MEDICATED TAR DROPS are prepared and sold by GEO. PEARSON, No. 5 Liberty street, Baltimore. Sold also by the principal Druggists at 10 cents per package.
