ANNAPOLIS, January 29.

On Thursday evening last His Excellency the chevalier de la Luzerne, minister of France, arrived in this city.

By his EXCELLENCY
JONATHAN TRUMBULL, Esq;
Governor and Commander in chief in and over the state of Connecticut.

WHEREAS the legislature of this state, by their resolutions passed at their sessions holden at New Haven on the second Thursday of October last, have declared, that this state has the undoubted and exclusive right of jurisdiction and pre-emption to all the lands lying west of the state of Pennsylvania, and east of the river Mississippi, an' extending throughout from the latitude 41° 0' to latitude 42° 30' north, by virtue of the charter granted by King Charles the second, to the late colony, now state of Connecticut, bearing date the 23d day of April, Anno Domini 1662; which claim and right they are determined to assert and maintain:

I DO therefore, at the desire and request of the said legislature, hereby publish, proclaim, and make known their resolution, assertion, and determination, to all people whomsoever it may concern: And I do also, by this my proclamation, strictly forbid all persons whatever from entering upon or settling within the territory so claimed and asserted, without special licence and authority therefor, first had and obtained from the general assembly of this state, as they would wish to avoid the pains, penalties, and forfeitures, to which they may in such case be exposed.

Given under my hand and seal at Lebanon, in the state of Connecticut; this 15th day of November, Anno Domini 1783.

JONATHAN TRUMBULL.

[The printers in the several states are requested to insert the foregoing proclamation in their papers for the information of the public.]

To the PUBLIC.

THERE has been an advertisement published in several newspapers, by Roger Furidon, proposing to erect a machine for spinning of cotton. There is reason to apprehend that but few persons have paid much attention to this subject, although it is an unquestionable fact, that spinning of cotton by machines is in England brought to great perfection, and that the ingenious author of this invention hath, in a few years, from being a poor man become immensely rich.

The subscriber has frequently conversed with the above-named Roger Furidon, and has no doubt, but that he fully understands the art of constructing those machines, and from sufficient testimonials which the said Roger Furidon hath put into his hands, does believe he hath made considerable improvements thereon, he being the only person yet known that hath ever been able to spin wool on them.

There is nothing wanting at this time to establish the cotton manufactory in America, but a sufficient quantity of yarn to begin with, and the quantity that may be spun in the way proposed is inconceivably great, equal to any demand whatever: it may not be improper to give a general idea of the outlines of the machinery, the expense in constructing it, the quantity of cotton that may be spun, and the profits arising therefrom.

The whole operation of carding, roping, spinning, and reeling, is done by machinery.

The plan proposed is, to build a house large enough to enclose 16,000 spindles, with the other movements requisite to keep them constantly spinning; this will require a building of about 50 feet by 100 feet, and five stories high; it must be erected on a constant stream of water, equal to that which is necessary to drive a common grist mill: this building and machinery, for one third the full complement of spindles (as it may be sufficient to begin with one third) will cost about £.9000, to this add £.1100 more to carry on the business, which makes a capital of £.10,000. It should be noted, that any addition of spindles afterwards is by no means in proportion to the above expense, as the same building will include the whole, and the main movements or running gear are the same for one third of the spindles as for the whole.

The following will be the expence attending 5333 spindles:

Ten men including overseer, clerk, and mechanics, their wages on an average, suppose 15/ per day,	£. 6 0 0
Eighty three women to attend the machinery, at 3/8 per day,	£. 14 10 6
One hundred and thirty four children, from eight to ten years of age, at 2/6 per day,	£. 16 15 0

The whole daily expence will be £. 37 5 6

The quantity of yarn that will be spun and prepared for the weaver by the above number of spindles, 1000 lbs per day, including all the variety used in the cotton manufactory at Manchester, in England, which, on an average, will be worth six shillings per pound at the lowest computation, from which deduct two shillings per pound for the price of the cotton, and the daily expence in spinning as above, there remaineth then a neat profit of £. 162 14 6 per day, or £. 48,800 per annum.

The above calculation is only for one third the complement of spindles that might be included in the building above described, and if there be no error in the calculation, as there is reason to believe there is none, which will reduce the profits, how prodigiously great would they be if the full number of 16,000 spindles were complete? The profits then would be upwards of £. 146,400 per annum! An object well worthy the attention of our monied men.

*****

A capital sufficient to begin with one third or one fourth of the above number of spindles must be great; it is therefore proposed to form a large company for the purpose. The subscriber would be glad to converse with any person inclined to be concerned therein, in order that a well digested plan may be laid for executing the design.
