CAN THE PEOPLE RELY ON ANDREW JOHNSON?

There is a question of late frequently asked—however it may by different persons be differently answered since the Government policy was developed in North Carolina—and it is this—"Can the President be relied upon implicitly to carry out the programme for restoring the Union?"

Now—being one of the many who believe firmly in the patriotism, ability, and good sense of this new "man of the people," we have no difficulty whatever in answering the question affirmatively, and more than that, emphatically—we believe that he can. And when men begin to indulge doubts on this point, when they begin, as true patriots, to tolerate fears lest this man so suddenly constituted the bulwark of the republic should fail them, should they not, at the same time, in view of the trials out of which he has already emerged triumphantly, slightly reproach themselves for such "infidel unbelief" as the poet terms it,—should they not pause, briefly, in view of the difficulties surrounding President Johnson, before they jump to any hasty, perhaps unwise conclusions?

But, before we go any further, let us if possible define some of these fears. In the first place, then,—so the querists as to his "soundness" argue—is there not a leaning toward the old democracy, and at the same time a disposition to ignore that great organization which nominated and brought him into power as the coadjutor of the late President? Refusing, in the reorganization of certain rebel States, to take upon himself the power to give the colored man a right to vote, has he not, in this one act, repudiated the principles of the great Union party of the North, and can they rely upon him any further for the vindication of their cardinal principles?

Now, conceding to him a natural, perhaps, from old associations, a rather strong partiality for the Democracy, is that a proof that his judgment has been warped, and his conclusions rendered unsafe? And if some of his prominent appointments lean in that direction, is not a strong case made out in other directions, also, when—to mention none other—we find Chief Justice Sharkey, an old line Whig, of Mississippi, appointed Governor of that State to the exclusion of numbers of prominent Democrats? And if the President has refused to make the military power overshadow the civil, in North Carolina, in—for the present—fixing the status of the colored men there, has he not Senator Sherman's decision, even, for his justification, has not the latter told us that the right to prescribe the character and qualifications of voters, is one clearly "left to the States," a right to be contravened or interfered with only by a clear "military necessity;" and will any who wish to defer properly to that policy which contemplates a complete restoration of constitutional law, say—since armed opposition has ceased, that such a "necessity" actually exists?

And if conscientious, honest, clear-sighted defenders of the Government and laws, find any difficulties in their way in answering such a question, is not the President, who is bound by his solemn oath, and upon whom so much responsibility rests, also to have the benefit of such doubt, and thereupon to be judged forbearingly, justly, considering what he has already done as a champion of the good cause? No more ingenious or powerful argument has been made on the latitudinous side, than that of Senator Sherman already referred to. And yet, if there is force in language, he acquits the President of the charge of coming short of his duty, in the admission he makes.—We are no sticklers for "State rights"—in the Virginia acceptation of the term: but on the contrary, we are of those who consider that it was this doctrine which has been the principal cause of our woes in bringing on the recent conflict. On the contrary, we believe in the paramount authority of the Federal Government; and yet consider that if such power is lightly used or abused, the balance of power is in peril of being lost, and we be in danger of being subjected to either tyranny on the one hand, or of anarchy on the other.

Besides, it is perhaps a strong argument in favor of his course, when certain inconsiderate and fierce enthusiasts, upon whose judgment and antecedents no sensible lover of his country would stake its salvation, are prompt to assail and condemn him; and that fact alone should make the masses pause, and ask themselves—whether one who has hitherto proved himself so sagacious and resolute in defence of the Government, may not be precisely right?

We took occasion, recently, to foreshadow what we considered might be the course of one or two great bodies of malcontents, and later events that have happened have fully justified our conclusions. The copperheads of the North—instinctively recognizing in President Johnson one thoroughly antagonistical to their purposes,—have, it seems, in a convention at Cincinnati, held under the auspices of such sympathizers with treason as Vallandingham and Pendleton, taken measures to organize a fierce opposition to him, a movement that should at once be the signal for every patriotic man to rally to his side. Hedged around with difficulties such as no ruler of this nation has ever yet encountered, expected to defer to the vagaries or schemes for reconstruction originating in different States from he lakes to the gulf, who can expect aught but dissatisfaction in many quarters; who supposes that the troubles of thirty years of fierce controversy, and of four years of bloody war, will be composed without difficulty, and with no delay?

We say, then, let all patriots, all true men be considerate, be prepared to support the President in his earnest endeavors to give us back the Government of a constitution and laws. The battle for free government has been fought in the field,—let us with as little of violence as possible to any clause of that great instrument, which has so far been the sheet anchor of the Republic, return to peace and quiet. Slavery has gone, and Andrew Johnson has, in his past responsible positions, dealt it some of the heaviest blows to which it owes its fate. Having no stronger champion of free government on whom to rely than he has shown himself to be from the first, let us not shame ourselves and imperil the safety of the nation, by exhibiting towards him any premature distrust.

Finally, let all inquire of any who are ready to cherish distrust—whether, without giving him a fair trial, they are disposed to at once enter on a new caucuss for the Presidency, when he has yet nearly a whole term to serve? Must we, in undue eagerness to anticipate events, second the movements of Vallandingham and his fellows, of Wendell Phillips and others, in getting up new agitations and sowing the seeds of distrust?

Should not all good men, rather, urge moderate counsels, exhibit coolness, deliberation, advise with the President as matters in turn call for adjustment? Having shown himself accessible, disposed to listen, open to the words of all who approach him, why should any play into the hands of mal contents, because of the thousand plans thought by their projectors essential to the re-organization of the Government, he must in the nature of the case, be restricted to one only, rejecting the nine hundred and ninety-nine? In adopting any plans he may think best for the nation, he must of necessity offend many, but let none who love their country mistake the wrathful cries of a few disappointed fanatics, demagogues, or criminals, for the majestic verdict of the whole American people.

GEN. HURLBURT.

The court martialin the case of General Hurlburt will be one of the largest convened during the war, it being composed of seven Major Generals from Gen Canby's department, and several from the North. The trial will probably take place in New Orleans. The charges against Gen. Hurlburt are of a serious nature, and comprise, it is said, a large amount of peculation and fraud, running over a period of more than a year. The friends of Gen. Hurlburt assert that many of these charges are trumped up by disappointed contractors, speculators, &c.

General Hurlburt is one of the most successful of the fighting Generals of the West, having commanded the Sixteenth Army Corps through two years of the war, and served with honor at Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Corinth, the Hatchie, and Sherman's Mississippi campaign, in which he commanded the left wing.

He took command of the Gulf a year ago, as the successor of Gen. Banks, and as he is an accomplished lawyer as well as an experienced soldier, the affairs and the whole secret history of the Department of the Gulf from the capture of New Orleans to the present day, are likely to be pretty thoroughly ventilated before the court in his case adjourns. Gen. Hurlburt is a strong Republican in politics.

THE SAXON EXTRADITION CASE.

THE ACCUSED SENT HOME.

In pursuance of the mandate of President Johnson, endorsing the order of United States Commissioner Newton for the extradition of Frederick Theodor or Theodor Seydel, alias William Sander, the prisoner was conducted on board the Hamburg steamer Germania yesterday by Deputy Marshal Jarvis, and officially accompanied by Mr. Leopold Schmidt, the Vice Consul of Saxony, and his counsel, Mr. H. D. Lapaugh, who delivered him over to Captain Ehlers and his chief officer, Mr. Franzen. The legal receipts were given for the delivery and possession of the accused by the authorities of Saxony, and the vessel sailed majestically and punctually down the harbor. There were a great number of persons bidding adieus to the numerous passengers, and, as on all such occasions, many tears were shed on land and on board. It will be recollected that this Saxon prisoner was some weeks ago found in General Sherman's army, and was delivered up on the application of Consul General C. W. Schmidt, as a fugitive forger from Saxony. The President's order for his extradition arrived here on Thursday, and on Saturday the accused was promptly on voyage for his destination. This is the third person extradited through the application of Mr. Schmidt during the present year. Among the gentlemen present on board the Germania yesterday were Captain G. P. Hall and Dr. Henry Pittkin, of the United States Navy.—N. Y. Herald, 25th.

☞ The Earl of Enniskillen, grandmaster of the Orange Society in Ireland, has issued an address imploring the members—in whose part "obedience to the existing laws of the land, even though they contravene the principles of civil and religious liberty," has been a chief characteristic—to use the greatest precaution during the approaching July anniversaries, and not to share in or connive at the slightest infraction of the law."

☞ Major General Thomas has been assigned to the command of the Military Division of the Tennessee, embracing the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and Florida, with headquarters at Nashville. Gen. Thomas has assigned Gen. Palmer to command in Kentucky; General Stoneman in Tennessee; Gen. Steadman in Georgia; Gen. Humphreys in Florida, and Gen. C. R. Woods in Alabama.

AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT.

MARYLAND INSTITUTE—Carncross & Dixey's Minstrels.

WHAT THE LADIES SAY OF IT.—In the entire history of cosmetical preparations, we for the first time find ladies publicly acknowledging the value of a beautifier of the skin. That a lady used anything of the kind was a fact carefully concealed. It is only concerning the value of the preparation called Kmail de Paris that we find such testimony on record. This is because L'Email is neither paint, powder nor compound of arsenic or mercury, but a delicious preparation, which, acting specifically upon the scarf-skin, dissolves freckles, tan and morphew, rendering it soft, white and transparent. Mile Vestvali, Mrs D. P. Bowers, Miss Lucille Western, Elise Lund, and other ladies of equal note, commend it to their sex. Ladies visiting the sea shore or country should use L'Email, for removing the effects of sun-burn, salt-air, etc. Sold by all Druggists, Perfumers, Hair-Dressers and Dealers in Toilet goods. Wm M. Reed, 147 Baltimore street, General Agent.

HOMŒPATHIC MEDICINES.

HUMPHREY'S HOMŒPATHIC SPECIFICS had their origin in a great public want—medicines for all the needs of life. Curatives that father, mother, nurse or traveler, could always have by them, and always rely upon—so simple that mistake can not be made in the selection—so harmless that all may use them with impunity—and so efficient that all may rely upon them with safety. Such they have proved. Thousands of families use them daily for all the ills and ailments of every day life, and rarely are seriously sick, or have need to call a physician.

Thousands, with some single SPECIFICS have cured themselves of serious chronic diseases of years standing, and upon which they have spent hundreds in vain, and among the million who use them, none question their purity or efficacy.

FOR MORE THAN TWENTY YEARS MATHEWS' VENITIAN HAIR DYE has stood the test of trial, and is constantly increasing in public favor.

THE VENETIAN HAIR DYE is the best and cheapest made. Its price is only 75 cts. and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye in those usually sold for $1.

THIS HAIR DYE is manufactured by a peculiar process, which renders it infinitely superior to any dye in market. Being complete in one bottle, no preparation is required, which greatly simplifies the application.

IN USING THIS DYE you avoid that rusty, dead appearance by which dyed hair and whiskers are so readily recognized, when an inferior article has been used, as it produces a perfectly natural color of any shade that is desired, from a rich brown to a jetty, lustrious black, that will not smut, crock, or stain the clothing. Invest 75 cents, and you will be convinced. Sold by all Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers.

"As age advances, ills and aches attend,
Backs bended, breakfast burdensome, lying bend;
Cuticuty crust rows conversing cares,
Dealing delusions, drivelry, despair."

Thus, with alliterative accuracy, does Orphanal Kerr tell the sad story of the "aches and ills" of advancing age. But a way has been discovered by which old age escapes its penalties, and youth may be made more brilliant. PLANTATION BITTERS—the true "Elixir of Life and Love"—is the wounded spirit's balm. It cures Dyspepsia, Headache, Dullness, Vertigo, Gout, Liver Complaint, Sallowness, Feverish Lips, and every symptom of an unpleasant or alarming character. Let all who would enjoy life and its blessings, use Plantation Bitters, and they will retain their freshness, bloom and beauty

EROM YOUTH TO OLD AGE.

REMEMBER IT LADIES.—Remember that if you apply Radway's Ready Relief to the spine or back-bone, rubbing it well in, it will effect a surprising cure of many of the peculiar complaints incident to your sex exclusively. In all kinds of weakness, discharges, in obstructions, retentions and prolapsus, in hysterics, headaches, &c., you can find nothing to equal the delightful effects of an application of Radway's Ready Relief. Rub three times a day the bone of the spine, and rub it from ten to twenty minutes on each occasion, and you will be amazed at the result. At the first rubbing all the agonizing pains often disappear. The second rubbing is certain to make tears surrender, and a few applications readily convince the most incredulous that the disease is broken up and must depart. No lady who is subject to pains in the small of the back, who suffers from weakness and lameness in the back or limbs, who is indicted with the hysterics, or who has leucorrhœa, or whites, or has a pain in the hips, who is nervous, is treubled with nausea, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, should hesitate to imbrace and vigorously use Radway's Ready Relief. The sense of comfort it will at once produce will be worth ten times over the amount expended for a bottle, and the cure, which will be certain to follow, cannot be estimated in value by dollars and cents. Radway's Ready Relief is a blessing to the afflicted. They should never be without it. It is so cheap, so convenient, so easily applied, so quick in giving relief, so powerful in its healing energy, that it should be considered indispensable in a domestic remedy. Sold by druggists. je26-2w
