OATHS OF ALLEGIANCE ASSUMED TO BE GRIEVOUS WRONGS.

Oaths of allegiance are particularly unpalatable just now. Certain Tennessee politicians inimical to Gov. Andrew Johnson have of late been badgering President Lincoln on the subject of a rather stringent "oath" prescribed by the former; they complaining strongly of Mr. Lincoln—and of Gov. Johnson as well,—because they will not give half way loyalty, Copperheadism, a better chance to display itself in the coming election. As Maryland has just been through the same troubles, essentially, as all here know the readiness with which disloyalty can find a pretext for making the Constitution a "rock of offence" to its only true defenders, we have no sympathy whatever with the lamentations elicited from the disconcerted delegation from Nashville to Washington. Let anybody say all they can in favor of Tennessee Unionism, of all that has been available there for the vindication of the Administration at its greatest needs, Andrew Johnson at last stands out in the eyes of the loyal of the nation as its most eminent defender there, as the one man from that State who, at the first rebellious demonstration, crow down the gauntlet to Jeff. Davis, Benjamin & Co. in the United States Senate, and assumed that position which has been for the Government a tower of strength to the present time.

The two most prominent names on the list of delegates in question, are those of ex-Governor Campbell and Hon. Bailie Peyton—They were old line Whigs in more peaceable times; but when Tennessee went over to the rebels under the manipulations of Isham G. Harris and his traitorous compeers, they were heard of no more until the gunboats of Commodore Foote awakened them again to life and action. With Gov. Campbell, the vindication of the policy of the Government lasted up to the issuance of the Emancipation Proclamation; but that manifesto quite knocked him off his base. Appointed previously a Brigadier General of volunteers—to which his military reputation well entitled him,—he at once resigned his commission, and ever since, in the company of Leslie Coombs and other old fogies of the Fillmore school, he has been oscillating about, rather prominent, at last, as a "Peace candidate" of the disaffected for the Vice Presidency.

Now the President, knowing all this, of course, could find no reason for throwing overboard or stubbing his old and staunch defender, Andy Johnson, in favor of any such. And because he would not do it, because he would not relax the stringency of the Governor's rule in Tennessee, to suit a class which finds its parallel, here in Maryland, and in fact in all the border States, the delegation in question retire vastly indignant, and with the evident conviction that the Constitution and everything dependent upon it has gone forever, that the country has tumbled overboard.

But, there was a time in the history of the present war, when these same Tennessee Unionists fared far worse than they are now doing at the hands of Andrew Johnson, when the latter insists upon a stringent oath as a preliminary to the exercise of the elective franchise; and this was when Tennessee was in the hands of Isham G. Harris and the gang of traitors, from the tyranny of whom the Government has delivered the State. At that time in its history, one Judge Humphreys was the United States Circuit Judge, and when written to upon one occasion by certain persons there for a definition of treason,—treason to the rebel confederacy—the following was, in part, his response:

"Chief Justice Marshall states: 'It would "operate most mischievously if persons were "permitted to remain in a State and not sub"mit to its laws.' This universal law of nations "is founded on the public safety and justified "by the reason, that he who receives the pro"tection of the laws must obey the laws, a "maxim, the truth and justice of which has "been acknowledged in all ages and nations. "Protection demands allegiance; allegiance "demands protection. We say to those who "least their suffrages against the Legislature, "that they have no right to REMAIN in the "midst of the community for the purpose of "troubling them to destroy those amongst whom "they reside, and the protection of whose laws "they enjoy."

Now let us note that this was the tyranny from which the people of Tennessee were delivered by the cabinet indicators of the President, and we know that the "Dump-policy" of the Memphis Appeal, and of the rebels elsewhere, meant everything the phrase indicates, where they had the sway. And yet, because now the President has found it needful to authorize the protection of the loyal by "oaths" enforced against the doubtful, the disaffected and the disloyal, he is conferred at not little better than the rebel leaders, who, not content with exercising the most stringent test, would not permit men who "least their votes against" them, even to "remain in the State!" Had that oath thus insisted upon by a rebel judge been enforced by the Government here in Maryland, and since the recent election, nearly one half of the people of the State would now be on their way to exile, would be locating domicils in other States.

The truth is, the Government has not shown a tithe of that stringency in protecting itself, manifested by the rebels and their sympathizers. And at a time like this, when the Copperheads are in plain alliance with the rebels, when every success of the one is greeted with a shout of exultation in the camps of the other, all truly loyal men will be glad to see any reasonable means adopted to make the disaffected, the opponents of the Government show their true colors. According to the morals or the logic lately elicited from the President's enemies, no kind of oath is going to stick in the throats of even some of the sharpest or most enlightened; and when facts demonstrate this, when in the very crisis of the great political conflict, traitors and their friends show a determination to defy that power which has so long preserved us as a nationality, when they would betray it even at the expense of their souls, let all loyal men rejoice that any method can be hit upon to circumvent the wickedness and recklessness of all moral restraint so amazing in its general prevalence with those once esteemed honorable.

THE PURNELL LEGION.

Eight companies of the Purnell Legion arrived here yesterday morning from the Army of the James, their term of service having expired. They comprise about one hundred and seventy officers and men, and leave at the front Co. K and the men of the regiment whose term of service has not expired—about eighty men in all. They left the Weldon Railroad on Saturday morning. The Maryland Brigade was generally in fine health and condition, and is commanded by Col. A. W. Denison. All the officers and men—so far as is known—are for the re-election of Mr. Lincoln.

The following is a portion of a letter from a soldier in Hood's army in Georgia, recently taken from a rebel mail-carrier who was attempting to make his way secretly into our lines:

The Confederacy is no more; it received its death-wound at Mission Ridge; it was buried at Atlanta. I dislike deserters, but would you blame me to leave the service when there is no longer even a ray of hope?

The men are deserting daily, hourly. This army is but a mere band now. Heroic they all are, it is true, but what can they accomplish? What can Hood do with 25,000 men, destitute and anxious to return to their homes?—25,000 men, of whom 24,000 acknowledge that the cause of the Confederacy is lost, and are anxious that the denouement, now that they do give it up, shall come speedily.

The people here are suffering fearfully.—God knows what will become of them. His hand falls heavily on them now; may the day dawn and the country soon be blessed with peace and plenty.

The devotion of the New England women to the Union cause during the present war will be no less conspicuous in history than that of their mother's of the revolution. The Boston papers mention the case of a lady whose husband and only son enlisted early in the war. The husband was killed, and the widow determined to give her means and her services to the Union cause. She went to the army to nurse the wounded soldiers, and on thirteen battle-fields ministered to their wants. Finally her son, the last of a family of four, was killed in battle, and alone in the world, the last earthly tie severed, she procured his body and with it returned to Boston, disconsolate and alone. While conveying the body to her old home, some dastardly pickpocket robbed her of all the money she had remaining in the world. What a lesson for those croakers who, having sacrificed nothing, sit in their easy chairs and prate about the hardships of war, as shown in their increased bills for luxuries they might well spare.

Child Training.—They were as pretty little children once as you could wish to see, and might have been so still if they had only been left to grow up like human beings; but their foolish fathers and mothers, instead of letting them pick flowers, make dirt pies, and get bird's nests, and dance round the gooseberry bush, as little children should, kept them always at lessons, working, working, learning week-day lessons all week-days, and Sunday lessons all Sundays, and weekly examinations every Saturday, and monthly examinations every month, and yearly examinations every year, everything seven times over, as if once was not enough, and enough as good as a feast—till their brains grew big, and their bodies grew small, and they were all changed into turnips, with but little water inside; and still their foolish parents actually pick the leaves off them as fast they grow, lest they should have anything green about them.—Charles Kingsley.

Southern Refugees—Extract of a Letter Received from an Officer in the Navy.—United States Steamer Metacomet, off Mobile, Sept'r 28, 1864.—Last night a boat was brought alongside this ship by our picket boat, containing an old man, seventy-eight years of age, with his wife and daughter, twelve years, and two sons, thirteen and fourteen years old. He was fleeing from the merciless conscription, his sons and himself having been drafted. The boat was a miserable old scow, leaking badly, in which they had pulled for fifteen miles, with the family and whatever things the boat would contain.—The eldest boy was drafted last spring, and went to Lee's army, while his father was in Mississippi; but, after the battle of the Wilderness, succeeded in making his escape from Richmond and returned home.

The Richmond, South and North Carolina papers report considerable sickness at Wilmington, Newbern and Charleston. The whole Atlantic coast is evidently infected. At Newbern it is stated that a hundred and twenty-four deaths from yellow fever had occurred within twenty-four hours. It is said "the Yankee troops have been hurried off into "the woods or any where and have suffered severely." Considerable alarm prevailed at Wilmington, lest the fever should extend to that place. Families were hurrying off to the country. At Charleston the disease is said to be on the increase. The mortality among children is very large. Some neighborhoods seem to be more afflicted than others—especially is this the case around the Arsenal. Its introduction has been owing to the want of proper precaution in allowing blockade-runners too free access to the city on arriving from Nassau and other affected ports.

MARRIED.

MORRISON—FUCKLES.—On the 23d inst., by the Rev. B. F. Brooke, Parker Morrison, Esq., to Miss Elizabeth Fuckles, all of this city.

BRECKINBRIDGE—THORNTON.—On the 23d instant, in Baltimore county, by the Rev. James Ross, Philip Breckinbridge and Miss Julia Thornton.

DIED.

WAGGNER. In Washington, on the 19th of September, Mollie A., aged 11 months and 11 days. Also, on the 20th inst., George W. Green, aged 3 years 1 month and 13 days, beloved children of George J. and Lizzie E. Waggner.

☞Washington and Philadelphia papers please copy.

The friends and acquaintances of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral from the residence of George T. Green, No. 31 Jackson street, on this Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, without further notice.

LYONS.—On the 25th instant, Jane Lyons, aged 87 years.

WAITE.—On the 9th instant, Lizzie, the beloved wife of W. W. Waite, in the 23d year of her age.

POLSON.—On the 23d instant, William L., youngest son of Hugh and Eliza Polson, in his 20th year.

FAVERSON.—On the 24th instant, George W. Faverson, in the 21st year of his age.

QUINN.—On the 24th instant, Francis Jerome Quinn, aged 10 years.

☞Gen. McClellan's nomination by the Copperheads of Chicago was a bold bid for the support of the soldiers. But the latter understand the dodge, and indignantly spurn the insulting overtures. They will vote for no man who is not committed to the Union and the vigorous prosecution of the war.—Least of all will they vote for a pretended military hero decked in the livery of "peace."

A Handsome Steel Engraving, illustrating the Biblical scene, "Christ Blessing Little Children," is now being offered to the patronage of our citizens. It is from a painting by Dr. Jaenne, and engraved by Perine, of New York, in his usual excellent style. The subject—always a pleasing one—is handled with unusual freedom and skill; the grouping is remarkably natural; and altogether the picture realizes our conception of the touching and truly Christ-like scene, more fully than any other we can recollect of ever having seen. The picture is a superior line and stipple engraving, 20 by 25 inches, and is published by Henry Bill, of Norwich, Conn., the publisher of Abbott's History of the Civil War. As illustrative of one of the most touching and beautiful scenes in the life of our Savior, it should find a place in every household. A soliciting Agent, for the sale of this engraving by subscription, is about calling upon our citizens, and we command him to their favorable attention.

No Sewing Machine Complete without D. Barnum's "Self Sewer." On exhibition, and for sale, and applied to all the leading Machines, by the inventor, at the Maryland Institute Fair.—Price $1 50, with directions. oc25-1m*

The thousands of physicians in this country and Europe who are prescribing Speer's Wine, as well as using it in their own families in preference to all others, is sufficient evidence of its superiority over imported Wines, as well as over the manufactured sugared stuff, often called native wines. This only genuine Sambucus Wine has Mr. Speer's signature over the cork of each bottle. Its purity for a communion wine and its valuable properties for medical use, cannot be surpassed. Be not deceived.—Port and Press.

Facts for Soldiers.—Throughout the Indian and Crimean Campaigns, the only medicines which proved themselves able to cure the worst cases of Dysentery, Scurvy and Fever, were HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Therefore, let every Volunteer see that he is supplied with them. If the reader of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, 80 Maiden Lane, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make. 35 cents, 88 cents, and $1.40 per box or pot.

Cure Your Coughs.—Fowle's Juniper Tar is warranted to cure any case of cough, throat or lung disease, arising from colds, in an incredibly short time, no matter of what nature or of how long standing, with absolute certainty. We say this emphatically, and stake the price of the medicine in all cases on our assertion. In fresh cases of cough or croup instantaneous relief is produced. Try it, and if not convinced of the above declaration, return the empty bottles and get your money back. Sold by Coleman & Rogers, 173 Baltimore street, and other Druggists. 35 cents per bottle. s24-tf

The Horrors of War can be greatly mitigated by that sovereign remedy, HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT, as it will cure any wound, however desperate, if it be well rubbed around the wounded parts, and they be kept thoroughly covered with it. A pot or ointment should be in every man's knapsack. If the reader of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug store in his place, let him write to me, 80 Maiden Lane, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make. 35 cents, 88 cents, and $1.40 per box or pot.

Speer's New Jersey Wine is a pure, unadulterated juice of the Oporto Sambucus grape, now being cultivated in this country by Mr. Speer—It is valuable for family use, and for its tonic and invigorating properties. It gives tone to the stomach and invigorates the system. In fashionable circles it has become the favorite table-wine. Druggists are agents for this Wine.—Inte Digencer. oc17-1w

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with a derangement of the mind, were cured immediately.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption.

Especially.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded—Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Foretokings, Aversion to Society, Self Denial, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

HASHEESH CANDY.

HASHEESH CANDY,
FOR
ASTHMA.

Mr. Wm. H. Read:

Dear Sir—I wish to inform you by this writing that I have been suffering with Asthma in its worst form for 30 years, spending within that time hundreds of sleepless nights in the most suffering manner. Everything failed to give relief until I obtained a box of HASHEESH CANDY, which proved the most wonderful curative agency I ever used, relieving me immediately whenever attacked by the disease. Often I have been so severely attacked that I could with great difficulty breathe at all, and was incapable of lying down at night, having such terrible smothering sensations. Medical men of all schools failed to afford the least relief. Without much hope I resorted to this wonderful Candy in January, 1864, ever since which time I have slept without the least trouble by using some whenever threatened by an attack, and am thankful that such a remedy is to be found. I recommend it to all afflicted by Asthma, Hose Cold, Hay Fever, or diseases of that class.

JOHN R. WILKER,
11th District Baltimore Co., Maryland.
