PARSON BROWNLOW'S BOOK: Sketches of the Rise, Progress and Decline of Secession, with a Narrative of Personal Adventure among the Rebels. By W. G. BROWNLOW. Philadelphia: George W. Childs. For sale by J. W. Bond & Co., Baltimore. 1 vol. 12mo., pp. 458.

This production is precisely such a one as might be expected from the author. He commenced life as apprentice to a house carpenter. Dissatisfied with his trade, he sought to achieve fame in the pulpit, and became an itinerant preacher. Unsuccessful in this, he sought political advancement and became a stump orator. Disappointed again, and despairing of gaining distinction, he satisfied himself with obtaining notoriety as the editor of a village newspaper. By his own confession, he has at times been flighty. This is the only possible excuse for the very bad taste manifested in every page of the book, much of which is extremely profane—all of which is pre-eminently vulgar. The publication is essentially sensational. The language is sensational. The pictures are sensational. Parson Brownlow is evidently one of those men who delight in "dodges," and every dodge that could be resorted to has been turned to the best account for the purpose of exciting the minds of the virtuous inhabitants of the North against the wicked and diabolical and brutally vindictive Rebels of the South. It is just such a book as will find a very large sale among a professedly pious and puritanical people.

It has, however, one merit. The author is occasionally frank. He publishes, in full, several letters not highly complimentary to himself, among which, one from T. J. Sinclair is probably the most plain-spoken. The picture it gives of the Parson is not flattering. It concludes as follows:

"You are indebted to every store in your town; and nothing can be made out of you at law, until you cannot get credit in any store for a suit of clothes!

"Your own partisans refuse upon the stump to endorse anything you say, and will not be held to an account for your doctrines; while the common people send off to other sections of your State for newspapers.

"The members of your church have no respect for you, and the better class refuse to speak to you, either publicly or privately.

"This, you lying old hypocrite, is your character, furnished by a South Carolinian from your own town, where you are best known."

The answer of Mr. Brownlow will be found, by those who have any curiosity to peruse it, in its proper place in his work.

GOVERNOR BRADFORD'S CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS FROM MARYLAND.

THE NAMES OF THE COMMITTEE.

Governor Bradford, of this State, has issued the following circular, in response to President Lincoln's call for 300,000 additional troops:

STATE OF MARYLAND, EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, ANNAPOLIS, July 17, 1862.

An anxiety to secure the prompteat possible response on the part of our State to the recent call for additional volunteers—an anxiety that I trust and believe is fully shared by all the loyal of my fellow-citizens, and as fully justified by the importance of the subject and the vast interests we have involved in it—suggests the necessity for the adoption of some means that may effectually aid the efforts of the officers engaged in the recruiting service.

I am requested by the Government to raise, with as little delay as practicable, four regiments of infantry as a part of the quota of Maryland under the call referred to. These regiments can undoubtedly be raised, but to enable us to do so with the utmost possible dispatch—a consideration at present so important—it is manifest that the work must be stimulated by something more than the ordinary efforts of the recruiting officer.

[illegible] provided for by the State and [illegible] usage and importance of individual exertion is everywhere recognized, and such exertion is absolutely indispensable with us, where no public appropriation of any kind has been made, and where we are left to meet the crisis and supply all that the occasion requires by individual enterprise alone.

Impressed with the importance of these considerations, after anxious deliberation, I can suggest no plan better calculated to promote the object in view than to invoke the co-operation and assistance of local committees in the city of Baltimore and other parts of the State, whose organized efforts, intelligence and activity will enable them to give the most proper direction to the personal exertions which the occasion evidently demands.

It seems to me that our loyal community comprises various classes, each capable of rendering important and valuable assistance to our country in this its day of trial, each equally patriotic and ready to render their services, but patriotism is frequently unproductive, either for want of some personal exertion or appeal necessary to give it a practical direction, or the want of a more material aid which might, and ought to be, readily supplied. While, therefore, much may be done by canvassing different neighborhoods, by persons appointed for the purpose, and whose efforts should be directed to arousing the minds of our young and able bodied men to the patriotic duties required of them, the pecuniary necessities of such as are restrained from hearkening to these appeals only by reason of such necessities ought to be immediately and satisfactorily provided for.

When we invite volunteers to enroll themselves in the Union army, and battle for the Union cause against the armed rebels seeking our destruction, and they, responding to that appeal, offer their lives a willing sacrifice to their country—there who, from age or infirmity, or family ties, or any other consideration, can take no part in that martial array, but are yet blessed with other means of contributing to its success, should remember that the most liberal contributions of these means that they can make are but light in comparison with the little blood of the gallant men thus so freely shed.

I am well aware that many of our patriotic citizens have already distinguished themselves by their personal exertions and private contributions in this behalf—many a toil-worn soldier can testify to that effect; but our necessities are not yet supplied, nor our means, as I trust, exhausted. Our State is still menaced with invasion; our country is still assailed by an armed host whose chief strength has been derived from her bounty, and whose principal hope rests upon those who would glory in her annihilation.

When such issues are presented, who will stop to count the cost of our defence, or what are all our possessions worth if we fail a prey to such a combination?

Our efforts, therefore, as it seems to me, should be particularly and zealously directed to stimulate by all available means the enrolment of the volunteers now required, and to the provision of such a fund as may set at rest all fears for the families they leave behind.

I have appointed a committee of fifty for your city, to whose intelligence and patriotism I beg leave to submit the best means of effecting these objects, trusting that you will consent to act as one of this committee, and upon consultation with your fellow-members, and calling to your assistance such auxiliary committees as may be willing to aid you, that you will be able to adopt such measures as are calculated to insure the object in view. The names of the committee will be found below, and they are requested to meet for the purpose of organization, &c., on Monday, the 21st inst., at 5 o'clock, P. M., at the Mayor's office, when and where I hope you may be able to attend.

Very truly, yours, &c.,

A. W. BRADFORD.

KENTUCKY AND TENNESSEE.

It is impossible to read the accounts of the recent daring and successful Confederate raids in the very heart of both Tennessee and Kentucky, directly in the rear of the main body of General Halleck's army, and under the full operation of Order No. 3, without realizing that the mass of the whites in the regions thus overrun are either adverse to the Union cause or paralyzed by indifference or cowardice. Doubtless, our officers surprised at Murfreesboro' were guilty of gross carelessness if nothing worse, but they could not have been so surprised and overwhelmed if they had not been surrounded, enveloped by treason. Trusting that we are nearly out of the Chickahominy swamp of border State policy, and that "Order No. 3" has about done subjecting our soldiers in the slave States to traitorous surprises and ambuscades, we confidently expect an improvement alike in the vigor and in the success of our movements between the Ohio and Tennessee.

A NEW WAY OF BLOWING ONE'S OWN TRUMPET.

From the New York Herald, July 20.

The newspapers of yesterday state that Mr. Wm. H. Aspinwall has donated twenty-five thousand dollars to increase the finances of the Government. Twenty five thousand dollars, though it will go but a very little way towards paying the daily expenses of this war, is still quite a large sum for a private citizen to give to the Government. But, unfortunately, it appears that this benevolent Aspinwall has really made no donation at all. The money he gave to the Government was simply his profit upon a Government gun contract, so that the Government receives back only what it paid out, and is really no better off than before, although Mr. Aspinwall gets plenty of praises. Why, this is not half so liberal a donation as the three thousand dollars and one year's service of the Henrietta, which we contributed to the Government out and out, from our private purse, and without any gun or ship contracts whatever. But the best of this rich joke is that Mr. Aspinwall is said to have made more money than Morgan by buying and selling ships for the Government. The twenty-five thousand dollars profit on his gun contract's Mr. Aspinwall returns to Government, but the one hundred thousand dollars profit upon his Government ship operations he puts in his own pocket. This is a very wicked and credulous world; and so Mr. Aspinwall makes seventy five thousand dollars, a clear conscience and a first-class patriotic reputation, by these transactions. If he would return all his profits on Government contracts, and could induce two-and-a-half per cent. Morgan to do the same, then the affair might deserve to be gazetted in one of Secretary Stanton's characteristic bulletins.

WHAT THE FEDERAL SOLDIERS ENDURED, WHILST FALLING BACK ON THE JAMES RIVER.

Correspondence of the Boston Traveller.

I could occupy columns of this paper with a description of scenes on the road. Men crippled with rheumatism, pale and feeble with recent wounds, sick and ghastly, hobbling along, some with canes, and some leaning on their comrades for support.—Five thousand wagons, making trains miles in extent, covering acres of the fields or winding along over the roads, some carrying baggage, some rations, some ammunition, and some sick and wounded men; ambulances, troops, cavalry, artillery; stragglers, covered with perspiration and half smothered in dust; men with blood on their faces and their heads bound up, blood on their coats and their arms bound up, blood on their pants, and a painful limp showing a wound in the leg; men lying down by the roadside utterly worn out, men flat on their back in a dead faint, or so fast asleep that the trump of doom would hardly rouse them; men seriously wounded borne along on stretchers or in ambulances, and, looking at you so sadly, so wistfully, that it made your very heart ache to see them; men who had lost their regiments during a too zealous charge, or run away from them in unconquerable terror, all huddled together without food, without officers, and lying down in the open field to sleep. Such were some of the scenes on the road, and never shall I forget them.

The demand for nickels at the Philadelphia mint has become so great for some days past that the supply has been exhausted, and on Friday morning the officers were obliged to refuse to give out pennies in exchange for treasury notes. The suspension is only temporary, however, and next week it is expected the nickels will again be paid out.

The Board of Supervisors of Troy, New York, on Saturday morning, voted a bounty of $50, in addition to that offered by the State, to every volunteer recruited in Rensselaer county. This will make the total sum paid to each soldier from old Rensselaer, in addition to his clothing and rations, $356 for a year's services.

The schooners Dixie and Providence, both prizes, have been condemned in Philadelphia by Judge Cadwalader, and are to be sold on the 28th of July. The schooner Fair Play, previously condemned, is to be sold on the same day, together with her cargo of fish, and the cargo of the Providence.

CIGAR AND TOBACCO STORE,

Established in 1840.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of Smokers and Chewers to the well selected stock of CIGARS and TOBACCO of Mr. J. C. SMITH, 153½ Baltimore street, opposite the Museum. This gentleman has, by his thorough knowledge of his business, and personal attention thereto, obtained a well merited reputation for the finest goods in his line, and we confidently recommend all who desire a really fine imported HAVANA CIGAR and superior SMOKING TOBACCO, SNUFF, &c., &c., to give him a call. The fact of his having been twenty two years in his present place of business, we regard as the strongest evidence to what we have said in reference to his reliability in furnishing the best in his line of business. jy22 1m DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS—Prepared with pure St. Croix Rum, (from the estates of well known planters in that tropical Island,) Calisaya, Curcarilla, Barks, &c. Conceded to be the most effectual and delicious morning Tonic and appetizer in the world. They cure Dyspepsia, Acidity of the Stomach, Loss of Appetite, and are just the thing for persons requiring a gentle stimulant.

Travellers by railroads or upon the inland rivers, where the great change of water is such a prolific cause of incipient diseases, like Bilious, Intermittent, Ague and Chill Fevers, may feel a certain reliance if they protect themselves with Plantation Bitters.

PHILADELPHIA, 1st Month, 16th day, 1862.

Esteemed Friend—Will thou send me another case of thy Bitters. Nothing has proven so beneficial or agreeable to my invalid wife and myself, as the Plantation Bitters.

Thy friend, ISAAC HOWLAND.

GEO. PEARSON, Esq.

Dear Sir—I feel it a duty to express to you my sincere acknowledgments of the benefit derived from the use of a package of your SERPENTAR TAR DROPS.

I was suffering with a SEVERE COUGH and SORE THROAT, when a friend presented me with a package of your celebrated TAR DROPS, and when I used them, I was free to confess it was more to gratify my appetite for sweetmeats than the idea of deriving any good from them; but really, the rapid allaying of the irritation and subsequent entire cure of the cough, induces me to thank you, and I take great pleasure in recommending to the public so effective a compound. Respectfully yours, J. E. SMITH, M. D., Assistant Surgeon Artillery Brigade U. S. A.
