Anecdote of an extraordinary emigration.—From a late London news paper.

A VERY singular event took place about two years ago; a Scotch gentleman, in the isle of Herries, one of the Western isles, having been very much crossed in love, sold his estate, which produced him upwards of 7000l. with which he fitted out two good ships, embarked at Glasgow himself, and sixty families of his old vassals, with every article necessary for the establishment of a fort and a colony, and set sail, designing for New-Zealand. His intention was to enter the river Thames, of captain Cook, and to navigate his ships into some very secure creek, where they might be fixed to remain, in the vicinity of a rock, to serve as a fort. He took every sort of cattle and seed of England, birds, &c. &c. Being a man of great temper and prudence, there is little doubt but he will entirely conciliate the affections of the natives, by doing them good offices; and should that be the case, he will, in a few years, be sovereign of that noble island: should the scheme fail, he is provided for building, if necessary, other ships. The great misery of the natives arises from a want of cultivation. He will be able, when he has made some progress in their language, to explain fully the importance of a very different agriculture from theirs—will set them the example, and teach every useful art, as amongst his people (all of whom bear his own name) there are artificers of every kind. A friend and neighbour (a seaman settled in the isle) promised to make a voyage to the Thames to pay him a visit in three or four years, with intention, if his colony thrives, to settle with him. The gentleman intended to marry a New-Zealand girl, in order, by that means, to be the more connected with the natives, and convince them of his friendly intentions.

December 19, 1784.

I DO forewarn all persons from hunting within my enclosures with either gun or dog, or riding through and oystering, as I have suffered too much by their pulling down my fences; if they will persist in it they may depend that I will take such steps as the law doth allow in such cases.

ROBERT DAVIDG.

FIVE POUNDS REWARD.

Annapolis, December 23, 1784.

RAN away from the subscriber, some time in the month of September last, a negro woman named LUCY, formerly the property of Benedict Calvert, Esq; of Prince-George's county; is about five feet four inches high, and has lost one eye; her wearing apparel is unknown. Whoever secures her so that her master may get her again, shall receive thirty shillings if taken up ten miles from home, if twenty miles fifty shillings, and if out of the state the above reward, including what the law allows, and reasonable charges if brought home, paid by

ARCHIBALD GOLDER.

Baltimore, November 1784.

ALL persons indebted to the estate of Samuel Lewin, late of Anne-Arundel county, deceased, are requested to make immediate payments, in order to enable us the subscribers to liquidate and adjust all claims which may be against said estate; such persons are desired to bring in their accounts legally authorized for settlement.

SAMUEL SADLER, } executors. JOHN MACKALL, }

TWENTY DOLLARS REWARD.

December 21, 1784.

RAN away from the subscriber, living in Anne-Arundel county, near Queen-Anne, a negro man slave named SAM, about five feet seven inches high, slim made, has a very flat nose, and when his mouth is shut his under lip looks very large and prominent, has a remarkable scar upon his neck reaching almost from his ear to his collar bone occasioned by an imposthume, but on which side I am not certain; had on and took with him various articles of cloathing, among which were a coarse blue cloth coat, white kersey waistcoat, black worsted knit breeches, black leather shoes, white metal shoe buckles, striped holland coat, nankeen waistcoat and breeches, two osnabrig shirts and trousers, a crocus frock, and a new felt hat, but as he has been absent from my service since the 12th of July last it is probable he may have got other cloaths. I have been informed he has a forged pass and has changed his name from Sam to Jem, and endeavours to pass for a free man. Whoever will take up and secure said negro in any gaol, so that I may get him again, shall receive the above reward, and reasonable charges if brought home, paid by

WILLIAM DAVIS, jun.

TAKEN up as a stray, by John Christian Fayman, living on Zachia manor, in Charles county, a truncky short made bay horse, about thirteen hands and a half high, has a hanging mane and short twitch tail, a small star in his forehead, appears to be eleven or twelve years old, has many saddle spots, seems to have drawn, and has no perceivable brand. The owner may have him again on proving property and paying charges.

St. Mary's county, November 22, 1784.

WHEREAS several persons have for some years past made a practice of trespassing on the subscriber's land, by hunting thereon with guns and dogs; notice is hereby given that he is determined to prosecute any person or persons, who may in future enter into and pass through his lands either to hunt or fish, without leave first had from 3X W3 JOHN COODE.

FIVE POUNDS REWARD.

Mount-pleasant, November 23, 1784.

RAN away last night from the subscriber, living near Upper Marlborough, a slave called HESS, (alias Hezekiah Scott) a very fair mulatto, about 22 years old, and about 5 feet 6 inches high, well made, with a large mole on his right cheek, dark red or sandy hair, sometimes tied in a club, and sometimes quaco, by trade a tailor, and a very good waiter; his drest two blue suits, one edged with red, the other lined with white, and yellow metal buttons on both, white linen overalls, white stockings, and shoes with large white metal buckles, a large fantail hat with a black ribbon and buckle, with many other cloaths unknown. I have great reason to think he is in Annapolis, as his mother lives with Mr. George Mann. Whoever will secure the said slave so that I get him, shall have the above reward and reasonable charges if brought home.
