OUR ADVERTISING AGENT.

Our advertising agent for the city is Captain William Gibson, who will, as he finds opportunity, call upon the old patrons of the Clipper, and to whom any favors in the advertising line can be handed. Our patrons will find him entirely reliable.

☞ PERSONS in Washington, D. C. wishing to subscribe for the CLIPPER can leave their names with our Agent, J. GURLOCK, 608 Seventh street, Navy Yard, or with GIBSON BROS., Printers, 271 Pennsylvania avenue.

THE WEEKLY CLIPPER.—Our weekly paper will be issued promptly this morning, and will be found—as ever—one of the best and most complete chronicles of events for the week past that can be had. Indeed, our rapidly increasing subscription list tells the story conclusively, as to the marked favor with which it is received; and as during the past week various stirring events have happened, accounts of which have found a place in its columns, the present issue will be found full of interest. It can be had at the counter ready for mailing, at the usual reasonable rates.

LET NOT THE SOLDIERS BE CHEATED OF THEIR TRIUMPH.

There is just at present a new peace movement on foot amongst a certain class of politicians, who vaccillating and faint hearted themselves, are determined that the rebels shall never be whipped into submission. Such men are never tired of boring the kind hearted President and the country with urgent appeals for further concessions to a set of blood thirsty and remorseless foes, whom they generally designate—as of old—our "erring Southern brethren;" and who if they could have their way, would in a week's time be lionized by these "peace" advocates in the brilliant saloons of the National metropolis, and looked upon and dealt with as heroes who had merely made an unfortunate series of campaigns on the wrong side. We never read one of these appeals but what we are led to wish that the writer could be dropped for a month's sojourn into one of those accursed torture houses of the South, so effectual, by their treatment, for the cure of all such untimely and distasteful political sentimentalism. But as this is impossible, because these men do not get their views of the conflict from the stand point of a bitter experience, we trust that there are enough in the land who do appreciate what is due the rebels in arms, to control their ill judged movements, and prevent the nation from being precipitated into a "peace," which would leave rebeldom still the power to exhibit its old insolence and pretension, to boast that it had never been beaten in the struggle.

It is all well enough to abuse Davis, Benjamin, Wise, and other arch instigators to bloodshed in the rebel ranks; and if one wishes to make the thing more horrible and piquante, the cruelties of Winder and Major Turner, with others of that class may be insisted upon. But then, let none suppose that however the rank and file of their armies may come out from the picket line to swap tobacco for coffee and so on, and for the time to deal in good natured banter, that their ferocity is at all abated, because their real cruelty of purpose is clearly demonstrated when as sentinels about Southern prisons they shoot down our poor starved fellows for reeling to the vicinity of the "dead line," whilst these wretched tools of the Richmond despotism could take pleasure in making a "sink," or "cess-pool," of the very stream that supplied the Union captives—just below them—with water.

Let it be noted that only since the heart of the rebellion has been under the feet of Sherman's troops, that the brags and boasts and old assumptions of the "chivalry" have been much modified even—To read the Richmond papers almost any day, one might suppose that these beaten braggarts still considered themselves as good "one against ten,"—that they had as yet met only a few trifling mishaps, easily repaired, and that the rebellion was never in such good condition, because—have they not "less territory to defend!"

And if they cannot or will not recognise the power of the Government—if they will not yet concede their inability to cope with it, our counsel is to chastise them until they do. We do not insist upon this in any spirit of revenge, but we do insist upon it as sound policy, as the only method to so terminate the conflict, that demagogues in the whole future of the republic will eschew all Mexican programmes to repair political defeats and reach the Presidency. We want the insurgents thoroughly humbled, beaten to a stand-still—compelled to LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS.

And we hope and trust Mr. Lincoln will adhere to this as an ultimatum, to the very end of the chapter. When it is very evident from the conduct of the rebel deserters constantly coming in, that they know as well as the Union soldiers themselves, that good treatment awaits them if they will give up the contest,—because thousands of prisoners returned to them are capable of apprising them of the true state of the case,—why should the President be called upon to pile proclamation of amnesty upon proclamation, and humble himself and the nationality by begging them over and over to accept a peace!

We are greatly mistaken if this is the true temper of the American people about this matter. They want peace badly enough, undoubtedly; but certainly they do not want it as the price of humbling themselves at the feet of the accursed gang who are sacrificing everything remorselessly in order that they may gamble with human lives for a little longer term of power. The rebellion is at its last gasp, and the army at last knows this. By no means, then, let a set of politicians—well known carpet knights, step forward now where the war has found them safely ensconced, to snatch from the soldiers their hard earned prospective triumph, to cheat them out of the fruits of their many victories. Let the soldiers enter Richmond. Give them the run of the "Libby prison," of "Castle Thunder," of "Belle Isle;" and of their fitting adjuncts, the congressional halls and the Jeff. Davis "Executive mansion." And if in the grand melee, the "returned prisoners" can get hold of Jeff. Davis and his minions, in the vicinity of some lamp-post, and so save them from fraternizing with their old political associates at Washington—after "pardons" duly granted—so much the better.

NEW BOOKS, MAGAZINES, ETC.—From Frederick A. Brady, publisher, New York, we have received a novel "The Marrying Men," quite an amusing production, by the author of the "Henpecked Husband." To be had of Messrs. Henry Taylor & Co.

From Bruce & Huntington, publishers, New York, Miss Martineau's famous little book—"Our Farm of Two Acres." Also to be had of Henry Taylor & Co.

From Gazlay & Co., 34 Liberty street, New York, the excellent "Pacific Monthly" for April.

From Leonard Scott & Co., the reprint of "Blackwood" for February. To be had of Henry Taylor & Co.

From Frank Leslie his famous "Lady's Magazine and Gazette of Fashion" for April, a very brilliant number.

THE 7-30 LOAN.—The readers of the Clipper will find another advertisement in its columns of to-day, dealing with the advantages of the above mentioned popular loan, a method of investment which has been so often recommended by us hitherto, that little that is new remains to be said for it. As gold recedes, let it be noted however, that the value of these bonds as a permanent investment, is demonstrated more plainly than ever. Whilst almost every other kind of securities have in the late flurry of stocks gone down in a marked degree, these have nobly stood the test, because based upon the staunch faith of the people in the stability of the Government.

In memory of Mr John Webb, who died on Sunday morning, the 26th day of March, about 10 o'clock, in the seventy first year of his age

Our dear, dear father, has gone to rest,
And his spirit to Heaven has gone,
And his dear beloved voice is hushed,
And to another home is borne

His cherished voice is on the way
To this home beyond the skies,
And our hearts are like the void that comes
When a strain of music dies.

There's a pair of shoes that last he wore,
And a lock of his dear hair,
And the books that once he loved to read,
And the clothes he used to wear.

The grave and the soft green grass,
Where the flowers will love to grow,
And these are all of the cherished hope
Of a few short years ago.

The birds will sit on the branch above,
And sing a requiem,
To the quiet, peaceful form of him
That used to sing with them

But never again will his dear lips
To their songs of love reply,
For now his voice is blended with
The minstrelsy on high.

HOMŒOPATHIC MEDICINES.

HUMPHREY'S HOMŒOPATHIC SPECIFICS had their origin in a great public want—medicines for all the needs of life. Oftentimes that father, mother, nurse or traveler, could always have by them, and always rely upon—so simple that a mistake can not be made in the selection—so harmless that all may use them with impunity—and so efficient that all may rely upon them with safety. Such they have proved. Thousands of families use them daily for all the ills and ailments of every day life, and rarely are seriously sick, or have need to call a physician.

Thousands, with some single Specifics have cured themselves of serious chronic diseases of years standing, and upon which they have spent hundreds in vain, and among the million who use them, none question their purity or efficacy.

☞ Reader, did you ever take a glass of Speer's Rambuci wine? If you never have, let us recommend you to do so; for after having tried it both as a beverage and a medicine, we boldly pronounce it the most palatable and efficient wine we ever drank. As a mere beverage even, we maintain it is the very choicest wine in use, being at once delicious in flavor, cheering in its effects, and cheap in price. As a medical agent, we have tried it effectually during the last ten days (after being prostrated by cholera morbus), and have found it everything and more than what its proprietor claims for it.

Nearly all Druggists keep this wine.

1. That in consideration of the unwearied activity of Mr. Chr. These bonds are worth a premium which increases the actual profit on the 7-30 loan, and its exemption from State and municipal taxation, adds from one to three per cent. more, according to the rate levied on other property. The interest is payable in currency, semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

THE GREAT POPULAR LOAN OF THE PEOPLE

Less than $300,000,000 of the Loan authorized by the last Congress are now on the market. This amount, at the rate at which it is being abtorbed, will all be subscribed for within four months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks, and private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.
