SOMETHING ESPECIALLY FOR THE CONSIDERATION OF THE CITIZENS OF BALTIMORE.

A telegraphic dispatch to be found in this morning's Clipper announces a call for the people of Boston to meet at Faneuil Hall, to concert measures for the relief of the people of Savannah. New York had previously made a move in the same direction, and we next look for something of the kind from our nearer neighbor, Philadelphia. Let us ask—is not all this sufficiently suggestive as to what is the duty of Baltimore?

Let it be noted, that if the cities named can be found taking active steps to relieve the sufferings of those in the South who have become victims of the war, much more should Baltimore take measures to the same end, hitherto considered as she has been, the commercial metropolis of the South; the foremost city in this section in population and trade. From her very position she cannot be suffered to fall behind the cities we have mentioned without sadly compromising her established reputation for generosity, and all else that has been her boast and her pride in the past. Remembering also, that before the war, our relations with Savannah were direct and intimate, and that once permitted by circumstances, these must be so again, should not a meeting of our leading citizens be held at once, to inaugurate measures such as will not leave us behind with any in the good work contemplated.

Again,—let it be noted, that this movement should not be one that would seem of temporary importance. As the beaten section submits, as the leading mischief makers are displaced from power who have brought upon the masses such unutterable losses and woes, all must expect these appeals for aid to multiply; all must prepare to see such demands made upon the North for aid as were never before known, such as hardly can even be conjectured at present. The last sufferers in the South who will be permitted to feel the severe pressure of want, of starvation, will be the military; to the support of these the masses, the non-combatants will be remorselessly sacrificed, and as the territory is brought back under the national flag, these must be relieved.

There are other and obvious considerations we might urge, but the action of the New Yorkers is sufficiently suggestive, and should be heeded by the people of Baltimore. Then we say, and urge, that no time should be lost in freighting a vessel with supplies for Savannah. As to the best method of doing this, of appealing to our citizens for means to do it, we leave that to the action of a public meeting. The citizens here can do it, but it must be no picayune matter, to contrast badly with the contributions from other quarters. Let a few of our prominent citizens at once get together, call a meeting, and set committees to work, and there can be no question as to a beneficial and honorable result.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

The Message of Gov. Bradford is especially welcome just now, when sound views, good advice are so greatly needed in regard to the new career just opening upon us. Refraining from burdening this document with profitless and abstract speculations on political topics, something too much in vogue before an era of fierce excitements called for stern facts briefly stated, he has with excellent taste wasted no words; but taking up topic after topic, he discusses and dismisses them, presenting all that is needful for the consideration of the Legislature and the people at large.

And yet, never before in the history of Maryland was such an important epoch known. Starting off with a discussion of the leading points in the New Constitution, his views in regard to the encouragement of immigration should be particularly commended, because upon that we must hereafter rely for filling the void created by the events of the war.

A thorough survey of the State, and the appointment of a competent "State Geologist" are further suggested, and must meet the approval of an enlightened Legislature, inasmuch as nothing should be left undone to set forth the advantages of the State in its mining and agricultural resources in the best light possible. We want capital and labor; and to get these in abundance, the people of other States should find no difficulty in coming at the true condition of things here.

The subject of the new Educational System is briefly but ably commented upon, and the premise held out that within the time limited, by law, the General Superintendent will be prepared with the plans needful to a uniform system of Free Public Schools.

Then comes the subject of the State finances, which are shown to be eminently in a good condition, and following these, we have a discussion in regard to State bounties, state militia, soldier's cemeteries and other matters connected with the military and relief organizations created by the war. The public works, the oyster laws and charitable institutions of the State receive due attention, the whole winding up with various miscellaneous subjects such as the inspection of grain, appropriations for the support of the Government, &c.

In concluding our brief notice of the Message, we congratulate all concerned that the State has had the benefit of an administration as firm and enlightened as Gov. Bradford's has proved to be, and that in giving up his office, he hands it over to one also noted for his administrative capacity, and eminently capable of appreciating the new condition of affairs. Under such rule, the splendid future of Maryland is already guaranteed, so that when the war closes and we enter upon an era of peace, we shall have lost no time in getting ready for a more prosperous career.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION.—We are indebted to Messrs. J. Murphy & Co., Publishers, 182 Baltimore street, for an elegant copy of the New Constitution of Maryland in book form, and we would call the attention of our readers to their advertisement in to-day's issue, in relation to the supplement to the Maryland Code to be brought out under their supervision forthwith, along with the debates and proceedings of the Maryland Constitutional Convention.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ THE MAYOR'S MESSAGE.—Under the head of "Commissioners of Insolvency" the Mayor says, "While in the same property he's by J. H. Simpson at $400 per annum, which he has paid any, since for the last ten years. The public will be astonished to learn, as it is, if there is any money due, the Mayor did not prefer to the city's interests and exercise its payment, and at the matter was recently before the Court, a statement of the facts there elicited will enable it to judge. It appears that in 1849, John Keilholz leased from the city for six years, the tab house, to pay, at an annual rent of $300, with at that time a vacant lot for it, with the understanding from the Mayor of the city that the lease would be renewed on the same terms, as long as he behaved well.

The time of which I was a partner, being desirous of procuring a lot for manufacture upon purpose, and this only putting after receiving assurance from the Mayor that they might consider the lease as good as renewed, or it was the custom to make the first expired periods and renew the same terms, and with they would have made them for my part, but it was not in power on the part of the Commissioners of Finance. The firm paid Mr. Keilholz $600 for an assignment of the lease, and immediately commenced erecting building, and putting on machinery at cost of $3,000. In 1852 the City Council authorized the Commissioners of Finance to make a lease for 99 years, and the firm having been discovered and the lease assigned to me, I applied for a lease for 99 years. But as of giving me one, as I had a right to expect the city could, in 1852 proceed after notice that which I had rendered the lease. Then held, the lot should be put up at public auction and leased to the highest bidder, but that I for any one else should have the right to pay $100 a year.

It did not get it, I should have six months from the day of sale to remove from the premises, presuming that the enormous advance they arbitrarily placed on it would be a sufficient bluff me off. But having so large an amount of property invested on it, which would be no use to remove, and being unable without large additional expenditures to make it available, and having an offer of $200,000 additional capital if I got a permanent lease, I applied to the Commissioners of Finance to know, if I transferred my lease, when they would put it up at auction. They replied immediately; and I made a transfer of the lease to the city in 1853, and paid the rent in full up to that time. In making this transfer, I deprived myself of the right to compel the city by suit to renew my lease on the original terms of $600 a year; but I supposed the lot would be immediately put into the market, and that I could commence my manufactures with more advantage than wait the result of a law suit.

The Commissioners of Finance advertised the property in 1853, but before the day of sale the Council repealed the resolution under which the Commissioners acted, and the sale was withdrawn. Thus, after promising to renew the lease at $600 a year as long as I wanted it, and, under this assurance, getting $35,000 worth of property on the lot, then refusing to comply with their promise and getting me to transfer back the lease upon the faith of the sham resolution of the City Council; that they would put it up immediately at auction, then after getting back the lot and property to themselves they were unmanned, however, at the last, and they then appealed to the Court of Common Pleas, and in November last the court, after hearing all the facts in the case, decided, that as I had complied with my agreement, they must comply with their; that after the transfer of my lease to the city I was not a tenant, and therefore they were not entitled to rent. Had they in 1853 offered the lot at auction, they would then either have had their lot, or the rent for it, and, if they, themselves fraud, or to use the language of the above, "from being a target at which to fire refuse to throw shot."

Thus, we see, I have been comparatively idle for eleven years, subject to have my property thrown into the market at any time, and therefore prevented from making any additional improvements by which the value of the property already laid out could be made available; at last, when they could stave off no longer, after waiting for eleven years for the property to rise in value, they have a plan made of a lease, but not, instead of the property which I transferred to them, and which by the resolution of the Council they were directed to offer, and set up that part property I transferred having competent me to await their pleasure for it, that I must now take a chance at any part of my property left in the sovereign capacity might be pleased to offer. Of equity I have no claim against the justice of the state, and they will be compelled yet to do the lot I transferred to them.

With these facts laid before it, the public will be at no loss, to understand the depth and recklessness of the injustice which, to show forth the apparent disgracy and extravagance of the Commissioners of Finance to fill the city's treasury in favor can descend to a personality which I complained must necessarily call in question in the mind of every one who reads his message, he common honesty of the Comptroller of the House property—thus and the fact that he has to say, contained solely by the city's bad faith, a distrust of his business integrity which he cannot judge him by personal acquaintance. Had the city kept faith with the actuation to the city treasury which he accrued by my not being able to extend my leases, as contemplated, in consequence of the city's bad faith, he would have placed the sagacity of the Commissioners of Finance in its true light. Thus after eleven years they think they have loaded the property at $125,000 and that it is worth $24,416. If it has been offered at auction in 1853 it must have sought by the terms of resolution at least $50,000 more.

The $200,000 of additional capital brought into the city would have yielded in taxes at one per cent, $2,000 a year and improvements to the amount of $200,000 in dwellings for the workmen around the property would have yielded taxes $5,000, equal together to $35,000 a year for eleven years would have amounted to $385,000, to that the world have received at the time $5,000 more than the entire value of the lot. The company's account at all, neither the additional value that would have accrued to the Baltimore City property by these improvements.

Editors who have published the personal paragraph in the Mayor's message thinks quoted, will oblige me by publishing this.

JAMES H. STIMPSON,
Baltimore, Jan'y 6, 1865.

☞ THE SIGEL UNION LEAGUE passed at a regular meeting on the 4th inst., the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, The members of the Sigel Union League have with great surprise and indignation noticed, that certain city advertisements are now published in the "German Correspondent," and said "correspondent" has always opposed the principles of the union cause, and Union Party, just as he has always denounced the Union Union men as "Black Republicans," and has always worked in the interest of the Slaveholders and secessionists and he has often and openly called on himself a number of said party, which has declared war against our party, and incapable to hold any office.

Resolved, That we regard the action of taking the City advertising from the "Baltimore Wecker," who has always advocated the principles of our party, and the transfer of the same to the Correspondent, as an offence offered to the whole Union Party.

Resolved, That we earnestly protest against such patronizing of the said correspondent, which has, as above mentioned, advocated secession and the "Rebellion" of the South, —who has up to the last moment worked against the adoption of the new Constitution, which has without shame, adds and his old secessional Party to take the oath of the purpose of voting against and defeating Union candidates—and urge the proper authorities to refrain such action.

Resolved, That we, who leave at the hours of danger, taken up arms for the defence of our country, refuse with contempt to regard him who has been seen by such a bargain, as a member of the Union Party.

Resolved, That we request respectfully all Union Leagues of this city to take action in this matter.

Resolved, That these Resolutions be communicated to the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, and be published in the Union papers of the City.

HASHEESH CANDY.

HASHEESH CANDY,
FOR ASTHMA,
ASTHMA.

MR. WM. H. READ:

Dear Sir—I wish to inform you by this writing that I have been suffering with Asthma in the worst form for 30 years, spending within that time hundreds of sleepless nights in the most suffering manner. Everything failed to give relief until I obtained a box of HASHEESH CANDY, which proved the most wonderful curative agency I ever used, relieving me immediately and never attacked by the disease. Often I have been so severely attacked that I could hardly breathe at all, and was incapable of lying down at night, having such terrible snorts on hand; if none on hand, to be made as soon as received.

Each person, or every member of a firm offering a proposal, must accompany it by an oath of allegiance to the United States government, if he has not already filed one in this office, or else the proposal or certificate will be required setting under the above stamp, that he, either by oath to the party bidding or are to be purchased by them of loyal citizens for delivery to the United States Government.

Bids must be legible, and the numbers must be written as well as expressed by figures.

All bids not complying strictly with the terms of this advertisement will be rejected.
