CAN CONSUMPTION BE CURED?

CAN CONSUMPTION BE CURED?

Public opinion for the most part, and a large proportion of the physicians of every civilized nation, would answer this question in the negative. But Dr. Schenck has proved the contrary of the proposition. Evidenced by the cures already effected by his system and medicines, and vouched for by certificates from many grateful patients.

That there is a stage in the disease beyond cure is undoubted; but the symptoms of this stage are too often mistaken, and all hope is lost when the mind of the patient has become convinced that his condition is incurable. One lung may be entirely gone, and the other diseased with tubercles, and yet a cure be not only possible, but, in many cases, probable, and in some even certain, if the advice and prescriptions of Dr. Schenck are implicitly followed.

In no case after an examination, will he give the promise, or even hold out the expectation of a cure, unless, in his heart, he is morally certain of success. But to accomplish it, he must be assisted by the patient.

Firstly.—The patient must have faith in the sincerity of his opinion, in his professional ability to form a correct opinion, in the judgment to be exercised by him in the treatment, and in the efficacy of his remedies.

Secondly.—The patient must rigidly obey his instructions in regard to diet and the regular taking of his medicines, both as to time and quantities.

If these conditions are performed, and if a cure be promised by Dr. Schenck, that cure will be effected. And even in cases beyond cure, while yet but a few days of life remain, he can palliate and soothe the most aggravated symptoms, giving comparative relief while life lasts, and soothing the downward pathway for the patient to the tomb. Next to cure this is the most wonderful feature of his treatment.

Those who have witnessed the last few days of the life of loved ones afflicted with this terrible disease, can appreciate how great would have been their consolation in the recollection that those weeks, instead of being weeks of agony and distress, had peacefully and tranquilly glided by. The loved one, conscious not of pain, but of the untiring solicitude of friends and relatives, able to appreciate their love and sufficiently undisturbed to prepare, even in the hours of death, for an undying existence hereafter.

We make no assertions in regard to the cures effected by Dr. SCHENCK which cannot be substantiated by incontrovertible evidence. It needs only that those who have occasion for such aid as he can give, or their friends, should examine into his merits to be convinced of his ability to cure. They can see now, in almost every city of the Union, those who have been his patients, who justly and gratefully are ready to bear witness by word to his professional skill, many of whom have been presented him with certificates, properly attested, of the particulars of their cures. There are, indeed, cases which he has failed to cure. But those were cases in which the disease had been suffered to progress until in the final and fatal stage, before application had been made to Dr. Schenck; and although in many of these instances there were apparently but a few days of life in the patient, he has almost invariably succeeded in prolonging life and palliating suffering for weeks, and sometimes even for months.

These, be it remembered, were hopeless cases, in which he had simply undertaken to palliate suffering, not to effect cures. And while resulting fatally, they may have been used and cited by rivals in the profession as a basis for prejudice against Dr. Schenck and his medicines, the friends and relatives of the deceased have been ever ready cheerfully to accord proper and grateful acknowledgment to his merits. But, as before stated, in no single instance where he has promised a cure has he failed to effect it.

To accomplish cures the ancient and track-worn system has been entirely repudiated and set aside, and a new, brilliant and original system adopted by Dr. Schenck. He having, after a long course of study, by professional acuteness, judgment and the most extensive practical experience, devoted his ingenuity and the energies of a comprehensive mind to the discovery of such remedies as would act, in combination with each other, on the entire human system, through those channels by which the health and vital energies are sustained and restored. We allude to the nerves, the stomach, the liver, the blood, through regular and healthy action of the digestive organs, the heart, the brain, and lastly, the all-important maintenance or restoration of the lungs to a healthy condition. In a word, these organs are all dependent on each other, and on the uninterruptedly healthy condition of each doth the normal condition of the body and mind, and even the continuance of life itself depend, just as in any complicated and intricate machinery the disarrangement of the smallest wheel, pinion or pivot will impair or stop the action of the whole machine.

In pursuance of this theory, and in demonstration of its success in practice, Dr. Schenk has discovered and is using:

1st—FIRST.—His FAMOUS MANDRAKE PILLS—acting as a gentle or powerful aperient, in proportion to the doses prescribed; regulating the stomach and liver, correcting the secretions, superseding calomel, and while effecting every object for which the various preparations of Mercury have been prescribed, are without that risk to the constitution which always follows, in a greater or less degree, the use of such preparations. A simple Vegetable Pill, but an efficient and infallible remedy for nervous piles, languor, costiveness, even if chronic, and a restorative of vital energy. Thus, through his MANDRAKE PILLS, he is able to accomplish the first step towards the cure of Consumption in its earliest stage, or to counteract any incipient tendency to the disease, by regulating the action of the bowels, altering the secretions through the action of the Pills on the liver and sustaining vital energy.

SECOND—His UNEQUALLED SEA WEED TONIC.—A stimulant and alterative, carefully distilled from Sea Weed and Kelp, mild and pleasant to the taste at a time. Not only harmless to the nervous system, but tending more than any other known medicine to restore and strengthen nervous action without any of that reaction, or prostration after its use has been abandoned, infallibly attendant on the discontinuance of every other stimulant. Possessing, from the alkali it contains, the peculiar property of acting with and assisting or restoring the gastric juices, enabling them (even if the stomach is in an utterly paralyzed condition) to convert the food into healthy chyme, thereby promoting digestion, the proper performance of which function is so absolutely essential to a healthful condition of the blood; invigorating the animal functions, nourishing flesh and muscle, and in connection with the action of the Mandrake Pills, speedily getting the system into such vigorous health as enables it to overpower, ripen and discharge all morbid matter and unhealthy secretions, by which means the result is accomplished of ripening and forcing to suppuration irritations and sores in the lungs, which, as they discharge, will necessarily afford relief to the patient; while, at the same time, the renovated and strengthened condition of the system, the healthful action of the stomach and liver, together with the purification of the blood, infallibly prevent the formation of other abscesses or any new irritation—effectually eradicating or dispersing such tubercles or scrofulous sores as may have formed on the lungs. This effect of these medicines is similar in its peculiar action to that effort of nature to relieve the system when in the normal condition of youth, which we have witnessed in producing an eruption which afflicted, as they supp sed, with boils—humors forced from the blood to the surface, rapidly healing, and proving that in health the natural recuperative powers are of themselves sufficient in their strength to throw off the foul
