THE NEWS.

The public mind to-day is engrossed with the consideration of but one topic, and that is the action of the Government at Washington with regard to the Confederate Envoys, Messrs. Mason and Slidell, and the demand for their surrender made by the British Government, which for the first time is made public. We surrender a large portion of our space to-day to the correspondence on the subject, which has been given to the world through the Washington papers. The simple facts, divested of all verbiage, are that Great Britain, through her Minister at Washington, made an unconditional demand for the surrender of Messrs. Mason and Slidell and their secretaries, couched in language which did not invite discussion, and that the United States Government, through Mr. Seward, responded in apologetic terms, at great and diffuse length, terminating in the following little sentence, which is the gist of the entire effort:

The four persons in question are now held in military custody at Fort Warren, in the State of Massachusetts. They will be cheerfully liberated. Your lordship will please indicate a time and place for receiving them.

I avail myself of this occasion to offer to your lordship a renewed assurance of my very high consideration. WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

We admire the word "cheerfully," and congratulate the writer on the happy and "christian" frame of mind which, under most aggravating circumstances, enabled him to append so kind a sentence to a document which must have cost him no little intellectual labor.

Persons examining the respective correspondence in this case cannot fail to be struck with certain peculiarities in each. Lord Lyons is short, peremptory, and not inclined to argument. M. Thouvenal is brief, polite, but explicit. Mr. Seward is verbose, argumentative, apologetic, and at the end, as humble as Uriah Heep, and as deprecatory as the virtuous and much injured Pecksniff.

So far however so good, and the immediate prospect of a foreign war no longer stares us in the face by day and affords us night mares by night. But we must warn our friends at the Capital that the trouble is not yet past. This thing of establishing a blockade by means of "stone" fleets, it is reported is looked upon by England with horror, as a violation of international law, it being recognized that ports may be blockaded but not destroyed—complications are expected to arise with regard to the operation of the reciprocity treaty, now that England claims the right to send sealed packages by way of Portland, into her Canadian possessions without right of search, and also concerning the efficiency of the blockade as enforced by our national vessels. Upon a careful review of the field we fear that our perils are not over.

There are a thousand questions which could be raised by foreign powers, insolent in view of the success of England's blustering, which would prove annoying, and the insolent Confederates still menace us in front and refuse, even after their late disaster at Dranesville, to retire one mile further from the Capital. Even such admirably rounded sentences of Mr. Seward, as the following—"in coming to my conclusion I have not forgotten that, if the safety of the Union required the detention of the captured persons, it would be the right and duty of this Government to detain them. But the effectual check and waning proportions of the existing insurrection, as well as the comparative unimportance of the captured persons themselves when dispassionately weighed, happily forbid me from resorting to that defence"—do not reassure us. We have not been able to discover when "the effectual check" was given to the insurrection, and the "unimportance of the captured persons" is certainly a fact of recent discovery, as up to this time it has escaped the keen sighted observation of the editors of the Northern press, who usually see as far into a millstone as the next man.

What the effect of the news will be, we are of course unable to say, but, as it has favorably influenced stocks in New York, we may conclude that the army and navy, which are not composed of business people, will derive another impression.

For late news see our third page.

THANKS.—We continue to be daily indebted to Mr. Henry Taylor, the enterprising periodical and newspaper dealer, Sun Iron Bulding, for the latest New York and Philadelphia morning papers.

Stone Blockades a Failure.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, on board the United States steamer Flag, Port Royal harbor, writes as follows, under date Dec. 19th:

The idea of blocking up channels is not a feasible one. The currents in these Southern streams are very rapid, a wreck thus sunk would be washed out in very little time. Were the stone with which the thirty old whalers were laden devoted to the erection of batteries, then indeed might we expect some return for the investment; but to continue to sink vessels which cost from $4,000 to $8,000, seems to be a policy which should be inquired into. Let it be understood that at Hatteras, within the last eight years, a new inlet has been formed. The numerous islands in this latitude surrounded by narrow channels, readily announce the solution of the query, Why should there exist the same tidal velocity South, as at the North?

We already see the effect of the Savannah river upon the whalers sunk. They are burying almost perceptibly, and when they shall have sunk below the surface of the sand, then the channel which it was intended to have closed, so far from being sealed, will only become deeper; nor does the necessity exist for thus blockading up Port Royal Inlet or Tybee Harbor. The former is destined to become the port of South Carolina. Its vast wealth of water alone will entitle it to preference. Charleston lies from the bar eight miles, and Savannah twenty-eight miles. To the former, the navigation is difficult; to the latter, after passing Cockspur Island, a confined thread of water leads to the metropolis.

CITY ITEMS.

Death of Chief Justice Legrand.—We regret to state that Judge John C. Legrand, Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals for the State of Maryland, died at his residence on St. Paul street last night. The Judge had been ill for some weeks past, his disease being fever of a typhoid nature. He was universally esteemed by all classes of our citizens, and his decease will cast a gloom over a large number of intimate personal friends, in whose hearts his memory will never die.

Fire at Woodberry Factory.—On last Saturday night a fire occurred in the Woodberry Factory Ducking Mills of Messrs. Nelson, Gambrill and Hooper, which, but for several fortunate circumstances, would have resulted in the entire destruction of the whole, with its valuable stock of cotton and machinery. As soon as the alarm was given the steam fire engine kept on the place was put in requisition, manned by the residents, and poured a stream upon the fire which effectually quelled the flames, after a loss of between $300 and $500.

Holliday Street Theatre.—Miss Lucille Western will complete her engagement at the Holliday to-night, which has been the most lengthy and successful of any actress who has ever appeared before a Baltimore audience. The bill for this evening comprises the thrilling play of Lucretia Borgia, Miss Lucille as Lucretia, and the romantic drama called the Wizard Skiff, in which Miss Western will personate three characters. During the evening Miss Lucille will deliver a farewell address, and Miss Olivia add to the pleasure of the entertainment by appearing in a favorite dance.

Accident from Fire Arms.—On Christma day Mr. Abel S. Dungan, No. 524 West Lexington street, while making a social call at the residence of a friend, on East Baltimore street, was shot and very seriously wounded while examining a revolver, which was accidentally discharged in the hands of a friend. He was attended by Drs. Inloes, Buckler and Cockrill, but the ball had not yet been extracted. He still remains at the house of his friend, where every attention and sympathy is shown him.

The Payment of Taxes.—From a notice in another column addressed to tax-payers by the Collector, Dr. J. J. Graves, it will be seen that on all bills for 1861, remaining unpaid on the first day of January, 1862, interest will commence to accrue from that date, and further, that all such accounts will thereafter be placed in the hands of the bailiffs of the office, to be collected in the usual manner.

Charge of Smuggling.—Captain James Patty, of the schooner M. S. Tanner, was before United States Commissioner Hanan yesterday, charged with having smuggled a cask of gin into this port. Capt. Patty was released on security of $2,000 to await the action of the Grand Jury of that Court. The schooner belongs to the Messrs. Pendergast of this city, who became his security.

Election of Officers.—The Everett Institute on last Thursday evening elected the following gentlemen officers for the ensuing year: Jas. Whitehouse, President; B. W. Turner, Vice President; Richard Mallalieu, Secretary; B. F. Miller, Treasurer; L. C. Dietsch, Editor; Messrs. Dietsch, Turner, and H. N. Piper, Board of Critics; Messrs. Whitehouse, Turner, Dietsch, Wm. Quigley, and S. G. Sullivan, Board of Curators.

Appointed—Acting Mayor Baker has appointed Mr. William H. Perine a Constable of the Sixteenth Ward, in the place of John Bangs.

Suspension.—The True Union, a Baptist weekly journal issued in this city, has suspended publication.

OFFICE OF THE APPEAL TAX COURT,
BALTIMORE, Dec 28, 1861.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a list, with a description of all new buildings and improvements made during the last year, within the city limits, and assessable for the year 1862, is now ready for examination in this office.
The Appeal Tax Court will be in session for the space of 30 days from the first Monday in January next, to hear and determine the complaints of persons who may feel themselves aggrieved by the valuation of the Assessors. Such persons are hereby notified to make application within the time named, or they may thereafter be excluded from any change in the assessment.
Persons removing to the city and making it their place of permanent residence, are notified that the law requires, under penalty, that they shall report to the Appeal Tax Court all their property liable to taxation.

TO TAX PAYERS.
In order to avoid as far as possible all cause of complaint and in performance of duty as directed by law, Tax Payers whose bills for 1861 remain unpaid, are notified that on all taxes thus in arrears on the FIRST OF JANUARY, 1862, interest will commence to accrue, and also, that on that day all such accounts will be placed in the hands of the bailiffs of the office.
It is only proper to say, that much of the financial credit of the city, in which all are so deeply interested, depends now, more than ever, upon the prompt payment of the taxes, and the undersigned in endeavoring to fulfil his official duty, at the same time is desirous that the public should in no way suffer from any neglect or want of energy on his part.
