OUR CITY.

The Message of Mayor Chapman, elaborate and carefully prepared as it is, going into minute details in relation to each city department, shows a most flourishing and promising condition of affairs, and elicits new feelings of thankfulness at its perusal that the evils of the war have, after all, fallen so lightly upon us. With our population greater than it has ever been, and our finances, even beyond the past, showing a soundness to compare favorably with those of the most favored cities, we may enter upon the new year with brightened hopes—we are permitted to feel that with the war closed, no commercial community may look for surer rewards for well considered enterprize.

We heartily congratulate all concerned that this is so;—that in the line of duty has been the line of interest. The troubles of the war surmounted, and who can assign a limit to our progress, whose heart is not elate as he surveys the brightening and promising future?

NEW EVIDENCE OF SOUTH CAROLINA'S DISSATISFACTION WITH THE RICHMOND TRAITORS—ABOLITION AT RICHMOND.

We have more evidence from South Carolina going to show her decided opposition to the schemes of Jeff. Davis and his particular friends, for arming and emancipating the slaves of the South; and this is seen in some more resolutions—to be found in our news columns—lately introduced and, at last accounts, under consideration in her Legislature.

These—it will be seen—make a direct issue with the plans of the "Confederate Government," and repudiate all schemes which propose to recognize the negro as aught more than he has been in the social policy of the South. Sharp enough to see that any concessions in the direction of freedom—that that boon offered to the slave is, as they express it—"a declaration that slavery is an interior condition" from which the slave should seek to rise, they will have nothing to do with it, and they denounce those who do.

And what makes this case the more interesting, just now, is the fact—that the leading spirits in Virginia have at last made this thing of putting the negroes into the field, a case for active discussion; a pressure that will take no denial.—Driven to utter desperation, they have at last resolved in the rebel capital to give up the negro, if they can do no better, and are even debating as another contingency, the surrender of their boasted "independence," the making of themselves vassals to England or France, rather than to submit to the Government.

And from past experience, it may be considered no trifle, when South Carolina refuses to come in to the decisions of the central despotism. Used up as she is by the war, she is yet a great essential to the prolongation of the contest; so it must be anything but pleasant now, for Mr. Davis and his friends to receive from her public men the emphatic declaration—"that this State cannot consent to the proposition by which the slaves so employed "shall be purchased and declared free by "the Confederate Government,"—and so on.

And now let us contrast with this sturdy declaration of purposes, the language of a remarkable editorial in the Richmond Sentinel, a production generally credited to the pen of Jeff. Davis himself. We quote:

"If it be necessary to convince the "world that we are fighting for the self-"government of the whites, that we should "liberate the negroes, and if that liberation "can be made to secure our recognition "and the guaranty of England and France "to our independence, we believe that the "people of these States would not hesitate to "make the sacrifice."

Now then, with views so much in discordancy, how long are the rebel chiefs likely to act in harmony? Who does not see that now that the South itself has a formidable body of emancipationists, or abolitionists at the head of her councils, that slavery is past all chance of being preserved,—even were the national troops merely to hold them to their present position in a military point of view? Who would have thought that a four years conflict would have resulted in compelling South Carolina to guard herself against a wholesale abolition scheme at Richmond, and what have any of the originators of a rebellion in the interests of slavery to hope for with the war continued?

There was a time in the earlier stages of the conflict when the cotton States might have retraced their steps with slavery saved, but that day, the most fanatic believer in "Southern rights" must see, has gone by forever. Slavery is perishing by the mere prolongation of the war, and when we add to this consideration that other terrible one, that the flower of the Southern white population is being absolutely swept off day by day, in a hopeless struggle, is it not the extreme of madness to continue the fight?

The public meeting in Savannah, the other day, is the first glimpse of sanity that seems to have been exhibited in that whole region; and when the citizens there propose to give up the contest and come back to the Union, it cannot be long before they will find imitators elsewhere in that quarter. At any rate, let them continue the fight a little longer, and it seems as if there would be few left of the masses, but the old men, women and children to receive the benefits of "reconstruction."

[COMMUNICATED.]

THOUGHTS.

If persons can take from the people of the United States any part of their country, then they can take the whole, when these persons shall so please.

The brave defenders of the country are expecting more renumeration. That cannot be had by increasing the bits of paper they receive. As a matter of course, when the quantity is increased its purchaseable power is reduced in proportion. The true way to indemnify them for their great services is to give them the means of those who have incited and waged war and brought on all its attendant afflictions.—This is the usual course both in ancient and modern times

People who were not satisfied with a fall, and more than a fair share of equal rights, but would lord it over the citizens of this country as they have been accustomed to do with their slaves, it is hoped the nabobs—as in derision are called—will show them their proper places It is time they were dealt with by ungloved hands.

Abraham Lincoln is an amiable and well meaning man, but it is almost a pity when this country has so many villains to deal with there was not a Jeff. Davis at the head of affairs. Only think of our pampering the wretches we hold as prisoners and permitting their colleagues in inquity taking the lives of our defenders in their hands like fiends, by inches.

Our foreign friends are like so many carrion crows cawing about. The traitors are now seen proposing to give them as much of our country as they can steal from us. Let us show that they will miss that feast, and that we will yet have a great and glorious nation. C.

THE DRAFT—TRUE ANSWERS MUST BE GIVEN TO ENROLLING OFFICERS.

It has been represented that in many instances the enrolling officers are impeded in their duty by not being able to obtain correct replies to questions—the names of persons liable to draft being incorrectly given, or evasive or untrue statements made in regard to their whereabouts. Persons guilty of such conduct are liable to be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by both of said punishments at the discretion of the Court.

THE NEW ATLANTIC CABLE.—The cable for the new submarine Atlantic telegraph is being prepared at London, and placed on board the Great Eastern. Messrs. Canning and Gifford are to commence laying the telegraph cable across the Atlantic in June next. The Great Eastern will have 500 hands on board, with a weight of 15,000 tons, including 4,500 tons of cable, and 1,000 tons of coal. The conductor is formed of seven copper wires, and as there are 2,300 miles of cable, there will be 16,000 miles of copper wire. Every portion of this wire is subjected to electrical tests, and then covered with successive coats of insulated material. This coat is covered with jute, and the jute is covered with ten covered iron wires, each of which is covered separately with five strands of tarred hemp. The manufacture and preparation of this cable is going on with great rapidity, and there is every reason to hope and believe that this coming experiment to secure telegraphic communication between England and America will prove a success.

CRIME IN NEW YORK.—During the year 1864 the number of crimes committed in New York was larger than for many years past. In the Court of General Sessions four hundred and twenty two criminal cases were disposed of. The convictions numbered 275, and there were several murder and manslaughter cases. In the Special Sessions three thousand nine hundred and forty-seven cases out sixty two. The largest number was in March, when eleven were committed.—Many of the trials grew out of the riots.

Receptions and parties are as numerous as ever, and the increased demand from that class for Mr. Speer's Sambucci wine is astonishing. Prof Chilton uses it in his own family, and has written to the public recommending it.—New York Times.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ENOCH ARDEN.
DRAMATIZED FROM TENNYSON'S POEM
BY
MAD. DE MARGUERITTES.

This latest Poem of the Poet Laureate of England has produced a sensation in Europe only equalled by that produced years ago by the Poems of Byron. "The Master of Hearts," says the London Athenæum, has again selected for his theme—Love; and love it is that awakens the tenderest and deepest emotions of the heart, for Enoch Arden is a thoroughly Domestic Play, not appealing to classes or institutions, but to nature in its holiest and purest form.

To the Poet's Poem of the chief incident and catastrophe of the brave sailor's life, the dramatist has added many episodes, but she has preserved almost all the Poet's sweet and picture diverse, so that Enoch Arden has the simple interest of a home drama; it possesses at the same time all the beauties of high classical art. Dramatized, however, with due regard to present taste, the Play is full of effects, and has joined to its classical and poetical character intense dramatic interest.

AT
On MONDAY EVENING NEXT. 1t

☞ THE BOARD OF TRADE OF THE CITY OF BALTIMORE, at its monthly meeting held on the 4th instant having had formally announced to them the death of their former President, the following proceedings were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the sad intelligence has reached us that our former and beloved President, JOHN CHRISTIAN BRUNE, died on the 7th of December, 1864, on board of the steamer R. M. S. S. Tasmanian, on the voyage from Southampton to Havana;

And whereas, during his career as a merchant in our community, he ennobled by his manly virtues and dignified by his talents the vocation of which he was one of the highest ornaments and most distinguished members;

And whereas it behooves us, when such as he have fallen by the way, to perpetuate the memory of their high regard for principle, as men, their integrity, enterprise and liberality, as merchants, as much in respect of the departed, as for the purpose of furnishing to those that follow after them examples worthy of imitation;

Be it Resolved, We deplore that it has pleased Providence to cover with the shadow of death our lamented friend while away from his country, and that, separated from his friends, and with none of the comforting endearments of home to soothe his dying moments, the billow was his shroud and the ocean his grave,

That we offer to his family this sincere tribute of respect to his memory, and accompany our expressions of condolence and sympathy, with the hope that time, with its soothed influences, will assuage the grief with which this sad bereavement now overwhelms them.

That this Chamber be draped in mourning for a period of twelve months,

That a copy of these resolutions be published in the papers of the day.

By order,
Signed, OTO. U. PORTER, Secretary. 1t
