PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

38th Congress—2d Session.

WASHINGTON, Feb'y 21, 1865

SENATE.—Mr. Foot, from the Joint Committee on Public Buildings of the two Houses, made a report, as heretofore instructed, on the origin of the late fire at the Smithsonian Institute, the character and extent of the loss sustained, &c. It covers a detailed report from the Regents of the Institution on the subject, with suggestions as to what measures should be taken for the repair and improvement of the building. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Wilson reported back from the Military Committee the memorial of Andrew J. Wilcox, of Baltimore, praying that peace be made on the basis of the Crittenden Compromise, asking to be discharged from its further consideration. So ordered. Mr. Wilson said the Committee were unanimous in the request to be discharged.

Mr. Johnson presented the resolutions of the Legislature of Maryland (the same as presented yesterday by the Vice-President) remonstrating against the application of the Northern Central Railroad for authority from Congress to build a railroad from their present line through Maryland to the District of Columbia.

Mr. Morgan, from the Military Committee, reported a bill so to amend the act granting pensions to discharged soldiers as to give a pension to all soldiers discharged in consequence of wounds received in battle or on picket duty within two years of the date of enlistments. [This act was deemed necessary in consequence of a decision of the Auditor that "picket duty" did not come within the meaning of the law granting pensions to those wounded in battle.]

Mr. Grimes introduced a bill to create the office of Solicitor and Naval Judge Advocate General; also a bill to amend the acts to promote the efficiency of the navy. Referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

On motion of Mr. Sherman, it was ordered that the Finance Committee have leave to sit during the sessions of the Senate.

The bill relative to United States Courts in Nevada was taken up, and Mr. Stewart proceeded to urge the necessity of much greater compensation to judges and officers of the courts in that State than allowed in the bill on account of the great expenses of living and of travel over its wide and rough distances. He also opposed the feature of the bill which provides for the hearing in the United States Supreme Court, of cases which had heretofore been decided in the Territorial courts, alleging unconstitutionality, as it would disturb vested rights, mining titles, &c.

Mr. Johnson opposed this view, as practically denying justice.

The clause objected to by Mr. Stewart was adopted, and he moved an amendment that in actions respecting mining claims, the rules and regulations of miners shall be regarded as law, &c.

After protracted debate, involving the question of possessory rights of miners, the difficulties of the varied character of the mining regulations, the fact that the fee simple of the mineral lands vested in the United States, though the policy of the Government does not regard the miner as a trespasser, &c.

Mr. Johnson moved as a substitute for Mr. Stewart's amendment, a provision that the fact that the paramount title of the lands is in the United States shall not affect the determination of possessory rights, &c.

This was adopted, and the bill passed.

The Chair laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of War, in reply to a resolution of inquiry on the subject, stating that lists of the names of the persons held as political prisoners had been furnished the Judges of the United States District and Circuit Courts and of the Courts of the District of Columbia. Laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

On motion of Mr. Foot it was ordered—yeas 24, nays 10—that the Senate take a recess from 4½ till 7 o'clock, P. M.

Evening Session.—Several private bills were called up and passed. Resolutions of thanks to General Thomas and Admiral Lee were passed. The freedman's bureau bill was taken up and speeches were made against it by Messrs. Hendricks and Grimes. Adj'd

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—Mr. Wilson, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to establish the supremacy of the Constitution in the insurrectionary States. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Kasson reported a joint resolution, authorizing the Superintendent of Public Printing hereafter to contract for the purchase of the printing paper necessary for the public printing. Mr. Kasson stated the reasons why this plan is proposed. Under the present law a contract is made for the supply of paper for one year at a given price. It is believed by giving the Superintendent of Printing the authority to purchase from time to time, as the paper is required, a large sum of money will be saved for the Government. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Printing.

On motion of Mr. Cole, the House reconsidered its vote by which it recommitted the bill to aid in the construction of the Telegraph Railroad Company from the Missouri river to the Pacific Ocean. The bill authorizes the Company to issue bonds for the completion of 100 miles of the road. Passed.

On motion of Mr. Webster the House ordered that 2,000 copies of eulogies upon Senator Hicks be printed.

The Senate bill to facilitate the collection of certain debts due the United States, was passed.

Mr. Alley, from the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads reported back Senate bill, with amendments to provide for the return of letters to the writers, when sufficient in postage stamps. The bill as amended was passed.

Mr. Morton, from the same Committee, reported a bill to incorporate the National Mississippi Bridge Company. The bill establishes as a post road the contemplated bridge over the Mississippi river at Saint Louis The bill was laid upon the table by ayes 45, nays 46.

Mr Stevens, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported a Loan bill as framed by a majority of the Committee. Also a Loan bill as constructed by himself (Mr. Stevens.)

The bill as reported by the majority of the Committee is as follows:

"Be it enacted, etc., That the Secretary of the Treasury be and he is hereby authorized to borrow, from time to time, on the credit of the United States, in addition to the amounts heretofore authorized, any sums, not exceeding in the aggregate six hundred millions of dollars, and to issue therefor bonds or other obligations of the United States, in such form as he may prescribe; and so much thereof as may be issued in bonds shall be of denominations not less than fifty dollars, and may be made payable at any period not more than forty years from date of issue, or may be made redeemable at the pleasure of the Government at any period not less than five years nor more than forty years from date, or payable as aforesaid, as may be expressed upon their face; and so much thereof as may be issued in other forms than bonds, may be made convertible into any bonds authorized by this act, and may be of such denominations not less than $50, and made redeemable or payable at such periods as in the opinion of the Secretary of the Treasury may be deemed expedient; and the interest on said bonds shall be payable semi annually, and on all other obligations authorized by this act the interest may be made semi-annually or annually, or at maturity thereof, and the principal or interest, or both, may be made payable in coin, or in lawful money, provided that the rate of interest on any of such bonds or other obligations, when payable in coin, shall not exceed six per centum per annum, and when not payable in coin shall not exceed seven and three tenths per centum per annum, and the rate and character of interest shall be expressed on all such bonds or obligations.

Section 2. And be it further enacted, that the Secretary of the Treasury may dispose of any of the bonds, or other obligations, issued under this act, either in the United States or elsewhere, in such manner and at such rates, and under such conditions as he may think advisable, for coin or for lawful money of the United States, or for any Treasury notes, certificates of indebtedness, or certificates of deposit, or other representations of value, which have been or may be issued under any act of Congress; and all bonds, or other obligations issued under this act, shall be exempt from taxation by or under State or municipal authority.

Section 3. And be it further enacted, that all the provisions of the act entitled "An act to provide ways and means for the support of the government and for other purposes," approved January 30, 1864, in relation to forms, inscriptions, devices, and the printing, attestation, sealing, signing and counterfeiting thereof, with such others as are applicable, shall apply to the bonds and other obligations under this act; provided that nothing herein contained shall be construed as authorizing the issue of legal tender notes in any form; and a sum exceeding one per centum of the amount of bonds and other obligations issued under this act be hereby appropriated to pay the expense of preparing and issuing the same and disposing thereof."

The following is the substitute offered by Mr Stevens:

"Be it enacted, etc., That the Secretary of the Treasury be and he is hereby authorized to borrow from time to time, on the credit of the United States, a sum not exceeding six hundred millions of dollars, and to issue therefor coupons or registered bonds, redeemable at the pleasure of the Government after ten years, and payable at any time not more than forty years from the passage of this act, at a rate of interest not exceeding eight per centum per annum and of such denominations not less than fifty dollars, as he may deem expedient, and he may in his discretion, dispose of such bonds, at any time, upon such terms as he may deem most advisable, and said bonds shall be exempt from taxation by or under State or municipal authority.

Section 2. And be it further enacted, that the Secretary of the Treasury shall be at liberty to exchange bonds, similar to these provided for in the first section of this act, with the holders of any bonds or obligations of the United States, bearing interest, provided that an exchange shall be offered by the holders of obligations within two years after the passage of this act.

The bill is made the special order for Thursday.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill to provide a government for States overthrown by rebellion.

Mr. Ashley withdrew the original bill and reported a substitute for the same

[The Speaker caused to be read the official despatch of Major General Gillmore, relative to the occupation of Charleston, S. C. The reading was succeeded by applause from all parts of the House.]

Mr. Ashley said a similar bill was passed at the last session, but failed to receive the Executive sanction. He was anxious to conciliate all opponents, and if possible secure a united vote, and he had, therefore, against his convictions consented to provide for the admission of Louisiana, Arkansas and Tennessee.

Mr. Davis, of Maryland, said from the present aspect of affairs it looked as though by the fourth of July next armed rebellion will have failed to lift its brazen front. His object as expressed in the bill, was to prevent the States now in rebellion from coming here next December, dictatorially clamoring for the admission of their Representatives and twenty two Senators. The President should treat those who hold power in the South as they deserve, strip them of their emblems of authority and expel them from the Executive Mansion, should they there intrude. As to Louisiana, that State was re-organized by the bayonets of General Banks and the secret letter of the President. He wished to prevent the rebels from sweeping in here next December, and becoming our masters. In this connection he referred to a substitute for the bill offered by Mr. Wilson, providing that no Senators and Representatives shall be admitted to seats in Congress until a law shall have been passed declaring that a proper government has been established.

Mr. Wilson inquired what there was in the pending bill to prevent the Senate and House of Representatives from admitting Senators and Representatives from the Southern States.

Mr. Davis replied that the two Houses are ultimate judges as to who shall be admitted, being governed according to the Constitution by the certificates and returns. He wished by this bill to stop the raising of the question in advance. Provisional Governors are now appointed by the President without law, and what he proposed was they should be appointed in pursuance of law, and confirmed by the Senate. Judges were appointed in Louisiana without law by the President, and his object was to restore the law; and this was what some gentlemen object to doing. If this bill be not passed, what is the alternative? The President, with the bayonet, remains in power without law in the premises. He (Mr. Davis) was attempting to lay down the law; but some gentlemen here prefer arbitrary will to the written law of the land. Some ten years ago, when he first came to Congress, this was a Government of law, but he had lived to see the Government degenerate to arbitrary will. Let us hope, he said, that in the course of events, those who have rebelled against the Constitution and laws will, like the prodigal son, return, asking forgiveness on their knees.

Mr. Mallory moved to lay the bill on the table; and this was agreed to—yeas, 91; nays 63.

Mr. Beaman called up the question of privilege, in the matter of the assault of A. P. Field on Judge Kelly, of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Townsend, of the minority of the select committee, said he did not differ from his colleagues as to the facts in the case. At the time Mr. Field made the assault he was in no condition to be left alone, not being in possession of his right mind. For these and other reasons he could not consent to the visitation of the punishment proposed by the majority of the committee.

Mr. Beaman, chairman of the committee, said the committee were instructed not only to report the facts and circumstances of the case, but what action should be taken by the House. If it had not been for the intervention of third parties, death might have been produced, and the assault was preceded by violence and offensive language.

Mr. Cox had no objection to the reprimand proposed, but he was opposed to excluding Mr. Field from the floor. He should be admitted upon the floor in the interest of his constituents. Beside, Judge Kelly had not himself declared that he was intimidated by Mr Field. The latter had been sufficiently humiliated already.

The question was stated to be on agreeing to the first resolution, which provides that the Speaker issue a warrant for the arrest of A. P. Field, that the latter be brought before the House, and reprimanded by the Speaker.

The resolution was agreed to—yeas 82, nays 49.

Mr. Cox moved to lay the second resolution upon the table. The resolution provides that so much of the resolution of the fifth day of December last, granting the privilege of the hall to the claimants for seats from the State of Louisiana, as applies to the said A. P. Field, be rescinded.

The motion to lay upon the table was agreed to—yeas 70, nays 64.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the amendatory enrollment bill, reported from the Military Committee.

On motion of Mr. Chanler, the first section of this bill was stricken out, by yeas 66, nays 49. This section required every person liable to be drafted to report himself in person or by letter to the enrollment board in his district, and for neglecting to so report himself subjected him to fine of $1,000 and imprisonment 20 days.

The further consideration of the bill was terminated by the adjournment of the House, at half past five o'clock.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Rocky Mountains.—There is now on exhibition at the gallery of Butler, Perigo & Way, corner of Charles and Fayette streets, a picture bearing the above title. It was painted by the celebrated artist Bierstadt. This noble picture is the result of a visit to the "Far West," undertaken by the artist in the summer of 1858, in company with the late General Lander's exploring expedition. The various studies of the country, and of the people of that region, necessary for the present work, were made by him at that time, and are in every instance from nature. This picture represents the scenery in the Wind River range of mountains, in Nebraska Territory, being a portion of that great chain known as the Rocky Mountains, which runs north and south through the western part of North America, and parallel with the Pacific sea board, and extends from the northernmost point of the British possessions through the territory of the United States, Mexico, and Central America, down to the Isthmus of Darien.

The particular portion which the Artist has here depicted, lies at a distance of about seven hundred miles northeast of San Francisco, and portrays the western slope of the mountains. The streams which are seen leaping down their sides,—the waters of which form a lake in the basin of the valley,—are the head waters of the Rio Colorado, a river that empties into the Gulf of California more than a thousand miles from this source.

This picture possesses a geographical and historical value, such as few works by modern artists have obtained. Nor will time destroy its worth, but rather add to it. It is not only a correct representation of a portion of our country of which we as yet know comparatively little; but it introduces into it the every day life of that race which, before the advance of civilization, fades away like the mists of morning before the rays of the rising sun. Their customs and habits through it will be preserved when, perhaps, the scene which it depicts, will no longer echo to the sing of their war cry, or mark their stealthy step following in the chase. Upon that very plain where now an Indian village stands, a city, populated by our descendants, may rise, and in its art galleries this picture may eventually find a resting-place.

The picture has probably never been surpassed as a work of art in this country; indeed, many whose good judgment is to be relied upon, pronounce it superior to Church's famous "Heart of the Andes" It will bear visiting again and again, some new beauty developing itself at each visit. It will only remain here for a short time, so the lovers of the true and beautiful in art should avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing it.—As an evidence of the great value attached to this picture, we may state that the proprietors of the gallery where it is exhibited have had it insured for $10,000, which was the only condition upon which they could procure it.

Board of School Commissioners.—The regular weekly meeting of the Board took place yesterday afternoon, the President John F. Plummer, Esq., in the chair, and a quorum present. The bi-weekly reports were read by Mr. Merrifield, Chairman of the Committee. The Committee on Accounts presented bills to the amount of $661 57, which were ordered to be paid. The Committee on Night Schools, through Mr. Arthur, made a report, which was accepted. A communication was received from Mr. Henry Whitall, in reference to his movable hemispheres and wall map of the Heavens, which was referred to the Committee on High Schools. An application for the position of teacher was received from Miss Salome DeLaecur, which was ordered on file. The Board accepted an invitation from Mr. N. H. Thayer, to attend a musical soiree at the Eastern Female High School. Mr. Pitt submitted a resolution to the effect that the graduates of the Female High Schools of the required age, who have attended the fourth year normal class six months shall be eligible to the position of second assistant in grammar or primary schools, which was laid on the table. After the transaction of some further unimportant business, the Board adjourned.

The City Passenger Railway.—In the First Branch of the City Council, last evening, the following preamble and resolution were submitted by Mr. Evans, and laid on the table:

"It has been evident that the President of the City Passenger Railway Company is making a most determined effort before the Legislature of Maryland to impose upon the citizens of Baltimore an onerous tax, in a railroad fare; therefore,

Resolved, by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, That the Legislature be requested to refer the whole matter in reference to the City Passenger Railway to the Mayor and City Council; also that a joint special committee of three members of each Branch be appointed to bring the matter before the Legislature without delay."

Mr. Nicholls, member from the Twelfth Ward, in an excited speech, opposed the passage of the resolution.

Life in a Station House.—On Monday there was brought into the Central station House three females, (one of them about 15 years of age,) charged with being drunk and disorderly on the streets. A short time after being locked up one of them began to sing a hymn, a second began crying, while the third delivered a prayer. While this Station House revival was progressing, another intoxicated female was brought in and placed in another room. She listened a short time to the doings of her erring sisters, and not relishing their mode of passing the night, began singing in a loud tone, "I wish I was in Dixie." This interruption irritated the female who was praying, and rising from her knees, she launched forth a torrent of fearful oaths at Secesh, and berated her soundly for her rebel proclivities. The uproar became so furious that the turnkey was compelled to interfere and restore order.

AMUSEMENTS.

Horse Shoe Robinson.—This patriotic military drama, adapted by C. W. Tayleure, Esq, from the novel of that name, will be presented at the Holliday Street Theatre to-night in a magnificent manner. The scenes in this drama are laid in South Carolina, and refer to many points recently traversed by the army of Gen Sherman. Seats should be secured early this morning, as it will be impossible to obtain a seat at night. The sale of tickets for the Poor testimonial which is to take place on Saturday afternoon, is progressing with great rapidity.

The Grand Concert To Night.—The first concert of Max Strakosch's new artists will take place to-night at the Monumental Assembly Rooms. Great curiosity is being manifested to witness Mlle. De Katow perform upon the difficult and not over graceful instrument known as the violoncello. Those persons who have witnessed her efforts attest that she exhibits no evidence of labor or exertion in her playing, nor displays any physical effort in mastering the instrument. It seems to respond to the wish of the player as if by sympathy. She is undoubtedly a very perfect violoncellist, perhaps the best now living. Mr. James M. Wehli is spoken of as a most accomplished pianist. In manner he greatly resembles Thalberg, and for clearness, delicacy of touch and boldness of execution, he has not been excelled in this country since Thalberg's time. There is a quality about Mr. Wehli which is most agreeable, and that is the unpretending manner in which he undertakes his task. There is no flourish about him. He sits at the instrument with ease and grace, and as he proceeds you are surprised that one with so little apparent pretension can accomplish so much. His execution with the left hand alone, in the fantasie from Lucia, is a marvel. Seats can be secured to day at the Music store of Mr. Henry McCaffrey.

Lectures.—The Rev. G. A. Leakin, chaplain, U. S. H., will deliver a lecture to-night, in the Trinity Church basement, corner of Pratt street and Broadway—Subject: "The Periodicity of Mental and Moral Emotions." The lecturer is a gentleman of powerful intellectual abilities, and a pleasant evening may be passed by attending the lecture.

A lecture will be delivered to-morrow night, by the Rev. William Hicks, late Missionary to India, at the Institute—Subject: "British Rule in India." This will prove an interesting lecture.

Ball.—The Washington Assemblies will hold their third annual ball to-night, in Western Olina Hall, No. 543 West Baltimore st.—The Committee of Arrangements assure the dancing community that the ball will be of a superior character.

The Eighth Ward Draft Club.—A lecture, in aid of the above organization, will be held on Friday evening next at the Institute, by Rev. G. W. Samson, D.D., President of the Columbia College, Georgetown, D. C. The subject selected is that of "The Routes of the East India Trade, and the Desert Cities upon Them." The club have worked zealously in freeing the ward from the draft, and if a generous hand is extended on Friday night, the ward will be entirely freed.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF BALTIMORE CITY.—AUGUSTA KILLMYER vs. JOHN KILLMYER.—To the Hon Wm. Alexander, Judge, &c: The object of the bill of complaint in the above case is to obtain a divorce a vinculo matrimonii of the complainant, Augusta Killmyer, from the defendant, John Killmyer. The original bill states that in the year 1857 the said Augusta was intermarried with the said John in due form of law, and that she has always been to him a true and faithful wife, that the said John had treated her with cruelty and been excessively violent in his conduct towards her, assaulted her with blows, with knives, and other deadly weapons, and has often threatened her life, and often attempted to take it, that his constant habit is to come home intoxicated, that he is dangerous, and his conduct towards her has driven her from their home for her safety, and that she has always used all means in her power to make their said home comfortable and happy, but all to no purpose; so that she is compelled to seek the aid of your honorable Court, and pray your Honor to pass a decree divorcing her a mensa et thoro from the said John. The amended bill states that at the time your complainant filed her said original bill she had every reason to believe the said John had committed adultery, but could not prove it, and therefore did not charge it in her said original bill, but that, since the filing of her said original bill, the fact has come to her knowledge that the said John has committed adultery since their said marriage, and before the filing of her said original bill, and she therefore charges him with the said adultery in her said amended bill; and thereupon prays the writ of subpoena of this court against him to answer, &c., and also its decree divorcing her a vinculo matrimonii from the said John.

It is therefore ordered this 30th January, 1865, that, whereas two subpoenas against the said John have been returned, non est, the complainant, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the city of Baltimore, once in each week for four successive weeks, before the 6th day of March, 1865, give notice to the said John of the object and substance of this bill, and warn the said John to appear in this court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 9th of June, 1865, to answer the premises, and show cause, if any he have, why a decree of divorce a vinculo matrimonii ought not be passed as prayed.

Hance's Sarsaparilla,
Vegetable or Blood Pills,
For Purifying the Blood.

BALTIMORE, June 29, 1859.

This is to certify that I was afflicted with a violent pain in the breast and right arm which I suppose proceeded from the impure state of my blood. I was recommended to take Hance's Sarsaparilla or Blood Pills, and after taking one box the pain was entirely removed from my breast and arm. I found them extremely gentle in their operation, and would recommend them to every person in want of a mild purgative.

BARNUM'S COUGH CANDY!

"HE THAT HATH AN EAR TO HEAR, LET HIM HEAR."

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14, 1856.

The duties of my business have exposed me to coughs, colds and asthma and pulmonary affections. I have been deprived of the power of attending to the duties of my profession, and should have been, had it not been for the benign effects of your MEDICATED CANDY. I tried it but a few hours before I began to reap the advantages of its effects.

MY COUGH AND HOARSENESS LEFT ME—MY LUNGS ARE HEALED.

And my appetite greatly improved. I therefore have no hesitation in adding my testimony to that of the many who have experienced the benefits of your valuable Cough Candy.

DR. CHALMER'S
SANATIVE TINCTURE,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD AND CURING NERVOUS DISEASES.
Price $1 per bottle.

When the blood is impure, and its circulation thereby becomes dull and sluggish, this TINCTURE, by its purifying properties, will impart a more energetic and natural action, increasing thereby the power of the secretive and distributive organs. It relieves, with wonderful rapidity, every disorder incident to the digestive apparatus; restores the appetite; renews the strength; hardens the muscles; braces the nerves; gives elasticity to the spirit; recruits the mental energies; banishes despondency; imparts to the attenuated frame a more robust appearance; allays irritation; calms the disturbed imagination, builds up the shattered constitution, and may be taken without fear by the young or old, the robust or feeble, with equal advantage. The lassitude resulting from late hours, or too close application to labor of any kind, is quickly removed by its action, and ladies engaged in sedentary occupations, and subject to inconveniences therefrom, will find it a safe and healthy stimulant.
